GERMANY'S MONEY TROUBLES

(H. W. Boers, "Detroit Free Press".)

Germany's money troubles during the past 10 years have been reflected in her postage stamp issues, which will become rare in philatelic collections of the future, according to an interesting pamphlet which has just been published by E. Schuster, of Nuremberg.

Postage stamp history during the inflation of the German mark reflected the uncertain conditions in the country. With the creation of the German republic several new stamps with odd designs appeared, while the old Germania stamps were issued in colors. In 1920, along with some other stamps, the first aerial stamps were printed. In 1921, the new issues, with large figures of value, were followed by the "Arbeiter" stamps, symbolizing labor. In a few months a new set appeared with the postillion's horn as its characteristic design.

After the occupation of the Ruhr came another new issue which was quickly followed by an oblong series which had values up to 100,000 marks. There were several other issues, and in 1923 new stamps were put out practically every month. These stamps, with values of millions of marks, were not sufficient to pay ordinary letter postage, and stamps with milliard values were soon printed. The highest of these was the 50 milliarden, the milliard being equivalent to one billion.

Schuster points out that, at the German mark value of approximately 24 cents before the war, a stamp with a value of 50 milliarden would represent more than 10 billion dollars, whereas the stamp was actually only sufficient to cover letter postage at the time it was issued.

Consequently, it would seem that the philatelist of the future, who has a good collection of these stamps, will be able to command a high price for them.

FRENCH AMERICAN STAMP CO. 322 81ST STREET, BROOKLYN,

SOME KANSAS PRECANCELS

By Art Bledsoe.

Leon has issued quite a few values for produce dealers' use. It is a small town, 500 population. Doubles, inverts, etc., are common, and red ink commoner than black. Liberal is within a few miles of the Oklahoma border, and has issued nearly all values, besides many Commemoratives. No reason is known for this latter. Lindsborg's one dated precancel is rare and much sought for. The current type is U-53, found on nearly all the current set.

McCracken's two known items are wanting in most collections, probably used by produce dealers. McPherson is another of the oldtime cattle towns, halfway between Abilene and Hutchinson. Its two stamps, both the 1c 1902, deserved the raise they got in the last catalog.

Manhattan is the home of the State Agricultural College, about 120 miles west of Topeka. Most of its precancels are very desirable. Munden, near the Nebraska line, is another new one. The current 5c and 10c were first noted at Xmas 1926, type U-51. Neodesha is the home of one of the oil refineries, that of the Standard Oil Company, in the southwest. All its precancels are scarce and much sought after.

Newton was once one of the wickedest cities, or rather towns, on the oldtime cattle trails, but it has now reformed and become the home of H. S. Dickey, music writer, music dealer and precancel nut. Olathe's handstamp is a one subject affair, type like U-76 reversed. Since Osage City is noted for its produce trade, we might expect quite an output of precancels of both the old and current issues.

Osawatomie, once the home of Old John Brown, is now the home of the State Insane Hospital. It is a railroad center in addition. Its precancels are seldom seen. Osborne has issued a raft of precancels, out of all proportion to its size, the reason for them remains to be stated. Ottawa is another of the oldtimers in Kansas, started before statehood. The Ottawa Engine Co., is the heaviest user of precancels there. The rarest from here are the Parcel Posts. Parsons has a population of 16,000, located about 30 miles from Coffeyville. It is a great railroad center, and uses many precancels. Everything from here is straight goods. Pittsburg is another mining center, most of our Kansas coal comes from there. It is a busy place, population around 19,000. The State Game Warden has his headquarters in Pratt, and the State Fish Hatchery is located there. It has several flour mills, too. Everything from here is scarce.

Rolla is a tiny town way down in the southwest part of the state, its few precancels very scarce. Rosedale is a suburb of the Kansas City office, and has but few precancels, and they are quite hard to come by. Saint Mary's is another tiny place with but one value to its credit. As its name indicates, Salina is a great producing city, several companies plants there. Its scarcest precancels the Parcel Posts in the U-1 type.

Sterling has but two or three k precancels to its credit, and all are m scarce. Topeka is our capital, one o oldest cities of the state. In additi is the seat of Washburn College and center for the Santa Fe shops which ploy many men. With a populatio 55,000, one might expect several type

Probably the largest user there is Capper Publishing Company, owned Senator Capper and issuing Capp Farmer, which so many farmers s by. Washington's precancels are scarce and much sought after. Wan is "The Old Home Town" of car fame, 70 miles west of Topeka. Wic ranks second in population, hence we expect to find a big precancel ou from there. Almost everything seem have been precanceled there at one or another. Inverts are worth no m than normals, and all are quite plent Wichita is a very good city to colle

Valley Forge Stamp To Appear

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

UNDER date of May 3rd the Postmaster General announced that he had authorized the issuance of a special stamp to commemorate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Encampment at Valley Forge. Stamp collectors generally, and good Pennsylvanians especially may now say "Amen" to an exceedingly good piece of work which has resulted in the issue of a stamp after possibly more pressure being brought to bear than ever before.

Back in the latter part of May in 1927, I was looking over some of the commemoratives that had already been issued, and was considering what other revolutionary event worthy of such an honor. History showed that possibly the Encampment at Valley Forge was the turning point of the Revolution, for the discouraged, broken army that retired to Valley Forge, some twenty miles from Philadelphia, in December of 1777, came out a much smaller, but much more efficient army in June of the following year. It was during the time of Washington's hardship at Valley Forge that word was received that we could expect the aid of the French. It was also at Valley Forge that Baron Von Stueben, one of the generals of Frederick the Great, arrived from Prussia, and aided in training the American Army.

It was, therefore, in my United States Chronicle in MEKEEL'S that the suggestion was made for the first time that a Valley Forge stamp should be issued and our readers were requested, if the suggestion met with their approval, to write the Postmaster General. As a result, dozens of letters from all parts of the country were received at Washington. I immediately brought the proposal to the attention of Senators Reed and Vare of Pennsylvania, as well as to the Governor of the State, to Rev. W. Herbert Burk of Valley Forge Memorial Chapel, and one or two members of Congress. Both of the Senators immediately took an interest in the subject, but for some reason the Governor of Pennsylvania failed to even reply to the suggestion. Both Senators communicated with the Postmaster General, but received the usual reply stating that while the importance of the event was appreciated, there were so many commemoratives suggested that the Postmaster General was not in a position to favorably act upon the suggestion. The Senators were informed that this simply was a form letter and asked to again appeal to the Postmaster General, which they did.

In writing to numerous people relative to the stamp, I had the good fortune of enlisting the aid of Mr. Malcolm H. Ganser of Norristown, and through his efforts, not only the Norristown daily papers, but numerous other organizations in that city took a very active interest, for Valley Forge was but seven miles away. Mr. Ganser secured the support of Congressman Watson, and this gentleman not only called upon the Postmaster General personally, but asked the Governors of the thirteen original states to aid him in recommending the stamp. Every member of Congress from Pennsylvania was finally prevailed upon to lend his support, and every Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, Historical Society, Revolutionary Society of Pennsylvania, and even the Fire Departments of Norristown were called upon to help by writing to their Congressmen and addressing the Postmaster General.

As a result of these many activities, thousands of letters arrived at Washington, and when I had the pleasure of an interview with the Postmaster General relative to such a stamp, he assured me that every pressure had been brought to bear and that he had given the matter serious consideration, but at that time, which was only a few weeks back, he insisted that he could not give his approval to such a stamp, although he readily admitted in its favor every point that I advanced.

Knowing that the Third Assistant Postmaster General was a good Pennsylvanian, and that not only the Chairman of the House Committee of Post Offices and Post Roads was a Pennsylvanian, but four other members also were from the Keystone State, they were again communicated with and their attention brought to the fact that since the use of postage stamps a son of Pennsylvania had never appeared upon an issue, if we except Benjamin Franklin, who was born in Massachusetts, then too, the great State of Pennsylvania had never had any of its strictly local events commemorated by a special issue, the sesquicentennial being a national issue.

In addition, several philatelic committees waited upon the Postmaster General, and it is my impression that he finally consented to issue the stamp due, not only to the fact that he felt that the event should be commemorated, but he felt that the only way to eliminate the succession of interviews and letters as well as telegrams would be to authorize the issuing of the variety.

Mr. New states that the new stamp will be of 2-cent denomination, printed in red. I have since learned that the design will consist of the well known portrait of Washington kneeling in prayer in the snow, with a few trees here and there. Across the top of the stamp we will find in small capital letters—"United States Postage," and immediately underneath on a little ribbon—"Valley Forge." At either end of this wording are the two dates—"1778" "1928." Under the design we will find the motto—"In God We Trust," which has never before appeared upon a stamp, but has been upon our coins for many years. Immediately below this will be the word "Cents" with the figure "2" in the two lower corners. The stamp will be the size of the current 2-cent stamp, with the long dimension horizontal, and will be printed by the flat bed process in sheets of four hundred, which in turn will be distributed in post office panes of one hundred. Fifty million of these stamps will be printed, and they will first be placed on sale on Saturday, May 26th, at the post offices at Valley Forge, West Chester, Philadelphia, Norristown, Lancaster, Pa., Cleveland, Ohio, and at Washington, D. C., as well as at the Philatelic Agency in the latter city. The stamp will be supplied to all other postmasters on requisition as fast as production will permit, after that date.

The Valley Forge emissions are being placed on sale in West Chester, as it is the home of Congressman Butler who aided in having the stamp issued, and is the county seat, a portion of Valley Forge being in this county. Norristown is the home of Congressman Watson who also represents the Valley Forge District. Lancaster is the home of Congressman Greist, the Chairman of the Committee of Post Offices and Post Roads, and is the home of the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Robert S. Regar.

After the first announcement was made the Department decided to place this stamp on sale on the first day at the branch Philatelic Agency at the Midwest Philatelic Exhibition to be held in Cleveland.

No article upon the subject could possibly be complete without mentioning the interest taken by Congressman Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey, who lent his support, and Mr. Michael L. Eidsness, Jr., Chief of the Division of Stamps.

Much credit is due our loyal readers who supported the project by their numerous letters to Washington.

Arrangements have been made with the postmasters at all points of issue to take care of any first day covers collectors may desire. Send the postmasters the addressed envelopes together with money order or cash sufficient to cover the postage upon the letters.

OUR REVIEW

By C. A. Howes.

We have received from Theodore Champion of Paris, the fifth edition of his Historical and Descriptive Catalog of the Stamps of the Aerial Post, a work which the collector of air mail stamps and covers, now so popular a branch of philately, will not want to be without. Nor will the drawback of a foreign language be any serious matter for the vast number of English speaking philatelists, for the text is bilingual throughout, French and English appearing in parallel columns on every page.

The work opens with a very interesting and complete history of the "Balloon Post" during the siege of Paris, to which is appended a chapter on the paper balloons sent out from Metz, the whole occupying 43 pages of the work. Then follows the section on official issues of air-mail stamps, that is those issued by the postal departments of various governments, which takes up 80 pages. A third section lists the stamps or cards with impressed stamps which have been issued by private parties with government authority or sanction, so-called semi-official issues, which occupies 58 pages. Lastly there is a fourth section dealing with the obliterations, postmarks, seals and special labels used on official cards or ordinary covers in connection with the principal air mail flights in all countries, with many details given in subjoined notes. This is the largest section, naturally, covering 146 pages.

The first section is purely historical without attempting to make it a priced catalogue of the Balloon Post covers. The official stamp section is arranged catalogue fashion with three columns for prices—unused, used, and on original (flown) covers. This is an excellent arrangement, it strikes us, and quite a difference may be noted at times between used prices simply and prices for the same stamps on "flown" covers. The section on semi-official stamps quite naturally has but two columns of prices—unused and used on "flown" covers, or "aerograms." In the section on cancellations prices are given for a majority of the items, but there are naturally many on which it is as yet impossible to give even an approximate value, as the market for such is a comparatively new one and hardly enough trading has been done

A total of 7889 first flight covers had to be prepared for my requirements on the inaugural flights on the New York to New Orleans air mail route.

That means that a great many are collecting first day covers.

Several hundred collectors belong to my first day cover club.

That means that there must be some merit to my first day cover service.

For Three Years the First Day Cover Club Has Been Going Strong. May I send you a free circular and tell you about it?

JUST A FEW

CARRIERS

Carrier cancellations make a side-line we are partial to. As a rule we have them on most stamps on which they come. This pretty little lot all from one correspondence. They make a nice set of four, including the New York City Delivery in red and in black; and the U. S. Mail with large 1c, also in both red and black. While they last we offer them as follows:

		Red	Black
42f.	Fine copies, U. S. Mail	$2.50	$5.00
42f.	N. Y. City Delivery	1.75	3.25

The stamps are fresh and very fine; cancellations legible.
And of course, "your money back if you want it."

SOME OF OUR SIDE LINES

Specialized stocks of minor varieties of the 1c, 3c, 10c and 12c stamps of the 1851-57 issues. Carriers, fancy cancellations on all issues. U. S. Air-mail covers. Confederate States, on and off cover. Department covers and fancy cancellations. Foreign rates. 20th century singles and blocks, imprints and plate numbers.

Have you ever wondered what to do with all of your old covers? Several of the Forum readers ask me how to assemble these, and how to go about collecting them.

There are countless answers to the latter part of the query. The best answer to the first seems to be to save up some shoe boxes, or envelope boxes, and reinforce the corners with tape, or heavy gummed paper, then label them so you won't have to open boxes till you find the one required. Also get some index cards, or make them yourself.

One of the prettiest forms of collecting covers—we mean the covers which are not rare, for they should of course be mounted in an Album—is to collect your own state. If you live in Arizona, and save covers through the 1869 issue starting with '47's (never saw an Arizona '47 cover though!), well, you will probably find one box is enough for all of your different town cancels on all issues till the 1869's have been assembled.

If you live in New York State and have as much perseverance as one LeRoy C. Brown, you will find that you have over 500 covers from different towns on the 1851 issue alone! Think of what you'll have on the 1861's! and on the 1857's.

Saving town cancels is one of the interesting things in cover collecting. Those with the pen cancels are the ones of most interest oftentimes. Some are very odd, with peculiar abbreviations if the postmaster was in a rush at closing time.

You want to get a decent sized map and trace it. Then try and find an old list of towns in your State, and dot in those towns with their names. You can make these dots lightly in pencil, and when you get that town, you can make the dot in colored ink. It is interesting to indicate the Rail Road lines also, and very soon you will have some idea of your home State that you did not have previously. Sure, dot in the counties. If you happen to save the State of Virginia, there are only 100 counties, a nice evening's work.

I tried this with the home State of Massachusetts, and am giving you a list of what has happened to date, and I reckon it is about one-half of the total which may be obtained on the 1851 issue. Have not attempted any other issues.

Unique United States
1851 Imperf.

We often see the word "Unique" wrongly used. I think the Classic example of this was in a London auction catalogue of Mr. Cheveley about 25 years ago. In one lot he described a scarce stamp and called it "unique". In the following lot an exactly similar lot also described as "unique"!

The "Unique" U. S. I have was found in the famous correspondence "Carroll-Hoy" of New Orleans. It consists of one-quarter of 12c black Imperf. used on a 3c red on buff U. S. envelope addressed to Buchanan Carroll & Co., New Orleans, used from Canton, Mi., Jan. 16th. The stamp is the upper left hand quarter of a 12c cancelled in pen and ink "3" and noted alongside "¼ of 12c 6c by stamps". PAID.

Dr. Carroll Chase has written this piece up and says it is absolutely authentic.

With this piece and from the same correspondence there is half a 12c used from Canton, Jan. 17th and another cover dated Canton, Feb. 12th, simply marked "PAID 6" showing the exhaustion of all stamps.

I offer these three covers and the articles upon them by Dr. Carroll Chase, for the very reasonable price of $1200.00.

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

Kittyhawk, N. C., was scheduled to come through with a special cancellation on May 2nd, the date of the unveiling of the monument to the Wright Brothers, but covers received from that point do not carry any special cachet.

******

I note one error so far on CAM #19. "Philadelphia" is missing from the First Day cancellation on some of the covers received. It should appear just under the words "First Flight." Has anyone else noted anything unusual?

******

Word received from the contractor with regard to a stop of the transcontinental at Lincoln, Neb., would indicate that there is a very remote possibility of this city being included as a regular stop in the near future.

******

"Aviation" states that the Montreal-Albany Air Mail Service will be inaugurated in the near future. The contract has been awarded, states this publication, to the Canadian Colonial Airways, Ltd., and the service will speed up mail arriving from Europe via Father Point, Que. Connection with the Transcontinental will be made at Albany and via Cleveland.

******

I have been informed by the Secretary of the American Air Mail Society, Mr. Angers (as was ALL the membership) that a special "Air Mail Day" cancellation was used at Sharpeville, Pa. At this writing, covers have not returned. Judging from the fact that very short notice was given, it would appear that covers from this point would have exceptional interest.

******

The Syracuse-San Francisco hop, looked and hoped for, by collectors, failed to materialize. Postmaster McLusky, in returning covers sent to the Aircraft Exposition in anticipation of the hop, states that the special flight was not authorized by the Post Office Dept. Too bad. Every little bit helps and this would have been a nice wind-up for the Exposition.

******

Mobile, Ala., sent through a very nice cachet for the First Trip of CAM #23. It was an outline map of Alabama, suitably inscribed and not unlike the Boston cachet. Only criticism seems to be that the cachet was "smootched" in a large number of cases.

******

A word of thanks to those who have written to me in regard to this column. Please don't feel offended if I fail to get a reply back to you within a reasonable length of time. Unfortunately, I have to make a living outside of the cover game, and sometimes it happens that "business before pleasure" must be my excuse. When possible, I will try and be prompt with my answers, but please be patient.

******

Owing to the fact that my space is limited, will those who have so kindly sent clippings, covers and items of interest please accept my thanks for their interest. The more you send, the better this column will become, so don't hold back. Shoot them along.

MIDWAY IDS. AND CABLE STATION

Midway is a pair of coral islands lying at 28.14 north latitude and 14 minutes off the 180th meridian. It is a property of the United States staked out in 1898 and placed under the administration of the Navy Department. It is a relay station of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company, the American line across the Pacific. Early in the summer of 1903 the direct cable was laid from San Francisco to Shanghai, and the first official messages were interchanged between the extreme stations on July 4 of that same year.

Subsequently America has been communicating across the Pacific without saying to anyone, "By your leave." That is the economic side of Midway in a nutshell. At an outlay of two and one-half million dollars, the cable is to be supplemented with radio, making the third American radio service across the Pacific. While the original building of the cable station on Midway was in progress, a good many Orientals were employed as workmen and craftsmen, and a marine guard was kept there. Also, when the landing was made by the Americans in 1903, some thirty Japanese fishermen were found to have taken up headquarters there, and diplomatic intercession brought about their withdrawal, somewhat against their will, but with the utmost good will upon the part of Japan. After a few years the marine guard was removed, and for many years now the colony on Midway has consisted of some nine or ten Americans, the station force of the cable company, seven or eight Japanese employed on outside work, and five or six Chinese household servants—twenty-three to twenty-five souls all told.

Four times a year the company's steamship Dickenson voyages from Honolulu to Midway, a distance of about twelve hundred miles, with supplies. Otherwise the calls of ships are very rare. The Dickenson, of light draught, can go inside the reef except when a westerly wind is blowing. Like all atolls, the one at Midway is open at the northwest and the southeast, and the tides pour through from the north. The cable station is at the northern end of Sand Island, which is one and one-quarter miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide. The other island of the Midway atoll is Eastern Island, sometimes called Green Island on account of the foliage, of which Stevenson gives a masterly description in The Wreckers. At the time of the American occupation the dwarf magnolia and various hardy beach grasses had found lodgment on Eastern Island and were flourishing, birds having probably taken the first seeds of vegetation there in their annual migrations. Sand Island was bare. Westward of Midway about sixty miles lies Ocean Island, and eastward toward Honolulu lie reefs and coral barriers, some of them dignified with names. Had Brock and Schlee reached Midway and taken off safely, over a route of eleven hundred miles to Honolulu, as the gull flies, their way would have been marked out ahead by the green waters and the breakers along this coral chain. But the islands are uninhabited by men; forced landings would be unlucky.

Sand Island is no longer bare. On the contrary, it is well carpeted over and very generously wooded. This and the

EDITORIAL

The announcement that a special stamp would be issued to commemorate the 150th anniversary of Valley Forge was not unexpected as our readers will remember that some weeks ago a friend in authoritative position at Washington said that nothwithstanding the disposition to dispense with commemorative issues for reasons that were given at the time, there was a strong probability that an exception would be made in the case of this stamp. Fifty million of the Valley Forge stamps will be issued, and it will be on sale at six cities on May 26th, in addition to the Philatelic Agency at Washington. Thereafter, the stamp will be furnished to postmasters on requisition. While a detailed description of the stamp will be given "as soon as the model is completed," this two cent in red will have as its subject a "portrait of Washington kneeling at prayer." The news of the decision to issue the stamp has created a ripple of public interest, and no doubt, the stamp itself, with its sacred subject, will make a profound impression. The bitter days at Valley Forge, when the "army of Washington was suffering not only from want of clothes and blankets, but actually from hunger," and when the plot to supersede Washington as commander-in-chief was being fomented by vilest intrigue are a poignant picture in the minds of Americans.

"Pencil Points," for May, 1928, that superb illustrated monthly journal for the drafting room gives a picture of Thurlow Merrill Prentice, the winner of the Prix Rougevin, "one of the most important annual Concours held at the École des Beaux Arts in Paris." In this contest, the prize for foreigners is apart from that offered to the French students, and only once before was it ever won by an American. The fact that Mr. Prentice's design was that of a postage stamp makes his victory the more impressive from our point of view. We quote: "The subect of the competition was a postage stamp to be dedicated to the art of Architecture in France, and used upon the occasion of an International Exposition of Fine Arts." The design of the large oblong stamp is artistic; and the denomination, 50 centimes. A female figure, symbolical of France. with arm outstretched, holds in its hand a replica of the parthenon, at Athens, Greece. At the left is the lettering: "Exposition-des-Beaux-Arts" and the incidental ornamentation of the stamp is effective.

We are pleased to present the following letter from Professor Lowell J. Ragatz, of the George Washington University, Washington, D. C., who for many years has been a contributor to the WEEKLY: "research students along many lines, frequently ask themselves 'where can I get a file of this periodical or that one?' To answer that question, the H. H. Wilson Co., of New York, has just brought out the 'Union List of Serials in Libraries of the United States and Canada,' under the general editorship of Winifred Gregory. The appearance of this mammoth volume, indicating exactly what libraries have what volumes of the many thousand periodicals listed, after more than ten years of work, is an epoch-making event in the eyes of all research men. Although the List costs upwards of $100, it will, of course, become a standard reference work throughout the world. All of which by way of introduction. There are, it seems, files of the WEEKLY available at the libraries on the enclosed list as indicated, a fact which doubtless will be of interest to your reader." Over twenty libraries, including some of the most important ones in this country, have on their shelves, volumes of our paper, and we notice that the Carnegie Library of Pittsburg, has a complete file from 1891 to date; and this is the only public institution where such is the case. Mr. Ragatz' compilation is interesting, indeed, and he adds: "At first thought the presentation of files of a hobby journal, such as the WEEKLY, by so many libraries throughout the country, including small ones as well as the great, may seem strange, the more so, since philatelic publications have seldom been subscribed for. The explanation unquestionable is to be found in the historical value of many of the contributions which have appeared in the WEEKLY from the outset."

A stamp in the collection of Mr. David Gage Joyce, the Saorstat overprint Irish, on the 2 shilling 6 pence, Great Britain shows a strong double transfer, which is marked in the upper left and lower right frame lines, and in the profile lines of King George and Britannia. A double transfer in the engraved stamps of Great Britain by no means is the usual thing, and one so definite as on this particular specimen deserves notice.

A set of four lithographed stamps purporting to have been issued by the Mormons of the state of Utah are objects of curiosity today; and every now and then, a correspondent inquires about them. The stamps of different colors all bear the head of Joseph Smith, the Mormon leader, and they were illustrated in some of the old foreign albums as authenticated varieties. Many years ago, or in 1876, any lingering doubts that confiding collectors may have had that the labels were entitled to consideration were removed by the following letter that was received by an investigator: "Salt Lake City, Jan. 21, 1876. Gentlemen: President Brigham Young directed me to say that the stamp book is in error in stating that he issued some five cent stamps in 1852, and further he never issued any five cent stamps at any time. Respectfully, Geo. Reynolds, Sec. to Pres. Young." Too, there was talk of the existence of a local stamp that was used in Utah over fifty years ago, but no proof of its reality was ever forthcoming.

According to a clipping from the Brooklyn Daily Eagle of May 6, 1928, an unusual sale of French stamps is in prospect. It is proposed that part of the collection of the government mint be sold in hope of obtaining "big prices." All issues are included in the lot, from 1848 to date, and after a collection is made of all the stamps for the National Library, the remaining stamps will be disposed of, according to the present plans. The stamps and plates are kept in a safe with dies for coins, and the official set of platinum weights and measures. We quote: "There are several sheets of many issues of the old stamps and often a number of proofs in various colors that were never adopted. Also, there are many foreign stamps, obtained through exchanges with other governments." The French government is honest in saying that it hopes to obtain high prices for the stamps instead of making capital out of an expression of a wish to favor collectors by releasing this store of stamps.

The post office department when designating the week of May 14th as "Air Mail Week" in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of aerial postal service under the auspices of the post office department circulated an interesting history of the air mail. The last two paragraphs of the article are of especial bearing for collectors: "Great pressure has been brought to bear to have special cancellation made for air mail carried during Air Mail We owing to the great number of citi ignated as air mail station, they t and the attendant expense and a trative work necessary, the sug was vetoed. Although extremely ful for the support of philatelists the 'cradle days' of the air mail the Postmaster General feels t grant the request for special cance at each of these 63 cities would so much labor that the service w slowed up and its primary functi of speed, would be defeated."

HAITIAN POSTAL REVENUE

By HARRY E. HUBER.

For a country of Haiti's size (10,204 sq. miles) and population (2,050,000) the Post Office contributes very little to the general revenue, and in all years, the customs (on exports and imports) provides between 90 and 95% of the income of the government.

The sale of stamps to collectors and dealers is negligible, as Haiti is not a "popular" country, and the face value of those now in use is less than 52 cents U. S. currency. These comprise the 3c (Agriculture) and 15c and 25c (Commerce) of 1920; the 5c (Borno), 10c (Citadelle), 20c (Map of the Western Carribean), 50c (Borno), and 1 gourde (National Palais) of 1924, and the 35c Cafe issued on February 6, 1928, the day of Col. Lindbergh's arrival from Santo Domingo City in the "Spirit of St. Louis." (The gourde is equal to 20c U. S. currency.)

In other days, there were 50c de piastre and 1 piastre stamps (50c and $1 U. S. currency), which were at first provided (on April 1, 1906) by overprinting "En piastres fortes" on the 50c de gourde and 1 gourde of the 1898 (Simon Sam) series. Later in the same year (1906), a definite gold piastre series was issued (1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 7c, 8c, 10c, 15c, 20c, 50c and 1 piastre), and at the same time a shorter series, in "centimes de gourde" (1c, 2c, 3c and 7c)—the former for exterior correspondence, and the latter for interior. Correspondence for foreign destinations had to be paid for in U. S. currency, or its equivalent in Haitian paper (on the basis of five for one); while that for the interior, could be purchased for the depreciated paper of the country. The 50c and 1 piastre stamps were re-issued in different colors in 1913, and in the next year, both the 1906 and 1913 colors, were overprinted, "GL. O. Z.—7 FEV. 1914."

The number of Post Offices scattered over the country fluctuates between 90 and 100. In October, 1926, I spent my vacation on the Royal Netherlands cargo steamer "Flora," which called at all ports from Cap Haitien on the north to Jacmel on the south, and even with specific instructions it was difficult to find the Post Offices, for rarely was there any indication on the outside of the building to inform the stranger. This does not apply to Port au Prince, nor to Cap Haitien and Petit Goave, though the Port au Prince Post Office has no reason to boast of the quarters it occupies.

The initial order of the 35c de g. (issued February 6, 1928) was for 500,000 stamps, which were received at Port au Prince, January 29, 1928, and after the formalities attending the receipt of postage and revenue stamps and stamped paper, were turned over, on Friday, February 2nd, to the Banque Nationale de la Republique d'Haiti, which is the custodian of the Government stock of postage and revenue stamps, and supplies L'Administration Generale des Postes, the Post Offices, and the public.

Subsequent to Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh's acceptance, on January 5th, of the invitation of the Haitian Government to visit Port au Prince, there was agitation locally for a special stamp issue, but overprinting or surcharging was opposed by the financial authorities, because of the speculation which would be sure to result.

However, with the new 35c de g. stamp in hand, the Director General of Contributions gave instructions to the Treasury (i.e., the Banque), that the stamps should be withheld from sale until Monday morning, February 6, 1928. The Post Office at Port au Prince was open only until noon that day, as Col. Lindbergh arrived from Santo Domingo City in "The Spirit of St. Louis" at 2 p. m.

The design is most pleasing and effective, and strongly reminiscent of the Egyptian International Cotton Congress stamps (5m, 10m and 15m) issued January 25, 1927.

Consideration was at first given to a bi-colored stamp, with one branch showing ripe (red) berries, but the American Bank Note Co. advised against it; furthermore, two-color printing materially increases the manufacturing cost.

60c de g. Air Stamp

It is quite likely that at some distant date a stamp of 60c de g. denomination will be issued for use on air letters dispatched by the West Indian Aerial Express service, from Port au Prince to Santo Domingo City and San Juan, and also Santiago de Cuba. However, the report that such a stamp is now being prepared is incorrect.

25c Commerce, Reprinting

In August, 1927, a reprinting of 200,000 of the 25c Commerce was received and placed on sale. Stock of this value again began to lower in March, 1928, and another reprinting has been ordered from the American Bank Note Co.

Danzig - Doplata

Danzig.—A former city of Germany and now considered international territory forming Poland's outlet to the Baltic Sea. Stamps were first issued in June, 1920, consisting of German stamps overprinted "Danzig."

Debreczin.—A city in Hungary where, during the World War, the Roumanian forces of Occupation issued certain Hungarian stamps suitably overprinted for their use.

Denikin Issues.—Properly speaking, all the issues of South Russia, Nos. 1 to 79, as all were made at the command of the Denikin-Wrangel administration. The name is generally used for Nos. 61 to 79 only, as this is the first definite issue, the preceding emissions being provisionthe preceding emissions being provisionals.

Desmit Rubli.—These words surcharged on stamps of Lettonia, mean "Ten roubles."

Doplata.—An inscription on "postage due" stamps of Poland and Central Lithuania meaning "additional" in connection with the word "posta."

Two Inscriptions

Ein Drittel Silbergroschen.—The inscription shown upon the 3pf stamps of Hanover in use prior to 1863. It means "one-third of a silbergroschen," and was intended to indicate that the stamp could be used for payment of the ⅓ silbergroschen rate as well as for that of 3 pfennig.

Ein Reich. Ein Volk. Ein Gott.—The motto shown upon the 5 marks stamps of Germany meaning "One empire, one people, one God."

Bulgarian Commemoratives

A Swiss journal foretells the issue of a series of historical interest, which will include the following values and subjects:

10 stot. St. Clement (885-916).
15 stot. K. Miladinof.
25 stot. Vassil Lersky.
50 stot. Monastery of Drenoro (1876).
1l Otez Paissy.
2l Czar Simeon (893-927).
3l Zuben Karaklof.
4l Oborichté (1876).
5l Gueorghi Benkowski.
6l Czar Oswoditel Alexander III.

The ostensible motive is to mark the tenth centenary of the death of Czar Simeon, under whose rule Bulgaria enjoyed her greatest prosperity. The history books tell us that he was educated at Constantinople, that he was a patron of letters, that he defeated the Byzantines in war, twice capturing Adrianople, and that he was a very cruel man.

The stamps will also serve to signalise the fiftieth anniversary of Bulgar independence.—Stamp Collecting.

A Correction

By A. C. LeDuc.

My attention has been called to an error in my article on Denmark, which appeared on the Junior page in the issue of April 16th. I very much regret this since this page is the worst place to have mistakes creep in. My informant says that Kings Christian IX and Frederick VIII were father and son, explaining the appearance of the two heads on Iceland stamps type A5. Much time is required in hunting information for these short articles. In this case, an encyclopedia spoke of the Duke of Auguestenburg and rival of King Christian IX as Frederick VIII, the pretender. I am glad to have this correction made as it shows that readers are interested in the Junior page.

A-A-A-A

Anotacion.—(Registered). An inscription shown on certain 5c stamps used in the Republic of Colombia from 1870 until 1881 for the prepayment of the special fee for registration. A large capital "A" is shown on the same stamp. The word means "noted" or "recorded" and hence has the signification of our term "registered."

Anotado.—An overprint found on some of the stamps of the 1868 issue of Mexico. The word means "noted" or "registered" and the stamps so overprinted were issued provisionally in 1872. The word does not mean that the stamps were intended for use on registered letters but that they were an obsolete issue temporarily brought into use again.

Antananarivo.—The capital of the island of Madagascar having a population of over 60,000. A local post, established by the British Vice-Consul and known as the "British Consular Mail," existed here from March, 1884 until 1887.

Egypt Commemoratives

Birthday Issue.—According to Die Postmarke, the 10th Birthday of the Crown Prince Farauk (2nd February, 1929) will be the raison d'être for the issue of a 5 millième stamp showing his portrait.

Medical Congress will be held in Cairo in December next, and it is possible that an issue will be made for this also.—Philatelic Magazine.

Aniline

A term occasionally met with in descriptions of stamp colors, more especially in connection with mauve and carmine shades. These colors are as a rule very brilliant and as they are particularly soluble in water they are an excellent safeguard against fraudulent cleaning of stamps. It is probable that the majority of these so-called aniline shades are not derived direct from true aniline which is itself not very soluble in water. More probably they belong to the same class as aniline dyes—compounds obtained by the oxidation of certain other compounds. True aniline is an aromatic base occurring in coal-tar and similar products of the distillation of nitrogenous bodies. It was first obtained in this manner from indigo, but is now produced almost exclusively from the benzine of coal-tar. Aniline is an oily liquid, colorless when pure, but which turns brown if kept for any length of time. It is poisonous; is slightly soluble in water, but more so in benzine or alcohol.

Mexican Inscription

"Ejercito Constitucionalista"

An inscription shown upon a series of stamps issued in Mexico in 1913 meaning "Constitutional Army." Although the stamps were intended for revenue purposes they were provisionally issued for postal use pending the manufacture of a special series of postage stamps.

Cancelled-to-Order

A term applied to stamps which are sold in a cancelled condition, and which have never performed any postal duty. Whole sheets of stamps, usually with the original gum still adhering, are cancelled thus, either "by favor," for the benefit of collectors who insist on having used stamps, or so that the labels can be sold below face value. The issues of the British North Borneo Company from 1887 are notorious examples of the latter class of cancelled-to-order stamps. Sometimes, too, remainders have been cancelled so that they could be sold for a mere fraction of their original facial value, as in the case of the remainders of the St. Helena stamps. Fortunately, in the majority of cases, the marks employed for obliterating stamps of this kind differ materially from the cancellations applied to stamps which have been legitimately used for postal purposes.

Dates on Stamps

3 Novembre, 1918—This overprint on certain war charity stamps of San Marino was applied to commemorate the world war armistice of that country with Austria.

3. 6. 18.—Bahamas issued a War Charity stamp March 6, 1918, and these figures are supposed to represent the date of issue. The stamps actually appeared July 10.

31. 7. 17.—This date on the Mozambique Co., 1917, charity issue, represents the anniversary of the opening of World War hostilities in Portuguese East Africa.

IDWAY IDS. AND CABLE STATION

l order to bed down the sand and ent its blowing up into dunes, mar- grass was introduced in 1906, from Francisco, where it had been utilized e reclamation work at Golden Gate This Australian desert grass s in sand; you plant it deep and t off at the surface, and soon it so that you can take new cuttings plant more. Aside from its deeper it throws out a network of roots intertwine just beneath the surface e sand and tend to protect it from ind and convert it into soil. Ten of this grass were planted athwart sland like a belt, where the dunes blown up, and then it was possible nt as much more as was wanted.

was now also possible to plant trees, s, and flowers. David Haughs, ter- al forester of Hawaii, regularly seeds and cuttings; Australia again ibuted, this time the ironwood tree, here are now ironwood trees on Island forty and fifty feet high. d, it is said that the foliage on the has grown so dense in places that have to be cut through it, and be- the plants and the birds the place ly a paradise. The station is of provided with every material rt, substantial cottages, electric and power, an ice plant, an excel- ibrary, a reservoir for a fifty-thou- gallon reserve of rain water, and den of an acre of ground for thousands of tons of soil were ally brought in from Hawaii.

h this soil came a host of pests, n worms and caterpillars galore. was a new problem for the ama- agriculturists, and they solved it ally by their usual resort to science he aid of scientific friends. This story of the tranformation of ay shows, indeed, that, where the ng but ignorant peasant would be y at a loss to convert bare and g sands into productive and car- land, even the amateur, of educa- nd intelligence, need not despair. A anchored off Midway in 1909, a pair of yellow canaries were t from her Chinese steward at one for each bird. They were taken e station and carefully fed and for, at last being turned out to re- o their original wild state. Water ieed troughs were placed on the dah of the superintendent's house, is wife—for women are not pro- d from living with their husbands idway—was the keeper of the birds ll as of the flowers. The canaries plied themselves, and now there are ands of wild canaries on Sand Is- but no longer a pest of worms.

he same year the Laysan finch was luced on Sand Island, and for the purpose—getting rid of the worms caterpillars. This finch had been on Laysan Island, eastward of ay, and taken to Eastern Island in It had made its way on Eastern l, and now it made its way on Island.

imported soil also brought the to the ironwood trees; they soon red in malignant silver coatings g ill for the embryo forest. Ed- Ehrhorn, entomologist of Hono- was consulted. He sent a bug the ladybird—perhaps she who away home in the nursery rime. It plied exceedingly, and ate up the . Nowadays whenever the blight ears the ladybird returns to its at other times the useful bug keeps iding somewhere and abides its No blight, no ladybird bugs.

wingless bird on Eastern Island, bly a survivor from the Wander- Minstrel, wrecked at Midway in shares honors with the Laysan finch pest killer.

o herds of wild donkeys are a part e faunal life of Midway. A pair taken to Eastern Island and turned twenty-two years ago to subsist on each grasses. They did, and now are two small herds on the island. Some were haltered, when work was to be done on Sand Island, such as the leveling of the dunes, and when the work was done they were taken back to Eastern Island and turned loose again. They stamp holes in the sand to get down to water. The grasses introduced affording sufficient pasturage, a small herd of Jerseys is kept at the cable station to provide fresh milk, cream, and butter.

Life passes pleasantly at Midway, not only because of the work to be done with the steady volume of cables pouring through the station day and night, but because of the garden, the birds, and the plants. Midway is one of the most remarkable rookeries of wild birds in the world. Regularly every year the birds repair to Midway and make their nests—the wandering albatross, the boatswain, the frigate bird or man-o'-war hawk, the sheerwater or petrel, the booby, curlews, plovers, and terns. Tiniest of all is the white love bird, and very curious about depositing its egg, which by some queer magic it manages to place upon a leaf of some small tree or shrub so it will remain there until it hatches; and then the parents merely stand by until the fledging appears and is able to fly.

Other birds resort to the sandy beaches high above the tide to deposit their eggs. Such is the habit of the albatrosses. When you visit them, they receive you with great ceremony, bowing and making it a state affair. They conduct you to the nest, proudly show its contents, then settle down to business—when you are expected to leave. Calls are expected to be formal ones. Daddy Albatross takes his turn on the nest. Midway offers a first-rate opportunity for the scientific study of bird life. All the varieties are so tame—rather, free from any fear of man—that it is easy to observe them under wholly natural conditions.

Observe the man-o'-war hawk getting his breakfast. This old sea pirate has an enormous spread of wing and can fly countless miles and poise motionless, or seemingly so, over one spot minutes at a time. When man knows as much about flying as the man-o'-war, the Pacific will be no problem to him. The man-o'-war makes the booby bring him his breakfast. The booby, an excellent fisher, dives into the teeming waters of the atoll and comes up with a handsome fish, with which he rises high into the air in the hope of getting to a secure spot to devour it. In the offing the men-o'-war are circling, one quite near the water, and when the booby has risen high enough with the fish the others give chase, make him drop the fish, and depend on their confederate to catch it before it reaches the water. The booby does drop it, and they all feast. The poor booby has no alternative but to return to the atoll waters and try his luck again. Fortunately the fish are as plentiful as the birds; a yarn-spinner declares that the art of fishing at Midway has been reduced to an effort to make a cast without hooking a fish, considered a real feat; while to supply the kitchen the Chinese cook simply makes a single dip of his net and selects only the primest of an abundant haul.

Naturally there are sharks in the atoll waters, but they feed well enough on the fishes and never molest the swimming beach, which shelves gradually away from the land in gleaming white sand. Spearing porpoises from canoes is good sport. They float about as if asleep, but jerk the canoe furiously along after the harpoon hits them. It may be an hour or more before they give up the struggle. Ashore there is tennis, and also golf. In the latter game, owing to the sandy nature of the course and the unsatisfactory bunkers and greens, one gets within an approximate distance and then concedes himself that particular hole. But it is all reduced to rules, and genuine contests are possible.

As there are no contagious or infectious diseases on Midway, life there is healthful; the residents never even suffer from colds. Yet, in the course of twenty-five years, a few graves have been dug: there was the doctor who succumbed to an attack of angina pectoris, and the young operator who dived off the wharf and broke his neck. These and one or two more are the mortality statistics.

Midway, of course, with the cable constantly babbling, keeps in hourly touch with the world of to-day, while the past is all there, too, bound in the many and well-chosen volumes of the station library.—Am. Chamber of Com. Jour.

WHY NOT SELL IN ENGLAND?

STAMP business in England is organized on much broader lines and on a wider basis of popularity than it is in America.

Consequently a British firm has a readier sale for stamps and can therefore pay higher prices than can be obtained in America.

What Do You Want
IN THE WAY OF THE 3c 1851-1857 ISSUE?

The Chase Collection of reconstructed plates, plate varieties, paper and gum varieties, as well as blocks, strips, pairs and covers, is now being broken up.

Among the paper varieties, for instance—I note two copies, all that have been seen, showing where the paper joins, that is practically double. In Dr. Chase's experience only two of these of the 1857 issue Type II have been seen

Then he shows this stamp as well as the previous issue, on what appears to be almost tissue paper and the same stamp on practically card-board. In the way of impressions there are copies that look as if they had come from the first run of the plate and some that look as if they were printed the day before the plates were thrown away as useless. There is also a double impression which is unique.

As for the cracked plates there is a section showing single copies reconstructing every crack known and the same cracks on the entire covers. There are also numerous cracks in the 1857 Type II stamps which from my experience have been exceedingly scarce.

These are just a few of the things that I off-hand note. Pick up the Specialized Catalog, locate any plate or printing variety mentioned, and it is, no doubt, in this collection. It is being broken up and sections are being sent to responsible collectors for their inspection.

I am always in the market to purchase outright for cash or sell on commission, anything rare or choice in the way of United States postal or revenue issues. Early mint blocks of four and rare unusual covers are especially desired.

Washington Notes

I am informed by Washington that they contemplate issuing the air mail stamp in book form, and unless the new postal bill now before Congress changes the rate, the present 10-cent Lindbergh variety will appear with six stamps to the book, selling at sixty-three cents.

The Department has also decided to open a branch of the Philatelic Agency at Cleveland Exhibition. The branch will not be opened for the entire week, but in accordance with present arrangements, will open on Thursday, May 24th. On the following Saturday, the 26th, the new Valley Forge stamp will be available at the Cleveland branch on this first day of issue.

Cleveland was decided upon at the last minute, as the Midwest Philatelic Exhibition will be in progress in that City, and the stamp will appear at the branch of the Agency at the Exhibition on the opening day.

It is now contemplated that a special cancellor will be used for postmarking Exhibition mail.

3c Rotary Perf. 11x10½

Mention was recently made of the current 3c rotary perf. 11x10½ in a very light violet shade. All that had been seen were pre-cancelled, "New York, N. Y."

While the Philatelic Agency has requested their representative at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to endeavor to obtain a supply of these stamps in unused condition, they have been unsuccessful, and I have not, as yet, seen this stamp from any post office in other than pre-cancelled condition. It is quite likely that a stock may turn up later on.

1922, 2c Side-wise Coil, Broken Plate

Mr. W. F. Goerner certainly examines his stamps most carefully, for on a circular letter which he recently submitted he located the current 2-cent side-wise coil No. 599 with a slight break at the upper left corner in the margin. This is immediately to the right of the line where the plates are fitted together, and extends vertically, entirely in the margin, about a quarter of an inch. From the appearance of the specimen, I am lead to believe that the crack runs into the upper stamp. These little surface cracks are located every once in a while, but are only found by those who give very close inspection to the stamps that pass through their hands.

10c Lindbergh Double Transfer

Mr. Frederick R. McAlpin is another collector who seems to examine his stamps most carefully, for he brings to my attention several distinct double transfers which are to be found upon the Lindbergh variety, but one on Plate 18246 is the finest that has come to my attention so far.

This is the eleventh stamp—that is, the first stamp in the third row from the northwest pane. The double transfer is to be noted on the right end of the stamp and is most distinct.

The upper frame line is doubled immediately above the "E" of postage, and the lower frame line under the right end. There is a distinct shift of the "E" in postage, as well as the little curlique underneath. The tail of the plane is doubled, and the "0" of the right "10" shifts below into the inner frame line. Such a double transfer is well worthy of note, and can be seen quite clearly without the aid of a glass, although the shows up the smaller details.

Mr. McAlpin also writes tha eleventh stamp in the same position Plate 19004 of the southwest pane a distinct double transfer in the lef as well as a double transfer of th inside of the upper left curlique.

New Provisional Envelope

Mr. H. Clay Reed writes that he cated a new revalued 1-cent green die envelope. This is Die C on wh tra quality, size 5, watermark 24, wit back. The surcharge is the well Richmond, magenta.

The variety will interest the co of entire envelopes only, for it gi nothing new in so far as the colle cut squares is concerned.

I wish to thank Messrs. S. S. Charles J. Jandrue, Jr., Berna Cone, Gabriel Cannon, Reverend J. er, S. M., Armond Carroll and Re T. O. Perrin, for information of i

Each stamp bears the portrait of Tschakste, and consist of the 2s red-orange, 6s green, 15s brown, 25s pale blue, and 30s claret. Each value is sold plus a surcharge of 10 sant, the premium being given to the Tschakste Fund to provide scholarships in educational institutes and for a monument to the late President.

Sweden.—Royal birthday commemoratives.—We are much obliged to Mr. E. K. Russell, the well known L.S.C. member and dealer, for a cutting from a Swedish newspaper, of which the following is a translation:

New Commemoration Issue of Sweden.

"On June 16th, King Gustaf the Fifth has completed his seventieth year, and in commemoration of his birthday a Jubilee set of five stamps will be issued. The issue consists of the values of 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 öre which will be sold at 5 öre above the face value. Thus the nominal value of the set will be 1 Crown. The surplus amount is intended to form a fund for charity purposes, the King having to resolve how to dispose of this fund. According to the King's resolution, the fund thus formed will be used for the scientific struggle with the cancer diseases.

"The design of the stamps, that are issued in large size, shows the portrait of King Gusta , at top the inscription 'Gustaf V 1858-1928,' and at bottom the country name 'Sverige.'

"The stamps will appear in the middle of June and will be sold until December 31st, when they are to be withdrawn. They may be used on Inland as well as Foreign correspondence."—Stamp Collecting.

Switzerland.—League of Nations. New values reported in La Suisse Philatelique. Overprinted "Societé des Nations" on current Swiss stamps. 25c brown (William Tell), 5fr ultramarine. Overprinted "S. d. N. Bureau international du Travail." 40c blue (Helvetia). —Philatelic Magazine.

Turkey.—Red Crescent Charity Stamps. According to Der Berner Briefmarken-Zeitung, the new London printed issue is now out.

The design shows a map of Asia Minor overprinted with a Red Crescent and bears the inscription, in European Characters, Croissant Rouge Turc. The values, ½pi, 1pi, 2½pi (lithographed) and 5, 10, 20, 50pi (line-engraved), are the work of Thomas De La Rue & Co.

The 10, 20 and 50pi stamps are intended for the Parcel Post. Each Sender or Recipient of a parcel pays 5pi for each parcel, thus accounting for the existence of the three highest values. It will be noted that they do not pay postage.

The use of these stamps is compulsory on 23 days during the years, commencing:

April 4 for 4 days, being the "Sugar Feast" following 30 days' fasting.

April 23 for 2 days, being the National Festival.

June 11 for 5 days, being the Martyr's Day (Karban Bairam).

July 23 for 2 days, being the Anniversary of the Declaration of the Constitution.

August 30 for 2 days, being the Anniversary of the Victory over the Greeks in Anatolia.

September 9 for 2 days, being the Anniversary of the Relief of Smyrna from the Greeks.

October 6 for 2 days, being the Anniversary of the Evacuation of Constantinople by the Entente.

October 29 for 2 days, being the Anniversary of the Foundation of the Republic.

November 2 for 2 days, being the Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.—Philatelic Magazine.

CANADIAN PRECANCELS FOR 1927

By C. C. SONNE.

A year ago the outlook for Canadian precancel collectors did not look very bright, postage cuts and meters were being used in large numbers, and all large post offices, as well as subs and mail order houses were being supplied with cash registers for parcel post use, using the printed register slip in lieu of stamps on mail—but in spite of the gloomy prospect, old 1927 did not use us too badly at all; one new city using precancels, and three new plates, as well as a host of new stuff from the old plates. Our infant, St. Hyacinthe, P. Q., blossomed out with a very neat plate, in small serif capitals, and thin bars, using the 1c yellow only. They were not very slow in getting pretty well spread around, too bad Sherbrooke and Chatham were not as well distributed. New plates were made for Toronto, London, and Windsor, small plain capitals, with three straight thin bars, quite similar to type 23, except that the word "ont" is in smaller type, and more condensed. Windsor using the 1c yellow only, London 1c yellow and 10c light brown, but Toronto has run the whole line-up, 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 8c, 10c, 20c, 50c and $1, with invert and double normal on 1c. Guelph also had their old plate dusted off and used the 2c green, followed in example by Walkerville, same denomination. A few others to appear, were (using Thompson's Type Numbers). Edmonton, type 26, 10c light brown. Hamilton, type 3, 2c green; type 25, 7c red-brown, 10c light brown. London, type 3c, 10c light brown. Montreal, type 25, 10c light brown; type 11, 2c green, double, 4c bistre, double. Regina, type 15, 3c carmine. St. Thomas, 50c gray-black. Saskatoon, 10c light brown. Toronto, type 25, 20c olive, inverted. Vancouver, type 28, $1 orange. Winnepeg, type 3, 2c green, inverted; type 24, 8c blue. Many new discoveries were also made, but I have knowledge of very few of them; among some good ones are: Hamilton, type 3, 2c red, double inverted. London, type 3, 3c brown double. Kingston, type 17, 2c carmine, double. Regina, type 15, 2c carmine, double; 5c blue, double inverted. Toronto, type 3, ½c black, blue ink overprint; type 11, 7c bistre double inverted; type 17, 20c olive, double, and Walkerville 1c yellow double.

I will not attempt to list the bar precancels that were brought to light in 1927, there have been a large number of them reported in various stamp papers, and a great deal of work is in store for the cataloguers—the items at present listed are only a fraction of the actual known specimens, it seems that every collector has one or more unlisted ones, and the work of getting a complete check list of these is extremely difficult. I have check lists of some of the most prominent collections, but apparently most collectors believe in hiding their light under a bushel, which makes it much harder to get a line on the unlisted varieties, many of which are contained in hidden collections.—Precancel Gazette.

FRENCH AMERICAN STAMP CO. 322 81ST STREET, BROOKLYN,

THE ROGUES GALLERY

ASKED to name the ugliest set of stamps ever issued we imagine a big majority of stamp collectors would unhesitatingly award the palm to the series of five values issued in Hungary in 1919 to inaugurate the regime of the soviet republic. This series of portraits of Bolshevism's "gods" was aptly termed the Rogue's Gallery almost as soon as they burst on a startled philatelic world. Placed by the side of pictures of an ordinary band of cut-throats these unflattering portraits of the leaders of the Bolshevist Olympus would make the former positively angelic in comparison!

A writer in Le Collectionneur de Timbre Poste at the time of their issue observed: "We know well that it is not given to everyone to be beautiful; it is even permissible to be homely, but there is homliness and homliness. We have had our Revolution, of which the two principal phases, 1789 and 1793, might be personified by Mirabeau and Danton. Now, these two revolutionists were frankly homely. But what a difference between the leonine faces of these two personages and the burlesque expressions of the citizens, pardon, the Comrades Dozsa and Martinovics, between the two champions of the great French Revolution and the bearded and hairy Karl Marx and Engels!"

Surely if our Bolshevist "friends" wished to implant confidence in their doctrines and propaganda on the part of outsiders they could have given us portraits of their leaders that would be a trifle less terror inspiring.

We have been asked who these handsome fellows are so frequently that we make no apology for giving the following short biographical details of each.

Esau in all his glory probably never had such a wonderful hirsute appearance as the Prussian Karl Marx shown on the 20 filler stamp. Marx is the true founder of modern socialism. Of Jewish ancestry he was born in Treves in 1818. In 1842 he established a radical journal at Cologne which was soon suppressed. He migrated to Paris, where he became acquainted with the writings of Proudhon, which converted him to socialism, and formed his life long friendship with Engels. The publication of a journal, Vorwarts, led to his expulsion from France, and he then took up his permanent residence in London. Here, while writing much on current politics, he devoted himself chiefly to the development of his economic ideas. In 1867 he launched the first volume of Das Kapital, which has become the Bible of modern socialism. A second volume appeared in 1885, and the third in 1895. The book itself is a marvel of erudition. In 1864 the International was founded embodying Marx's ideas, and though he never held high office in it, he was its real head, and inspired all its documents and appeals to the people. In 1872 a fierce struggle for control of the International between adherents of Marx and those of Bakunin ended in the expulsion of the latter and the crippling of the association, and thereafter its influence was practically nil. Marx died in 1883.

Sandor Petofi, whose portrait appears on the 45 filler stamp, is unquestionably the best looking of the quintet. He was born at Kiskoros, Hungary, in 1823, and became known as a writer of lyrics unrivalled in the language. His work marked an epoch, as the assertion of the more simple and romantic type of poetry against the stereotyped and classical form. He embraced the cause of the Hungarian revolutionists in 1848. He was aide-de-camp to General Bem, and distinguished himself in the battles of Deva and Ezasz-Sebes. He died in battle at Segesvar in 1849, and a statue was erected to his memory in Budapest in 1882.

The bald-headed gentleman on the 60 filler stamp is Martinovics, an old Franciscan and almoner of a regiment in Bukowina, Austria. He became one of the most rabid propagators of democratic ideas in Hungary, and on the accession of Francis II he headed a revolutionary movement and was accepted by the Committee of Public Safety as agent for Austria-Hungary. He circulated a republican questionnaire and organized a plot which was discovered by the police of Vienna in 1794. For his part in this Martinovics was condemned to death and he was beheaded in 1795.

Dozsa, the most fearsome looking of the quintet, whose portrait appears on the 75 filler value, was a Transylvanian peasant. He headed a revolt of peasants and became chief of the Hungarian jacquerie of 1514. As conqueror of Csanad he ordered all the middle portion of Hungary burned and devastated. He was eventually conquered by Bathori and Szapolyai, and as a fitting punishment for his many atrocities his captors decreed that he be seated on a red-hot iron throne and crowned with a flaming diadem.

Friedrich Engels, the last of our gallery, occupies the place of honor on the 80 filler stamp. He was also a Pru[illegible] like his friend Marx, and was bo[illegible] Barmen in 1820. He lived for a ti[illegible] England and there became interest[illegible] the Chartist and Owenite mover[illegible] He was joint-author of the famous [illegible] munist manifesto in 1848, and too[illegible] active part in the founding of the [illegible] national in 1864. Turks & Caicos Postage & Revenue 1928

By HARRY E. HUBER.

Ordinance No. 6 of 1927, passed by the Legislative Board of the Turks & Caicos Islands, on March 25th, and approved by His Excellency the Governor of Jamaica, Sir H. E. Stubbs on April 11th, was proclaimed in the Dependency on May 7th.

By sections 2 and 5 of this ordinance it is enacted that—

"2.—Fees collected by stamps.

It shall be lawful for the Commissioner from time to time, to declare and direct, by Order to be published in the Gazette, that from and after the time specified in such Order, all or any of the fees, for the time being, payable in any Court of Justice or Public Department or Office connected with the Public Service, or to any Officer thereof, respectively, in aid of the General Revenue of the Dependency, shall be collected by means of stamps, and from and after the time specified in any such order or notice, the fees therein mentioned shall be received by such stamps as are equivalent to the amount of fees payable, and not in money.

"5.—Dies or stamps.

The Commissioner may take all necessary steps to provide suitable dies or stamps for the purposes of the Ordinance."

Postage and Revenue stamps therefore became necessary and in their Bulletin of July-September, 1927, the Crown Agents for the Colonies announced that such a series was in preparation to supersede the Crown type stamps issued November 20, 1922.

Until the new stamps were received, those of the small head, King George V series of 1913, and the Crown series of 1922, were used for the combined duties of postage and revenue, though inscribed only "Postage." The 5d, 6d and 1s Crown type stamps exhausted during January, 1928, and subsequent to the issue of the Postage & Revenue series, the remainders of both the 1913 and the 1922 series, were burned.

The new stamps reached Grand Turk, via. New York, on February 3, 1928, by the Columbus steamer "Solhavn," which brought 13 bags of mail and 55 tons of general cargo. They were not, however, put on sale until Thursday, March 1, 1928, and as a mail left Grand Turk the evening of February 29th, first supplies of the Postage & Revenue stamps did not leave the island until March 18th, when the Royal Netherlands S. S. "Amazone" arrived from the south and took on the mail for New York.

The stamps of this series, comprising eleven denominations (the 4d, 5d and 3s of the former series were dropped, and two new values 5s and 10s added), were line engraved and recess printed by Messrs. Thos. De La Rue & Co., Ltd., London, on multiple Crown and script CA watermarked paper, and comb perforated 14, in sheets of 120, divided into 2 panes of 60 each (6 x 10), with a margin between, and issued in Post Office sheets of 60. There is no marginal line, inscription, or plate number, although along the lower edge on some denominations (1½d and 2s) there is a band of engine turning, extending the width of the pane. Colored papers were used for the 2½d and 5s (yellow), 2s (green), and 10s (blue).

The design is a re-drawing of that used for the Crown type stamps of 1922, a profile portrait of King George V, facing the left, on an oval medallion. On a band conforming to the oval is "Turks & Caicos Islands" at the top, and "Postage & Revenue" at the bottom. In the upper corners as before, is the Imperial Crown, placed horizontally; in the lower corners, on colorless rectangles, the denomination in numerals (1d), and between, the value in words "One Penny." Small ovals containing the Turk's head cacti are inserted in the design just above the figures of value. The inscriptions are colorless.

Unfortunately, the design is more overcrowded than that of the Crown type series of 1922. The Crown, cacti and nu-

These interesting issues are becoming more popular every day. We have a very representative stock of these on hand at present, the majority of which will be found priced in our latest list, which we will be glad to send free to anybody interested. We list below an unusually complete lot of the revalued issues, both the 2c on 3c and the 1½c on 1c. We believe the prices on these to be as low as they ever will be as there will be a substantial rise on many of these in the future, as dealers' stocks are getting very low on many items. We can supply most of these entire if desired.

STOP AT HUDSON

My office in this city is but one block from the main state road running from New York to Albany and thence across the State. When passing through Hudson, many motorists avail themselves of the opportunity of inspecting my specialized stock of United States only.

I am located on the corner of Warren and Sixth Streets on the second floor front, and my office is open from 9 to 5, except Saturday afternoons. Telephone appointments for other hours cheerfully made. Office phone 407—home phone 609.

Don't think you have to buy—I just invite all to inspect —Mistake made in the Cancellation Die is to be Corrected.

(Communication to H. M. Grant.)

Your communication dated the 25th ultimo (G-M) addressed to the Postmaster General, requesting that you be advised if the postmarking and cancelling stamp being used by the postmaster at Lindbergh, Ky., should be spelled "Lindberg" as shown on the present postmarking stamp, has been referred to me for answer.

In reply, you are informed that the present stamp was manufactured in error by the contractor, and the correct spelling of Col. Lindbergh's name should appear on the postmarking stamp. I may state for your information that a special order has been placed for a new stamp, showing the correct spelling, for use at the above-mentioned office.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

SEEN AND HEARD—

WE are indebted to A. W. Whitten, Berwyn, Ill., for several useful clippings that we shall use during the coming weeks.

REV. E. A. BUTLER has just issued a very complete price list of Newfoundland stamps, which will be sent free of charge to any address. It is a book of sixteen pages, and Mr. Butler may be addressed at St. George's, Newfoundland.

MAX F. BIER CO., 91 69 St., Brooklyn, N. Y., has just issued a price list of postage stamps in sets. It runs to twenty-four pages, and a copy will be sent on request.

WE have been shown by a Montreal correspondent a specimen of a Canadian airflight cover which bears the hall marks of official recognition. An ordinary business size envelope is printed across the front and back with the usual airmail markings, and in the lower left-hand corner in a rectangular frame is this inscription in block letters:—"This mail was carried by postal airplane to Montreal." The postmark is from De Rimouskie, May 6. A number of routes are being planned, and we shall later on give full particulars.

W. W. MACLAREN has decided to discontinue the "Stamp Hunter," and we voice in part the great regret that will be felt at the course Mr. MacLaren is compelled to pursue. We have made use of many little articles that have appeared in the "Stamp Hunter," and we shall miss this interesting publication.

LATMARKA, LTD., or Riga, Latvia, has sent us a set of the new airmail stamps, 10s green, 15s carmine and 25s blue. They are triangular in shape, and show the familiar airplane. 200,000 sets were issued and the firm can furnish them at 35c per set.

WE are advised by Clinton L. Chalfant that he has a variety of Saar, 1922, No. 320, with the surcharge "Dienstmarke" inverted. This stamp was purchased about eight months ago from a New York dealer.

THE Ridgewood Stamp Club, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has just issued its annual Year Book, and we are indebted to R. M. Osborne, Box 28, Pratt Sta., Brooklyn, N. Y., for a review copy. The book was compiled by Mr. Osborne, and is sold for 25c. It lists the officers of the United Stamp Societies, the Ridgewood Stamp Club, also the membership lists of other related societies. A general list of collectors is included in the contents of the book.

A total of 7889 first flight covers had to be prepared for my requirements on the inaugural flights on the New York to New Orleans air mail route.

That means that a great many are collecting first day covers.

Several hundred collectors belong to my first day cover club.

That means that there must be some merit to my first day cover service.

For Three Years the First Day Cover Club Has Been Going Strong. May I send you a free circular and tell you about it?

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, the names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

On April 30th, the Government accepted bids on three new Air Mail routes. Chicago to Atlanta, with a spur from Evansville, Ind. to St. Louis, Mo., was awarded to Robert L. Harter. St. Louis-Kansas City-Omaha to Robertson Aircraft Corp. and Chicago-Bay City; Kalamazoo-Muskegon; Kalamazoo - Detroit - Pontiac went to the Thompson Aeronautical Corp. On this latter route, all fields are said to be in readiness with the exception of Pontiac, but that operations should commence in a short time.

******

It is rumored that Utica, N. Y., will go on the AM #20 when the route opens June 1st. This is not official, but it might be worth while taking a chance and having a few letters at that point for despatch.

******

The Department of Commerce, Aeronautical Branch, in the Domestic Air News of April 30th, make the statement that the Transcontinental Air Mail will not be ready to operate much before the first of September, probably later. It was originally hoped that the initial flights would be made May 1st, but landing fields are not ready South of the border and a complete organization has not yet been brought together. Press reports have stated that the route would open June 1st, but in view of the foregoing, it seems probable that a later date may be expected.

******

On June 20th - 21st - 22nd, Lowell, Mass., will dedicate her new Airport with elaborate ceremonies. This will be one of the finest Airports in New England, if not in the country, and a very large attendance during the three days will have ample opportunity of seeing many different types of Army, Navy and commercial planes in flight and on exhibition. It is hoped that a special cachet will be used on mail for the period of the Exposition and dedication.

******

Two "flops" were registered the past week or ten days. It was expected that Kittyhawk, N. C., would do herself proud on May 2nd, when the monument to the Wright Brothers was unveiled, but nothing special came through. Sharpesville, Pa., had an Air Mail Day scheduled for May 10th and about 3000 letters piled up, ready to be cancelled, but the POD said nothing doing, so all covers were returned—minus cancellations.

******

We illustrate herewith the cachet applied to letters mailed on the New York-Atlanta route May 7:—

******

Will some of our good friends in the Middle and Far West please step on the gas and send through whatever they hear in the nature of news of additional pending routes? There are quite a number of rumors around regarding possible changes, etc., and I would like some verification of these stories.

The Round the World Air Mail Derby, the first contest of its kind in the history of the world and sponsored by the Varney Air Lines, air mail operators, in co-operation with the Seattle "Post-Intelligencer", came to a close on May 5, with the return of one of the letters which completed travel around the world. The elapsed time from Seattle and back again to Seattle was 78 days and one hour and a half. This one letter used, wherever possible, established air mail routes.

The contest consisted of sending two letters from Seattle on February 17, both at the same hour; one going east and one going west using air mail lines wherever available. The eastbound letter was intercepted by the London Postmaster on March 9, and was returned under official cover to the Second Assistant Postmaster General at Washington, who in turn transmitted it to Seattle. It therefore failed to accomplish the trip intended. As there is a rule in some of the foreign countries against the sending of mail around the world, it was expected that the westbound letter would be intercepted and returned also, but it slipped through, making it even of more value because of this fact, and arrived safely back in Seattle.

The letter which completed its itinerary will be auctioned off to the highest bidder at a Water Carnival held by the Seattle Elks on June 13. As this one letter is one of the most valuable souvenirs of mail transportation in existence, it should bring a large sum in the auction. It is estimated some 60,000 people will witness this auction and some real competition is in store among the bidders. Money received from the auction will be turned over to a fund for the building of a convalescent home for crippled children. Bids have come in from all over the country on this one letter since its safe arrival back at its starting point.

Although other letters have been sent around the globe, this is, as far as is known, the only air mail letter in existence which has gone through the open mails without interference of any kind.

C. E. Moon informs us that there will be a special flight of airmail out of Toledo June 3 at the opening of the Toledo Air Port. Covers sent to the Toledo post-office will be forwarded if properly marked. It will be the first airmail out of Toledo.

Airmail

—A Blimp Lands on U. S. Craft and Takes Mail to Lakehurst, N. J.

NEW YORK, May 10—A brief radio message, "Blimp landed American Trader, Ambrose light" tonight signalled the successful completion of another step in aviation.

The army 200-foot non-rigid blimp, TC-5, had settled on the deck of the shipping board steamer American Trader three miles off Ambrose lightship, nestled there three minutes, picked up a sack of mail and took to the air again for the trip back to its hangar at Lakehurst, N. J.

Capt. Hubbard C. Fish, master of the steamer, was driving his ship about six knots an hour when Lt. U. G. Ent, commanding the airship, put her nose down and pointed for a platform erected on the quarterdeck of the American Trader. Slowly the blimp floated downward, passed a line to those aboard the steamer, and was hauled to rest on the platform.

STAMPS OF BELGIAN CONGO

The Brussels Handstamps

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

When the Congo was annexed by Belgium it was decided that new stamps would have to be issued bearing the inscription "Congo Belge" (Belgian Congo). In the meantime it was decided to use up the stocks on hand by overprinting the words CONGO BELGE over the now obsolete legend "Etat Independant." At first it was the intention to use handstamps for this work and sixteen of these were made in Brussels. Eight of these handstamps were shipped to the Congo with instructions that they be distributed to the eight principal post offices there, and the postmasters of these offices were informed that all stamps on hand must be overprinted before they were placed in circulation.

The remaining eight handstamps were at first used for overprinting the stamps on hand in Brussels, but this method was found too cumbersome and slow, and it was, therefore, decided to apply the overprint by means of the printing press.

The stamps with the Brussels surcharges are rare as the quantities issued were small. Speaking generally the ink was gray-black, and the letters are clearer than those of the surcharges made in the Congo itself.

The handstamps were separately engraved, consequently there are eight different types varying more or less one from the other. The distinguishing characteristics of the eight Brussels handstamps are as follows:

Type I—The upper half of the B is much smaller than the lower portion of that letter. This peculiarity also exists in Type VI, but in the latter type is less pronounced while the size of the entire surcharge is also different.

Type II—The two halves of the B are equal in size and the letter is rectangular in shape and rather narrow.

Type III—The upper curve of the C is very short and in the word BELGE the letter L is quite close to the G.

Type IV—The upper part of the B is a little larger than the lower portion, while the topmost line of the E tilts slightly upward.

Type V—The letters are very regular though the O and B are slightly larger than those in the preceding types, and the upper part of the B is a little smaller than the lower part. The length of the surcharge is 17mm.

Type VI—See remarks under Type I. The letters L and G in BELGE are rather close together, though less so than in Type III. Type VI had a frame, but the lines were in lower relief than the letters and ordinarily did not show when the surcharge was applied. Occasionally, however, specimens will be found with parts of the frame lines showing.

Type VII—This resembles Type V, but the lower curve of the C is higher and the surcharge measures 16½mm instead of 17mm.

Type VIII—This type is identical in length with Type VI, but the upper part of the letter C differs noticeably. Also the lower curve of both the letters G mount higher and, finally, the horizontal bars of the last E are shorter than in any of the other types.

The following is a list of the values known with the different types of the Brussels overprint:

Type I—5, 10, 15, 25, 50 centimes, 1fr, 3fr 50c, 5fr and 10fr.

Type II—5, 10, 15, 25, 40, 50 centimes, 1fr, 3fr 50c, 5fr and 10fr.

Type III—5, 15, 50 centimes.

Type IV—5, 10, 15, 25, 40 cent

Type V—5, 10, 15, 25, 40, 50 ce 1fr, 3fr 50c, 5fr and 10fr.

Type VI—5, 10, 15, 25, 40, 50 ce 1fr, 3fr 50c, 5fr and 10fr.

Type VII—5, 10, 15, 25, 40, times, 1fr, 3fr 50c.

Type VIII—5, 10 centimes.

The scarcity of these stamps judged by the small quantities which were as follows: 5c, 4,50 3,000; 15c, 2,000; 25c, 1,700; 40c, 50c, 1,000; 1fr, 1,000; 3fr 50c, 1 200; and 10fr, 175.

SAMUEL GITTIS
N. 32nd St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Hah-Kema (Little Yenesei), and the al Kyzil. Across the border, in golia proper, the lakes Ubsa-nor and o-gol are prominently marked.

e values 1 to 5 kopecs are of normal p size; the 1 kopec black, red, and n depicts a native woman; the 2 ko- violet, green, and brown shows a with large antlers against a back- d of valleys and pasturage; the 3 s black, yellow, and green depicts a ntain goat in appropriate setting. 4 kopecs violet and brown shows a e standing outside his hut, in the ntain forest, this type of dwelling, a pointed roof, being peculiar to the ntain dwellers. The 5 kopecs orange, , and blue has a portrait of a male te.

e 8, 10, and 14 kopecs are large ob- stamps, the first bearing the map. 10 kopecs black, green, and red- n gives a glimpse of Touvan sport, here is a trio of native archers in e attire, armed with bows and rs.

e are told that archery is a popular of recreation, especially with the g folk, and a reputation for skill at art counts for much in Touva, and, e all, makes a young fellow an eligi- arti.

e 14 kopecs, blue and orange, shows nel caravan, laden with goods, trav- g the desert, with a range of moun- in the background; the foremost l is led by a guide, and the others ied one behind the other.

new shape of stamp, of large size nearly square, is used for the 40, 50, 70 kopecs. The 40 kopecs red and nish-blue shows a file of natives on back, crossing a river, the horses submerged in the water. The 50 cs black, green, and brown, perhaps most effective design in the series, s a native girl at work making an rately designed carpet; her long es of hair are drawn under her belt ep them from impeding her move- s, and at the side is a large basin water or perhaps koumiss.

e 70 kopecs red and bistre shows a e horseman shielding his eyes from un as he gazes across the plains af- is cattle.

e remaining stamp is not one that would find convenient in use if you a large post to despatch. It is loz- -shape, a diamond turned sideways, it measures 3 in. across and 1¾ in. ight. The frame is a yellow-brown, the centre, in violet, shows natives, and women, astride reindeer on the es of the mountains—Postage Stamp.

Postage Stamps And Their Use As Illustrative Material

The commemorative stamps of the rest of the world which have a political, military, or dynastic significance may be divided conveniently into those concerned with events in, (1) Western Europe, (2) Northern Europe, including Russia and the Baltic states, (3) the Near East and Africa, (4) the Far East, the Middle East, and Oceania, and (5) The British Empire.

The events in the history of Western Europe which have been commemorated by special issues of postage stamps are as follows: (The countries and dates in parentheses refer to the place and time of issue).

925—Acknowledgment of the suzerainty of the Emperor Henry the Fowler, by the Duke of Lorraine (Germany, 1925).

1394—Birth of Prince Henry, the Navigator, of Portugal (1894).

1498—Voyage of Vasco da Gama to India (Portugal, 1898).

1607—Birth of Michael de Ruyter, famous Dutch admiral (1907).

1755—Destruction of a large part of Lisbon by earthquake. The Marquis of Pombal whose energy resulted in the speedy rebuilding of the stricken area, was honored by Portugal by a special issue of stamps in 1925.

1777—Birth of Mazzini (Italy, 1922).

1811—Birth of Jon Sigurdsson, the most prominent Icelandic statesman of the nineteenth century (1911).

1813—Return to power of the House of Orange in Holland. The three King Williams and Queen Wilhelmina are portrayed (1913).

1821—Birth of Prince Regent Luitpold of Bavaria, younger brother of Maximilian (1848-1864) and uncle of Kings Louis II (1864-1886) and Otto (1886-1912). Prince Luitpold was further honored in the same year (1911) by an issue commemorating the twenty-fifth year of his regency.

1826—Beginning of constitutional government in Portugal (1926).

1830—Birth of Francis Joseph I of Austria (1910). This is the same set of stamps which was issued in 1908 in honor of the sixtieth year of his reign with the addition of a tablet bearing the date "1910." Bosnia and Herzegovina also issued a set described in another connection, in honor of his eightieth birthday.

1840—Birth of John II of Liechenstein (Two issues, 1920 and 1925, the second consisting of charity stamps).

1848—Accession of Francis Joseph I of Austria (1908). Also special issues from Bosnia-Herzegovina, and the Austrian post offices in Crete and the Levant. Portraits of Charles VI, Maria Theresa, Joseph II, Leopold II, Francis II, and Ferdinand I, as well as several different portraits of Francis Joseph I.

1849—Garibaldi's flight to San Marino after the collapse of the Roman Republic (San Marino, 1924).

1860-61—Garibaldi's expedition to Sicily, the plebiscite therein, and the formation of the Kingdom of Italy. (Three issues, 1910, 1911).

1894—Opening of new government palace in San Marino (1894).

1898—Coronation of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, who had been governing under a regent for eight years (1898). In 1923 the Dutch East Indies, Curacao and Surinam issued sets commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of her reign.

1900—Accession of Victor Emmanuel III of Italy (1925).

1918—Evacuation of Belgium by Germany and victorious conclusion of the Great War (Belgium, 1918). The stamps are inscribed "1914-1918" and bear a portrait of King Albert.

1918—Victory of the Piave River (Italy, 1921). Two years later San Marino also issued a "Victory" set in honor of its volunteers who had served in the Great War.

1920—Wedding of Charlotte Louise, daughter of Prince Albert of Monaco, and the Count of Polignac (March 20). The birth of a daughter to this royal couple (December 28) was also commemorated. The first issue consisted of charity stamps overprinted with the date; the second issue of regular stamps similarly overprinted.

1921—Reunion of Julian Venetia with Italy (1921).

1922—Fascisti seizure of power in Italy (1925).

1922—Flight of two Portuguese aviators to Brazil (Portugal, 1923).

1923—Birth of a daughter to the Grand Duchess of Luxemburg (1923).

1923—Presentation by Italy to San Marino of the Italian flag which had flown over the island of Arbe, the birthplace of St. Marinus, the founder of San Marino (San Marino, 1923).

1926—Airplane flight from Spain to the Philippines (Spain, 1926).

The following events in the history of the northern European states have been commemorated:

1521—Separation of Sweden from Denmark (Sweden, 1921). Portrait of Gustavus Vasa.

1613—Election of Michael, the first Romanov, to the throne of Russia (1913). The seventeen values bear portraits of eleven of the Romanovs, including Elizabeth and Catherine II. Three values honor Nicholas II, and two Peter the Great. There are also three Romanov palaces shown.

1625—Founding of Libau, Latvia (1925).

1814—Adoption of the Norwegian Constitution (1914).

1825—Decembrist Revolution in Russia (1925).

1917—Russian Bolshevist Revolution (Russia and Far East Republic, 1922).

EDITORIAL

Cleveland called and collectors came. The curtain was raised and the culmination of many weeks of endeavor on the part of the philatelists of that city was revealed; and the scene evoked the plaudits of the philatelic citizenry.

* * *

A pageant of philatelic glory was unfolded to the gaze of pilgrims who wished for the eyes of Argus in order to see it all. Indeed, there is something to talk about, think about and write about. In the words of the critic, the show will "be reviewed later."

* * *

Air Mail Week was a seven days' wonder in showing how our unsubsidized air postal service has ascended in popular fancy. There are over eleven thousand miles of air ways, and by the end of the year the country will be covered by a network of routes. The special delivery stamp is giving way to the air mail stamp.

* * *

It might be a good idea for some of the collectors who have a bit of paper profits in the stock market to profit by putting it in "bits of paper." We prefer not to say anything about the possibilities of profit through investment in stamps, but incidentally, a sheet of 2c and a sheet of 5c Norse-American that cost face a few years ago are now offered for $35, or five times their first price.

* * *

A correspondent says that Señor Cosme Hinojosa, postmaster general of Mexico, whom we had the pleasure of meeting on one of his trips to this country some years ago, is desirous of developing the air mail service from the capitol of Mexico to Brownsville, Texas. The conflicting reports that have come from Mexico on the subject of mail transport by air may be said to be indicative of the interest that is felt in it in that republic. It is probable that Señor Hinojosa and the Hon. W. Irving Glover will work a plan whereby Mexico and the United States will be postally linked by air.

* * *

Many an old collector has a mental picture of himself as a boy scanning his album pages, and it is one that does not fade with age. We have received a letter from a veteran collector in his seventy-ninth year whose "reveries" are very interesting, and among other remarks he says that "as he nears the end of his race" he finds himself dwelling in thought on his salad days as a collector. This observation proves that stamps have made a deep impression on his life and since the future "creepeth" and the present "sweepeth" only the past is motionless. To quote again: "Motionless forever stands the past." It is natural that the mind revert to one's boyhood collecting days, when one's stamp interest was full and fresh.

Bertrand L. Drew of Boston has gone from us. For so many years has his been a familiar face to many, and his name known to all collectors that to write finis is a melancholy duty. Mr. Drew became a dealer almost forty years ago when he was at Harvard studying law,—where fifteen years or so before, John K. Tiffany was a student, preparing himself for his brilliant legal career. In 1889, Mr. Drew was advertising approval sheets from Cambridge, Mass., and later, he established himself in Boston, where for many years he conducted an individual stamp business. Although he sold out some years ago and retired from public participation commercially, he re-entered the lists and continued his dealing activities until the time of his death, which came suddenly. Latterly, he devoted much of his attention to his auction business, although he encouraged personal contact with customers and his invitation "to browse around" will remain in memory. Mr. Drew was a man of strong character, and balanced nicely the manners of the past with the customs of the present. He knew the day when condition was not the dominant note that it is now, and while never wholly forgetting his early training, he heeded the demands of today. He was a correspondent of unusual force and charm, and on occasion, his letters were shrewd commentaries on the panorama of philately. His opinions could be decided, but they were apt to be tinctured with a mellow philosophy that made them acceptable. Mr. Drew did his bit of traveling and made acquaintances throughout the country, as a consequence, and he enlarged his circle of friends through attendance at some of the conventions. His reputation for business probity and constant fairness makes the loss felt all the more keenly, and truly will it be said of him that he is gone, but not forgotten.

A copy of "Finance & Industry," of May 12, 1928, has come from Mr. P. A. Finlayson of Cleveland; and on the pages of this solid Cleveland institution, we find an article complimenting the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club for having been instrumental in financing the stamp exhibition from the sale of stock to philatelists throughout the country. We quote: "Instead of asking for support from Cleveland merchants or other local interests as is so commonly done, members of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club of this city worked out a method of underwriting in which all the various organizations heartily coöperated." The roll of societies is printed, whose members aided in building the financial structure; and the public tribute that is given to the enterprise certainly gives substance to stamps in a circle where a better understanding of philatelic values is desirable.

The action of the post office department in selling the Valley Forge commemoratives at Cleveland on May 26th, is a graceful means of recognition. The friendly disposition of the authorities is appreciated by collectors, and the official touch that it may be said is given the Exhibition by the sale of these stamps is at once a convenience to collectors, and an expression of interest in the success of the Exhibition.

* * *

At a banquet given by associated organizations in Chicago on May 15th, the Hon. W. Irving Glover was a principal speaker, and a number of Chicago collectors had the privilege of meeting him on that occasion. Mr. Glover's remarks were of great interest as reviewing the past, present and future of the air mail and his humorous sallies were appreciated to the utmost.

* * *

While the tendency is to dispense with special air mail markings within reason, the authorities do not regard lightly the coöperation of collectors as shown in the earlier days of air mail. Now that the volume of air mail has increased so largely, it is necessary to attend principally to the expedition of that mail. However, Milwaukee had a special flight on Sunday, May 13, 1928, to Chicago, in honor of the trans-Atlantic flyers, on C.A.M. 9.

* * *

On June 7th, 1928, the editor of the WEEKLY will sail for Europe where he will spend some weeks in different countries there, and inasmuch as no attempt will be made to keep up with his correspondence during his absence, it is advisable that all mail intended for the WEEKLY be sent to Beverly or Portland for the time being.

PRECANCEL COIL COMMENT

By ALBERT L. JONES.

Along about the time that Henry Ford became dissatisfied with the familiar Lizzie, Adolph Gunesch became dissatisfied with the way coils were listed in the standard precancel catalog and announced he would compile a coil list. And just as the general public waited eagerly for months for the new Ford so did all of us coil cranks eagerly await for months the new coil list. Finally we got the new Ford. And finally we got the new model D. coil catalog. And was it worth waiting for? I'll say, and how!

Gunesch's priced check list of city type coils is well-printed and bound in a distinctive red cover and will be read inside, too. It will not only be read, but will be kept and consulted, for it is carefully compiled and authoritative. The standard catalog plan is followed in listing the few hand stamps found on coils and they are not priced in different positions, but the mistake the Rotnem catalog made in considering the coil machine types as hand-stamps is rectified and they are priced separately when found in different positions which is as it should be. Also varieties of coils printed on a flat press are listed separately from those printed on rotary presses. Many general collectors will be greatly surprised when they learn how much more valuable are the flat press items compared with the rotary press coils.

Also collectors who have not paid any particular attention to coils will be astonished at seeing many coil items in the Gunesch list being priced at five and even ten times as much as in the Rotnem catalog. In addition to this the prices given by Gunesch are NET prices while the standard catalog prices are supposed to be subject to an average discount of fifty per cent.

From my experience with coils I really believe in general that Gunesch's prices in his catalog are justified and that in nine cases out of ten that fine copies of coils will be salable at the full price he quotes. Some representative price increases are as follows:

	Rotnem.	Gunesch
Chicago, City type XV, 1c, 25c		$2.00
Chicago, City type XV, 2c 75c		5.00
Louisville, Ky., U-97 old series 5c,	45c	2.00
Boston, U-96, 10c,	50c	3.00
New York City, U-93, 4c,	25c	2.00
Cincinnati, U-91, 5c,	25c	2.00

However, while nearly all obsolete issues show increases except on the one cent denomination, the current issues are reduced in prices and there will be general agreement on this policy, too. Another thing; where the issues appear speculative, Gunesch priced them at just about face value so as to discourage further production. Some of these items will be found very difficult to pick up at the prices quoted, but I believe the average coil collector would rather go without these specimens than encourage speculation in this branch of precancels which has been almost entirely free from the speculative and made-by-favor taint. I might mention here that the coils from Goshen, Ind., are free from speculation and I think their scarcity would warrant higher prices than assigned them in this list. I would be glad to buy some at double catalog and might pay even more.

While on the subject of prices I want to criticise a few of the Gunesch prices. I do this with hesitancy as I do not want to disparage Gunesch in the least, but of course in any catalog listing as many items as this does, and especially considering that it is a first edition, there will be prices made on some items that probably will be changed in later editions as other collectors give of their information to the coil editor.

Indianapolis: The old series 3c reading up is priced at 75c and reading down at 30c. I have never seen a copy of it reading down so consider it worth at least a dollar. Reading up, 75c is too high. 30c might be about right for it. There is only one copy known of the 10c UD so it ought to be worth more than $1.50. All the new series being issued now are coming reading up so this variety in the new series will soon become more common than the reading down on the new series and prices should change accordingly. Spencer, Ind.: the denominations above the 1½c in the new series are scarcer than the quotations indicate. This is especially true of the 3c denomination in the new series. Kansas City: The U-94 ten cent priced at $1.50 is too high. Judging from the frequency I have seen this stamp 50c would be enough. Omaha: The 3c down is listed at 15c same as in Rotnem's, but is so plentiful that it is not worth that much even. Rochester, N. Y.: Many items from this city are priced too high. I know of one man who has thousands—literally thousands—of coils from this city. Some of the items priced much to lofty are the four cent denominations in the U-93, U-96 and U-97 types. Precancels from Gettysburg and Hazelton, Penn., are rare. Pittsburgh: The U-97 10c old issue at one dollar is too high. I know one collector—not a dealer—who has forty copies of this stamp.

Mr. Gunesch compiled and issued this list at a considerable sacrifice of time and money. It is wholly a labor of love for there is no chance of its being directly or indirectly remunerative. Mr. Gunesch is employed during the day and during his spare time, with the assistance of his wife, conducts a thriving precancel business. Anyone that knows anything about the amount of work connected with compiling a list of this kind will realize how much coil collectors owe Gunesch. Some time you may have heard a preacher brag about how he converted some great evangelist and in that way indirectly claim credit for the great work the evangelist may have done. That's the way I am with Gunesch, for he admits he became interested in coils through an article of mine that he published in the March, 1926 issue of his "Windy City Precancel News." I had the pleasure of meeting Gunesch at the Saint Louis Convention and found him to be a tireless worker, a keen student of stamps and an enthusiastic collector of coils.

A review of this publication would be incomplete without mention of the introductory article written by W. G. Bateman of Missoula, Montana. As far as my knowledge goes it is the most comprehensive and scholarly treatise on precanceled coils ever published.—Precancel Gazette.

As the Probate Court has authorized me to carry on for the present the stamp business of the late Bertrand L. Drew, the stamp auction advertised for June 1, 1928, will be held as advertised. The stamps will be on exhibition and bids will be received at 333 Washington St., Boston, Mass., Room 803.

Yearnings

By R. E. FARR.

She is superb and no mistake;
Her beauty makes my optics ache.

She is three times as old as I,
And hence I think she'll pass me by.

But if I had the needed dough
I'd never, never let her go.

How empty seems a certain space
Without her quiet, winsome grace!

To me she's worth a miser's hoard—
She is the stamp I can't afford.

Tristan da Cunha

—Postmark Used On This Island in the Southern Atlantic Ocean.

By PERCY A. HILL.

I am enclosing herewith the postmarks of the loneliest spot on earth, Tristan-da-Cunha. This is situate in the South Atlantic about midway of Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope.

I wrote a letter to a widow in the Island on November 12, 1924, and received an answer by return mail, and which arrived here April 6, 1928, or three years and five months later. At one time during the late war, the three hundred people who live there, passed nearly eight years without a mail, the war being fought without their knowing of it.

The postmarks, which are the new ones, are of a different type than those used before 1921, and are not dated, this evidently being an unnecessary proceeding, as mail after being received might lie for a year or so before transmittal by the occasional war-ships or whalers which visit this out of the way place.

The letter in question was over a year in direct transit, and is back-stamped Singapore, evidently having been brought direct by some wandering whaler. There were no stamps of any kind on the letter, other than the cancellations.

Places of Bible Interest

(Contest Entry of Robt. L. Weber.)

Palestine—The 2, 3, and 10 mils show Rachel's Tomb. The 50, 90, 100 and 200 show the Sea of Galilee. The 4, 6 and 8 mils show the Mosque of Omar. While this building is not of Biblical interest, the place is.

Syria—The various values of type A4 picture Damascus.

Alaouites—The various values of type A4 picture Damascus.

Lebanon—The various values of type A2 picture Damascus.

Armenia—Types A5, A15, A17, A22, A36 and A37 show different views of Mt. Ararat.

Malta—Nos. 18, 65, 76, 85, 142, 147 and 145 bear various pictures of St. Paul.

Italy—Nos. 138, 139, 140 and 141 show Christ teaching.

Iraq—Nos. 2, 102, 114 depict the Euphrates River. Nos. 5, 105 and 117 show Ur or Ninivah (?).

Hungary—Types A23 and A28 bear pictures of the Madonna.

Liechtenstein—Type A16 shows the Madonna.

Latvia Commemorative

We have received from Latmarka, Ltd., Riga, Latvia, a specimen set of the Tschakste stamps commemorating the first president of the Latvian Republic. The issue consisted of 35,000 sets of the following values:—2+12, 6+16, 15+25, 25+35 and 30+40 sant. The Latvian State Printing Office at Riga did the printing, the designer being Prof. R. Saarinsch and the engraver K. Krauze.

We are indebted to the firm for the courtesy extended.

Cap of Liberty

A well-known republican symbol forming part of the design of numerous postage stamps of such countries as Hayti, Liberia, Nicaragua, Paraguay, Salvador, etc. It also forms the watermark in some of the "Seebeck" issues of Ecuador, Nicaragua and Salvador. It is also known as the Phrygian bonnet or cap.

Our Junior Contest

Our Observation Contest was a pronounced success, with nearly one hundred entries. The ten questions to be answered were as follows:—

(1)—What stamps shows the legend of the she-wolf nursing Romulus and Remus?

(2)—On what stamp is represented a fencing bout?

(3)—On what South American stamps is depicted George Washington's likeness?

(4)—On what recent stamp appear the words: "Nadie la apagará"?

(5)—What recent stamps represent places of Bible interest?

(6)—What stamp bears the inscription "Xmas 1898"?

(7)—What Greek deity is the most commonly seen on stamps?

(8)—On what U. S. stamp a viking galley is depicted?

(9)—On what stamps is depicted a house interior?

(10)—On what U. S. stamp is depicted a Spanish queen?

Here is the perfect score as given by Mr. Suarez:—

(1)—Fiume. Charity, 1919. 5 cents.
(2)—Hungary. Charity, 1924, 500kr.
(3)—Brazil Commemorative, 1909.
(4)—Bolivia. Centenary issue, 1925.
(5)—Palestine. 1927.
(6)—Canada.
(7)—Mercury.
(8)—5 cents, 1925 Norse American Centenary.
(9)—Portugal. Branco Commemorative.
(10)—1898. Columbus Commemorative.

It is very gratifying to read the words of praise given our Junior Page and the contests we are offering. Many contestants enter into the hunt with enthusiasm, and call for yet another. James Walsh sending in his entry writes: "Five answers is not so good, but it's my best." Jimmie, that's the spirit that wins. A man or a boy can do no better than his best.

No. 4 was the hard one. Sumner Miller writes: "I tell you I got quite a kick out of it when I saw that Boli stamp staring up at me from the ca page." Look at the long list of "ni that failed on No. 4. Cecil Bolam s "It almost breaks my heart to fe cannot answer No. 4. I just canno it."

We are sending prizes this week t who sent in complete lists. No. 4 difficult, and we shall give Hono Mention to all who sent in incom lists.

—Further Comment On Confede "Essays" Recently Mentioned

By THOMAS H. PRATT.

I notice a short article on your "St News for the Juniors" page of Apri 1928, in which Mr. Philip H. Ward plies to a question asked by one of y juniors, Robert K. Story, about cer Confederate "essays." This reply, in opinion, is only partly correct and le out the most interesting history of t prints from the changed De La plates. Purely in the spirit of accu with our younger folk I am adding bit.

Mr. Ward's reply "These 10c pl similar to the 5c plates" is incorrect the 10c plates are the 5c plates. T were changed by hammering out "FIVE" and substituting the w "TEN" presumedly at the time of rate change of July 1, 1862, demand ten cents postage for a single letter r er than five cents which was the rate effect since the taking over of the po system in the south by the Confede government on June 1, 1861. Howe they were not used to print stamps w although prepared for that purpose.

The history of these plates is inter ing when one stops to consider the f that the young man submitted to a print from the only stamp plate was ever used to print stamps although of another value, that arried a letter within these United , that was engraved and made in er country. These plates in their al state as 5c plates were made and s printed from them by De La Rue of London, England. This stamp at we call today the Confederate 5c London Print. Several dupli- lates were sent to Richmond, and rintings from them by Archer & are what we call the Confederate 5c Local Prints.

w, Mr. Ward says: "Several years the plates were found, etc." To be correct two pieces of the original were found. The first of seventy ts was located in a second-hand shop in Richmond, Virginia, several ago, and the other, of which I do now the early history, of nine sub- is now in the Ohio State Museum lumbus, Ohio. This latter piece orrowed from the museum by the bus Collectors Club in January, and prints made from it to embel- he menu card for their Third An- Banquet given on January 18, 1910, e Ohio Club of Columbia. The which are offered now and again vidently from the seventy subject the junior will examine his prints y he will be able to see that the " does not show up as clearly as mainder of the stamp and even, in instances, a tracing of the original E" may still be seen.

igoland is a small island in the Sea. Its population is about 2,500, ts area 130 acres (a small sized). This island belonged to Great n for 83 years, but was ceded to any, August 9, 1890. From that until the treaty after the World it was strongly fortified. Since Germany has been compelled to dis- e the fortifications.

m 1867 until its cession to Germany ge stamps were used there under vn name. These stamps were all d in two colors, giving them a very tive appearance. The early issues d pictures of Queen Victoria, and ter ones had a shield as a central n. Some of the stamps had the expressed in both English and Ger- urrency.

e stamps of this former British y have been extensively reprinted orged, and in either case are of no except as gaudy space fillers. For eason, great care must be used in g these stamps, if one wishes to e genuine ones.—A. C. LeDuc.

AGE STAMPS AND THEIR USE

9—First National Assembly of nd (1919). In 1921 the adoption e constitution and the signing of Treaty of Riga, concluding the with Russia, were commemorated pecial issues. A year later the xation of upper Silesia was simi- commemorated.

19—Independence of Lithuania). The opening of the National mbly (1920) was also commemo- d in the same year. In 1923 two nemorative issues appeared in con- on with the annexation of Memel.

19—Independence of Latvia (1919). same year saw special issues com- orating the liberation of Courland, the occupation of Riga. In 1920 her issue commemorated the first onal Assembly.

20—Reunion of Northern Schles- with Denmark (Denmark, 1920).

24—Death of Lenine (Russia,).

25—Annexation of Spitzbergen by way (1925).

26—Roald Amundsen's flight over North Pole (Norway, 1925). Is- d before the flight to help finance he Balkan and African states have issued stamps commemorating the following:

1696—Accession of Danilo I (1696-1735) first of the Petrovich dynasty in Montenegro (1896). Each of the twelve values pictures the Monastery of Cettinje, famous for the desperate defenses made there against the Turks.

1804—Beginning of the Serbian War for independence under Kara-George (1904). The lower values bear portraits of Kara-George and Peter I. By holding these stamps in a certain way the so-called "Death Mask" of Alexander, Peter's murdered predecessor, may be seen.

1822—Liberia founded (1922).

1824—Death of Lord Byron (Greece, 1924). Two years later Greece commemorated the centennial of the heroic defense of Missolonghi.

1830—Birth of Francis Joseph I of Austria (Bosnia and Herzegovina, 1910). A pictorial series of sixteen values. Among the scenes shown are views of Doboj, Mostar, Jajce, and Sarajevo, where was fired the shot which brought on the Great War.

1860—Accession and marriage of Prince Nicholas of Montenegro (1910).

1866—Accession of Charles I of Rumania (Two issues, 1891 and 1906). The second issue contains several stamps showing scenes in the Russo-Turkish war in 1877-78 in which Rumania participated. Osman Pasha, the Turkish hero, and his staff, are shown in a carriage, after the capitulation of Plevna.

1868—Birth of King Fuad of Egypt (1926).

1876—Bulgarian "War for Independence" (1901).

1877—Battle of Shipka Pass (Bulgaria, 1902).

1881—Establishment of the Kingdom of Romania (1906). "Carmen Sylva," Queen Marie's mother-in-law is portrayed.

1887—Accession of Ferdinand of Bulgaria (Two issues, 1907 and 1912).

1898—Creation of the High Commission of the powers to administer Crete (Crete, 1907). One stamp bears portraits of Prince George of Greece (George II, 1922-23) and Alexander Zaimis, high commissioners from 1898 to 1906 and 1906 to 1911, respectively. The other stamp shows Prince George landing in Crete in 1898, and being received by the admirals representing Great Britain, Italy, France, and Russia.

1905—Montenegro granted a constitution (1905).

1908—Restoration of the Constitution of 1876 in Turkey (Two issues, 1908 and 1914).

1911—Mohammed V's visit to various of the Turkish provinces, and especially to the battlefields of Kossovo where the Serbs had been overwhelmed in 1389 (1911).

1912—First Balkan War (Bulgaria, Greece, 1913). Greece issued two additional sets in 1913 commemorating the union with Crete and the occupation of Samos.

1913—Annexation of Silistria by Rumania (1913). One value shows a portrait of Mirces, Prince of Wallachia, 1386-1418, and a national hero. Other values show Rumanian troops crossing the Danube on a pontoon bridge, and a Rumanian warship.

1913—Retaking of Adrianople by Turkey (1913). The three values show a picture of the famous Mosque of Selim II.

1914—Arrival of Prince William of Wied in Albania (1914).

1914—Assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his morganatic wife at Sarajevo (Bosnia and Herzegovina, 1917).

1918—Armistice between Turkey and her enemies (Turkey, 1918).

1919—Occupation of Fiume by Gabriel d'Annunzio (Fiume, 1920). One value shows a sword in the act of cutting the Gordian knot!

1919—Evacuation of Hungary by Rumanian troops (Hungary, 1919).

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

at the present time to purchase really important items or collections of United States postage and revenue stamps. My stamp sales during the last two months have exceeded any former period and in order to continue to supply my many clients, it is necessary to continue to purchase the finest things that the market affords. I welcome communications relative to the sale of important properties or items, not only from collectors but from dealers.

I prefer the mint early specimen in either a single or block, followed by the rare 20th century items, especially the inverted centers and the scarcer blocks. I also have a constant demand for unusual covers—that is, covers with rare stamps and combinations. Like to have a copy or two of the 1851 1c Type I, either used or unused, on or off cover. Other stamps of this caliber are welcome.

If you are thinking of turning your scarcer United States stamps into cash, it will be to your advantage to communicate with me. I am in a position to pay immediate cash to any amount for substantial properties, or will sell upon a reasonable commission basis, should this method be preferred.

Most of the finest collections and individual items that have come upon the market within the last several years have passed through my hands. There must be a reason.

The best of banking, commercial and philatelic references will be furnished if desired.

Valley Forge Commemorative Stamp

Under date of May 12th the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. R. S. Regar, officially announced the detailed description of the Valley Forge Stamp and furnished information relative to the variety as follows:

"Postmasters and postal employees are notified that the department is about to issue a new 2-cent postage stamp to commemorate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of Washington's campaign at Valley Forge.

The new stamp is the same shape and size as the ordinary stamp, 75/100 by 87/100 inches, and is printed in red ink. The vignette shows Washington kneeling in prayer. Across the top of the stamp in a straight line are the words "U. S. Postage" in white Roman letters, and on a ribbon above the vignette are the words "Valley Forge" with the years "1778" and "1928." The white numeral "2" appears in both lower corners within circles, which are connected by a panel bearing the word "Cents." On a ribbon above the panel are the words "In God We Trust" in small Gothic letters.

The Valley Forge Commemorative stamp will first be placed on sale May 26 at the post offices at Valley Forge, Philadelphia, Lancaster, Norristown and West Chester, Pa., and Washington, D. C. Furthermore, on account of the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition at Cleveland, Ohio, it has been decided to include the sale of this stamp at Cleveland on May 26, which is the last day of the Exhibition. For the benefit of collectors and others who may be interested, it will also be placed on sale the same date at the Philatelic Agency, Division of Stamps, Post Office Department.

Direct and central accounting postmasters may draw requisitions for limited quantities of the new stamp on a separate Form 3201, the words "Valley Forge" to be indorsed plainly thereon in the column for commemorative issues, and they will be filled in regular turn as promptly after May 25 as the production will permit. District postmasters may obtain small quantities of these stamps to meet the local demand by requisition on their central accounting postmaster."

Air Mail Booklet Pane

Under date of May 14th, Mr. Regar also made announcement relative to the new air mail booklet which will be placed on sale for the first time on May 26th, at both Washington and at the Exhibition at Cleveland, Ohio. The announcement follows:

"Owing to the enormous demand for air-mail stamps in book form, the department has decided to issue the Lindbergh airmail stamps in books containing six stamps, arranged in two sheets of three stamps each and interleaved with paraffin paper.

The price of the new books will be 61 cents each and they will be first placed on sale at Washington, D. C., on May 26, 1928. Furthermore, on account of the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition at Cleveland, Ohio, it has been decided to include the sale of these books at Cleveland on May 26, which is the last day of the Exhibition.

Direct and central accounting postmasters having need for air-mail stamps in books may draw requisition on Form 3201, using the blank line provided under the heading "Books of Stamps." These requisitions will be filled in the order of their receipt as promptly as production will permit."

State Revenues

Mr. J. V. Nielsen, Jr., writes under date of May 7th that new state revenue stamps for South Carolina to be used on containers of concentrated soda fountain flavors, reached Columbia on May 7th, and that the stamps which are one inch by three inches in size, have been engraved and printed by the American Bank Note Company.

Mr. Nielson does not give a description of the designs, but states that there are five denominations which are as follows: 19c light green, 38c olive-bistre, 76c black, $3.80 chocolate, $7.60 light blue, to be used on containers for a quarter, a half, one, five and ten gallons respectively. I note that they have the colors for a chocolate soda, as well as a pistachio, if there is such a kind, but for some reason they forget to color one of the stamps after the strawberry and pineapple soda, which are also quite popular.

Canal Zone

Mr. R. S. Carter kindly sends a newspaper clipping announcing that the Canal Zone Government will honor the memories of Generals Goethals and Gorgas, with a special issue of two stamps consisting of a 1-cent and 2-cent.

The approval of Governor L. M. Walker has been given to the issue, and an order has been placed with the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington. They will be placed on sale as the present supply becomes exhausted, which Mr. Carter states will be about next September. The new issue will not have any surcharge across the face as heretofore. The 1-cent stamp will be printed in green and will bear a portrait of General Gorgas, and the 2-cent which will be printed in red will bear a likeness of General Goethals, the two officers mainly responsible for the successful building of the Canal.

The clipping which is dated April 28th, states that on the previous day official

STAMP NOTES AND NEWS

Argentina.—We are pleased to have been able to distribute through our New Issue Service the ½c, 1c, 2c, 5c, 10c and 1 peso stamps with the A.P. watermark. This issue was a provisional one and we understand the stock is exhausted. We have not been able to get any of the 20 centavos stamps with this watermark. A set of nineteen Air Post stamps has also arrived from this country, which are, we understand, for use on letters sent by Air Mail from Buenos Aires to Toulouse (France), but we really fail to understand why so many denominations should be required. There are four different designs.

Brazil.—In addition to the three provisionals mentioned last month surcharged on the Official stamps of 1919, type 03 in our catalogue, we have received the 5,000 reis on 50 reis green and 10,000 reis on 10 reis olive.

Chili. — We understand that a new issue of postage stamps is in preparation, the designs, colours and denominations being the same as the existing set, but that the inscription "Chile Correos" is to be altered to "Correos de Chile." It is also stated that a new Aerial Service was started on March 5th between Santiago and Paris and that special stamps will shortly be issued showing an eagle, or condor.

China. — With further reference to the Chang Tso-lin stamps, we are informed that the Chinese inscription in the tablet at the top of the stamp means "In commemoration of the assumption of office of the Generalissimo of the Army and Navy." The inscription at the base of the stamp means "Chinese Republican Postage."

Finland.—The 10 penni, 50 penni, 10 marks and 25 marks of the current type have now been issued with the swastika watermark and they are being distributed this month. The 10 and 25 marks with this watermark are already obsolete as we have received the 1, 1½, 3, 10 and 25 marks watermarked with a posthorn. Some of this issue show the watermark with the posthorn facing left and some right. The stamps with the swastika watermark being in use such a short time should prove to be quite scarce. It has been stated in some quarters that Air Post stamps are to be issued shortly, but our agent at Helsingfors kindly informs us that it is very improbable that this issue will materialise. We are further informed that a new series of stamps will be issued during the summer, which will show various places and buildings of interest in Finland.

Greece. — In renewing our stock of the current pictorial type we find that the 10 drachmae stamp comes in a new shade, claret and black instead of marone and black.

Hayti. — A new denomination has been issued, 35 centimes green, of large oblong size, showing a branch of the coffee plant in bloom.

Holland.—Special stamps have been issued in connection with the Olmypian Games which are now being held in Holland. There are eight denominations as follows:—1½c + 1c green, 2c + 1c mauve, 3c + 1c yellow-green, 5c + 1c light blue, 7½c + 2½c orange, 10c + 2c red, 15c + 2c blue, 30c + 3c sepia. Each stamp is of a different design illustrating various types of sport, rowing, fencing, football, running, sailing, horse-racing, putting the weight and boxing.

Jamaica.—We have seen the current 1d pictorial type with the watermark reversed. The last printing of the 1½d Contingent type was in a much deeper green than previously and in addition sheets of these stamps have plate numbers 10 and 14, whereas the previous printings had no plate numbers.

Jind.—We have received a small advance supply of the following denominations on the multiple star watermarked paper and overprinted "Jind State" in one line:—1 anna brown, 2 annas mauve, 4 annas olive, 5 rupees mauve and blue, 10 rupees red and green; Service stamps, 3 pies grey, 12 annas claret, 10 rupees red and green. This is the first time that a 10 rupees stamp has been overprinted for any of the Convention States of India.

Kedah.—In a recent consignment of stamps from this country we find that the 50c, $2 and $3 have the watermark reversed so that the Crown is pointing to the right instead of to the left.

Malta. — A surprise new issue has been received from here in the shape of a 6d Air Mail stamp, which has been made by overprinting the current 6d King George type with the words "Air Mail" in block letters in two lines. The stamps were placed on sale on April 1st and are for the prepayment of postage on letters sent by Air Mail to Iraq, Persia, North East Arabia and North West India by the Egypt-Iraq Mail Service, maintained by the Postal Administration of the United Kingdom, such mails will be despatched to Gaza, Baghdad and Basrah via Egypt in alternate weeks, the gain in time in respect of mails for Baghdad will be about sixteen days.

New Zealand.—The 2/- King George, Admiral type, printed in light blue, has now been overprinted for Official use. We have also received this new light blue stamp overprinted for Niue, Rarotonga and Samoa for ordinary postage, also the 3/- mauve stamp in the same type for Rarotonga.

Norway.—The special stamps issued to celebrate the centenary of Henrik Ibsen have now appeared. There are four denominations as follows:—10 öre green, 15 öre brown, 20 öre red and 30 öre blue, all of the same design showing the portrait of Ibsen with his signature at the top of the stamp.

Roumania. — To celebrate the tenth anniversary of Bessarabia having rejoined Roumania a special set of stamps is to be issued, we understand that the designs have been submitted to the Postmaster-General of Roumania for approval.

South West Africa.—The new Postage Due stamps of 1d, 2d, 3d and 6d overprinted "S.W.A." were issued on April 1st, the 1d and 2d values being on the new type of South Africa Postage Due, and the 3d and 6d on the old type of Union stamps without watermark. As each stamp is alike it will not be necessary to collect these in pairs as in the case of former issues. The three varieties of Postage Dues distributed last month, 2d, 3d and 6d with the "Suidwes" overprint, were issued in limited numbers and will no doubt prove to be quite scarce. We are officially informed that the ½d and 1½d Postage Due stamps are to be discontinued and that the only ones to receive the new "S.W.A." overprint are the 1d, 2d, 3d and 6d.

Tunis.—The 30c stamp has arrived in its new colour, green instead of mauve, also the permanent type of the Fr.1.50 blue, which replaces the provisional stamp, Fr.1.50 on Fr.1.25. Three new Air Post stamps have also come to hand which are type 9 in our catalogue overprinted with an aeroplane and "Poste Aerienne," the values are Fr.1.30, Fr.1.80 and Fr.2.55—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

A12, has been placed on sale. Copies are to hand from Whitfield King & Co.

Venezuela. — Whitfield King & Co. advise of the appearance of a 40c blue, bearing the portrait of Bolivar.

In addition our correspondents report the 3 bols. orange and 5 bols. purple, in the same design as mentioned above.

STRAY ITEMS:—

THE MARKS STAMP COMPANY of Toronto, Canada, has been incorporated, and will henceforth carry on business under the name given. We shall shortly publish the names of the officers of the company, and without a doubt the new firm will be a stronger factor in philately than ever before.

PAUL W. SAVAGE sends us a couple clippings, one of which is from the Worcester (Mass.) Telegram of May 10. We note a letter to the editor signed "Worcester Stamp Club" in which it comes to the defense of the P. O. Department in connection with the criticism directed toward the "much maligned postage stamp."

THE stamp collectors of East St. Louis held their first meeting May 11, at the Hawthorne School Building, and organized under the name of the St. Clair Stamp Collectors Society. J. J. Becker was elected President. The next meeting May 25.

APRIL SUBSCRIPTION RECORD

The two leaders this month are only four points apart where last month they were five points apart. The race between W. W. Betts and the Johnson Stamp Co. is indeed interesting. We wish to make special note of the fact that the Indian Stamp Co., Andrew R. Perry and T. D. Bottome are stepping into the ranks of the leaders for this month. The work of the Indian is especially gratifying, with 23 new subscriptions. The following sent in ten or more during April:—

Precancels

—Some Notes on Bureau Prints That will Prove of Interest.

By F. W. ALLEN.

Many collectors are unaware of the exact method by which these precancels are produced, so a short discussion perhaps will be of value. The coils must be ordered in minimum quantities of 250,000 for each denomination, and the stamps in sheet form in minimum quantities of 500,000.

It is impossible for a double strike to occur in printing. A short while ago we found a block of 10c New York that showed an apparent double printing. Upon investigation we found that this was simply an offset. As the report should be of interest to all Bureau collectors, we shall quote from it: "I have checked the N. Y. at the Bureau and there is no doubt that it is an offset. When the wiper gets too full of ink from the roll, it is taken out while the machine is in operation and the roll will then offset the precancellation if the ink has not dried sufficiently. It would be absolutely impossible to have the same paper pass over the precancelling rolls more than once. There is probably 25 feet, or so, of paper from the precancelling roll to the end of the machine either way. The paper is under tension and you can see what a job it would be to pull it back if it was not printing properly. In case this is so, they just cut out the poor work and scrap it. Look at a newspaper rotary press—it's about the same proposition with gumming racks added and folding left off."

During 1927 there were orders from 29 new towns calling for 35 stamps, 56 new denominations for those o using Bureau prints. This makes a total of 91 new varieties, if we do pay attention to perforations, which b out the contention that collection listing Bureaus alphabetically by citi a logical system. Our stock is arra in this manner and we believe a colle arranged accordingly can be kept compact.

Orders taken during January and ruary have been as follows:

Providence, R. I.—4c coil.

Albany, N. Y.—2, 3, 4, 5c coils.

Worcester, Mass.—3c ordinary.

Memphis, Tenn.—9c ordinary.

Richmond, Va.—1½, 2, 3, 4, 5, coils.

Framingham, Mass.—1½c coil.

THE STAMPS OF LIECHTENSTEIN

By CHARLES S. THOMPSON.

In these days of multitudinous new issues, there are few countries which the collector of moderate means can complete, and at the same time specialize to a reasonable extent.

One of this group is Liechtenstein, all of whose stamps may be purchased for five or six dollars, while a similar amount will add many of them in blocks, or even whole sheets! This condition of affairs will not last forever, and now is the time to complete the task and enjoy the results!

Liechtenstein itself is one of the three smallest independent countries in Europe, the others being Monaco and San Marino, and the collector who attempts to complete those two countries at the present time is going to have plenty to do, and he will require plenty to do it with.

Until after the war, Liechtenstein was practically unnoticed by stamp collectors, as its stamps were listed among those of the Austrian offices. Outside of philatelic circles even now it is probably true that not one person in a thousand has ever heard of Liechtenstein.

The Princes of Liechtenstein first appear historically in the twelfth century, and five hundred years later the Emperor Charles VI recognized the two principalities of Vaduz and Schellenburg, which were joined to form Leichtenstein. The Princes acquired a seat in the German Reichstag, but left the Confederation in 1866, since which date the country has been independent.

Being situated in the midst of powerful neighbors, Leichtenstein until recently has been economically allied to Austria. The area of the Principality is only about 65 or 70 square miles, and the population does not exceed 15,000. The entire area is a vast mass of mountains, the Rhaetian Alps traversing it in two directions. The greatest altitude is about 9,000 feet, the "Three Sisters," situated near Vaduz, the capital, being from 8,600 to 8,900 feet high. The two mountain chains are separated by the little valley of the Samina, and while the climate of the country is generally salubrious and mild, sudden storms of great violence are not uncommon, and mountain climbing, which is the most popular occupation of Leichtenstein's principal crop, the tourists, is regarded as rather risky on account of these sudden squalls.

The principal item of income of the Principality was formerly derived from the Austrian Customs Union, of which it was a member, and these dues amounted to as much as $20,000 per year. With the collapse of the Dual Monarchy, Liechtenstein found itself in a most precarious condition financially, and has allied itself with Switzerland, as the Cantons of Grisons and Saint-Gall are contiguous with it. In addition to customs dues, internal taxation brought the income of the country up to $150,000 per year, and as income exceeded expenditures, there was no public debt until war-time conditions had produced serious disturbance in finances. The Prince of Liechtenstein was alleged to be one of the richest nobles in Europe in 1912, but the downfall of Austria has stripped him of his estates and income.

On account of the Austrian alliance, the postal system was originally managed by Austria. In 1912 three stamps were issued, in the typical Austrian style of the period. These depict Prince John and the arms of Liechtenstein, and are inscribed "K. K. Osterr. Post Im Fuerstentum Liechtenstein," meaning "Imperial Royal Austrian Post in the Principality of Liechtenstein." These stamps are on chalky paper, but in 1915 they were issued in conspicuously different shades on thin, unsurfaced, semi-transparent paper, and are much scarcer than the first issue. The 25-heller stamp was also issued in ultramarine, and this stamp is of exceeding scarcity. Gibbons does not even list it, while Scott lists it as a sub-variety, and ignores the rest of the issue, which is rather drastic purging! The stamps of this first design should be listed as follows:—

1912. Chalky Paper

1. 5 heller, green.
2. 10 heller, lilac rose.
3. 25 heller, blue.

1915, Thin, Semi-Transparent Paper

4. 5 heller, green.
5. 10 heller, deep rose.
6. 25 heller, deep blue.
7. 25 heller, ultramarine.

Want Lists

Holding one of the most extensive and varied stocks in Great Britain, I am in a position to deal with these rapidly and well. Specialities Great Britain and Colonies from the early classics to the most modern issues. Europe and Mexico, especially stamps of the classical period, and the intermediate and later issues, of the sound old stamp issuing countries (very little in the so-called New Europe).

In addition to Want Lists, I can send Attractive Special Approvals.

Interesting and out-of-the-way Items for the Specialist are always on hand. [H2

USED BLOCKS OF BRITISH COLONIES

We have just acquired a small lot of beautiful used blocks of four of various British Colonies; of many of these we haev only one block. Generally, the condition of these blocks is unusually fine both as regards centering and cancellations. These blocks will form a very handsome addition to any collection and the vast majority are exceedingly scarce in this condition. Just check the values you wish on the list below and forward us 60% of the catalogue price for 4 singles. You may, if you wish, add a small supplementary list in case some of the blocks asked for are sold out, but these will not be sent unless the ones asked for have been sold.

An additional discount of 10% will be allowed on purchases over $25.00 net.

509 Seventh St., N. W. H. A. ROBINETTE (Successor) Washington, D. C.

The first issue was placed on sale in Vaduz about the first of March, 1912, but during January and February the stamps were sold at the "Postschalter" (Stamp Collectors' Counter) in Vienna, with a "cancelled to order" postmark, double-lined circle of the usual Austrian type with "Vaduz 1.11.12 ★ b ★." In addition to this regular issue, all the then-current stamps of Austria were also on sale in Liechtenstein.

During 1917-18 a new set of stamps was issued, in general appearance and size much like the first issue. The two lower values, 3h and 5h, display the coat-of-arms, the higher values the reigning prince. This design differs from the original drawing only in the removal of the arms from the upper right corner, and the consequent slightly different arrangement of the inscription, which remains as before as to wording.

1917-18. Ordinary Paper

8. 3 heller, violet.
9. 5 heller, yellow-green.
10. 10 heller, claret.
11. 15 heller, dull red.
12. 20 heller, dark green (1918).
13. 25 heller, blue.

To commemorate the sixtieth anniversary of the reign of the prince, the 25-heller stamp appeared in redrawn design with the dates 1858 and 1918 in the upper spandrels.

1918. 14. 25 Heller, Dark Green.

All these stamps occur in quantity with the cancelled-to-order finish, consequently should be collected unused only.

Two years later, in 1920, all values of this set were surcharged with new values, or else overprinted to bar the "K. K. Oesterr. Post" portion of the inscription. As the 5, 10, and 25 heller represented postal tariffs, they received the ornamental overprint only, but the other values, being no longer useful owing to increased rates, were surcharged with new values in addition.

1920. Overprinted With Fancy Design Obliterating Part of the Inscription

15. 5 heller, yellow-green.
16. 10 heller, claret.
17. 25 heller, blue.

Surcharged With Additional New Value, In Figures or Words as Indicated

18. 40 on 3h violet.
19. 1 Krone on 15h dull red.
20. 2½ Kronen on 20h green.

These overprints have been very cleverly imitated, so that care should be exercised in purchasing the set.

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

Warren E. Booker, Worcester, Mass.

We are pleased to enter Mr. Booker as a member of our Honor Club. There is room yet for a few more—indeed we want to build the list to 1,000.

Who will be the next?

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

Sevard's Twinkles

Last year, says the Public Printer, we printed nearly 2,000,000,000 postal cards, or 353,000,000 more than for the previous year, with a comment that the one cent government card is cheaper to use than the two cent private card. That sounds reasonable.

Also there is trouble over the adoption of vending machines for tax paid articles, unless somehow or another, the tax paid stamp is visible, or is properly broken, or—anyway, that's the idea. In London, the cigarette vending machine is legion, and Abdullah's fall at the click of the coin. Every tobacconist merely closes shop by putting up a false front before his doors, and the automatic vending machines carry on. You have your choice of "gaspers," Virginias, Turkish, Egyptian, Persian, but no Abyssinians. But here we belabor our brains over the tax paid stamps. Oil leases, senatorial elections, duplicate bond issues, shipping boards, alien property custodians, bootlegging rings and insanity pleas—those are subordinate issues, one must believe, to the nefarious and outlandish habits of collecting tax paids.

The Post Office Department never has been fastidious about its regulations, as long as the well being of our nation is promoted. We use our permits in good faith, and they are accepted in good faith. The American Philatelic Society misuses the permit regulation, and the postmaster says, Poor stamp collectors, what should they know about mail regulations, and all the while we get our mail thru the whole heartedness of our friendly co-operation with the government. The Tax Paid Department is different. They know your one desire in Life is to gyp and gyp thoroly. Put a tax paid stamp in your collection and woe the nation has fallen. Cry Not Guilty lustily to the seeping oil reserves, but clamp beneath the heel the dastard collector of tax paids. Feed out in terms certain of money the electorial right, but waste not the use of a Class A20. It's all a point of view, you realize, but it does seem so silly.

"HELP PREVENT FOREST FIRES" IS AGAIN IN USE, AND THE ONE FROM POTTSVILLE, PENNA., IS NOW NINE YEARS OLD. WE FIRST GOT IT IN 1920, AND IT ALL GOES TO SHOW HOW LONG IT "TAKES TO L'ARN YE."

The chap who dropped an H out of Lindbergh in order to name a town wasn't so bad after all. We recall Lindy's famous flight and the newsboys of Boston sounding forth "Lindenberg crosses ocean." It took dear old Boston three days to pronounce Lindy's name correctly, showing how Harvard does influence the people there. Misspelled names in cancels are seen. Mr. M... ton, Washington, D. MARTIAL FRANCE

Nine years after Great Britain and two years after the United States began the use of adhesive postage-stamps, France, the world's second major republic, sent out into the mails of the universe gummed labels, bearing the profile picture of the Roman Ceres, goddess of agriculture.

Exclusive of several commemorative, and briefly used, issues in recent years, only three pictorial themes have ever found a place upon the postal labels of this most romantic of nations: agriculture, warfare at two periods, peace and commerce in allegory, again agriculture, and again warfare! It is correct to say that since pictorial postage first was introduced in the nation the French on their stamps have been beating ploughshares into swords and beating swords back again into ploughshares.

It is not at all strange that some subconscious national mind should be dictating in a modern century the postal illustrations of a people who, since the Christian year 486, when Clovis defeated Syagrius, the Roman governor of Gaul, at Soissons, have alternated regularly between the peaceful pursuit of sowing and tilling the soil and the martial pursuit of fighting for self-preservation or conquest.

We need not be surprised by a martial theme or warlike personage upon stamps of a land that once trembled as Attila, the Scourge of God, led his non-Aryan Huns to defeat on its soil at Chalons (A.D. 451); that battled behind Clovis to break the power of the Roman empire in the west; that followed Charles VIII (in 1495) and Napoleon Bonaparte (in 1796) into Italy, and Louis Napoleon to the anguish of Sedan (September 2, 1870), and, in our own day, a Joffre, a Pétain, a Foch to a Marne, a Verdun, and a peacetable at Versailles.

That is but one side of the French. There are many others. There should be no wonderment over the honouring of Pierre de Ronsard, an amatory poet, upon a postage stamp in a land that produced the troubadours of Provence and the trouveres who were fostered and encouraged by the dukes of Normandy.

Louis Philippe, last of the Bourbon rulers, "king of the French by the grace of God and the will of the people," sits on the insecure throne of France and is destined soon to become a fugitive in England just before the introduction of adhesive postage in this kingdom.

In a few brief days we are to witness the Paris mob dragging his throne out of the Tuileries and making a bonfire of it, the glamour of the Napoleonic tradition placing Louis Napoleon Bonaparte in office as the president of the Second Republic on December 10, 1848, just twenty-one days before postal labels bearing the Ceres head begin to pass through the mails of the land.

But France, as you know, is not yet done with kings. Behind the curtain of the future, Ambition is beginning to build the picture of still another empire; is dreaming new dreams of conquest and domination of Europe, paving the way for the horrors of a siege of Paris and the forty-eight-year loss of Alsace and Lorraine which will give incentive to still another war the magnitude of which will baffle comprehension.

First insight into the historic drama of the second Napoleonic era in France is deferred for three years while the placid-featured Ceres rules its postal issues. And then, in 1852, the Napoleonic presidential image appears upon a label of the Second Republic of France, bringing into public view the profile visage of the plotter who had twice attempted to overthrow the monarchy of Louis Philippe.

Look now with astonishment or admiration upon the image of a Bonaparte on the stamps of France in the year 1853, surmounted by the Legend "Empire Francais." The new ruler is the son of the former King of Holland and a nephew of the great Emperor. He assumes the title Napoleon III.

Many historians have sought to account for the absence of a Napoleon II by asserting that this choice of his title by Louis Napoleon implied a claim of the hereditary imperial rank of the great Emperor's son, the little Duke of Reichstadt. The clue to this missing Emperor is simpler than that and of interest both to postal collectors and historians.

The fact that there was no Napoleon II is due to the error of a printer.

The proclamation of the French Government announcing the accession of Louis Napoleon to the throne began with the words, "Vive Napoleon!!!" These exclamation marks were interpreted by the State printers as being the Roman numeral three. The mistake was duplicated thousands of times upon proclamations distributed in Paris and throughout the large cities of the nation. Thereupon with no time for indecision, Napoleon agreed to assume the title Napoleon III.—London Express.

UNRECORDED VARIETIES

Egypt.—An interesting error, which does not appear to have been listed anywhere, was acquired by our publisher recently. This is a mint horizontal pair of the 1pia red postage due stamp of 1886, on unwatermarked paper, imperforate between the two stamps.

Gwalior.—Among the official stamps bearing King George's portrait issued in 1913-16 the 1 anna is catalogued with double surcharge. Our publisher has recently found a mint copy of the ½ anna similarly twice surcharged.

United States.—In these days of cancellation collecting it may be as well to place on record a scarce item acquired by our publisher a few weeks ago. This is the 7c of 1873—a stamp not particularly prolific in cancellation varieties—obliterated with a large capital Z almost as big as the stamp itself.

Canal Zone.—Mr. C. A. Nissen has called our attention to an interesting variety of the postage due stamps of the Canal Zone which would seem worthy of inclusion in the catalogue. This is a distinct sloping "E" in "ZONE" on the overprinted issue of 1914. We have seen it on both the 1c and 2c denominations, and it probably exists on the 5c as well. The overprint CANAL ZONE on these stamps slopes upwards, and on this va-

NOTES—

THE great sale to be held by Bela Sekula, Lucerne, Switzerland, from June 11 to 19, is being advertised with two catalogs that are of more than ordinary interest. Over 6,000 lots will be sold and the catalog describing them runs to 232 pages. The other catalog of this sale is composed entirely of illustrations and this book contains one hundred page plates showing the rarities of the sale.

THE Boston Philatelic Society, Inc., desires at this time to express its sincere regret at the sudden death of its member, Mr. B. L. Drew, and also its appreciation of his interest in its welfare, unflagging during the many years of his membership in the Society.—FREDERIC W. STILES, Sec'y.

EDITORIAL

A good part of the philatelic population of the country is at Cleveland at this writing, and the Exhibition there is in full swing. The attendance shows that the work of preparation was well done and it is not too early to say that the managers are to be congratulated for having attained their objective of a successful meeting.

The advertising results of the Exhibition are what will live after the show is over and the publicity that is being gained through the enterprise will make itself manifest in the future in different ways. While Cleveland will benefit greatly as a consequence of the display, yet the suggestions of the Exhibition will be diffused over the whole country, as a result of this visible demonstration of the substance of philately.

The Instituto Filatelico of Merida, Yucatan, Mexico, writes: "I have the pleasure to translate a letter that I have received from the General Post Office of Mexico City in connection with stamps surcharged, OFICIAL, which have been chronicled in several stamp magazines: 'Referring to the contents of your letter, I have the pleasure to inform you that there are not, neither has there ever been, official postage stamps, as it is the privilege of offices to use the seal of the offices for the free transmission of mail matter. Sufragio Efectivo. No reelección. México, F. F., May 3, 1928. For the Director, Chief of the Postal Department'."

In the little "Scully-Walton Magazine," New York, May, 1928, published by this company that provides "expert invalid transportation" we find a short article wherein a father writes that his son, aged eleven, has become a stamp collector and that "it seems to be the best thing that ever happened to him." Listen to this: "He has found a specific and understandable use for all the things he has been learning at school." Then the father marshals further reasons for his satisfaction in his son's collecting industry; and we do not know which to admire the more,—the good judgment of the father in encouraging the collecting habits of the son, or the son's orderly application to the subject of collecting. An article of this kind could well be referred to parents who are inclined to view their children's stamp collections superficially.

It is doubtless the intention of the postal authorities to exercise discrimination in authorizing new air mail cancellations, insofar as special flights are concerned. In fact, special flights are to be given no recognition by the government unless the circumstances attendig them are so exceptional as to make the rule nugatory. This is a wise measure as we hear mutterings from collectors in different parts of the country who complain that special flights have been accomplished while they slept. They had no way of knowing that celebratory flights to mark local or temporary events were impending and even if they learned of them, there was insufficient time remaining to take advantage of them. Comparatively few collectors were in a position to prepare covers for the flight directed from St. Louis to Chicago to commemorate "May 20-21, 1927-28 Lindbergh's Non-Stop Flight, New York to Paris," as the special rubber-stamp cancellation read. As a consequence, we learn that these envelopes are held at a comparatively high price, and no doubt they will have the effect of making the line of demarcation between first and special flights even sharper than it is at present.

There is no little confusion in the minds of some of our correspondents about the Mexican air mail developments as a consequence of premature or incorrect information that has been circulated in the newspapers at different times. In sending notice of the new 25c air mail of Mexico, Francis Field, Ltd., London, said: "This official issue is for the new Mexico City-Tampico Air Line that will eventually connect with U. S. A. Contract Lines." We know that Senor Cosme Hinojosa, postmaster general of Mexico is working to overcome the obstacle of mountain ranges that require a flying altitude of from 11,000 to 12,000 feet to clear between the Mexican capital and Brownsville, Texas; and that six months will elapse before special planes and equiupment can be provided to complete the link between the two cities.

During Air Mail Week, there were many meetings held in different cities to glorify the air service, and many a speaker on the tenth anniversary of the establishing of the air mail by the government dwelled upon the accomplishments of the past and painted the future of the service in glowing colors. The small beginnings of the service were mentioned as a basis for satisfaction at the present flourishing condition of it. The sense of the orators was that now that all uncertainty of the practicability of the air mail was removed, it was fitting that a congratulatory hour be indulged in. Here we wish to interpose a claim for stamp collectors that the general public overlooks, although the postal officers are aware of its justness. If it were not for the support of first trips by collectors who sent thousands of envelopes, the returns would have been much skimpier than they proved to be. In fact, a debt of gratitude is owed to us for increasing the revenues to a considerable extent, and it would be well for those who are doing the shouting, now that the service is out of the woods, to announce that collectors are responsible for a share of the success. The outsider whose interest was attracted to air mail after it became a going business should be made cognizant of the fact that collectors rallied to the standard before he did; and it is fitting that our people be given their meed of acknowledgment.

From Paris, Mr. Ambrose L. La Farge writes that the decision to sell by the French government the stamps that are in the vaults of the French Mint is "now published to the world." He tells of the growth of the accumulation since the first issue of France when the Mint was the engravers of it and that when the work was placed elsewhere, samples of the stamps were acquired by the Mint. We learn that the proofs and essays of the earlier issues are exciting the interest of collectors in the proposed sale, and that the opportunity is one that will attract the eyes of the specialist in particular. In fact, it is intimated that some of the specimens under this category are to be classed as unique. We are promised further particulars by Mr. LaFarge.

We have received from Mr. A. F. Merell, San Francisco, California, a number of beautiful booklets describing the operations of the Royal Dutch Airlines or Koninklijke Luchtvaart Maatschappij. The summer service includes a variety of interesting trips from Malmo in the north to Zurich in the south.

REFLECTIONS ON CONDITION

By A. C. RANK, Det. Phil. Society.

Will get ahead of Mr. Power by saying that I have frequently been told my ... signified that I was a crank; and it ... to be true. For several years I ... been buying stamps at auction, both ... his country and abroad, and believe ... have some well-founded reasons to ... a few remarks on the dealers' de... ...ions of "condition."

...his, so far as things go abroad, is ... well standardized. At French ... you take your chance on forgeries, ...spots or anything else; at English ... you must look at and value the lots ...ourself, in which case you find forg... ...and such things marked, while val... ... stamps are accurately described; ...r own sales you must depend largely ...e dealer's description, if you're a ... bidder like most of us, and there ...e apt to be up against it.

...t because the dealer is dishonest in ...east. Your American born dealer is ...iably honest in his descriptions, if ...rom inclination, then from policy. I ... known one dealer to sell and guar... ... rank forgeries and refuse to sell ...rctly good signed stamps because he ...ved them forgeries; this was per... ... conviction on his part, and if I ...d not always trust his judgment, I ...d certainly trust him unreservedly. ...act, I can send him lots to sell and ... no record of them, knowing the re... ...s will be as honest as a Lorado Taft ...cze.

...or is it because things slip through. ...gs are bound to slip through, some... ...s most unbelievably—and we must ...der that they slip through to our ...ntage as often as to our detriment. When any of us can look at his own philatelic record and find not a single mistake or error, then let him grab for all the stones in reach and start throwing!

No; we mail bidders are up against it because, in a highly specialized and organized business, the chief branch of that business is neither specialized nor organized—and this is the condition of the goods bought and sold. Here we must confine ourselves to average items of good price, omitting great rarities where condition counts for less than mere existence.

It is a fact, we must admit, that in selling stamps the condition counts heavily in setting the price. This is very true abroad, and is coming to be true here also. We can carry a good thing too far; whether or not we agree with the noble scorn of Mr. Power for centering and gum and such things—and there is much to be said for his viewpoint—we must admit that it is possible to be too scrupulous. We must find the mean, and follow it.

Very well. Our dealer, Mr. Blank, holds an auction. How is he to describe his stamps of five or twenty-five dollars value—his single or small lots? Purely by his own conscience. He has no rules except those which he prints on his catalog-cover. As a consequence, hardly any two dealers look at a stamp through the same spectacles. One prominent dealer, by his printed rules, appears to hold that a stamp thinned on the reverse is perfectly good. Another is so merciless in his critique that the stamps he sells as "average" or "fair" are considered very good indeed by even seasoned cranks. Still another expresses his conviction that a straight edge is no detriment, and refuses to mention one if the stamp is otherwise good. This would be rather startling to European-trained collectors. Still another dealer classes as "straight edge" a stamp that has been clipped along one side, even into the design. He is right; the stamp has a straight edge, but it is not what philately calls a straight edge by a long shot! Another dealer recently sent me a lot of ten stamps, described as very good. Six were badly thinned, one was torn, and three were clipped; count 'em—ten!

The Collectors Club should take unto itself authority and lay down a set of rules to be followed in all auction sales by dealers in this country. I say the C. C., merely because many dealers are members and the organization would have sufficient moral authority to make the others cut bait or fish.

These rules should define the terms used by auctioneers. It is rank nonsense for one dealer to call a stamp fine when another would call it average, and a third good. This is to the dealer's interest, also, since the absurdities of the law prevent him from following the example of the splendid Gelli & Tani catalogs and picturing the lots, and thus he suffers from many a condition crank. True, he usually does not care to deal with the condition crank, but the C. C. is apt to do a lot of bitter talking that will hurt business. The dealer really needs the protection afforded, quite as much as the mail bidder needs it.

WE DO AND WE DON'T

WE ARE TOLD that we can write good advertisements—AND WE KNOW IT MUST BE SO for a man just gave an order on which there was EXACTLY ONE CENT CLEAR PROFIT after reading our ads for three years—But we NEVER TELL YOU THAT WE HAVE USED STAMPS—and yet we are asked for cancelled-to-order Timbuctoo—AND WE NEVER LIST 19TH CENTURY and yet they want us to hunt out fly-specks on forty-niners—
We say "MINT ONLY" on every ad and every list and it means EXACTLY THAT—
We say "20TH CENTURY" and WE DO NOT MEAN "1899"—Our "COMPLETE SETS" mean that the BEST VALUE IS ALSO INCLUDED—WE DO NOT SELL THEM SHORT nor do we intend to sell out that "best value" separately to someone who has had all the rest given to him—If we make errors we CHEERFULLY CORRECT THEM—Our reputation costs us quite a bit and we think a good deal of it — SO WE CANNOT AFFORD TO DO LESS THAN SATISFY OUR CUSTOMERS—

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

It is becoming quite evident that the Post Office Department does not look with a great deal of enthusiasm on special cancellation in connection with Air Mail flights other than First Trips. The anniversary of Lindbergh's flight to Paris, May 21st, would have been an excellent time for the POD to open up a bit, but advices from the cities on CAM No. 2 indicate that the various business organizations in the three cities will supply the special cachet for use on the Northbound flight of the Air Mail on that date. This has been done before and will probably become a customary procedure where special events are to take place, wherein the POD feels no call to issue anything of a special nature in the way of a cachet. It is a safe bet that, had the POD made overtures to collectors in the way of a special cachet for Air Mail Week, the quantity of mail carried would have been double what it was.

******

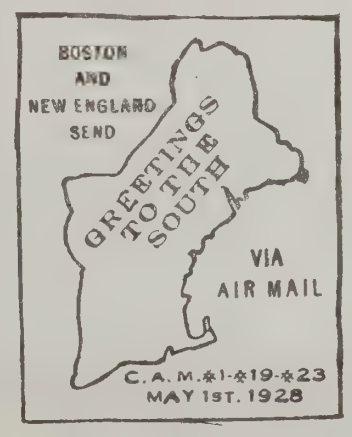
And another "flop" is registered for this month. We had special dope on the fact that Portland, Ore., and Yakima, Wash., had asked for permission to carry mail on the inauguration of a passenger and express line connecting the two cities, service to commence May. 15th. "Permission refused." Talk about "Verboten"! This "permission refused" thing is getting on our nerves. Think of all the A. M. stamps that will have to be soaked off envelopes and glued on others!

******

The following illustration shows the cachet that was used on mail leaving Boston May 1 to connect with the first flight from New York to Atlanta-New Orleans.



******

The visit of the Bremen crew to Boston, May 19th, did not bring forth any special cachet from either the POD or the contractor of CAM No. 1. Privately applied cachets were used by several collectors, but these were entirely of a personal nature and more or less of a greeting feature. Quite a lot of Air Mail was sent out carrying these special cachets as well as ordinary mail.

******

While conversing with one of the officials of an Air Mail route recently, it was brought out in the discussion how few Air Mail collectors took into consideration the fact that Air Mail contractors are paid by the WEIGHT of the mail carried, rather than by the NUMBER of letters. On one flight recently, covers to the number of hundreds were received for despatch and NOT A COVER WAS FILLED! ALL EMPTY! The difference in weight was about three to one. That is, had the covers been stuffed to ½ oz. weight, one stuffed cover would have weighed as much as three empties. If collectors are to expect things from contractors in the future, they must be willing to do their share. By law, you are permitted to send ½ oz. via Air Mail for your ten cents. Stuff your covers up to this ½ oz! Cut a blotter up to the right size and put it into your envelope. You will get a clearer cancellation and the edges of the cover will not get torn. Furthermore—it will be just about the right weight.

******

Another "ship to shore" flight was accomplished on May 10th, when the army blimp TC-5 made a landing on the American Trader and picked up a sack of mail, returning to its hangar at Lakehurst. Can anyone supply information regarding special cachet, if any?

******

Word from Robertson Aircraft Corp. gives details of special cachet at St. Louis, Springfield, Peoria, on Northbound trip May 21st, "Lindbergh Day." Came too late to use in WEEKLY, but I will have full details.

******

I have received word that a special flight will be made from Toledo, Ohio, June 3rd, presumably in connection with the proposed opening of Toledo as a terminal on the feeder line to Detroit.

******

With regard to the special flight made from Milwaukee on May 13th, in connection with the visit of the "Bremen" flyers, Postmaster Piasecki writes that this was obtained through the efforts of a citizen's committee and with the consent of the contractors operating C. A. M. No. 9, who sent through a special plane—carrying about 15,000 pieces of mail—to Chicago. Postmaster Piasecki further states that no official cachet was used, although it was noted that some of the cards and covers despatched on the flight carried special flight directions. A large percentage of the mail was addressed to Germany and other European countries.

The cachet to be used on CAM No. 20, June 1st, will be the best one yet! Circle, in which is a plane in flight. Above plane, in circle, "June 1st, 1928, Albany, N. Y." Above circle "First Flight." Below plane, in circle, is a view of Hudson River. Below an inner semi-circle, "Air Mail C. A. M. 20". Below outer circle "Albany-Buffalo." Diameter of circle and outer letters, 2-¼". Cleveland MAY have a special cachet also, if authorities can see the light. This information through the courtesy of Mr. A. E. Gorham.

Postage Due Stamps

Postage due stamps are those issued by the post office departments of certain governments to collect the amount still due to be paid on a letter or parcel—really a collect-on-delivery charge. Not all countries use postage due stamps, but more and more of them are adopting this system. By collecting the balance due the post office at time of delivery, the department speeds up the delivery of the mail more than it would if the mail was held until the addressee was notified to send postage.

In the United States, postage due stamps were first issued in 1879 and have been in use ever since. With the exception of the parcel post dues issued in 1914, there has been only one change in the design of the regular postage due stamps, but there have been numerous changes in color, watermarks and perforations. Many post offices in the United States precancel their due stamps as a still further aid in speeding up delivery of the mails.

As there are only 65 major varieties of postage due stamps listed by Scott for the United States and as none are rare (not counting the special printings of 1879) it is evident that the due stamps can be collected for a modest outlay. If the due stamp collection wants to be expanded, this can be done by adding precancelled ones. These are very attractive because the reddish color of the due stamps show up the black precancellation plainly.—A. C. LeDuc.

A Few Definitions

Eendragt Regtvaardigheid en Liefde.—This motto forms part of the embossed design applied to many of the stamps of the short-lived New Republic of South Africa and means "Union, Justice and Charity."

Eerste Penny Postvervoer. — This inscription appears in the upper border of the 1d Transvaal stamps issued in 1896 to commemorate the introduction of uniform penny postage.

E.F.O.—An overprint applied to one of the stamps of the Oceanic Settlements in 1915 the letters standing for "Etablissements Francaises de l'Océanie," i.e., French Oceanic Settlements.

Efterporto.—An inscription appearing on the 1905 issue of the postage due stamps of the Danish West Indies meaning literally "postage to pay."

Egeo.—An overprint applied to the current 25c and 50c stamps of Italy in 1913 for general use in the Aegean Islands. The word is simply the Italian form for "Aegean."

Egykrajczar. — An inscription appearing on a scroll in each of the four corners of the 1kr "journal tax" stamps of Hungary. It means simply 1 kreutzer.

Abbreviations

Many well known philatelic terms are more often than not written or printed in an abbreviated form. The ones most usually met with are:—

Cat.=Catalogue
Imp. or Imperf.=Imperforate
Mm.=Millimetre
O. G.=Original Gum
Perf. or Pf.=Perforated
Roul.=Rouletted
Wmk.=Watermark

Cayman Islands

These three islands are located in the Caribbean Sea and are named Grand Cayman, Little Cayman and Cayman Brac. They are governed from Jamaica, being about 200 miles from there. The area of these islands is 225 square miles and the population is about six thousand. The principal industry is turtle fishing. In fact we hear of turtles of the Cayman Islands, as far back as the days of Columbus. It was he who discovered these islands and his name for them was "Las Tortugas" on account of the quantities of turtles that he saw there.

The first stamps issued for use by this colony came out in 1900 and consisted of only the ½d and the 1d values on crown and CA paper and pictured the late Queen Victoria. These two values were followed in 1902 by a set of five values showing a picture of King Edward VII in circular frame, then in 1905 the same values appeared on the multiple crown and CA watermarked paper. In 1907 the 4d and 5s values were added to the list and the colors for the 6d and 1s were changed. During the years 1907-08 five provisionals were issued, all of which command good prices. At about this same time the entire set of values from ½d to and including the new high value of 10s appeared in the standard colonial design of the time, namely, the eight sided frame for the King's picture.

With the exception of the conventional design for the ¼d stamp of 1908 all the stamps for this colony have shown pictures of British reigning sovereigns. From 1912 to the present time the stamps have shown pictures of King George V, the first series being of the same type as the second King Edward type. The second type of King George have been much more attractive than any of the other issues. In common with many other British Colonies, the Cayman Islands issued several War Tax stamps during and just after the late war.—A. C. LeDuc.

Cheque Stamp

The name by which a curious provisional 1d stamp of British Central Africa is known to philatelists. The stamp was issued in 1898 and was produced locally, at Zomba, by printing a number of oblongs on narrow strips of paper and applying an impression from the die used for stamping cheques in each of these.

FAMOUS ROMANOFF PROOFS

By Fred. J. Melville.

A collection of unique philatelic and general interest was offered as one lot at Messrs. Harmer, Rooke and Co.'s auction on September 8th. It was formerly the property of the late Tsar of Russia. I know the collection well, and a recent owner of it, a Latvian gentleman, told me how it came into his possession. The Tsar is said to have taken it along with him when he went into exile, but had to leave it behind when he was transferred from Tobolsk to Ekaterinburg with a much reduced staff. The collection came into the possession of a Captain A. L. ————, who was at that time chief of the Air Force in Tobolsk, and he, with the help of some one in the Foreign Diplomatic Service, managed to get the collection out of Russia, and my Latvian informant bought it.

The philatelic interest of the collection lies less in the murious history of its ownership than in the illustration it affords of the elaborate preparations that are involved in producing a high-class stamp issue in a great country like Russia, where in pre-war days they had in St. Petersburg the best equipped Government factory for the manufacture of stamps and security papers in the world. This was known as the Office for the Manufacture of State Papers, but it was a complete model town of over 4,000 inhabitants; it made its own paper, hand and machine made, and a large staff of designers and engravers, with perfectly fitted studios, laboratories for colour mixing and testing, besides the machinery for all classes of printing. The beautifully-tinted stamps of Imperial Russia were all printed there with infinite care, as the extreme rarity of philatelic "errors" testifies, and in preparation for the tercentenary of the Romanoff dynasty in 1913 this State printing office planned one of the most beautiful sets of stamps ever issued. The Tsar's collection recently offered consists of the remarkable range of essays, proofs, and colour trials made during the production of that Romanoff issue.

The deputy director of the State printing office at the time was Richard Sarrin, one of the best engravers Russia has known in modern times, now the head of the Latvian State printing office. The designs for the series, which embodied a range of portraits of the most famous of the Romanoffs from Michael Feodorovitch to Nicholas II, were by Sarrin, and two of his colleagues, E. Lansere and J. Bilibin. Four values were entrusted to the well-known Austrian engraver, Ferdinand Schirnbock, of Vienna, and the rest were engraved by F. Lundin and J. Ksidias in the studios at the Tsarskoyé Sélo. The frames for all were drawn and reduced by zincography by M. Antonoff. All values up to 70 kopecs were printed typographically, but the rouble values were printed from intaglio plates.

Thanks to this collection, we have a complete record of the artists engaged on each value, and it is interesting to note that they had signed their work, but for technical reasons their names below the dies had to be removed. In the stages of their work they took no fewer than 1,271 different proofs in black or in trial colours, and the full set of these proofs was preserved in this collection for the Tsar.

These Romanoff stamps created a sensation when they appeared in 1913. The portraits of the Tsars had never before appeared on postage stamps, and it was widely reported in the Press that the Holy Synod had put its autocratic ban upon the issue and had caused its withdrawal. The act of defacing stamps bearing a portrait of the Tsar would be an act of sacrilege and irreverence, it was suggested, an argument that had been effective in earlier times with King Ferdinand II ("Bomba") of Sicily and Dom Pedro of Brazil. The Holy Synod's ban was, however, a myth, which gained the wider currency because the Russian people never took kindly to these large portrait stamps, preferring to use the quite small, but delicately pretty, Arms type of stamps to which they had so long been accustomed. So the stocks of the Romanoff issue, prepared with such care and great expense, were left in the post-offices, and the familiar little stamps continued to circulate in the mails.

A special enamelled art paper was made for these stamps, and many of the trial prints in the collection are pulled on this. The specimens include proofs of the vignettes and frames separately and in combination, in some values over 100 different trials being made. The 35 kopecs, for example, is shown in the collection in 60 single colour impressions and 132 bi-colour trials, 117 prints of the frame alone, and five of the head alone. It is known that the issue was several years in preparation, and such a philatelic record of its successive stages could only have been brought together with the full co-operation of artists, engravers, and printers. It is well that it is offered as one lot, for it would be a pity if it were ever broken up. It was, by the way, the first lot in the first auction with which Messrs. Harmer, Rooke and Co., so long in Fleet Street, inaugurated their new salesroom at 188-189 Strand.

No stamp auction on record ever received such notice as the London papers gave to this sale, and a host of provincial papers also gave the matter prominence, with the result that over one hundred collectors and dealers gathered in the auction room. Prepared at a cost of something like £50,000, it was only natural that curiosity should have been aroused as to who should be the buyer and the price the collection was likely to fetch. When offered in the United States, no purchaser was forthcoming, but in London, which is the very hub of the philatelic world, the case was different. Yet the interest in this collection was artistic rather than philatelic, seeing that the stamps were never issued, and bidding began slowly and cautiously, finally ending at £375, at which price the collection was withdrawn.

The following morning a firm of solicitors offered £500 on behalf of Mr. Ernest Oakeshott, of Gayton Road, Harrow, and he became the fortunate owner at that figure.

We are again to understand that since the sale many higher offers have been made, and it is quite possible that this unique collection has not yet reached its final resting place.—Postage Stamp.

I DESIRE

at the present time to purchase really important items or collections of United States postage and revenue stamps. My stamp sales during the last two months have exceeded any former period and in order to continue to supply my many clients, it is necessary to continue to purchase the finest things that the market affords. I welcome communications relative to the sale of important properties or items, not only from collectors but from dealers.

I prefer the mint early specimen in either a single or block, followed by the rare 20th century items, especially the inverted centers and the scarcer blocks. I also have a constant demand for unusual covers—that is, covers with rare stamps and combinations. Like to have a copy or two of the 1851 1c Type I, either used or unused, on or off cover. Other stamps of this caliber are welcome.

If you are thinking of turning your scarcer United States stamps into cash, it will be to your advantage to communicate with me. I am in a position to pay immediate cash to any amount for substantial properties, or will sell upon a reasonable commission basis, should this method be preferred.

Most of the finest collections and individual items that have come upon the market within the last several years have passed through my hands. There must be a reason.

The best of banking, commercial and philatelic references will be furnished if desired.

Valley Forge Commemorative Stamp

The design for the 2-cent Valley Forge Stamp which was described in detail in this column last week, has been completed and the proof was approved by the Postmaster General on Wednesday, May 16th. It is expected that four plates will have been completed by May 19th, and these four plates will be sufficient to produced the initial quantity to be distributed to the several cities where the stamp will be first placed on sale. No doubt, night work will be necessary, and in the rush some oddities might occur, such as part-perforates and the like. It is suggested that collectors watch the stock of early printing carefully for such varieties. Of course, every effort will be made to prevent anything but normal stamps reaching the public, and as I have mentioned many times before the good work of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing is to be commended, for but few errors occur, and this is unusual when we consider the millions of stamps turned out weekly.

Philatelic Exhibition Cancellation

Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer kindly sends a cover from the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition on the opening day, May 21st. This bears a special circular postmark applied by hand with purple ink, reading—"Cleveland (Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition), Ohio. May 21, 10.30 A. M. 1928."

The killer to cancel the stamps consists of four thick horizontal lines. Several of these hand stamps were made up for the occasion and will be used for the week of the Exhibition, at the special station established at the Exhibition for handling philatelic mail.

Rotary Special Delivery

Mr. M. A. Vogel kindly submits for inspection a copy of the current 10c Special Delivery, rotary, perforated 11 x 10½, which is printed in a very distinct red-violet shade rather than the normal blue. Evidently in mixing the ink a little too much red was used, hence, giving us this oddity which is sufficiently distinct to warrant a separate catalog listing.

New Envelopes A Possibility

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, member of Congress from New Jersey, kindly submits a copy of Senate Resolution No. 144, introduced in the Senate on May third by Mr. Moses of New Hampshire. The resolution which has been read twice and referred to the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads reads as follows:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That after the passage of this Act no contract for the Manufacture of stamped envelopes for any period beginning after the expiration of the existing contract with the Middle West Supply Company shall be entered into by the Post Office Department for a longer term than one year.

It is hereby declared to be the policy of the Congress that, as soon as practicable, the manufacture of stamped envelopes for the Post Office Department shall be taken over by the Government and the work done by the Government Printing Office."

If this Act meets with the approval of Congress, and is signed by the President, future envelopes after the expiration of the present contract with the Middle West Supply Company will be manufactured by the Government Printing Office. In such a case, we no doubt, will have a new design.

This Resolution comes as a surprise, for it has been believed that the present arrangement with the Dayton concern has proved most satisfactory to all concerned. I have heard it stated that they operate most efficiently and that it is a question if any company now in existence or in fact the Government itself could produce the desired article at the same or lower price.

As the present session of Congress is nearing its end, it is quite doubtful whether this will be reported out of the Committee before the adjournment of the present session. The recommendation of the Postmaster General to the President will have a strong bearing as to whether he would approve or veto the Resolution even if it passes.

House Receives Discourse On Philately

Every collector should obtain a copy of the Congressional Record for May 14th, wherein we find a detailed address of Mr. E. R. Ackerman on the subject of, "Air Mail Contracts—Routes Now Operating—Philatelic Tribute to Colonel Lindbergh—Establishment of Philatelic Agency—Sesquicentennial Anniversaries." Mr. Ackerman starts with the following pertinent paragraphs.

"Mr. Speaker, with the authorization by the Postmaster General of a special stamp commemorative of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the encampment of Washington's army at Valley Forge, which will be issued on May 26 of this year, it seems fitting to bring to the attention of Congress the increasing interest of stamp collectors in issues of this character and to point out the valuable contribution made by these men, women, and children to the Post Office Department.

There is not a single move made by the department which fails to get its quota of scrutiny for some possible philatelic value. The most recent eve to the Valley Forge Stamp, whi proposed by Representative Wat Pennsylvania, was the inaugura night air mail service between Ne and Atlanta."

He then covers in some detail t tory of Philately, and further sho an unusual cover mailed in Russ stamps attached, in strips, totaling one feet, had its political bea quote from his interesting remark

"In a recent campaign in the di have the honor to represent, the made of a powerful weapon wh knowledge of philately placed hands, and since the famous tea Boston Harbor, more than a hund fifty years ago, it is doubtful if have played such a conspicuous connection with American politic

Andorra.—Whitfield King & Co. write that "The Contemporary stamps of Spain have been overprinted 'Correos Andorra' in the following values: 2c olive-green, 5c lake, 10c yellow-green, 15c blue-green, 20c violet, 25c carmine, 30c dark brown, 40c blue, 50c orange, 1p slate, 4p lake and 10p brown. Also the 20c red, Express stamp, has been overprinted in like manner."

Belgium.—With regard to the projected labels foreshadowed in our issue for April 14th, Mr. Fred J. Melville has elicited from M. Emile Cammaerts the frank statement that these are not postage stamps; the whole proceeds going to the restoration fund. We shall therefore ignore them.—Stamp Collecting.

Dahomey.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that the 1fr value has been issued in brown and red-orange.

France.—Caisse d'Amortissement. Messrs. Martin & Co. inform us that there is to be an issue of a stamp of a value of 1.50+8.50 from May 15 to 31, at the price of 10 francs. These stamps will only be on issue 15 days. The postal value is only 1.50, the 8.50 going towards the reduction of the French War Debt and war damage. This stamp will complete the Caisse d'Amortissement series issued last October.—Philatelic Magazine.

Greece.—Favier Set Withdrawn.—We do not appear to have stated that this set was officially withdrawn on January 31. All the 1dr had, however, been sold prior to that date. We have already listed the withdrawn values re-issued with aeroplane overprint.

10 drachmae New Shade.—Claret and black, instead of marone and black, is a new shade found by Whitfield King in their latest consignment. — Philatelic Magazine.

Honduras.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that they have received the 20c in the new series. The color is indigo.

India.—Booklets.—The P.J. of India states that the 1 anna and 2 annas "Postage & Revenue" are both now issued in booklets from the Security Press at Nasik. The 1 anna booklet had an advt. in it (our contemporary does not say whose) but there is no advt. in the 2a booklet, although the same notice regarding advertisements appears on the back cover. It follows from the above that the new stamps are now being printed in sheets of 256 for conversion into booklets. —Philatelic Magazine.

Japan.—Mr. R. Roberts calls our attention to the 1s which has been issued in pale orange-yellow, watermarked vertical wavy lines on granite paper.

Latvia.—Whitfield King & Co. sends for chornicle the 2san and 1 lat, watermarked swastika. Also they advise that they have received the 10san green, 15 san red and 25san blue in the Air Post issue.

Norway.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the appearance of the 25o scarlet, Lion type, surcharged "20" in black, original value being obliterated by three bars.

Reunion.—1922 issue, error, map, omitted.—M. Pierre Loupy has shown our Amiens contemporary an error of the 10c green of 1922, the map centre of which is "all but" missing. It is stated that twenty-five of these—a small pane—came into existence and were disposed of at a high price by a young postal employé. We hope that a suitable punishment has been mapped out for him.—Stamp Collecting.

Sarawak.—Mr. R. Roberts submits for chronicle the 1c blue and rose, 2c purple, 3c green, 4c brown-purple, 6c claret, 8c carmine, 10c black, 12c ultra, 16c chestnut and green, 20c olive and lilac, 25c brown and blue, 30c ochre and slate, 50c olive and carmine, $1 carmine and green, all watermarked multiple rosette.

Southern Rhodesia.—Mr. R. Roberts reports that he has received these new shades 3p very deep blue instead of sky blue, 6p purplish mauve instead of reddish mauve, 1sh6p orange instead of yellow-orange and 2sh reddish-brown instead of grey-brown.

Spanish Morocco.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts the new set of pictorials line engraved by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. The stamps are unwatermarked and of the following values: 1c red, 2c purple, 5c blue, 10c deep green, 15c red-brown, 20c olive, 25c copper red, 30c sepia, 40c sky blue, 50c mauve, 1p green, 2.50p red-violet, 4p bright ultramarine. All are inscribed "Zona de Protectarade Espanol en Marruecos" (Zone of the Spanish Protectorate in Morocco). 1, 2, 5, 10, 15c portrays scene in ancient Moorish city of Alcazarkebir where King Sebastian of Portugal was defeated and slain by the Moors in 1578. 20, 25, 30, 40 and 50c, scene of Larache (El Arish) town on west Atlantic Coast. 1p shows a scene of Alhucemas on Mediterranean Coast, while the 2½p pictures a view of Xauen and 4p, one of Tetuan, Chief town and Port on Spanish Zone, from whence there is a railway to Ceuta.

A FRENCH JUNIOR IN ENGLAND

Maurice De Pange was a French boy of thirteen when he spent a year at the historic Westminster School. He was not yet sixteen when he died from meningitis last year. The letters (or some of them) which this French youth of noble family wrote home have been printed in a little volume, "The English School Days of a French Boy," with an introduction by André Maurois, and exhibit a lively intelligence and keen observation. Concerning a new American boy just arrived at the school, he writes:

"He was born in New York, lived at San Francisco, and since he was seven, his father took him all over the world for his education. He has been in China, Japan, Africa, South America, and all over Europe, speaks French very well, Spanish, Italian and German, is very clever . . . he does not know what Latin is!!! Oh! what a lucky chap."

There spake a bright young stamp collector, for Maurice was very keen on stamps, as a few extracts from his daily letters to Mamma will show:

22.6.1924.

"I won the egg and spoon race and had a prize that was a stamp album just like I wanted with checked pages, for the new appeared stamps that are not in my big album. He is of the same size about and you can change the pages."

6 July 1924.

Dear Mamma,

". . . I do not want any present, but the only thing I should like would be to allow me to have two of my stamp albums with me during the holidays . . . So when you go through Paris, please will you take the stamp album 'Europa' and the one 'America and Oceania.' They are in the bottom drawer of the chest between the two windows in my room."

24.10.1924.

"On your postcard you put a 45 centimes red 'Pasteur' stamp. It is a high novelty and I would like you to send one to me as soon as possible. I want it very badly for I feel uneasy when I see a stamp that I have not got!"

31.10.1924.

"Is the removal nearly finished by receive favorable consideration before the adjournment of Congress.

I think Mr. Ackerman is quite modest in his estimation that there is a million collectors at the present time in the United States, and between two and half and three million in the entire world.

A copy of this Congressional Record should be in every philatelic library for Mr. Ackerman quotes many facts and dates that are of the utmost interest to the philatelist.

Afghanistan.—A correspondent sends us the appended cutting, unnamed and undated, from a daily paper:—

"In February each year the anniversary of the Coronation of King Amanullah is commemorated in Afghanistan by the issue of a special postage stamp. This year the stamp is an oblong one of the value of 15 pouls, with the sign-manual of King Amanullah at left and crossed swords and helmet at right. The stamps are issued in sheets of eight."

An illustration appears in the cutting, showing that this novelty is quite distinct from the 15 pouls chronicled by us in January. In an oval to the left is the sign-manual of King Amanullah and right of it are a couple of nasty swords surmounted by a Crown in a beaded frame.

He wants one in velvet and another in satin. He is anxious and particular and I hope you will send them, for I like the stamps."

These extracts on his love for stamps give but a glimpse of a very charming boy who tells in his letters of his daily life in and out of school with naturalness and dignity. On arrival at Westminster he was "shadow" to John Terry, son of the former Hon. General Secretary of the J.P.S., and nephew of the President; his letters contain several friendly references to his "substance."—Stamp Lover.

STAMP NEWS IN BRIEF

British Empire

There seems to be a lull in the production of new British Colonial stamps. The latest issue of the Crown Agents' Bulletin notifies very few novelties, as the tale of the Scripts is very nearly complete and there are not many reasons for changing the colour of stamps for the moment.

The following new stamps may be mentioned:—

Bermuda. ¼d, Script (despatched).

Fed. Malay States. 35c, Script (despatched).

Gold Coast. New series, with portrait of H.M. the King over a view of Christiansborg Castle, with palm tree at right and cocoa tree at left. Values, ½d, 1d, 1½d, 2d, 2½d, 3d, 6d, 1s and 5s. Preparation is apparently not very far advanced as colours are not given. The moderate extent of the new series will be noted, though it is of course possible that other denominations will be added later.

Kelantan. 6c in the new colour, red (despatched).

Malta. 1d in the new colour, brown (despatched).

Trinidad. 4d, Script, and 4d, Due, Script, are on order.

Leeward Is.—A correspondent states that he received a copy of the 2s old C A watermark, from Tortola, Virgin Islands, in August, 1927, which would seem to contradict the statement made by our correspondent "Candour" recently, that the Virgin Islands do not carry a stock of this value in the general series.

Malta. — In response to an enquiry, the correspondent who gave us the figures which we printed last month, relating to the destruction of stamps with "POSTAGE" overprint, states that he has confirmed these figures. He adds a further list of small quantities destroyed on 25 May, 1927, but as the total face value of the lot is only about £50. they do not materially affect the position.

Southern Rhodesia.—Mr. Heathcote Tatham is the first to show us the new booklets, consisting of twelve ½d stamps and twenty-four 1d, inter-leaved with advertisements and postal information, and bound in a blue cover of stout card.

The same correspondent tells us that the "Moth" aeroplane, which has been carrying mails experimentally, crashed early in March through failing to clear some trees near the aerodrome. It was at this aerodrome that Cobham also failed to rise and had to lighten his machine before departing.

Other Countries.

Afghanistan.—Mr. F. H. Zahid states that the 60 pool stamps are now printed in sheets of 12 instead of 8.

We understand from a correspondent that the recent flow of supplies of the large Parcel Post stamps on to the market via India is due to the leakage of old stock which had been marked for destruction. Included in this stock, which is not likely to be a large one, were a number of sheets of one or two values, which had not been perforated. In this condition the stamps have no philatelic interest or value.

While the dealers of Peshawar ran like madmen after the mail cart which bore the first letters on which the latest Anniversary stamp was used, and got thoroughly soaked with rain in the process, another stamp merchant had adopted the easier method of having several hundred envelopes sent to him at various Peshawar addresses, all bearing the new stamp. As a result, he obtained about twice as many covers as all his confrères could muster together, but another dealer had obtained unused supplies direct and a brisk price-cutting war resulted.

The stamps should be good eventually, as only a few hundreds reached Peshawar, and the total printing is said to be 5,000.

Argentina.—Supplies of the new Air stamps 18c and 36c, were quickly exhausted, and it is not known whether fresh printings will be made. The new service is very expensive and if it does not meet with public support it is quite possible that it will be discontinued or the charges modified, in which case there may be alterations in the series or it might even be withdrawn altogether.

Mr. A. H. Davis gives us what he states are authentic details of the numbers of postage stamps printed on the paper with "A P" watermark.

	Quantity.	On sale from:
½c,	5,150,000	Sept. 14—Nov. 9
1c,	3,480,000	Nov. 3—Dec. 24
2c,	17,860,000	Oct. 11—Dec. 26
5c,	35,770,000	Sept. 28—Nov. 24
10c,	850,000	Nov. 12—Nov. 24
20c,	1,140,000	Nov. 10—Nov. 16
1p,	260,000	Nov. 15—Dec. 19

As these stamps were urgently needed for postal purposes it may be assumed that the majority of them were used in the ordinary way. On the figures given, the 10c should be the hardest to get, but it will be noted that the 20c, which we have found practically unobtainable, had the shorter life, and we believe, also that supplies were erratically distributed. Stocks that went to any of the smaller post offices outside the big cities are probably lost to the stamp world, and we believe that hardly any of the 20c were sold in Buenos Aires.

The latest printings of the current issue are on paper with the Sun watermark, but the diameter only measures 9mm instead of 10mm. While this is hardly a variation of catalogue rank, it indicates a new making of paper, and is of interest to specialists.

China.—Mr. I. H. C. Godfrey states that the number of stamps (? sets) of the new Chang-Tso-Lin series reported to have been issued for the various provinces is as follows:—

Without overprint (Fengtien, Chihli, and Shantung): 4,600,000.

With Kirin and Heilungchang overprint: 1,500,000.

With Chinese Turkestan overprint: 370,000.

The Chinese press points out that the difficulty in handling postal correspondence in the present disturbed state of the country will be greatly increased by the use of these stamps. It is very unlikely that stamps bearing a portrait of the Northern leader will be regarded as valid for postal use by his opponents in the South, and much confusion is likely to result.

Colombia.—Mr. C. G. Higley kindly informs us that owing to a temporary shortage of the current 4c, printed by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., the lithographed 4c "PROVISIONAL" of 1926 has again been placed on sale. The "CUATRC" error still appears, while one stamp shows the "P" of "PROVISIONAL" blurred and two have a long "L" in the word. A novel feature is that the sheets are perforated 13 at the sides and 10 elsewhere, which our informant thinks is peculiar to this new printing.

Estonia.—Mr. G. Jaeger states that the following quantities of the new gold currency Provisionals were surcharged:

2s on 2m,	1,830,000
5s on 5m,	590,000
10s on 10m,	1,580,000
15s on 15m,	303,000
20s on 20m,	680,000

The issue is not expected to last long, as all other stamps have been with the above being in sole use.

Lettland.—Mr. G. Jaeger tells t on the 18th November next this c will celebrate the 10th Anniversary independence by issuing a new P set.

Norway.—Of the new 20 öre öre, 2,695,000 stamps have bee charged.

Portugal. — Mr. S. P. da Con states that in May two special stam be issued in commemoration of the piad. One, a 15c, will be used as ment of an extra charge on letters Continent, Madeira, and the The other will be a 30c Due, for letters which do not bear the 15c.

Another correspondent informs a new series is in preparation at t bon mint, which will take the place present De La Rue "Ceres" issue the latter is exhausted.

Russia. — An interesting varie curs in the new 28k "Aviator." 3rd and 8th stamps of the 4th a horizontal rows (i. e., in the same tion in each quarter of the sheet o the second "c" of "C.C.C.P." at the the stamp has a bulged centre, n the letter look like an "E." We imagine that this variety will soon b rected, as the Russian State Printi fice sets itself a very high standar Maxim Gorky and Tolstoy are s to be honoured by the issue of stamps.

Turkey.—We are indebted to M. M. J. Murray for the sight of so teresting blocks of various printi the Star and Crescent type of 19 From these it may be deduced th stamps were printed by typography loose stereos, as in one block of paras, one stamp is distinctly croo the Nazmi and Ikdam printings, b been straightened up in the O. P printing.

The whole issue is very interestin furnishes a fruitful field for st Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE MIDWESTERN PHILATELIC EXHIBITION

The arrangements for the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition were in the hands of a very efficient committee of which Mr. MacLaren was the chairman. The task before the committee was exceedingly well handled and the event will pass into history as a pronounced success. We congratulate all who were in any way connected with this great philatelic exhibit.

USED BLOCKS OF BRITISH COLONIES

We have just acquired a small lot of beautiful used blocks of four of various British Colonies; of many of these we haev only one block. Generally, the condition of these blocks is unusually fine both as regards centering and cancellations. These blocks will form a very handsome addition to any collection and the vast majority are exceedingly scarce in this condition. Just check the values you wish on the list below and forward us 60% of the catalogue price for 4 singles. You may, if you wish, add a small supplementary list in case some of the blocks asked for are sold out, but these will not be sent unless the ones asked for have been sold.

An additional discount of 10% will be allowed on purchases over $25.00 net.

PHILATELIC STAMP AGENCIES

We have received many requests for information about the different stamp agencies that are maintained for the benefit of collectors who may buy at them, the stamps of the respective countries. Evidently, there are "agencies" and philatelic agencies and we have in the past, given particulars of presumably philatelic agencies, only to find that some of the inquirers did not have satisfactory experiences in buying the stamps. The difficulty no doubt is to be ascribed to a misunderstanding of terms under which specimens are sold, and we think it advisable for those intending to patronize the service to write for details beforehand. We wish to acknowledge the efforts of readers who have assisted in compiling the list, which may not be complete, however.

The Philatelic Agency, Room 216, City Post Office Building, Washington, D. C., has been established for nearly eight years and is under competent management. Postage and registration fee are charged and money orders are asked from customers. The latest list is dated May 15, 1928.

The Canadian Agency assists collectors by selling current stamps at face and other stamps at higher prices. Address: Post Office Department, Financial Branch, Postage Stamp Division, Ottawa, Canada. Postal note or money order only accepted in payment. This Agency is over five years old.

The list of stamps on hand at the Agency of the Canal Zone is sent from Balboa Heights, Canal Zone.

Early this year, the Swedish Philatelic Agency was established and a catalogue in English or German as well as in Swedish may be had by addressing the Philatelic Agency, Post Office, Stockholm 2, Sweden. We have just received a circular showing the new stamps commemorating Gustaf's seventieth anniversary, in fac-simile from Mr. K. A. Wallquist, Chicago. The stamps are charged for at the rate of 5 öre over face, the excess being contributed to a fund to fight cancer. Money order is advised.

The Danish Agency, which was inaugurated late in 1926, and collectors may have their names placed on its mailing list by addressing Postvaesenets Salgskontor For Frimaerkesamlere (P. O. sales department for stamp collectors) at Copenhagen, Denmark. Recently issued stamps are offered and international money order in Danish kroner or bank draft on Copenhagen is asked in payment.

Netherlands has a central agency at Amsterdam and a number of sub-agencies, as they might be called throughout the country. When it was established in October, 1925, it was reported: "In addition to the stamps of Holland, the stamps of Suriname and Curacao will also be obtainable. A list of issues will be furnished upon application to the Philatelic Agency, Central Post Office, Amsterdam." It is best to learn the rules of operation from the list itself.

France presents a problem as personal application is required and in consequence the offices of an agent are necessary. Particulars may be obtained, we believe, at 80, rue de Faubourg, Saint Denis, Paris 10e, France. There is a small charge involved in buying the stamps of France and colonies in this way.

Italy evidently has an agency, although a correspondent who recently was there said that he could not discover it. The understanding is that it is at Rome and that some obsolete as well as current stamps are to be had at a cost over face. It is wise to write for a list, enclosing the equivalent of 12c postage, to the Philatelic Stamp Agency at Rome, Italy.

From reports on Berlin, Germany, and Lisbon, Portugal, it seems that some uncertainty exists as to the present procedure of stamp sales to collectors.

Mexico has no philatelic agency but Señor Suárez, general manager of the Instituto Filatélico says: "According to the Mexican postal laws, the post office cannot hold any obsolete stamp, as specimens must be destroyed six months after they are proscribed for postage. The P. M. General has told us any current stamps of Mexico will be sent to foreigners who send the face value by money order." Postmaster General, City of Mexico, Mexico.

Recently, one of our readers, Mr. Clarendon Bangs, told of being the first to buy stamps at the recently appointed agency at Algiers for the sale of the stamps of Algeria. Request for list is the first thought.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Beverly Caverhill, we may say that some of the stamps of New Zealand, according to a list that is shown us, may be had by sending to the General Post Office, Wellington, New Zealand, face value and return postage and registration.

The postal administration of the Commonwealth of Australia does not maintain a philatelic agency, "but nevertheless presents opportunities to philatelists to procure certain specimens," to quote from a letter from the Postmaster General's office, Treasury Gardens, Melbourne, sent us by Mr. Caverhill. A list tells what stamps are in stock and the Deputy Director, Posts and Telegraphs, General Post Office, Sydney, New South Wales, may be written to in connection with it.

Lacking convincing information of the existence of other depots for stamps for sale to collectors, maintained by different countries, nothing is said of them at this time. If satisfactory relations are to result from the patronage of Philatelic Agencies, it is incumbent, it seems, upon prospective cusutomers to understand the regulations that govern their workings; and again, it is said, secure the latest lists and information by direct application. Never before have philatelists been

HAPPIEST OF COLLECTORS

(Clippings from various subscribers.)

There is said to be at least a million stamp collectors in the United States, of all ages and conditions of servitude to their collector's passion. If the words of Representative Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey reach them all there will be a million happy collectors, complacently aware of all the plums that must soon drop from a heavy-laden tree. The years 1926 and 1927 were fruitful in sesquicentennial anniversaries; 1928 and 1929 are as richly larded with them.

In the Congressional Record Representative Ackerman named some of the prizes that philatelists may hope to win. Senator Wagner and Representative Pratt have introduced a joint resolution providing for a special stamp commemorating the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the State Government of New York. Representative Hogg has introduced a resolution providing for a series of stamps commemorating the conquest of the Northwest Territory by George Rogers Clark. Representative McFadden wants the one hundredth anniversary of the first run of a steam locomotive in the United States commemorated in similar fashion. The Hawaiian Delegate, Mr. Houston, suggests a stamp marking the 150th anniversary of the discovery of the Hawaiian Islands by Captain Cook. Representative Hoffman, another Jerseyite, would like to see in existence a series of stamps commemorating the battle of Monmouth. Senator Edge and Representative Ackerman have introduced a resolution providing for a set of thirteen stamps commemorative of Colonel Lindbergh's air mission through Central and South America and the Caribbean.

Truly the stamp collector should rise up and call his Government blessed. The history of the air mail alone is enough to stir sluggish gratitude to life. Two days in advance of the flight on May 15, 1918, of Army pilots in Army planes with the first sackful of mail, the Post Office Department put on sale a 24-cent stamp in red and blue, with the central design of an airplane in flight. In July the rate was changed and a 16-cent stamp issued, similar in design to the first. In December the rate was again changed and a 6-cent stamp of the same design issued. The development of the air mail was rapid after 1921. It was reflected in August, 1923, in the issue of a new series of air mail stamps: a green 8-cent stamp, showing the nose of a mail plane; a blue 16-cent stamp, showing the official insignia of the air mail service, and a red 24-cent stamp, showing a mail plane in flight. This series of stamps matched the creation of three zones of air mail service, from New York to Chicago, from Chicago to Cheyenne, and from Cheyenne to San Francisco, with the rate in each zone of eight cents an ounce.

Early in 1925 Congress authorized the Post Office Department to contract for the transportation of mail by airplane and at the same time changed the rate of postage to not less than ten cents an ounce. The rates for the contract routes were scaled in proportion to distance. Consequently there was need for new stamps. The first of these, a blue 10-cent stamp, showing a map of the United States with two airplanes in flight superimposed, was placed on sale in February, 1926. In September of the same year a sepia 15-cent stamp of the same design was placed on sale. In January, 1927, a green 20-cent stamp was placed on sale. The Lindbergh 10-cent stamp, which displaced the 10-cent stamp of 1926 issue, was first placed on sale on June 18 last year at St. Louis, Detroit, Washington and Little Falls, Minnesota.

But the tale of the collector's happiness is not yet told. Night air mail service was recently inaugurated between New York and Atlanta. The Post Office Department furnished a special cancellation stamp for the use of each office on the route. There are hundreds of first-flight covers in the possession of collectors now. With their cancellations—never to be duplicated—they have been eagerly sought since the first days of the air mail.

Collectors of birds' eggs and hooked rugs and first folios might feel that the stamp collector was Uncle Sam's fair-haired boy if they knew of the existence of the philatelic bureau in the stamp division, specially created to gratify desires which other collectors must feel are of strange origin, to say the least. But Uncle Sam is not altogether paternal nor altogether benevolent. He does not pay wages to specially trained stamp clerks and allow mooning collectors to hover over a sheet in patient search for a perfectly centered stamp just because he thinks stamp collecting is the most virtuous of pursuits. During the last fiscal year collectors bought $176,000 worth of stamps from the bureau; since it was opened they have spent more than $800,000 there. No, one shadow falls across the idyllic picture of the collector busy with his watermarks and perforations. For all that $800,000 Uncle Sam has not done a lick of work after delivery of the stamp.

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

I am advised by Postmaster Conde of Schenectady that no cachet will be applied to Eastbound Air Mail over CAM No. 20, between Schenectady and Albany.

******

The Lindbergh Commemorative cachet applied to Air Mail on May 21st from St. Louis, Springfield and Peoria, was not official, but placed on covers by the Chambers of Commerce at the above mentioned points. Incidentally, the cachet was one of the most attractive and carefully applied impressions that has been received so far. The open design and arrangement lent itself admirably to stamp-pad ink and the result was highly satisfactory. The sponsors of the cachet are to be congratulated on the careful application of the cachet. C. E. Jandrue favors us with a specimen.

******

An announcement of particular interest to Air Mail cover collectors is the short statement that Mr. Otto Praeger sailed from San Francisco for Bangkok, Siam, where he is to supervise the development of an Air Mail system for the Siamese Government, on May 22nd. Mr. Praeger is often called the "Daddy of the Air Mail", for, while serving as second assistant postmaster general in this country, he was in charge of the establishing of the first regular Air Mail service between Washington and New York, over ten years ago.

******

31,650 lbs. of mail was carried during the month of April by Pan-American Airways, Inc., between Key West and Havana.

******

The Thompson Aeronautical Corp. of Cleveland, Ohio, holders of the contract covering the better part of the state of Michigan, will probably complete their organization and make their first flights during the late summer.

******

Here is food for thought—Domestic Air News No. 28 says—

"The Air Mail has operated under extraordinary handicaps with marvelous accuracy. In over 20,000,000 miles flown with mail, both Government and contract operations, in which more than 9,000,000 pounds have been carried, but 2386 pounds have been lost!"

******

A feeder line between Ponca City, Okla., and Tulsa, Okla., will go into operation soon. Proposals are out to bidders for the lighting of the route.

******

Beach Conger, Jr., and W. H. Conkling write that the Postmaster at Houston, Tex., will apply a "kicking mule" cancellation to Air Mail on the opening day of the Democratic Convention.

******

The S. S. Conte Grand, sailing from New York on May 26th, is carrying mail for Spain and Italy that will be taken off at Gibraltar and flown to points in these countries. A special cachet was to be applied to this mail before leaving New York, the request of the Italian Ambassador for this courtesy having been granted by the Post Office Dept.

******

Herman W. Boers informs us that an airmail service will be inaugurated out of Kalamazoo, Mich., June 22. Details are lacking but interested collectors should take the matter up with the Kalamazoo P. O. Mr. Boers also sends us a clipping announcing the early establishment of an airmail service from Toronto to Buffalo.

******

In connection with the Crookston (Minn.) Air Derby May 26-27, there was an International Goodwill Air Tour between Winnipeg and Crookston. No special cachet was used. The plane was operated by "Speed" Holman.

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

This week—a superb record!

We have no fewer than nine applications this week for membership in our Honor Club. This is indeed greatly appreciated by the management of the WEEKLY and what we relish the most is the fact that many kind words accompanied the remittances.

At the Cleveland Exhibition five philatelists, three of them members of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, presented their applications, each accompanied by $5 in payment for five years' renewal of subscription. The three Cleveland applicants, Messrs, Good, Grant and Langdon, all affirmed their great appreciation of what the WEEKLY had done to promote the Exhibition. Here is the record for the week:—

Numbers 731 to 739

J. H. Dean, Cleveland, Ohio.
J. H. Blackney, Saginaw, Mich.
Leon E. Bowie, Boston, Mass.
J. Warren Vautier, Ardsley, Pa.
Alvin Good, Cleveland, Ohio.
F. W. Grant, Cleveland, Ohio.
W. A. Langdon, Cleveland, Ohio.
Samuel Newbury, Chicago, Ill.
F. R. Schmalzreidt, Detroit.

Mr. Grant is president of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, Mr. Good is a past official of not only the local society, but also the A. P. S., while the Manager has known Mr. Langdon for many years as an ardent philatelist. All three are fitting types of the hustling membership that goes to make up the Garfield-Perry Club.

Mr. Blackney has been upon our Honor Roll for some years, and his activities are largely centered around Internacia Ligo, and international exchange club promoting correspondence, exchange of post cards and stamps and also Esperanto. Mr. Blackney will be glad to hear from any of our subscribers who may be interested.

A new stamp club is being organized for Glenside, Pa., and vicinity. Ten members have been secured already and several interesting meetings have been held. Mr. Vautier is the president of the club and will be glad to hear from nearby collectors. His address is Box 222, Ardsley, Pa.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

We are indebted to Albert E. Gorham, Washington, D. C., for a copy of the First Flight Cachet to be given the June 1 airmail out of Albany to Buffalo. We illustrate the same herewith:—

PRECANCELLED COIL STAMPS

(This article is taken from a "Catalog of City Type Coil Precancelled Stamps" issued by Adolph Gunesch, 555 W. 103 St., Chicago, Ill. Our opinion of the book can be judged by our reprint of this article. No price is attached and precancel fans may write Mr. Gunesch.—W. O. W.)

The Coils

In February of 1908 the post-office department issued the first official coil stamps. This interesting mile-stone in our stamp history, however, passed absolutely unnoticed and it was many months later before the coils were first listed in the philatelic papers. The government was led to make coil stamps by two reasons: the activity and prosperity of the private coil manufacturers, and the interest displayed at that time by the public in stamp vending machines.

The Private Coils

In October, 1906, the government began issuing imperforate sheets of stamps to companies who had permission to make them into coils. None of these had been able to invent a machine which would handle coils made from the regular perforated sheets. One difficulty was that the 12 perforation was so fine that the coils easily broke apart; the other was the necessity for having some feeding device for each machine coming at regular intervals on the coils. So from the imperforate sheets each different company made its own coils. Some of them first applied a separation and feeding device vertically to the sheets which were then cut apart horizontally into strips, which in turn were pasted together by the margins and wound into coils. Some, however, began by cutting the sheets into strips first and then perforating them. But later most of them were made from imperforate coils furnished by the Department after the Bureau went into the business for the government.

For a few years a number of companies made such coils each with a distinct mode of separation. Thus the Schermack Company used first a series of small round holes (8 or 6) between the stamps in the middle of the coil. Later they abandoned these and used the familiar pair of rectangular slots. In catalogs the latter is listed often as Schermack 3 or III. This does not seem necessary, for so far as known none of the first types were ever precancelled.

The Mail-O-Meter Company used round holes for perforating in three different arrangements. In I there are 6 rather large holes so disposed as to leave a blank space at the top and bottom. The Type II stamps look like regular official coils since they are separated by a complete row of holes which come in two different sizes, but both of which measure about 6½ on the perforation gauge. In Type III there are only 5 holes in a row instead of the 6 as in I. There seem to be no precancelled stamps known of the second variety. The standard lists III sometimes as II and sometimes correctly as II.

The Chalmers coils are separated by 8 holes in 2 groups of 4, the holes being very close together. Other companies issued coils, too; the U. S. Automatic Vending with notches between the stamps, and the Brinkerhoff with a combination of holes and slots. None of the stamps put out by these last two firms seem to have been precancelled.

With the advent of the government coils most of the above companies were unable to compete, and one by one retired from business, except the Schermack Company, which is still making coils for its own machines.

Schermack perforations are found on the following precancelled stamps. The 1c of 1902; 1c and 2c of 1908; 1c, 2c and 3c of 1912; 1c and 2c offset prints; the 1c and 1½c of 1923. The Mail-O-Meter Company used precancelled only the 1c and 2c of the 1908 and 1912 issues, while the Chalmers perforation exist only on the 1c of 1912.

The above companies made many other coil varieties than those listed, but none of them seem to have been precancelled. Their chief use has always been for the lowest circular rate and even when the regular letter postage was 3c few of this denomination were used with precancellations. The standard catalog lists one such item (New York, number 573k) cancelled with a mail order house roller, but this has not been authenticated for the present catalog. Only one new variety is listed in this catalog.

While none of these coils are in any sense official issues they have always been included in collections because of their interesting character and the place they hold in the history of coil making.

Early Government Issues

Finding that there was a considerable demand for coil stamps the Post Office Department decided in 1907 to have them made by the Bureau of Printing and Engraving.

It was obvious that they could not be made for a variety of different machines; neither was the Bureau willing to set up new ways of separating the stamps. So at first the coils were made exactly as by the private companies and perforated 12 on the regular machine. That is, the imperforate sheets were perforated either horizontally or vertically, then cut into strips the other way from the perforations, the strips then being pasted together by the margins and wound into coils of 500 or 1,000 on a small paper core. Altho the pasting and winding which were done by hand proved slow and expensive the government at first made no charge for the extra work involved in making the coils.

The imperforate sheets used were those also employed in making the regular stamps in sheets of 100, and were not, as later, planned directly for coil making. They consisted of 4 panes of 100 stamps each arranged in 10 x 10 rows. The 4 panes were separated, both vertically and horizontally, by lines of color which crossed in the middle of the sheet. These were put on the plate as guides to the operators of the perforating machines. In making the regular stamps these lines are not perforated, but cut by a knife-disc so that they always appear on straight edges. At first the sheets used for making coils were also cut in this way; but this resulted in strips only 10 stamps long. By taking out the knife and replacing it with perforating pins the strips were made 20 stamps long, but the color was left intact between the 10th and 11th stamps of each strip. Thus it is only in coils that one can find the combination of color line and perforations together, except in some of the early booklet pages.

Flat Press Issues

Up to 1914 all the imperforate sheets used for coils were made right along with those used for the regular issues. They were printed on the usual presses from perfectly flat plates arranged in groups of four. The impressions were made on paper which was dampened before using. Stamps printed in this way

EDITORIAL

The Cleveland Exhibition is now an accomplished fact and those capable of judging it as a whole say without reservation that it was a great success that has added laurels to philately in general and Cleveland in particular. It must be admitted that the projectors of the enterprise from first to last were stout-hearted, else they would have hesitated to enter a field that seemed to have been pre-empted by New York by reason of the outstanding exhibition that had been held there and which remains a living monument in the minds of many. Yet, without inviting the inevitable comparisons that would be instituted with the New York exhibition, the Cleveland promoters quietly buckled to their task and limited their endeavors to this country and its neighbors; and they scored in a decided way. The visitors saw to it that the Cleveland men were made aware of their creditable accomplishment and they received their praises in a becoming manner. Any uncertainty as to the measure of results that they achieved were dissipated by the sincerity of the congratulations that were given them. At the banquet held on the evening of the last day of the exhibition, the sentiments voiced by the speakers left no doubt that Cleveland was entitled to its night of triumph. The visitors well understood that an exhibition is not full-born, but is a creation requiring time, energy and money, all of which must be well-directed, if the desired goal is to be attained.

* * *

The exhibits were worthy of the attention of all classes of collectors and furnished a vista that was inviting. There were enough stamps on display to fill the eye of any visitor and in fact, in this respect, the appeal was a popular one, although the specialist was not ignored by any means. While the U. S. sections were a main attraction, it was satisfactory to find that the foreign stamps received undivided attention, as well. It is heartening to know that our own stamps do not have a monopoly of collecting thought because of their popularity, even though deserved. We trust that the pendulum is swinging slowly in favor of other countries, which while never wholly neglected have not been receiving their meed of acclaim latterly. We know that a balanced demand for all worthy stamps is a surer indication of general strength than a concentrated attention to one class of them. The judges of the exhibits were competent and under the expert guidance of Mr. J. C. Morgenthau did their work capably. The awards were made early in the week and the winning frames marked with the ribbons of preferment. A dinner to the judges was the occasion of a review of their work; they were unanimous in declaring that the display was a creditable one.

* * *

The attendance was representative and was of good volume, without doubt. It might have been larger and by the same token it could have been smaller as there was no certain way in which any accurate survey could be made before the fact of the attendance possibilities. The wisdom was apparent of soliciting and receiving the coöperation of societies within a nearby circle of the city, and as a consequence of it, the attendance of members from those sections was large. Here was an example of good management. The philatelists from New York, Chicago and Detroit, not to mention other cities were out in good force; and a roll of the names of those present included names that have long been familiar in stamp precincts. From many other places came those whose allegiance to stamps compared with that of the best of them and it is to be said without vainglory that the showing in a human sense was one that was noticeable. The Cleveland hosts were hospitable and their desire to make everybody feel at home added to the good fellowship of the occasion.

* * *

What is accomplished by an exhibition of the kind? First of all, it gave an opportunity to see what progress has been made by philately in recent years, and it provided a convenient means for seeing a host of stamps that otherwise would not have been available for general inspection. A chance for study was provided for students and many of the regular body of collectors got a glimpse of rarities and unusual specimens that otherwise they could not have had. Thus, an inspiration was derived and a broader sense of orderly stamp accumulation followed. Then, it served notice on the outside public that philately was a pursuit that could command the means, artistic and material, to make an occasion of this magnitude possible. Proof was presented that stamps could rally to their standard a support that gave visible evidence of vitality and growth; and so, outsiders could not but be impressed by the savor of well being that pervaded the exhibition and its concomitants. The preliminary advertising that the display received through the forthright advertising of the exhibition to school children and their parents and teachers had its effect, and the public notices of the show went far and wide, and thus gave unmistakable indications that stamp collecting was not a passing fancy but an established order of human activity, since it brought under its thrall men who could work with telling results. The Cleveland exhibition extended the philatelic oasis in this country and did much to make fertile ground that otherwise would remain untilled.

* * *

There were many social diversions during the week. Not a few dinners and other entertainment were given. The judges' dinner was a memorable occasion, as has been mentioned and another dinner to the judges with Colonel Cosby as host was a singularly pleasant meeting and the table-talk was worth hearing. A dinner by Mr. Newbury, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morganthau, was a feature, and Mr. Charles J. Phillips and Mr. Voorhees were hosts at other times. So numerous were these accompaniments that it is impossible to enumerate them all. The banquet, followed by a dance that completed the chain on Saturday night was attended by those whose presence was not demanded on the final night of the Exhibition, and the ladies and gentlemen made a brave showing. It was at this banquet given under the auspices of the Garfield-Perry Club that the certificates of award were bestowed on those who won them and were present to receive them, the tastefully designed tributes.

* * *

Good fortune attended the powerful elbows of the Cleveland workers since the last day of the Exhibition was the one on which the new Valley Forge stamp was issued. This coincidence gave a spirit to the affair that made it distinctive. The participation of the government stamp agency in the exhibition and the sale of the new commemoratives and the air mail stamp booklets were factors of great moment in accelerating interest in the show. This recognition of philatelists is a cordial sign from Wash and its significance is appreciate special cancellation was given lit and the Stamp Agency at the Ex was a popular section of the Ex without intermission. We shall n tion names, but the unfailing cour all those who came from the ca reason of their connection wi Agency made us all feel that w friends in that important adjunct government; and gracious ackn ment is made to them.

THE STAMPS OF LIECHTENSTEIN

By Charles S. Thompson.

Any doubts of the intentions of the authorities to exploit collectors were set at rest in 1920, when the principality authorized a private corporation to undertake the production of a pictorial issue of stamps. These were to be sold at an advance of 25 per cent over face, the company is alleged to have paid a lump sum to the principality, and evidently was permitted, if not authorized, to go the limit. At any rate, at this time there was a regular bureau in Vaduz styled the "Philatelistische Verschleisstelle des Fuerstentum Liechtenstein," — "Philatelic Sales Bureau, etc.,"—from which orders were filled, after great delay, and the "Aufschlag" or premium charged above face always amounted to 25 per cent.

Emulating Bosnia, large stamps of pictorial design were produced by copper plate, previous emissions having been typos. The first stamps of the "financial" issue appeared in imperforate condition, in sheets of 100, beautifully engraved and printed on a fine quality of paper. There are eight varieties of these imperforates, seven of which bear the arms of Liechtenstein, while the highest value pictures the castle of Vaduz, which stands on a considerable eminence.

1920. Heavy Wove Paper, Imperforate

21. 5h yellow-olive.
22. 10h red-orange.
23. 15h steel blue.
24. 20h brown.
25. 25h green.
26. 30h grey-black.
27. 40h red.
28. 1Kr bright blue.

The perforated set, consisting of 15 values, as well as a set of 12 dues, appeared shortly after the imperforates. There are several more designs, and some colors have been changed. Many of the stamps appear to be on tinted paper, but this is due to the heavy inks used, and the improper wiping of the plates. The perforation, which gauges 13, is either clean cut, or very rough, the latter with small holes. The values to 20 heller shows the arms, as does the 30 heller. The remaining values picture buildings, or the prince, as noted after each stamp.

1920. Heavy Wove Paper, Perforated About 13

29. 5h yellow-olive.
30. 10h red-orange.
31. 15h blue.
32. 20h red-brown.
33. 25h olive. Church of St. Mamerten.
34. 30h grey-black.
35. 40h claret, Guttenberg Castle.
36. 50h yellow-green, Courtyard of the Castle at Vaduz.
37. 60h red-brown. The "Red House," in Vaduz.
38. 80h bright red. The Church tower of Schaan.
39. 1Kr pale violet. The Castle of Vaduz.
40. 2Kr bright blue. Village of Bendern.
41. 5Kr violet-black. Prince John in 1858.
42. 7½Kr black. Prince John in 1920.
43. 10Kr golden yellow. Arms supported by Cupids.
a. vertical pair, imperf. between.

The 10Kr exists in vertical pairs, imperforate between. As far as known there were but ten of these pairs, of which the writer has two.

Shortly after the appearance of the pictorial set, a series of three values figuring the Virgin and Child, and inscribed "MDCCCXLMCMXX FUERSTENTUM LIECHTENSTEIN," was issued to commemorate the 80th birthday of the reigning prince. These are on tinted paper, perforated 12½. There are also imperforates which were not regularly issued.

1920. Jubilee Issue

44. 50h olive.
a. imperf.
45. 80h carmine.
a. imperf.
46. 2Kr blue.
a. imperf.

It should be noticed that there are two or three shades of all values, and all sorts of intermediate nuances, due to various printings, heavy or light inking of plates, and other factors, so that there is no particular reason for listing these shades, as the stamps are so cheap that any collector can buy a hundred sets and pick them over for himself.

The continual decline of the Austrian Krone resulted in a loss of forty per cent of the figured income to the government of the Liechenstein, instead of the 25 per cent bonus which was expected, so that it was decided to abandon the Austrian monetary system and to adopt that of Switzerland. As a result of this, all of the speculative pictorials and dues were thrown on the market in vast quantities after demonetization, and they are on the market yet! Their condition seems rather hopeless, but they are being used to build up packets, and their ultimate absorption and eventual disappearance are only matters of time.

Late in February or early in March, 1921, the 10 heller of the imperforate pictorials was surcharged 2Rp and bars obliterating the original value. There are two types of this surcharge, one with thick characters having three wavy lines over each "10," the other with thin characters have a straight bar between two wavy ones.

1921. Swiss Administration
On imperforates.

47. 2rp on 10h red-orange. Thick figure.
48. 2rp on 10h red-orange. Thin figure.

The values expressed in "rappen" are equal to centimes. The Rappen, as a monetary unit, had not been represented on stamps for fifty years.

Following these provisionals, a set of stamps having the same design as the 10kr pictorial, but only one-fourth as large, made their appearance. They are eight in number, and are perforated either 9½ (Scott says 10) or 12½. Some of the stamps perforated 9½ are many times scarcer than those perf. 12½, and catalog quotations, no matter whose, are of little comparative value. The 2rp exists perf. 9½ only.

1921. Tinted Paper, Small Size.
Perf. 9½ or 12½.

49. 2rp lemon.
50. 2½rp black.
a. perf. 12½.
51. 3rp orange.
a. perf. 12½.
52. 5rp olive.
a. perf. 12½.
53. 7½rp indigo.
a. perf. 12½.
54. 10rp yellow-green.
a. perf. 12½.
55. 13rp red-brown.
a. perf. 12½.
56. 15rp dark violet.
a. perf. 12½.

The shades in this issue are very slight and scarcely noticeable except in the 15 rappen.

These small-sized stamps were accompanied by eight other values of the usual size, all bicolors and pictorials, the subjects being those of the "financial" pictorials, with the addition of a view of the valley of the Sameni on the 1 franc. All are perforated 12½, and have the centres in black.

1921. Large Size, Perf. 12½. Bicolors, Black Centers, Frames Colored As Follows:—

57. 20rp violet.
58. 25rp rose-red.
59. 30rp deep green.
60. 35rp brown.
61. 40rp blue.
62. 50rp deep green.
63. 80rp grey.
64. 1fr lake.

The 1 franc is a large oblong, the others being rectangles. Catalog prices on this set are quite ridiculous, the total of $1.55 being about half the present wholesale costs! One stamp in the set is worth at least twenty times the catalog quotation, and the others are going upward to join it. These stamps are in GOLD francs, not depreciated paper, as are the French franc, and the face value has apparently been ignored in fixing the prices. The writer has seen several sets sold at auction for prices between $4.25 and $5.

In 1921 two of the small stamps of the arms type were surcharged, as it was found that there was almost no use for the 7½rp and the 13rp. The 7½rp was surcharged 5, the 13rp was surcharged 10, in heavy-faced type, the overprint falling over the original values in the upper left.

Junior Chronicle

By BEACH CONGER, JR.

Bulgaria.—The current two and ten levas stamps have been surcharged in red and green respectively for airmail use. The surcharge consists of a small airplane with the inscription "Bunavad," the name of the firm operating the line. It extends from Sofia to Varna and Rustchuch.

Greece.—The remainders of the "Fabvier" commemoratives, the 50 lepta, 1, 2, 3 and 5 drachma values, surcharged upon the stamps, will constitute the airmail stamps of that country for a while.

Italy.—The provisional airmail stamp, 50 on 60 centesimi, has been replaced by a stamp, of the type now in use, 50 centesimi, carmine rose.

Roumania.—Ten years ago, a diet meeting at Khotin decided that Bessarabia should be returned to Roumania after 108 years of Russian rule. To commemorate this return, the Roumanian Post Office is issuing a series of ten stamps, 1leu, green; 2lei chocolate; 3lei, sepia; 5lei, lake; 7.50lei, blue; 10lei, blue-green; 10lei, dark purple. The stamps show the city where the Diet met in 1918.

Peru.—The Peruvian Post Office has issued a new airmail stamp. The value is 50 centavos, olive-green, and shows an airplane flying over a map of Peru, beside a picture of President A. B. Leguia.

Chili.—To frank letters going on the transatlantic route, a set of airmail stamps has been prepared showing a South American condor. The values are not known yet.

U. S.—The postmaster at Houston, Tex., announces that all airmail letters mailed on the opening day of the Democratic convention will receive a "donkey" cancellation.

A Junior Exchange Club

Do our Juniors want an exchange club operated in their interests? William S. Kinney, Jr., Canton, Ohio, says, "Yes." The WEEKLY will be glad to institute such an exchange, but it will be held in no way responsible for its operation. If some adult reader of our publication wishes to serve the boys in this capacity we shall be glad to lend this department to promote the success of such an exchange. We are open for suggestions.

City Despatch Post

A successful local post established in New York on January 1, 1842. The success of this post soon attracted the attention of the Post Office Department and a government service was started under the name of the "United States City Despatch Post." This service was commenced in August, 1842, and A. M. Grieg was appointed as letter carrier. Whether the original City Despatch Post was abandoned or not is uncertain but at any rate it was in business under the same name in 1848 and continued until 1859.

Our Junior Dictionary

Pineapple Watermark.—A watermark shown in the first stamps issued in the island of Jamaica.

Pin Perforation.—This is a form of rouletting—sometimes known by its French name, perce en points—in which round holes are pricked in the paper, sharp points being used in place of the hollow punches employed in ordinary machine perforation.

Piscopi.—One of the Aegean Islands which has been under Italian administration since 1913 and for which the contemporary stamps of Italy overprinted "Piscopi" were specially issued.

Poon.—The value in which all the stamps of Corea used between 1895 and 1900 were expressed. Five poon were equal to a cheun which had a value of only about ½c in American money.

Norway's Ibsen Issue

The postage stamp gallery of international literary celebrities has just received the interesting addition of a set of Ibsen stamps, issued on the 100th anniversary of his birth, March 20th. There are four values in the rather small size of stamp normal to Norwegian stamp issues, all bearing the characteristic picture of the dramatist, together with his signature, "Henrik Ibsen," and the dates 1828-1928. The denominations are 10 ore green, 15 ore brown, 20 ore scarlet, and 30 ore blue.

Although many countries have long made a practice of portraying their most distinguished statesmen, soldiers, and scientists on stamps, the admission of literary geniuses to the portrait gallery on stamps is of recent origin. It may be said to have begun with Portugal's issue in 1898 to commemorate the exploits of Vasco da Gama, thrillingly related in the "Lusiads" of Camoens, whose picture appeared on two of the stamps. Spain gave us the "Don Quixote" issue in 1905, with quaint scenes from the immortal story, and a very poor portrait of Cervantes. A handsome picture of that author, and a statue of him, appear on stamps issued in Spain on the tercentenary of his death in 1916.

Among other great personages in literature, Italy has pictured Dante, Manzoni, and Mazzini, and promises us a philatelic glimpse of Virgil. D'Annunzio was portrayed on the stamps of Fiume during his adventure there. Germany's current stamps present Schiller and Goeth. France has pictured Pierre de Ronsard, and will give us two more portraits next year of Victor Hugo and Lamartine. A portrait of Byron figures on a Greek stamp, and one of Francis Bacon on a stamp of Newfoundland. Poland contributes a portrait of the "Satan of Poetry," Slowacki, and Russia is planning stamp issues commemorating Tolstoy and Maxim Gorky. But probably the chief literary interest in stamps with kindred associations lies in the knowledge they bring us of famous writers honoured by many nations large and small, like Boteff and Vasoff of Bulgaria, Petofi, Karl Marx, and Maurice Jokai of Hungary, Gertrude de Avellaneda of Cuba, Vasile Alexandri of Roumania, Tarasse Schevtschenko of Ukraine, and perhaps a score or more notables in the literary development of the American Republics.—Postage Stamp.

A Map Lesson

(Clipping from A. F. Counts.)

Harrison is such a happy boy Daddy could hardly believe his eyes w he saw him rocking back and forth rocking-chair with a frown all over face.

"How are you going to spend hour before bedtime?" asked Da quickly to see if he could chase away frown.

But would you believe it? It only worse!

"I have to draw an old map," Harrison, crossly.

"Of what?" asked Daddy, taking notice of the cross tone.

"Nicaragua," answered Harrison.

"Oh, the Central American cou we hear so much about! Why th interesting," said Daddy.

"But I want to do something else want to paste stamps in my album," plained Harrison, still frowning, but quite so hard. "You know, Mother g me 50 rare stamps for my birthday a haven't had time to paste them in yet

Daddy smiled a mysterious sort c smile and said:

"Get them and let's look at them gether."

The smile that belonged there was on Harrison's face by the time he had album and his gummed hinges and precious box of stamps on the table front of Daddy.

"Why, here's a map of the whole w on one of my stamps!" cried Harriso excitement as he picked up a Canad stamp bearing the date, "Christmas 18

"It's red, white and blue, too, like flag," went on Harrison. "Daddy, w are all those red places on the map?"

"They are different parts of the B ish Empire that are scattered over whole world," said Daddy, and ad "That is the first stamp ever printed three colors."

"That stamp will help me when I s studying Great Britain," observed H rison.

"I wonder if there are any ot maps?"

"Several others at least!" answe Daddy with that same mysterious sm

Harrison started looking over his lection, paying attention only to the o bearing maps.

"Here is one of the Panama Cana he exclaimed.

"The United States and the Repul of Panama have both issued stamps w the ocean-to-ocean canal on them," plained Daddy. "And before the ca was dug, Colombia used a map of Isthmus of Panama for a stamp."

"Here's one with the whole contin of Australia! Here's Ireland! Her Newfoundland!" cried Harrison. "A here's the island of Haiti, and anot with the island of Cuba!"

He seemed to be looking for sor thing and when Daddy inquired what was, he said:

"Wasn't there ever a map of the Uni s on a stamp?"

here was one—a 10 cent stamp, I ve. It was printed in 1904."
rrison was almost at the end of his tion when he suddenly stopped in amazement and held up a stamp Daddy to see.
hy, it can't be—but it is—" he beand then continued positively, "It is p of Nicaragua. Why, it's exactly I need."
et your atlas and we'll look at it a large map," suggested Daddy.
d in a few minutes Harrison was erested in little maps and big maps he decided to try making a middle- map and before the hour was over sson for the next day was finished. istian Science Monitor.

Philatelists by Appointment to H. M. King George V.

(Only address) Dept. 20, 391 STRAND, LONDON, ENG.

SPECIAL COVERS

Covers bearing the special Cleveland Midwestern Philatelic Station cancellation and Valley Forge stamps were received from Mr. Raymond V. Bahr, Springfield, Ill.; Mr. Fred Warner, Chicago; Mr. John J. Spencer, Saginaw, Michigan, and the Burrows Brothers Co., booksellers of Cleveland, who have a philatelic department in the store under charge of Mr. Fritz Janssen. First day covers with the Valley Forge stamp came from Mr. Philip Ward, Jr., Philadelphia (Valley Forge); Mr. Otto Arco, New York (Philadelphia); Mr. C. W. Kissinger, Reading, Pa. (Valley Forge); Mr. Malcolm H. Ganser, Norristown, Pa. (Valley Forge and Norristown); and a dozen other covers from anonymous sources. Incidentally, Mr. Ganser must be walking with a springy step as if anyone worked overtime in proselyting for the Valley Forge stamp it was the self-same Ganser. Mr. A. E. Clattenburg, Jr., sends his greetings in a "first day cover from somewhere different," and the envelope does not show the postmark, the stamp having been struck on the bias. We want to congratulate Mr. Arnold J. Bauer, Wabasso, Minn. (Valley Forge), who writes: "This is a first day cover of the new Valley Forge stamp. Please accept it with my compliments. It may not interest you in the least to know that this stamp was issued on my birthday, but I feel very proud over it." On the contrary, it does interest us. We have heard of the use on May 26th of the stamp in cities other than those included in the list of first day offices; and it is claimed that Chicago has its May 26ths.

Stamps of both perforations were surcharged, and while those perforated 9½ are scarcer in the case of the 5rp on 7½rp, the stamps perforated 12½ are scarcer in the 10rp on 13rp.

1924. Provisionals On Small Arms.
65. 5 on 7½rp indigo.
a. perf. 12½.
66. 10 on 13rp red-brown.
a. perf. 12½.

The year 1924 saw a further printing of the small 10rp yellow-green, but this time it appeared on the regular Swiss granite paper, with Greek Cross watermark. This is a scarce and much underpriced item, and among those nearly "always missing," because it is worth about twice catalog.

67. 1924. 10rp yellow-green, watermarked granite paper.

A new bicolor 5-rappen stamp of small rectangular design also appeared in 1924. This shows a lusty Liechtensteiner, profusely draped with a full set of facial fur, carrying a monster container on his shoulders. This receptacle is about the size of a 40-gallon barrel, and examination with a lens shows that it contains spherical objects which are probably intended for grapes. If so, they produce grapes in Liechtenstein which are at least an inch in diameter, and probably larger. But the objects may be prunes or mountain watermelons.

In 1925 the second of this set was issued. It is the 10rp green showing the Courtyard of the Castle at Vaduz. The 20rp red of the same design was issued in 1926, and the large 1½fr oblong pictorial in blue was issued in 1925. The three higher values bear the name of the engraver, E. Verling, and of the designer, J. Sprenger, in tiny letters below the design. Finally, in 1925 was issued a 30rp pictorial of the usual large size and design, but changed colors.

1924-25-26. Various Designs, Three New, Perf. 11½
68. 5rp brown and blue. (1924)
69. 10rp yellow-green. (1925)
70. 20rp red. (1926)
71. 30rp blue and black. (1925)
72. 1½fr blue. (1925)

To commemorate the eighty-fifth birthday of Prince John, a set of three charity stamps were issued October 5, 1925. These stamps bear a full-face portrait of the prince, and like all other issues under Swiss administration are inscribed merely "Fuerstentum Liechtenstein" and the value. They were sold at an advance of 5rp over face.

1925. Charity Stamps. Perf. 11½. Wmk. Greek Cross
Ch. 1. 10+5rp yellow-green.
Ch. 2. 20+5rp carmine.
Ch. 3. 30+5rp blue.

While the postal affairs of Liechtenstein were farmed out to the speculators, a set of twelve dues was issued. These are of the general apparance of dues issued by most countries, i.e., numeral of value in an ornamental frame. These are no exception, though the general appearance of the stamps is that of a series of blobs of sealing wax, as nine of the twelve are printed in reds of varying shades, the frame being oval. The three higher values are blue.

1920. Postage Dues
D. 1 to 9, all red of various shades.
5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 40, 50 and 80 heller.
D. 10 to 12, all chalky to deep dull blue.
1, 2 and 5 Kronen.

Valley Forge Variety

At the Cleveland Exhibition, the postal clerks were extremely accommodating and had four pads on hand to cancel the Valley Forge varieties. These were purple, red, blue and green and from observation but few were cancelled in purple as this pad seemed to have been under the counter for a good portion of the day.

The special postmark which was in use covers exactly six stamps and I arranged to have a few blocks of six, each cancelled in one of the four colors.

I can furnish one set of these blocks in the four colors together with a first day cover from each of the seven cities at a price of $5.00. Only fifteen such sets are available as the thought did not occur to me until the postoffice was about to close and I doubt whether any such sets were obtained by anyone else.

If you are looking for first day covers of any other issues or if there is anything that you require in the way of fine United States Issues, either early or late, used or unused, singles or blocks, your want list is solicited.

I am always in the market to purchase at highest cash prices anything fine in the way of United States Issues.

APPROVALS OF BRITISH COLONIALS

We are constantly buying collections, lots, etc., and picking from them only the best and hard to get stamps. These circulate on our approval sheets. It is worth your while to write to us for a selection because we have specialized for twenty years in this type of business and our world-wide reputation is built upon the fact that we sell only stamps in perfect condition and those genuine issues which alone are an investment. We have never stocked or offered to our customers trashy sets at impossibly low discounts.

Our terms are reasonable. Here is an example taken at random from the many thousands of sheets which we are constantly circulating. The stamps are mint, the numbers those of Scott 1928.

Branch Philatelic Agency, Cleveland, Ohio

The Branch Philatelic Agency at the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition held in Cleveland, Ohio, was opened on Monday, May 21st, instead of Thursday the 24th, as previously arranged. At the same time the Branch Post Office used a special postmark which continued in use during the entire week. This marking which was described last week was applied in purple, red, green and blue, and at times in combinations of the several colors. The Agency had a most successful as well as active week and took in approximately eight to ten thousand dollars.

Valley Forge Commemorative

On Saturday, May 26, 1928, the new 2-cent red stamp, commemorating Washington's Encampment at Valley Forge, was placed on sale at the Exhibition and thousands of covers were sent out with numerous colored cancellations. The management in charge of the Exhibition arranged a private marking which was applied to covers, reading—"Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition, Cleveland, May 21-26, 1928," and showed an airplane in flight, with a scalloped circular border. This was usually applied in magenta. The marking, however, is in no way official and was applied privately.

On the same day the new stamps were placed on sale in Washington, D. C., Valley Forge, Philadelphia, Norristown, Lancaster and West Chester.

They all used the normal cancellor, but I note in the case of one letter received from Norristown that there is a six line postmark in blue-black reading, "Postmark on this envelope is first day of issue of Valley Forge Stamp, May 26, 1928, as authorized by U. S. Post Office Department, exclusively for Valley Forge, Norristown, West Chester, Lancaster, Philadelphia, Washington and Cleveland." Only one cover in the lot had this special marking so it is doubtful if it was used on a great number.

The Valley Forge variety is one of the most pleasing of our late commemoratives and depicts a subject—Washington kneeling in prayer at Valley Forge—different in idea from any other that has ever before graced an American stamp. "In God We Trust" is a motto old to the coin collector, but something new and unusual to philately.

Philately by the way, or rather those interested in the subject, played an important part in the issue of this stamp, and they are to be congratulated on their efficient and effective efforts.

There has been some little criticism from one or two daily press sources as to the historic authenticity of the subject illustrated, but the Postmaster General rightly ignored these protests. The design will probably meet with general approval, with the possible exception of the Rupert Hughes School of Washington's Biographers.

Washington's diary and writings afford sufficient evidence of his custom of seeking divine assistance whether or not the precise scene which forms the subject of this illustration was ever actually enacted at Valley Forge. There is no nobler chapter in the life of the Father of His Country than that which records how he shared the hardships of his comrades-in-arms at Valley Forge during the very darkest period of the Revolution. There is no reason to doubt that the faith that he displayed during the winter of 1777-1778 was an all powerful factor in maintaining the morale of his devoted followers.

The stamp will prove a welcome addition to the stamp album, and has created more remarks in the daily press than any stamp that has appeared in recent years.

During the Exhibition, the writer was congratulated on the appearance of his portrait on the stamp along with Washington. Take a glass, look at the little figure in modern dress on the left of the large tree, and if you are acquainted with the writer, you will see that it is "yours truly."

The Second Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Warren Irving Glover, writes that when the subject was called to his attention he immediately put a glass upon the stamp and "saw the true likeness of yourself."

So far, three living people have appeared upon United States postage stamps to my knowledge. Namely—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson on the $5 current issue, the post office employee standing beside his machine on the 20c Special Delivery and Philip H. Ward, Jr., on the Valley Forge Stamp. Ha! ha!!

Stamps placed on sale on the first day were produced from four plates, namely—No. 19493, No. 19494, No. 19495 and No. 19496. Since that time, four additional plates have been made bearing numbers 19500, 19501, 19502, 19503. Quite possibly these eight plates will be sufficient to print a good portion of the entire requirement of fifty million stamps. As previously stated, they are printed on the flat bed press in sheets of four hundred and cut into post office panes of one hundred subjects with straight edges on two sides. It is not expected that the stamps will be printed from the rotary press, nor are they to be issued imperforate.

10c Lindbergh Booklet Pane

On May 26, 1928, the new two-page booklet selling at 61 cents, containing six copies of the 10c Lindbergh Air Stamp, was placed on sale in both W ington, D. C., and Cleveland. Each consists of three stamps arranged zontally. The plate numbers in the of these plates are on the side so only badly centered panes will sh trace of the number. So far, four of 180 subjects each have been bearing numbers—19414, 19425, 1 19427. The stamps are made fron flat bed press from the same die a ordinary varieties and are perforat on unwatermarked paper. The bc covers are of white cardboard, neat appearance than the other types of lets. On the front we find the air insignia printed in blue and on the cover a map of the country showin air mail routes. Other wording o propriate nature is found on the side of the cover.

In a recent Chronicle through er mentioned that this Lindbergh Bc would sell at 63 cents, instead of 61 the correct amount.

I also described certain plate var found on Plate 18246 which I desig as a Lindbergh Stamp whereas the is actually the 10c Map air mail va 1922 50c stamp. It is printed in sepia and lake on watermarked paper.—Stamp Collecting.

New Caledonia.—Whitfield King & Co. send for chronicle the new designs issued April 30th, 1c blue and claret, 2c green and sepia, 4c grey-blue and orange, 5c sepia and slate-blue, 10c chocolate and violet-blue, 15c blue and brown, 20c sepia and red, 25c sepia and green, all with a Harbour view, 30c green, 40c olive-green and red, 45c orange-red and mauve, 50c sepia and mauve, 65c blue and red-brown, 75c olive and blue-green, 90c rose and red, with Coconut trees for designs; 1fr rose and olive, 1fr10c sepia and green, 1fr50c blue, 2fr sepia and vermilion, 3fr sepia and magenta, 5fr sepia and blue, 10fr sepia on pink and violet, 20fr sepia on yellow and red, Medallion portraits and sailing vessel type. Also the following Postage Due stamps in Antelope and tree design, 2c blue and brown, 4c green and red, 5c grey and orange, 10c slate-blue and magenta, 15c red and green, 20c olive and claret, 25c blue and yellow-brown, 30c sepia and green, 50c carmine and brown, 60c red and magenta, 1fr blue-green and blue, 2fr olive and red, 3fr brown and violet.

Niger.—Whitfield King & Co. call our attention to the 15c, which has been issued in brown and ultramarine.

Portugal.—Mr. S. P. da Conceicao states that in May two special stamps will be issued in commemoration of the Olympiad. One, a 15c, will be used as prepayment of an extra charge on letters to the Continent, Madeira, and the Azores. The other will be a 30c Due, for taxing letters which do not bear the 15c.

Another correspondent informs us that a new series is in preparation at the Lisbon mint, which will take the place of the present De La Rue "Ceres" issue when the latter is exhausted.—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

Reunion.—The following new items have been received from Whitfield King & Co.: 15c sepia and blue, 30c green, 45c drab and purple, 75c ultramarine and brown and 1fr sepia and purple.

Roumania.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the new set of stamps issued to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the joining of Bessarabia with Roumania. They are of oblong format, and of the following values and colors: 1 lei, green; 2 lei, chocolate; 3 lei, sepia; 5 lei, lake; 7 lei 50b, ultramarine and 10 lei, green-blue.

Russia.—On March 29th (says M. Theodore Champion) the famous Maxim Gorki attains his sixtieth birthday, and in his honour the name of the village, Vorpanova, where he worked in the nineties, is to be changed to "Gorki." At the same time the U.S.S.R. is to issue a special postage stamp with his portrait.—Stamp Collecting.

Southern Rhodesia.—Mr. Heathcote Tatham is the first to show us the new booklets, consisting of twelve ½d stamps and twenty-four 1d, inter-leaved with advertisements and postal information, and bound in a blue cover of stout card.—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

Turkey.—An entirely new series of twenty-one values is promised for January 1, 1929; in fact, it is already in active preparation.—Stamp Collecting.

will, no doubt, continue to cancel some of them for certain companies.

Madagascar.—Whitfield King & Co. advise of the appearance of the 30c green and 45c purple-blue and claret. Both are in the 1908 types.

Malta.—In response to an enquiry, the correspondent who gave us the figures which we printed last month, relating to the destruction of stamps with "POSTAGE" overprint, states that he has confirmed these figures. He adds a further list of small quantities destroyed on 25 May, 1927, but as the total face value of the lot is only about £50, they do not materially affect the position.—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

Martinque.—Whitfield King & Co. report the 15c orange-brown and blue and 75c blue and brown.

Mexico.—Messrs. Francis J. Field, Ltd., report receipt of a 25c air stamp. This official issue is for the new Mexico City—Tampico air line, which will eventually connect with U. S. A. Contract lines. The design, except for numerals of value, is identical with that of the

STAMP MARKET GOSSIP

By "THE SEER OF THE STRAND."

NYASALAND.—In my last month's notes I mentioned the 4/- mult. CA, S.G. No. 95, as being rather a sensible buy. As usual, a great rush has been made for what few copies could be found in the London stamp market. I am under the impression that there are still some to be had at reasonable figures, but the time is not distant when such will not be the case. Don't miss a few copies if you are inclined to invest.

NEW ZEALAND.—A few months ago I advised purchase of a few sets of the Dunedin Exhibition stamps, S.G. 536, 537 and 538. I am still advocating these at prevailing prices, as I am certain of a quick rise very shortly.

RAROTONGA. (Cook Islands.)—The New Zealand 3/- Admiral type has just made its appearance for this Colony, but strange to say, it is the first shade, S.G. 541. I have not seen a large number, but a full issue may be expected. As the colour has been changed to a pale mauve for New Zealand, I am led to think that this latter stamp, also overprinted for Rarotonga is likely to be seen at any time. Such being the case, I must strongly urge acquisition of the dark shade at the earliest moment.

BERMUDA.—I am of opinion that there is a lot of truth in a rumour that has reached me to the effect that the 5/- value, S.G. 53, will shortly be issued on script watermarked paper. From past experience, we know that when these changes take place in the 5/- values, catalogue quotations jump to a very marked degree. In any event, a few of these in hand will never entail a loss.

ST. KITTS.—I think I may say that I am practically the only market correspondent who has not written about the 2½d ultramarine with chalky surface, S.G. 43a, in eulogistic terms. I purposely held back because I knew this stamp was sent out by various New Issue Services and supplies had not been, in my estimation, short. It has been mooted by various writers that this is a stamp with a classic future. Yet it is being offered today by many dealers at the fancy price of 1/-!! Candidly, I am of opinion that this sum represents its full worth. It may get better—certainly it only had a short life—but I do not think I should care to speculate a deal in this direction.

S. W. AFRICA.—I note that the 2/6 first pictorial for this Colony has now a quotation in Gibbons. This is 60/- per pair, with which I am entirely in agreement. In fact, I make bold to say that before long it will be worth £5. Readers will remember that I advocated purchase of this pair when the catalogue quotation was only a matter of a quarter of what it is today.

MALTA.—Much controversy has taken place at various times of the relative values of some of the scarcer items in the "Postage" overprinted set. Whilst there is still a quantity of some of the commoner values on sale, one notices that such as the 4d, 1/-, 2/- and 2/6, are seldom seen. I had occasion a week or two ago to attend a London auction, where a few were on offer, and I particularly noted that these four values were fetching very high prices. The 4d appears to be jumping up, and I give it as my honest opinion that this stamp will soon reach the 10/- mark. The 1/- is now in the region of 6s, the 2/- at 45/-, and the 2/6, which I consider the best of the lot, at 25/-.

TURKS ISLANDS.—This is another of my favorite Colonies. I am going to advise acquisition of a few copies of the late issue. I have already mentioned the 2/- as being quite good, and recent prices have justified this view. Now I want all readers to get some of the 1/- values, S.G. 172. There is a great scarcity of this stamp, and I shall be very much surprised if the quotation does not jump very shortly to a matter of the same level as the previous one, S.G. 161. I should certainly make this the best thing of the month but for the fact that I have something a shade better, if possible. I allude to:—

ST. HELENA.—Readers will remember that I was the first to notify the suppression of the 15/- script of this Colony. I hope all took advantage of this and obtained one or two copies. I now have to advocate getting a copy or two of the 7/6 Script, S.G. No. 111. There has been a little rumour about this stamp for the last month or so, but it has only just come authentically to me that no more stamps of this denomination are on sale in the Colony. The 7/6 value has never actually been required, so there is little likelihood of a re-print. In making this my "Best Thing of the Month," I do so with the full assurance that the present catalogue quotations represent really bargain prices.

BEST THING OF THE MONTH.

are about 18½ by 22mm in size. Owing to different degrees of shrinkage in the wet paper they vary from these dimensions, but somewhat rarely if ever more than ½mm either way. The wet paper also takes more ink so that the colors of these printings are deeper or fuller than for the corresponding stamps printed on the rotary press. The paper, too, is different, being softer in general for the flat press. All government coils perforated 12 and 8½, and part of those perforated 10 were printed from flat plates.

Coils Perforated 12

These were the first official coils. The denominations issued were the 1c and 5c of the 1902 issue, the 2c of 1903, and the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10 cents of the 1908-10 issues.

When these were first put on sale collectors displayed little interest in them on the ground that they could be easily faked from regular sheets. But the line varieties cannot be faked readily, especially in the denominations above 2 cent, and even the 1 and 2 cent values cannot be falsely made with any chance of success, except from booklet pages. That the very early booklets should be used precancelled is more unlikely than a similar use of coils. A line variety stamp, or better still a pair, should then establish the existence of a precancelled item beyond much doubt. But even with this allowance very few coils perforated 12 were ever precancelled. Possibly the 1c 1902 was made in South Whitley, Indiana, and the 1c 1908 was used in a few places. The standard catalog lists, as Saint Paul number 307, the 3 cent variety, but this is the rarest of all coils since only a small supply was used in Orangeburg, New York, tho not precancelled. This listing, then, is probably an error.

If any other varieties were made they repose in collections or stocks unrecognized, or were discarded as being straight-edge copies of an especially poor kind.

Coils Perforated 8½

The coils perforated 12 were the cause of much complaint in that they pulled apart too easily, both while being made and used. To meet this objection the Bureau in 1910 changed the perforation to 8½. Otherwise the coils were made in exactly the same way except that a rather crude machine was soon set up to do some of the slow and expensive hand work.

With this odd perforation, the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 cent denominations of the 1908 issue, and the 1 and 2 cent of the 1912 issues were made and used. The 1 and 2 cent varieties of the earlier issue have the values expressed in words (one cent or two cents), while on the 1912 issue they are shown in figures.

All of these stamps are known precancelled, but everything above the 1 cent value is uncommon or rare.

The 8½ perforation was never used for any other stamps but coils.

Coils Perforated 10

In attempting to improve the too easily parted coils perforated 12 the Bureau went too far for almost as many complaints were registered against the 8½. These last were too hard to separate, the general result being a lot of torn stamps. So finally, in 1914, the Bureau took 10 for the standard coil perforation, this being about half way between the two troublesome kinds. Since then all the coils have had this perforation.

For a time after this change the coils were still made from stamps printed on the flat presses. The following denominations were issued: the 1 cent and 2 cent with numbers of value, and the 3, 4, 5 cent values of the same design in use since 1908. All these are known precancelled, but most of the items are scarce or rare.

Endwise and Sidewise Coils

From the very beginning the government has had made two kinds of coils. One was prepared by perforating the stamp sheets horizontally and cutting them into strips vertically. In this type the stamps in the coil ribbon were joined together end to end and have the name endwise. They are perforated at the top and bottom, and imperforate at the sides. They are cataloged as "perforated horizontally."

The other kind of coil is made of stamps joined side by side; they are perforated at the sides and imperforate at top and bottom. They are designated "perforated vertically."

Of the coils already discussed, the following values appear perforated horizontally (endwise); the 1, 2, 4, 5 cent of 1908, all these being perforated 12. In the series perforated 8½ and 10 only the 1 and 2 cent denominations were coiled endwise.

Minor Varieties of Flat Press Coils

There are very few of these. Pairs may be found showing the colored guide line between the stamps or more rarely with a paste-up. Both are most uncommon. There are no die variations at all. The earlier coils are on a paper with the double-line watermark, while the later ones come on paper with the watermark single-lined. The catalog pays no attention to these differences which are left for the specialist.

Rotary Press Coils

In 1914 the Bureau of Engraving and Printing began to use the wonderful Rotary Press. With this method of printing the plates instead of being flat are curved to fit a cylinder which revolves on long rolls of paper. Thus it prints stamps almost literally by the mile, and has effected a revolution in stamp making.

It was necessary to make two different kinds of curved plates for this press. Those for the endwise coils consisted of 150 subjects in 10 rows of 15; for the sidewise coils the plates were larger, being of 17 rows of 10. In both cases the plates were first made flat and then curved to fit the cylinders. The endwise plates were bent in such a way as to stretch the metal from top to bottom of the subjects, while in the sidewise coils it was stretched from side to side. Hence stamps printed from these plates are longer (from top to bottom) for the endwise coils and wider (from side to side) for the sidewise kind than are the same stamps printed from flat plates. The horizontally perforated coils thus vary from 22.5 to 23mm, and the vertical perforated from 19 to 19.5mm. In stamps of the same design these differences in measurement serve to distinguish from each other those printed by the two methods.

The cylinder used for printing is always made up of two plates fitted tightly together. Ink is retained, however, by the crevice between the plates, and is printed on the paper appearing there as a colored line across the perforations. This same line is also found on the flat press coils, but for different reasons.

All the coils made by the rotary presses are perforated 10.

Rotary Press Issue of 1917

The denominations issued were: the 1, 2, 3 cent perforated horizontally, and the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10 cents with vertical perforations. All are known precancelled, and there are many varieties of each. Indeed with the advent of the rotary press the Postoffice Department encouraged the use of coil stamps as much as possible. This together with the later use of standard precancel coil types has resulted in the great majority of the precancelled coils being those of the rotary press on the late and current issues.

Minor Varieties of the 1917 Issue

When the first coils were printed on the rotary presses it was discovered that the border on the 2 cent stamp did not print well since the lines on the die were cut too deeply. In efforts to improve two new dies were used and coils made from both. Dies I and II used for regular stamps as well, but III was employed only for making p for printing coils on the rotary pre It is not difficult to distinguish these from each other, and the differ among them are described in the st ard stamp catalog. All the flat coils are in Die I. Rotary coils in I and II of this issue are of Die III follows then that almost all of found precancelled are rotary press of the latter die. A few precanc coils of Die II are known, but so f rotary press stamps from Die I been discovered precancelled.

During the Great War when the lar postage rate was 3 cents, a very number of stamps of this value needed. At the same time some ini ink used in printing them ruined th graved plates very rapidly. It be necessary to make a new die for denomination in order to keep up the work. The two dies are easily tified by the differences described i standard stamp catalog. Coils were from both dies on the rotary press the flat press coils are all of Die I this is true of the rotary press coils forated horizontally. Precancelled of Die I are quite scarce. After war when the letter rate was restor 2 cents the many 3 cent coils left on were little called for and many post ters precancelled them to get rid of Almost all those used were rotary stamps of Die II. These come in a ber of different color shades. There no die varieties of the other denom tions.

The 1923 Issue

This brings us to the coils in u present. Here we have the follo denominations: 1, 1½, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10 c All are used precancelled, but the a of the Bureau Prints has somewhat u tailed the use of coils precancelle City Types such as are listed in catalog.

NICARAGUA

THE LARGEST STAMP COUNTRY IN THE WORLD

By JOHN L. STROUB.

"Which country has the most stamps?" This question was asked, quite recently, by a curious boy in a stamp dealer's office. Neither the parent, nor the dealer seemed to answer with any degree of certainty. I butted in with "Nicaragua can be considered as one of the largest stamp issuing countries of the world." I did not know what other countries competed for the honor contained in this question. I had heard many philatelists guessing all over the map, while others did not know at all.

About a month or so ago, through the efforts of Dr. Ritter, the eminent German philatelist, the answer to the boy's question was brought nearer to the correct solution. In a recent issue of the Illustriertes Briefmarken Journal, Dr. Ritter published a list of fifteen countries which he considered as the leaders in the production of the largest number of different stamps, or major varieties. This list is worthy of reproduction here.

No.	1.	Turkey,	918 different stamps
	2.	Nicaragua,	896 " "
		(Not counting the Bluefields and Cabo Gracias a Dios (Cabo) of which there are 141 stamps)
	3.	Mexico,	727 different stamps
	4.	Salvador,	687 " "
	5.	Austria,	614 " "
	6.	Persia,	607 " "
	7.	Hungary,	586 " "
	8.	Germany,	555 " "
	9.	Roumania,	508 " "
	10.	Uruguay,	506 " "
	11.	Portugal,	493 " "
	12.	U. S.,	458 " "
	13.	Greece,	445 " "
	14.	Belgium,	441 " "
	15.	Liberia,	410 " "

Dr. Ritter placed Turkey in first place with 918 stamps and Nicaragua second, with 896 stamps together with a note stating that 141 stamps of Bluefields and Cabo had not been counted. Just why the stamps of these two Nicaraguan districts had been omitted in the total, the writer fails to understand. If these stamps are not counted with Nicaragua; —to what country do they belong?

A few remarks concerning the existence of the stamps of Bluefields and Cabo and their relation to Nicaragua are in order. These are given with a view that Dr. Ritter may change his count and include the stamps in Nicaragua's total, thereby giving her credit with 1,037 stamps, and crowning this country as "king" of stampdom.

Nicaragua, for many years prior to 1904 (when the Bluefields and Cabo issues first appeared) was a country wherein two money standards or units existed. In the districts of Bluefields and Cabo, the richest and mining sections of Nicaragua the "silver peso" (45 cents U. S. currency) was used exclusively, whereas in the remaining sections the "paper peso" (25 cents U. S. currency) was in circulation. The ratio being almost two to one, or in simple words, the silver money was worth nearly double that of the paper.

A common practise employed by the inhabitants of the "silver peso" districts (Bluefields and Cabo) was to exchange their money, purchase their stamps in "paper peso" post offices for use in their home districts. Not a bad business at all. In 1904, the Government officials put a stop to this unprofitable custom by decreeing that the regular Nicaraguan stamp issues must show special markings or surcharges for mail originating in the districts of Bluefields and Cabo. These special stamps were the only ones available for postal duty in these two districts. This special surcharging and designation for stamps to be used in Bluefields and Cabo continued until 1913. At this date the "gold peso" or "cordoba" (U. S. gold dollar) displaced both the "silver and paper pesos" and was used throughout the republic. Single stamp issues again sufficed from this time on.

To continue, in the determination of all stamps of Nicaragua during the period stated above, it is essential that both the "silver peso" (Bluefields and Cabo) and "paper peso" stamps be considered. To omit one group or the other would consider but a part of the country. It is because of this that the stamps of Bluefields and Cabo are combined with those of Nicaragua in all the general catalogues and printed albums.

In placing the crown on Nicaragua, which she has easily earned by the figures shown in Dr. Ritter's table as being well above 10% over the stamps issued by Turkey and from what will follow, the writer will show that even this number (1,037 stamps) is low and that Nicaragua bids fair to be the undisputed leader for some time to come.

I will anticipate the next inquiry. "Why did Nicaragua issue so many stamps?" Many discussions and arguments are opened up, some being in the confines of philately and others not. To avoid a long discourse, I might add that the history of Nicaragua from the date of her independence (1821) right through to the present date tells the story very well. This history is based on financial, political, commercial, educational and diplomatic relations of the country. Through this period, although nationally independent, the government with few exceptions has been in an unstable condition, which has reflected in the philatelic history of Nicaragua by a continuous number of stamp issues resulting in the record number of different stamps.

Again, through the press of the world, the public has learned of the backward tendency of the country even at this late date. The term "backward" can be used in its broadest sense, thus fitting any phase desired. The national life of the republic depended largely on its commerce which meant that no matter what hardships or means were encountered—postage stamps became an absolute necessity. Their workmanship, numbers, whether or not surcharged, were matters of secondary importance. When one looks over the large number of issues with their later outburst of surcharged provisionals, the financial element stands most prominent. Financial emergencies were almost continuous, whether or not they could have been prevented. It is up to us to discuss the stamps as they are known in philately.

More records belong to Nicaragua, some being accurately established, others awaiting future confirmation by students of research. Among the Central American republics (excluding Mexico) Nicaragua was first to adopt and use the adhesive postage stamp in 1862—first to change her monetary system to the gold standard in 1913—last in national advancement, and the record holder for revolutions and provisional governments. In Philately, is Nicaragua also "king" of provisional stamps and minor varieties? I claim she is, who can dispute this statement.

Nicaragua is a most misunderstood country, due to the confusion in the separation of the major from its minor variety, inclusion and omission of legitimate and illegitimate issues. This situation prevents uniform and proper listing, cataloguing and pricing in the standard reference works. The country is well adapted to both general collecting and specialism. The latter branch of philately is entirely individual and many specialists can vouch for its fascination.

The stamps are simple to identify and barring a few exceptions, do not present any paper, watermark, perforation, printing and high face valued stamp difficulties. These characteristics are offset by the presence of many minor sheet and print varieties, novelties, etc., which are personally regulated.

During my fifteen or more years of keen specialism in the stamps of Nicaragua, the world's largest stamp country, I find that many real scarce and rare varieties exist, some in surprisingly small numbers. In most general collections the percentage of missing stamps is extremely high. Many unused copies are doubtful of existence no matter how common or scarce the cancelled stamps may be. Two or three years ago a very prominent and wealthy collector, with agents all over the world, in an effort to get a complete collection of unused stamps of both major and minor varieties (numbered and lettered by our Scott's catalogue from A to Z) finally needed 2,000 stamps to finish the work at this time. Of these 2,000 stamps, Nicaragua headed the list with 240 stamps. I might add that one cannot get a complete collection of Nicaraguan stamps either in unused or cancelled condition—it must be the sum of both.

Although unpopular for many years, Nicaragua changed its status in 1921, or so, by becoming a desirable country, and today it ranks as the most popular country in Central America, another record. The vastness of the country and other reasons still allows for the serious collector or specialist to secure nice items at a low cost.

In order to show the number of major varieties of Nicaragua, which are generally known to the collectors of the world, I have prepared a comparative table showing the stamps listed in the various catalogues (1928 editions). I have included Dr. Ritter's totals and have made up a personal list which is somewhat tentative at this time.

This table divides the various classes

OBLIQUE PARALLELOGRAMS

We had a quantity of Sesquicentennial stamped envelopes printed with the red and blue oblique parallelograms similar to the style recently sanctioned by the Post Office for use as air mail covers. The effect is very striking.

To these envelopes, on the day of issue of the Valley Forge stamp, May 26th, we affixed blocks of four of the new commemorative. We mailed them by air mail to points in Texas, California and Washington, so as to assure their being flown. They were mailed from the seven cities where the stamps were issued, and the cover from Cleveland received the special colored cancel of the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition.

The set of seven first day covers, one from each city, is the finest lot we ever put out. The combination of the block of four of the stamp commemorating the Sesquicentennial of Valley Forge, with the official envelope which the Government used to celebrate the Sesquicentennial Exposition, is unique. Think of the novelty, too, of the stamped envelope printed in red and blue for air mail. And bear in mind that all seven covers were actually carried by airplane, as is proved by their backstamps.

We offer the complete set of seven beautiful first day, via air mail, covers for $4.75. Guaranteed to please. Order them, look 'em over, and if you don't have that "tickled" feeling, then just send them back and we'll return your money.

A single cover from Cleveland with your choice of a purple or green "Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition" cancel will be supplied for $1.00.

of stamps which will allow for a closer comparison and show where the greatest differences occur. The accuracy of the table is not guaranteed in as much as many stamps are covered by foot notes, remarks, identification of various major varieties, inclusion and omission of legitimate and illegitimate issues, and differences in the new and current issues. However, the main effect is that the number of major varieties would not be reduced, but on the other hand increased.

It will be noted that Dr. Ritter's grand total of 1,037 stamps, is second lowest, with Michel showing 121 less or 916 total. His estimation of Bluefields and Cabo is very low and inaccurate. In order to get a fair average let us disregard the extremes both ways (Stroub—1,188 and Michel—916) and the average is 1,076. The average of the entire six totals is 1,069. Either of these figures upsets Dr. Ritter's by 4% or so. These figures verify my usual estimation of about 1,100 major varieties.

In closing, the writer is at all times ready to assist any of the standard cataloguers in an effort to have the stamps of Nicaragua more uniformly arranged as to numbers, issues, major varieties, values, etc., Probably one of the greatest handicaps is in the changing of the printed albums, but I believe that something should be done to eliminate the statement very often uttered that Nicaragua "is the worst catalogued country in the world," a record which should be lifted. Thus we close the "World's largest stamp country," the handling of which is always in record terms.

(AUTHOR'S NOTE. If my readers desire it, I should be pleased to discuss the rarest stamps of Nicaragua, many of which are uncatalogued and unknown. I also have had many requests to write the "Resello, 1927-1928" stamps, the aftermath of the recent Revolution, and which contain many current rare items. Address the writer, Box 16, Station L., New York City.)

NEWFOUNDLAND NOTES

By F. F. WILLS.

The 9c new issue 1928 is now obsolete and unobtainable. This value, with the 30c of the same issue, was placed on sale to replace the 9c and 24c of the old pictorial 1923, when the latter became obsolete.

The other values of the new set have not yet been placed on sale as there are sufficient stocks to supply present needs at the G. P. O. of the old pictorial 1923.

Most of these 9c were postally used, and there are very few mint except those that have them with the other stamps as a complete set.

The whole set is useless without this stamp, and copies will fetch high prices by those desirous of getting the complete set.

I understand that this value will not be re-issued, but there will be a new stamp of a 14c denomination issued to cover foreign postage and registration fee for foreign registered letters.

POLLITZ ENTERS BROWN CO.

Mr. O. F. Pollitz, a long-time advertiser in the WEEKLY, has taken an interest in the Frank P. Brown Co., as indicated elsewhere in this issue. We congratulate Messrs. Kling and Pollitz upon this business partnership. The firm has removed its offices to 44 Bromfield St., and should prove an important factor in Boston stamp trade.

WE are informed by C. D. Reimers that Walter Weber, who has been with the Marks Stamp Co. for nearly ten years, is now with the C. D. Reimers Co., at Fort Worth, Tex. Mr. Weber, who has had considerable experience in handling retail approvals and wantlists, is taking care of these two departments of the firm's business.

ALL ORDERS REC'D LATER THAN JUNE 26TH, WILL NOT BE ATTENDED TO UNTIL MY RETURN FROM THE WEST INDIES AND SOUTH AMERICA ON OR ABOUT JULY 25TH.

SEEING THINGS AT CLEVELAND

Dear Gus:—

Well I did as you said I orter while I was here. I took in that stamp show and got a surprise believe me.

Like anybody that dont know anymore about stamps except that they have paste on the back and that it takes a red one to make a ordinary letter go where you want it to, I figured it was worth two bits to see what sort of looking nuts saved em.

The change out of my four bit piece was gone before I got started on account of a smooth talker sellin me a program; it sure had some funny stuff in it too, one of the first things I hit on was a feller advertising that he didn't want any money, mind you advertising that kind of dope, I hunted around a bit but didnt see no one passing out any money so figured there was a catch in that somewhere. I got to studying for a minute not having met the fellow that didnt want any money and thought I had better look the program over to see where the game started. There was a page about Patrons but I couldn't find nothing about Matrons so figured the party didnt have no chaperone after all; there was a page marked Judges and I thinks this must be some contest sure if it takes 12 fellers to settle the argument; it read more like there might be a trial comin off with the jury all picked in advance.

Over the page in this here program was a hot one, I didnt read it but its marked The Charm of Collecting havin read the notice of the feller that didnt want no money I thinks this here Charmed him to make him that way and so I'll do a little skipping, me wantin all the dough I can get to!

After a while the program begun to clear up for me and I doped it out that all them other pages was tellin what the windows had in em.

Right off the bat the thing describes two little boys named Sid and John as havin a collection A-1 it looked that way to me and the Copper standin by it begun tellin about this and that being worth so many thousand dollars, I had to move on as I couldnt be disrespectful to ôle Jno Law, thinks I that stuffs A-1 at that.

A feller whose daddy must have been a harness maker account his name endin in stirrup I forget the front part of it sure had the stuff like you got only more so. You know that dime stamp thats green you got and always tellin me it was used afore the war, well you want to get next to this feller he must have two peck of em I think likely he'll be willin to swap with you him havin so many.

You know that european country you was showin me, I sure stopped plumb still when I saw that a european country was showin stuff in a lot of them winders the funniest thing was this country havin a first name, it was Alfred I never heard tell of anything like that in the geography I studied so figured I learned somethin there besides seein a heap of pretty stuff.

The program paid a nice compliment to a feller named Alvin, youll see it when I bring it back to you, it says in there Good, Alvin, and his winders did look good to me too; I thought it was right nice of them to come out that way and sort of pat a feller on the back.

I cant write no more account of bein so hot, this is a tough job. I'll tell you the rest after I get back besides I aint feelin so well tonight.

Hoping you are the same

Your friend
A. P.

Our 32nd Auction on April 20th and 27th was a big success with an attendance of 95 the first evening and about 110 the second session and 286 mail bidders, one-half of which obtained lots. Sales were within a few hundred of $10,000.00 and ranged from $2600.00 for Lot No. 1 to $2.25 for lot No. 1205. The floor was remarkably active and some record prices were paid.

Our 33rd Sale Takes Place on Friday, June 22nd
AT 7.30 P. M. in California Room of the Palace Hotel and contains 686 interesting lots, of which nearly 400 are U. S. and include a fine lot of covers, blocks of four and scarce single stamps. There are covers before stamps, battleship cancellations, U. S. covers with colonial cancellations, proofs and trial prints. The foreign section is smaller than usual but with choice items. There is something for every type of collector or dealer in this well-balanced sale. Catalogues free on request if you are not on our list of auction buyers.

PARIS STAMP BOURSE RAIDED

CONTINENTAL HOTEL VISITED BY POLICE WHO SEIZED FOREIGN DEALERS' PROPERTY

By ALBERT H. HARRIS.

Paris, May 17.

Consternation was caused this morning when, within two hours of the commencement of the International Stamp Bourse at the Hotel Continental, a surprise raid was made by a Commissioner of Police accompanied by ten inspectors, who proceeded to demand the production of the "Patent" (or registered authorisation to trade, which is required of all French traders) in order to ascertain whether the fiscal laws were being complied with, both as regards registration and payment of customs duty on stamps imported.

"Patents" Wanted.—All dealers know that there is a duty of 2% on stamps brought here to sell to French dealers, but no prior notice had been given that foreign dealers would be required to take out a "patent" to trade, as this has not been required in the past except of those who make France their habitual residence. A large number of those present being foreigners, the effect of this bombshell was to stop all business, while excited groups discussed the situation, and the police guarded the exit to prevent anyone leaving without a permit.

For the French dealers the matter was simple, but the Commissioner and his assistants took possession of all the stamps they could lay hands on belonging to foreign dealers, handbags and valises were sealed with string and wax, and the owners told to present themselves at the Office of the Ministere de Finance at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. They were then permitted to leave.

Naturally, this high-handed action was much resented, and the Committee held a hurried meeting. Unfortunately, being a fête day, legal advice cannot be obtained, and there is nothing to do but wait on to-morrow's events.

May 18.

Stamps Not Returned.—A crowd of angry stamp dealers waited outside the Commissioner's office in Place St. Sulfrice this morning, while M. Peleeheid, President of the Bourse, assisted by legal advice and members of his committee endeavored to clarify the position. This took the whole of the morning. The outcome was that the price of a Patent was fixed at 1,000 francs (£8 6/8) plus .55 francs Police expenses. A photograph was also required. Those who were able to produce both a photo and 1,000 francs were given their Patent, but their stamps have not been returned, as they have now to prove that they have either paid Customs duty or bought the stamps since their arrival here.

English Dealers' Position.—The position of the English dealers here is quite clear as they came to buy and bro stamps with them. The only stam have are therefore those purchase but the position of some dealer other countries is said to be not so nate. At the moment of writing seized property remains at the M of Finance. Rumours are rampa everyone tells a different story a body really knows what will happe only matter on which everyone is is that the whole affair is a scanc that this Bourse is absolutely w whatever may happen in the fu Philatelic Magazine.

COLUMBUS—EXPLORER

Upon an historic occasion, almost four and a half centuries ago, an obscure explorer named Columbus, dreamer of dreams that seemed never destined to come true, set sail upon a boundless ocean in a frail caravel, the Santa Maria, to discover new worlds. His discoveries of North and South America and the islands of the West Indies changed the maps of the world and wrote the first chapter in an endless new volume of world romance.

Centuries later—despite all the daring explorers who have gone before to the world's far horizons; despite cable and radio, steam, and plane—there remains a voyage to be made to lands of romance, into regions that were ancient when the Christ-child was born at Bethlehem in Judea; a voyage to be undertaken on a craft so frail that it would not sustain the weight of a nail from a single finger of Columbus, the sailor.

On this magic trip we shall touch thousands of ports of fame and fable; we shall meet kings and rickshaw runners; we shall sit with knights of old and Balkan komitadji; we shall meet great lovers, historic haters, bandits, buccaneers, heroes and villains, murderers and martyrs.

Dante in Italy with his own hands will show us his "Divine Comedy," and in Vienna we shall waltz to inspired melodies while Johann Strauss looks on. We shall find Joan of Arc, the fabled maid of Domrémy, not in her native France, but banished into far-distant Indo-China. Christ on the Cross will look down upon us with compassion, not from Gethsemane, but from the Monte de las Cruces in Mexico, largest of the Catholic lands of the Western World.

We shall outsail Columbus mile for mile upon a score of seas. We are off on the first leg of the journey that has never been made before in the life of mankind. We have started to go round the world on postage-stamp, a thin bit of coloured paper rarely more than one inch square.

To what land or port shall we first pay call? It would simplify the trip to visit first the persecuted land of Armenia, southeast of the Black Sea; but, since Armenia lacks a convenient seaport at which a landing can be effected, it may be well to journey first to Spain and observe the efforts of the Italian-born Christopher Columbus to get backing for his voyage to the west from the rulers of three lands—Portugal, Spain, and finally England, still a feudal land, where, at the close of the War of the Roses, Henry VII sat on the throne.

When Columbus sought aid for his expedition from Henry VII, England was trying in vain to conquer France. When John of Portugal rejected the sailor's overtures, he deferred Portuguese opportunities that luckily were to be partially retrieved for his nation by the voyages of Vasco de Gama.

When Isabella of Spain, importuned by a priest to reverse her earlier rejection of Columbus, gave her support to the venture, she laid the basis for Spanish domination of the western world for centuries to come, brought untold wealth to the Spanish crown, and constructed within her own mind a picture of colonial dominion that did not come to Great Britain until the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

So we may start with Isabella and Columbus, even though Spain, land of his adoption, Italy, land of his birth, and Colombia, the South American land later bearing his name, have never to this day, by picture or word or sign, recognised the existence of Columbus in any form of postal issue.

The republic of Dominica (Santo Domingo, discovered by Columbus) depicts on a stamp of 1899 the figure of Toscanelli, the Florentine map-maker. Another stamp of the same land reveals Columbus seeking Spanish support at Salamanca, and being rebuffed because Spain was then embroiled in a war with the Moors a strange reminder of the recent four-year struggle with Abd-el-Krim, ending in 1926 with the Riffian leader's banishment for life to the French colonial possession of Réunion Island, in the Indian Ocean.

25th Anniversary Announcement

During the past six months these little ads have given lists of rare and fine items in U. S. postage stamps which altogether probably comprise a list of unusual or unique items the like of which has never been published by any dealer, anywhere, at any time.

The lists, of course, are not complete. They include only selections here and there from a collection of nearly one hundred volumes, and many items not mentioned are equally rare or equally desirable. Many of these items have been sold and now grace some of the foremost collections in America and the British Isles, but thousands of other beautiful stamps, blocks and covers are still available and want lists are solicited on all general issues after 1856. Five dollar orders receive the same courteous attention given to five thousand dollar orders. The sales referred to, without exception, have been bona fide transfers to new owners. Items for which I could find no buyer and which were returned (I don't say "sold back"), to the original owner are not reckoned as "sales". I have not found it necessary to exaggerate my own importance as a dealer by inflating statements of purchases or sales, nor by distorting facts, nor by committing assault and mayhem on the truth. Rather, I am quite satisfied to let facts speak for themselves, well knowing that he who blinds himself to them makes of himself either a liar or a fool—if not both.

Dealers whose reputation is of value and whose reliability is unquestioned are easily to be found and the wise collector will know how to seek them. I get my share of the good things. My job is to see that my customers get their share of them. If this sort of dealing appeals to you I'll be glad to serve you. [H

EDITORIAL MELANGE

In the absence of Mr. Severn we shall give week by week editorial opinions as expressed by some of the distinguished philatelic editors at home and abroad. This will be a novelty that will be appreciated and Mr. Derek Ingram will have the right of way in the following issue.

EARLIEST POSTMARKS

By HARRY M. KONWISER.

Reading the Cleveland Show number—a good one, by the way—I note your Editorial reference to "early circular form" of postmark, containing name of town as well as date.

It might be pertinent to make mention of the fact that the earliest form of circle, seen in the United States, appears to be as follows:

1787. Philadelphia letter. Small circle, 15mm, with "22" over "NO"—for November 22.

1793. Same style, same size, with "3" over "SE"—for September 3. I have this on a front part of letter written by Alexander Hamilton.

1793. Philadelphia letter, same style, same size, with "17" over "MR"—for March 17.

All of these are in black ink, and follow the style of postmarks used by the English Government, which group had something of a hold on these United States, at that time, as the history book tells us.

I thought possibly you might want to comment on these, to show the FIRST form of circular postmarks used.

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

On July 10th you will have the pleasure of sending Air Mail covers over another new route! Chicago - Cedar Rapids - Des Moines-Omaha-Lincoln, Neb. This service will start on the above date with the Westbound plane out of Chicago at 5.45 A. M., after the arrival of the New York plane. The schedule calls for stops at the above towns and cities, the arrival at Lincoln, Neb., being timed for 10.45 A. M. The return plane will leave Lincoln at 2.45 P. M. and is due in Chicago at 7.30 P. M. in time for the night plane for the East. This courtesy information comes from Mr. W. S. Dochterman of Cedar Rapids, who sends full newspaper accounts.

******

Effective August 1st, the Air Mail rate becomes 5c per ounce. The little old nickel may not buy a good cigar yet, but it certainly will give a whole lot of service to your letters when sent via Air Mail! It is most evident that the Post Office Dept. is in for a whale of a business when the new rate goes into effect. Business concerns who have felt that the old rate was too high for daily use are already making plans for extensive use of the Air Mail after August 1st, and an envelope manufacturer told me today that he has been deluged with requests for information on Air Mail envelope prices in quantity.

******

The 10c Air Mail stamp is now available in booklet form, having been placed on sale for the first time May 26th. I saw one booklet—cancelled at the Mid-Western Philatelic Station—the cancellation having been applied to the two sheets of stamps in the booklet, making a very unique and attractive souvenir.

******

Capt. Kingsford - Smith's tri - motored plane, "Southern Cross," is reputed to be carrying several hundred letters to Australia. Too bad that the bunch of covers that collected in San Francisco last year for the same flight are not aboard.

******

Messrs. Smalley of Detroit and Leonard of the Canal Zone have sent me covers issued by the Canal Zone for Air Mail use. These envelopes are of 2c denomination, printed in red with the customary blue, white and red stripes and an additional card in the lower right hand corner reading "Senders address must be shown on envelope". Apparently, the two cent rate will be for local usage, as the covers received bear the present rate of postage, 10c. The seal of the Canal Zone is effectively used in conjunction with the denomination and the envelope is very attractive.

The establishment of the Newark Air Mail field will speed up the delivery of Air Mail to the New York Post Office a matter of one hour and a half over the present time necessary to convey mail from Hadley Field. Twenty-five minutes will be allowed as against the present time of two hours. The Newark Field is to be dedicated on August 1st next.

The story published under date of May 28th regarding the Air Mail Derby brings a statement from Mr. Donald E. Dickason of Wooster, Ohio, that he has covers antedating the Seattle cover by almost a year. I have seen the covers in question and they bear enough postmarks to satisfy the most rabid Air Mail fan in existence. Total time for trip was 80 days.

******

Mr. Nelson F. Gerken of St. Louis also writes that he has an Air Mail cover sent around the world and that 133 days were necessary for the cover to make the circuit. Mr. Gerken also states that an ordinary cover, sent around the world, not by Air Mail, only took 84 days, 15 hours and 45 minutes as against 78 days, 1 hour and 30 minutes for the Seattle cover, which was carried by Air Mail at different points.

******

The sweetest cover I have received in many a day arrived June 5th from Paris. It is in commemoration of Lindbergh's flight to Paris and bears a wonderful cachet. Whoever got up the design certainly did a nice job. The background is the Lucky Lindy horse-shoe, with the centre surmounted by a small map of Lindy's route. Capping the map is an eagle in flight and the wording reads "Aviation Day in U. S. A.—Lindbergh—Anniversary of First Flight New York to Paris. Mailed from Paris 21 May 1928.". I am going to hazard the guess that this will be one of the most popular covers ever sent out on an anniversary and that the demand will exceed the supply. Unfortunately, whoever sent it to me failed to include his name in the cover, otherwise I would not hesitate to give him some free advertising! Boy! It's a HONEY!

******

I am indebted to Messrs. Leve, Smalley (several), Stuber, Leonard and others for covers, clippings and items of interest. Their co-operation is greatly appreciated and is partly responsible for making this column interesting. What are YOU doing to help?

******

Before somebody begins to razz me about my statement in regard to Schenectady not despatching Air Mail to Albany on the First Flight of CAM No. 20, I am going to speak up in meetin' and tell you that two days after my copy had gone, I received a letter from Postmaster Conde of Schenectady stating that he had received telegraphic notice from Washington that the East-bound plane would pick up mail for Albany ON THE FIRST TRIP ONLY. So, if you were fortunate enough to have covers on this flight, addressed from Schenectady to Albany, you have some mighty good ones.

ISSUES OF MEXICO 1923 TO DATE

By Victor M. Suarez.

Since 1923 when Mexico changed the designs of its postage stamps, we have seen them on all the regular issues of this country and probably we will see them for some years in the future.

The first issue where appeared the new designs was that of early months of 1923, consisting of seven values: 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 20 and 30c, printed on unwatermarked paper, rouletted 14½, and three values: 40 and 50c, and 1 peso, on watermarked paper "Mexico Correos," perforated 12½.

The designs of these stamps were as follows:

2c carmine, Colonial Fountain.
3c brown, Pyramid of the Sun, San Juan Teotihuacan.
4c green, Castle of Chapultepec (The White House of Mexico).
5c orange, Columbus Memorial in Mexico City.
10c brown, Hemiciclo Juarez.
20c dark blue, Josefa O. de Dominguez Memorial.
30c dark green, Cuauhtemoc Memorial.
40c violet, Map of Mexico.
50c bistre-brown, Palace of the Secretary of "Comunicaciones."
1 peso red and blue, National Theatre, Mexico City.

At the end of 1923 the 10c stamp was replaced by another 10c red-brown stamp, with the design of the 30c stamp. It was printed on unwatermarked paper.

Second Issue. — According as these stamps were exhausted at the Post Offices new stamps were issued from 2 to 30c, printed on watermarked paper "Mexico Correos," all rouletted except the 30c stamp which have a perforation 12½. The only change in design was that of the 30c stamp where the Cuauhtemoc Memorial was substituted by the Hemicilo Juarez, depicted by the first time on the 10c stamp. The 4c stamp on watermarked paper and perforated 12½ must be included also in this second issue.

In January, 1925, a new stamp depicting the Morelos Memorial at Mexico City, was issued to raise funds for the campaign against the locust. The use of this stamp, valued 1 cent, was made obligatory for all letters for inland service. It was printed first on watermarked paper "Mexico Correos," rouletted 14½. Soon after appeared on unwatermarked paper.

In December, 1926, was issued a new series of these stamps, consisting of 4 values: 1, 2, 5 and 10c, like those of the preceding issues, printed on perforated paper 12½. They were sold only in booklets valued 50c and 1 peso accordingly to the number of stamps contained in them.

All these stamps are still in circulation, except the 4c, where instead of the Castle of Chapultepec we have now a design all alike to that of the 5c stamp. It was issued in August, 1927.

This same year a new value, 8c, was issued, when inland and foreign postal rates were reduced (January, 1927). On this stamp is depicted don Benito Juarez, a Mexican ruler of the nineteen century. It was printed on watermarked paper Correos Mexico, rouletted 14½. As the postal rates had been increased last January, the General Post Master has decided to discontinue the printing of these stamps.

In March, 1924, when Yucatan and Campeche were occupied by the revolutionary army of don Adolfo de la Huerta, the 5 and 10c stamps being exhausted, were substituted by two new stamps issued by the provisional government: 5c violet depicting an ancient maya idol, and 10c carmine with a design representing the ruins of Chichen Itza. It is known also a 50c gray stamp; but it was never put in sale. These stamps were issued on thick paper, both rouletted and imperforated varieties, and there are some varieties with machine perforation. They were withdrawn as soon as the revolutionary forces left those States, being destroyed by the national postal authorities. Notwithstanding, these stamps are catalogued only in two or three stamp catalogues, they have a real philatelic value, as they have been issued and used for postal service.

In connection with the Second Pan-American Postal Congress celebrated in Mexico City in October, 1926, the Government issued eight special stamps intended to commemorate this event. They were printed on watermark paper Mexico Correos, having a perforation 12½.

The designs and colours were as follows:

2c carmine, Allegorical design.
4c green, Map of America.
5c orange, Same as 2c.
10c red, Map. Same as 4c.
20c blue, Don Francisco Garcia Santos.
30c green, Don Francisco Garcia Santos.
40c violet, Don Francisco Garcia Santos.
1 peso red-brown and gray bluish, General Post Office Building.

As these stamps were exhausted very soon a second printing was made in a larger number. The only difference in these two printings is the 1 peso variety brown and blue.

Other Services.—Meantime the current stamps were issued on watermarked paper, the 20c special delivery stamp was also issued in this way.

Later in 1927 the 50c red and blue stamp for Air Mail Service issued some years ago on unwatermarked paper, appeared on watermarked paper.

Some magazines chronicle some Mexican stamps surcharged Oficial. These stamps have not any value as they have not been issued by any postal authority.

SWEDISH PHILATELIC AGENCY

We are indebted to Hans Lagerloef for the information that the Swedish Government has established a Philatelic Agency after the style of the one existing in Washington established by our Postmaster General. The Agency will take pains to deliver well-centered stamps, and a circular is at hand giving the particulars of the King Gustaf V commemorative issue celebrating His Majesty's 70th birthday on June 16. The five stamps are shown in the colors in which they will be printed. Address Philatelic Agency, Post Office, Stockholm 2, Sweden.

5c Air Mail

—New Rate on Air Mail Will Be Effective August 1 With New Stamp.

WASHINGTON, June 11. — Effective Aug. 1, the new rate on air mail postage will be 5 cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each additional ounce. Postmaster General New has ordered a new 5-cent air mail stamp issued.

This action was taken by Mr. New under authority of the Kelly bill passed at the recent session of Congress, providing for a reduction in the rates on letter and package mail carried by airplane.

It has been variously estimated that through this reduction the business of the air mail will increase from 100 to 800 per cent. Mr. New regards it as the most forward step taken by his department in the development of this service.

Next—Air Mail Towers

A French engineer, M. Lardat, has proposed a series of towers to expedite the speedy transmission of mail matter. M. Lardat proposes that torpedoes be shot, on monorails, between these towers.

In the sweet bye-and-bye you will no longer say, "Did you get the letter I wrote you?" Your question will be, "Did you receive the letter I shot you?" and the answer, "Yes, and I torpedoed an answer right away. These mail clerks need more target practice. That's the third letter of mine they have misfired this week."—Front Rank.

Chang Tso-lin Issue

Out of the maze of Chinese disruption there comes the first commemorative series since 1923, when the Temple of Heaven stamps were issued to mark the tenth year of the Chinese Republic. Through all the confused conflicts of the past few years the ordinary stamp issues, printed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Peking, have suffered little change, and only in a very few cases have provisional expedients had to be resorted to in distant provinces, where stamp supplies have been temporarily exhausted.

For a day and a half during the strike in Shanghai last March, the Shanghai Municipal Council, which in earlier times conducted a regular postal service, set up an emergency postal service, using the current English stamps, which are recognisable by the cancellations of the British Field Post Office, which were used for the occasion.

The new commemorative series, engraved and printed in Peking, presents a portrait of the victorious Marshal Chang Tso-lin, now in power at the capital of the former Empire. At the sides of the portrait oval are the ripe ears of corn often used on Chinese stamps since 1911 to typify the fruition of revolutionary aspirations. The Marshal is a little man, 5ft. high, and weighing but 6st. Lady Hosie describes him as 53 years of age, of mild manners and gentle face, but a stern autocrat. In early life he was a bandit in the Manchurian hills, but became Governor of Manchuria after the Russo-Japanese war. Early in 1926 he evicted the "Christian General," Feng Yu-hsiang, from Peking, and has been one of the strongest opponents of Russian ambitions in China.

The Chang Tso-lin series comprises four values, all in the same design, 1 cent orange, 4 cent sage-green, 10 cents blue, and 1 dollar red. They were issued on March 1st in the Marshal's old province of Manchuria, and I am indebted to Messrs. Whitfield King and Co. for the earliest specimens. The stamp bears an overprint of four Chinese characters over the ears of corn, denoting that they are for use in Manchuria; but there will be sets without overprint for China proper, and other overprinted sets for use in Sinkiang and Yunnan. As I have had previous occasion to explain, the variation in currency values in different provinces of China make it necessary thus to earmark stamps sold in one province in such a way that they cannot be trafficked in by exporting to other provinces.—Postage Stamp.

Hints and Helps

In Scott's catalogue the white lines of the defacing scratches have nearly covered up the distinguishing characteristics of Rhodesia types A4 and A7. In order to distinguish easily between them, let the collector remember that in type A7 the ribbon curves in front of the animals' hind legs and that it passes behind them in the other case.

* * *

The stamps of Southern Rhodesia and the last issue for Rhodesia are quite similar. Collectors can easily classify them if they watch for the country name at the bottom of the stamps. Those for Northern Rhodesia will not be confused with the other two mentioned as the design is distinctive for that country.

* * *

Get acquainted with other collectors in your town, talk stamps, compare notes on them, get your friends together into a club if there isn't one already. It is lots more fun than trying to go it alone. If you have no nearby collector friends, get them interested by giving them your duplicates.

* * *

Don't fill your collection with a mess of junk. Buy only good quality stamps. It is far better to buy one perfect stamp for ten cents than it is to buy ten poor ones for five cents. Real rarities at bargain prices may be all right as "space fillers," but there is no excuse for putting poor copies of common stamps into any album.

* * *

The best collections are not made in one evening nor in a few scattered evenings when you don't happen to like the particular movie show that happens to be on. Collect and study your stamps and keep on collecting and you will surprise yourself in a few years as to the size of your collection. Many collectors find it very interesting to count their stamps about every three months and keep a record of the progress from one count to the next. Try it.—A. C. LeDuc.

LABRADOR DOG MAILS

Only Means of Winter Communica Through 700 Miles of Iceboun Territory.

By S. TANNER GREEN.

No branch of humanly devised act embraces so wide a range of mean transport as that of the post office. In e clime the methods are made to con to the easiest, effective mode of tra Every sort of carrier, from the o liner, the railway train, aeroplane, a mobile, stage, horseback, foot runn used, and last, but not least in useful the dog team. This traverses the l ice-bound shores in winter, north o Gulf of St. Lawrence, from the st onward to within 226 miles of Qu City.

Dog-team mail transport is little kn except to those immediately inter and wholly dependent upon it to municate, in wintertime, with the ou world. In the winter of 1925-26 a terprising individual, thoroughly fam with what obtains in that region, some special covers prepared, which i ocular manner show how the arduo accomplished mail service function that isolated Canadian tract.

The covers themselves, bearing as do a dog-team design and the inscri "Par cometique," "By Labrador dog- post," were not officially issued by Canadian Post Office, but are the of embossed stamped envelopes in cu use, to which the design, in printing been added outside post office preci but inasmuch as they are properly paid the regular rates of postage, r tered or ordinary, and since they over the route in the regular mail their several destinations, they are a uine record in every other sense.

Caches of Food. — The tract Lourdes du Blanc Sablon, the eastern extremity of Canadian postally contr territory, to Betsiamites, a distanc 717 miles, has, apart from the teleg no other means of communication the dog teams. There, with their h mushers (drivers), humble and unkr heroes, ply to and fro fortnightly bet Betsiamites and Havre St. Pierre, times from there to Natashquan, and times each way beyond. For blizz and other climatic disturbances hol dread. When caught far from reg shelter, mail drivers merely dig th selves in as best they can, possibly having the dogs lie upon then to cons the animal heat of their collective bo Whenever heavy snowfalls occur, mushers trudge along on their snows ahead of their teams, beating a s blance of a path along which the can with their loaded cometiques (so the sleds are called) follow.

Apart from the several large lum ing establishments in operation on nearer shore, the territory traverse inhabited by scattered groups. On easternmost sectors it is necessary to caches of frozen fish, seal or poss whalemeat to feed the ravenous hus at nightfall, because the dogs get t meal only after the work of the da done.

The people of the north shore of Gulf of St. Lawrence are mostly ha fishermen. Almost all of the Indian winter go into the interior in their suit of pelts, and the Eskimos do not habit so far south. The far east shores are devoid of timber, though th are, it seems, virgin spruce forests tremendous waterfalls some distance land.

The inhabitants are in large majo of French-speaking origin, though th is a considerable sprinkling of Engl ging fishermen from Newfoundland uting at the better fishing posts near-ne Straits

Man and Beast Rough It.—In caring the mail, the same dog teams do travel from end to end of the long ute; it is divided into regular sections, hat when the mail arrives it is taken ard uninterruptedly and keeps on go-day by day, and week by week, until gs to its designated place. Thus the ons are:

des du Blanc Sablon to Harrington 147 miles ington Harbor to Natashuan 120 miles
shquan to Havre St.
Pierre 100 miles
re St. Pierre to Seven Islands 140 miles n Islands to Pointe des Monts 111 miles
e des Monts to Betsiamites 99 miles

Betsiamites the mail takes stage for miles to the end of C.N.R.'s steel at ay Bay, whence the rest of the by rail is easy.

w many of those who have received er from that far-off region have ed the labour and hardship entailed transportation? Have they thought w, in the clear air of a winter's ng, with sparkling snow like minia-diamonds all about, the dog teams, after a night's rest, bound yelping rd? Have they thought of the ing clouds, fierce winds and biting which render it almost impossible an and beast to face its cutting

At other times a thaw occurs, that had been frozen are unbridged t mushers and dogs are compelled or what they did for Philately in rly days.

ny of my friends here tell me that ppreciate the notes I am pulbishing
"Great Philatelists of the Past"
I knew personally, and often in-ly, and this must be my excuse for hing a few more notes on others friends of days long gone by.

Castle was born in Westminster, n, on the 28th of October, 1849.
vas educated at King's College l and has stated that he commenced lect stamps about 1863 while there.
wards he went to Merton College,
1866 to Frankfort-on-the-Main to German. While in this latter town st collection was stolen from him.
37 he returned to England and en-in the brewery trade in which he a comfortable fortune. After his ge in 1873 he again commenced to and after the loss of his wife in ook up stamps seriously as an en-ng pursuit for solitary hours.

1879 he was elected a Member of hilatelic Society, London, and in succeeded Mr. Tapling as Viceident. In April, 1913, on the death e late Earl of Crawford, he was ted President and held that hon-position until his death on March 17.

en I first knew Mr. Castle, about he resided at Brighton, which had his home for many years. About
I settled in Sevenoaks in Kent my friend, Mr. Castle, very frey spent week-ends with me. He this garden spot of England so that eventually he also bought a at Sevenoaks, and we were close bors and intimate friends for the f his life.

many many years there were two in England pre-eminent as Philatand both pre-eminent as writers, authors, and students of our hobby. I refer to Mr. E. D. Bacon, and to the late Mr. M. P. Castle.

I think that these two men have done more than anyone else with whom I am acquainted, for the spread of knowledge as regards the science of stamp collecting.

In 1891 the Philatelic Society started a monthly journal so well known as the London Philatelist. For about twenty-five years Mr. Castle not only edited, but produced the journal, under an agreement with the Society, entirely on his own responsibility, and writing a large portion of the contents of each number himself. As Mr. Bacon says, "In these 25 volumes he has raised a monument to himself which will endure as long as Philately continues."

Mr. Castle was one of the original members of the Expert Committee and was undoubtedly one of the finest judges on that important tribune. I saw a great deal of the working of this committee as the fortnightly meetings were held in one of the Directors Rooms in Stanley Gibbons office, because there they had available the great reference collection of the firm and a stock of almost any country to refer to in case of doubt. No one was more conscientious and thorough in the close examination of stamps than my late friend, and I know how very difficult it has been to replace him and the other great Philatelists who have passed away.

As a collector Mr. Castle was omniferous. He went through all the phases from the school boy collection up to the general collection and then through specialism in many different branches. Mr. Castle loved the pursuit more than the possession. As soon as he got a country or a group of countries as complete as he could make it and found that he was not getting material as fast as he could wish, he used to realize this country or group and take up another one.

On very many occasions he discussed with me the question of "Stamps as an Investment" and I can state absolutely and beyond any doubt that he told me that every collection he had sold he had sold wisely and to considerable advantage, and only shortly before his death he told me one day that he believed he had made as much out of postage stamps as he had made in his brewery. He had the intuition to buy the right sort of stuff—to buy in bulk—never to be afraid of paying a good price for a fine piece or a fine collection. His collections were always made with a view to study, and were always used by him to give information to his fellow philatelists, chiefly through the columns of the London Philatelist, through the scores of all important articles that he wrote.

I have no record of the early collections that Mr. Castle disposed of, but about 1888 he sold a very large general collection to Mr. Stanley Gibbons, and some of the books of this collection were still in the stock of that firm when I bought the business in June, 1890.

Mr. Castle then turned to forming a specialized collection of Australia. This I bought from him some years later for the sum of $50,000, and it may interest American collectors to know that a large portion of this collection is still in America in the well known collection of Mr. William H. Crocker of San Francisco, to whom I sold most of the New South Wales plates and other fine things on my first visit to San Francisco about 1907.

After Mr. Castle disposed of his collection of Australian stamps he started to gather together a collection of the whole of Europe, specializing in unused stamps, and seeking for blocks and sheets of the older issues. He worked on this collection for many years and he and I took a number of trips to Germany and France hunting for specimens and having a most enjoyable time together in our search and chase.

We had many joint speculations. Mr. Castle was always willing to finance a big deal if he could have first choice and get out of it what he wanted for his European collection. I remember very well that he did this with the famous "Winzer Collection" of Dresden, a description of which will be found in a monograph I published for Stanley Gibbons many years ago.

The collection of European stamps became so big, for those days, that Mr. Castle used to wonder who would be able to buy it, but one day my partner, the late Mr. Hamilton Smith, was visiting Mr. Castle at Brighton, and in the course of conversation said, "Mr. Castle, would you sell your collection for cash down? I have a customer who I am sure would like to buy it." Mr. Castle told me afterwards he was considerable surprised and named what he thought was a very great price, namely $135,000. In a week from that meeting, he had a check for the full amount and the collection passed into the hands of our friend, the late Mr. W. W. Mann.

It may interest my readers to know how this collection was finally dispersed. The collection was so complete when Mr. Mann bought it that in five or six years he added very little to it, and he got quite tired of it. He then came to me and sold me the collection almost as he had bought it for the sum of $160,000. A description of this collection will be found in an old volume of the Monthly Journal.

After Mr. Castle had sold his Europeans, he turned for a while to various countries in which he thought there was good work to be done. Among these I can well remember Trinidad was one, and he made a considerable study of the blue lithographed stamp and I remember that he reconstructed a plate of the last printing. He also took considerable interest in the stamps of British Guiana, and attempted to work out the arrangement of the transfers and varieties in the issues of the 1c and 4c of 1853 to 1860, a work that I do not think has yet been finished owing possibly to the lack of material. These smaller collections he gradually disposed of, and thus turned again, once more, to his old love, Australia. This he also sold to my firm, and he then took up Mauritius, Ceylon, and other countries of which I have no record over here.

Altogether I consider Mr. Castle one of the giants of British Philately. The man loved his stamps—he studied them—he wrote on them—and he liked nothing better than to have his friends visit him and spend week-ends comparing their mutual treasures. He was one of the real giants of Philately of Great Britain whom it has proved very difficult, if not impossible, to replace.—Philatelic Classics.

STILL BUYING U. S.

At the Cleveland Exhibition, I had the pleasure of purchasing some very choice and unusual items but promptly upon my return to Philadelphia, these were sent out and mostly sold, immediately. My business has grown to such proportions that it is difficult indeed to keep rarities and unusual items on hand. In order to take care of my clients and keep my stock up to its present high standard, it is necessary to constantly purchase fine individual items and collections.

If you have anything in the way of choice United States, especially rare mint singles and blocks, as well as covers, it will be to your advantage to communicate with me, as I am purchasing the finest things being offered in the way of United States emissions, of both the postal and revenue issues.

It is preferred in submitting stamps that a price be placed upon them, but under certain conditions, I will be glad to make offers and please remember that when I purchase and a price is agreed upon that a check is mailed immediately.

Quite often the owner of a large property prefers to sell upon a commission basis. In such a case, I will gladly arrange satisfactory terms, with remittances monthly for sales made. The very best of banking, commercial and philatelic references will be gladly furnished.

To those desiring the very choice items in the way of United States issues from the commonest to the great rarities, will find my stock a treasure ground of choice specimens. Correspondence solicited with the really interested collector.

New 5c Air Mail Stamp

The Kelly Bill relating to the air mail, which was described in this column some weeks back, finally passed Congress in a modified form and has received the approval of the President. As a result, under date of June 1st, I had the pleasure of receiving the following telegram from the Second Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. W. Irving Glover. "Effective August first air mail rate will be five cents an ounce and ten cents for each ounce thereafter. There will also be a new five cent air mail stamp available at that time." It is expected that this reduced rate will greatly increase the use of the air mail service.

Mr. Glover further writes that at the present time there is no thought of having a special cancellation on the day this new rate takes effect. However, the subject will be given consideration and if it is decided to use special markings our readers will be given further details.

At this writing, it has not been decided as to either the design of the new five cent stamp nor have they considered the advisability of changing any of the other denominations. We will probably end up by having a five cent stamp similar in size to the current design, printed in a different color—the design to be decided upon within the next few days.

New Special Handling Stamps

The Greist Bill also received the approval of the President, and as a result the current 25-cent special handling stamp will be discontinued as there will be no use for it, and new stamps in denominations of 10c, 15c and 20c will be available and placed on sale for the first time at the Philatelic Agency in Washington, on June 25, 1928. These three Special Handling stamps will be identical in color, size and design as the current special handling stamp and will show the new figures in the center.

Further Washington News

The Greist Bill also calls for a revision in the special delivery charges wherein under certain conditions the fees will amount to 25 cents and 35 cents. At the present time, they are not contemplating issuing new stamps in these denominations, as the two rates can be made up by using the 15 cent special delivery with the 10 cent, and the 15 cent with the 20 cent. Quite likely, later on stamps of the higher denominations will, no appear.

The new Bill also changes the charges on private postal cards to 1 which will do away with the necess the large use of the 2 cent stamp o class of mail matter. As a resul hundred million 1 cent stamps have ordered from the Bureau which is two months supply.

The demand for the Valley emission has been exceedingly larg fifty million additional copies have ordered, so that the total issue amount to one hundred million, m it, if I recall correctly, the largest memorative issue with the excepti the 2c Sesqui-Centennial issue.

The Valley Forge stamp is m with the approval of the postal clerl the sheets are the same size and c the same number of stamps as the mal variety.

ANNOUNCE THE PURCHASE OF

A superb mint collection of 9 volumes of Scott's International Loose Leaf Album, as follows:—

Part I	19th Century, 2 vols., 6,000 varieties listing	$ 6,000
Part II	1901-1920, 4 vols., 12,000 varieties listing	12,000
Part III	1920-1928, 3 vols., 12,000 varieties listing	11,000

This collection we are now going to break up and we shall be glad to send any part of same to serious collectors on approval at extremely liberal discounts varying with the amount of the purchase. Every stamp in superb mint condition and many rarities will herein be found.

U. S. COLLECTION

Over 650 varieties mounted in Scott's Loose Leaf International Album. Contains many scarce stamps such as 1847 5 & 10c; 1857 5c red brown & 24c; 1861 5c buff, unused 24c red lilac, 90c; 1867 24c; 1869 1c to 24c; 1871, 1c to 90c complete, the 30c and 90c being very fine unused copies; 1887 90c; Columbian Issue complete except for the $3 stamp; 1894 1c to $1 mint; 1895 complete to $5; 1916 $2 and $5 mint; 1917 5c error perf. 10 mint; $2 & $5 1918 mint; $5 1923 mint; fine Depts., etc., etc.

No damaged stamps are included, nor telegrams or cut squares; every stamp being in good condition, the 20th Century stamps being almost entirely mint. A wonderful start for a U. S. Collector.

Lists $1100 Our net price only ..... $375.

N. B. Last time we advertised a similar collection we had to disappoint several customers. Remember, first check gets it.

B. B.

(Brown's Bulletin)

Many of you remember this famous bulletin which we issued several years ago and which proved so popular. It is again our intention to issue this and we shall be glad to send this to anyone requesting same. This will contain news and timely notes of interest, together with special offers. The latter will be stamps which we have bought at exceptionally advantageous prices which we will give B. B. subscribers advantage of.

Subscription price — ——— — Your Good Will

APPROVALS BY COUNTRIES

We are making up our Brown Books into Books by countries. We also have several volumes of collections by countries and groups of countries listing several thousand dollars which will be sent on approval to responsible parties. Let us know in what you are interested.

WANT LISTS

Gladly filled. Used or unused, 19th or 20th, common or rare stamps. We have a large stock of mint 20th Century Br. Colonials and can supply most of them at 50% discount. May we have your list?

NEW ISSUE SERVICE

The only one in New England, and one of the few in the U. S. supplying all countries. New stamps will be distributed to customers as they appear at a small percentage over face. We distributed to our subscribers the 10/- and £1 St. Kitts at face plus, which now list $40 and $60. Likewise the 45pi, 10/- and £1 Cyprus which now list $45, $45 and $100. At the time the 1/- Barbados No. 159 was selling for $2 (it became obsolete as soon as issued), we distributed same at 32c, thus keeping faith with our customers. Subscribe now!

Rate: 3c per d, 32c per 1/-, and $6.00 per £

AUCTIONS

Our next sale takes place June 25. Are you on our mailing list? If not, drop us a line and we shall be glad to place you there.

We are now booking material for future sales and if you have a collection or single rare stamps you wish to dispose of at auction, write us.

Since Nov. 14, 1924, when we again entered the auction field after several years' absence, we have held twenty sales, which have realized over $100,000. We have established many records and have thousands of pleased buyers and sellers in U. S. and Canada as well as foreign countries.

May we not serve you?

SCANDINAVIA

Through our connection with A. B. Harry Wennberg, the well-known Swedish Dealers, we can supply almost everything in Denmark, Finland, Iceland and Danish West Indies and everything in Sweden. Approvals or want lists.

For anything pertaining to stamps, write us.

ARE YOU STARTING TO COLLECT

British Colonials? Then you will surely need an approval selection from us. Every stamp is a picked copy in perfect condition. Every stamp is worth buying, because we do not offer rubbishy sets which can never appreciate in value. By asking us to send a selection you are not bound in any way to buy; but we think you will want to. Many thousands of collectors all over the world eagerly await the regular arrival of our approvals, which enable them to spend so many happy hours with their hobby.

Our terms are reasonable. Here is an example taken at random from the many thousands of sheets which we are constantly circulating. The stamps are mint, the numbers Scott's 1928.

treaty giving both countries the 2 cent rate.

The Third Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. R. S. Regar, under date of May 31st, instructs postmasters having an over supply of ½c stamps on hand to report the quantity to the Department in excess of an estimated year's supply. As most of the 1 cent envelopes on hand have been surcharged 1½c, the necessity of the further use of this stamp is naturally exceedingly small. The initial supply printed has been ample to take care of all requirements, so that a second printing has never been necessary.

Andorra.—Mr. R. Roberts reports that he has received the following current stamps of Spain with the surcharge "Correos Andorra" in two lines, the words being underlined with a bar, with a small ornamentation each side of "Correos" excepting the 20c Urgente stamp: 2c sage-green (red), 5c crimson (blk.), 10c green (red), 15c blue-green (red), 20c violet (red), 25c carmine (blk.), 30c sepia (red), 40c blue (red), 50c orange (blk.), 1P slate (red), 4P carmine lake (blk.), 10P brown (blk.), 20c rose, Express letter, overprinted in black.

Belgium.—Stamp Collecting reports that the Belgian press discloses the somewhat disquieting news that an entirely new series of stamps, now under consideration, is to include high values such as 20, 30, 50 and 100 francs in addition to the various denominations of the current set.

Federated Malay States.—Mr. R. Roberts has shown us the 10c deep ultramarine and black, 12c deep ultramarine and 50c brownish-orange and black, all script watermark. These are all new shades for these values.

France.—Whitfield King & Co. send copies of the 1fr50c, 8fr50c blue Sinking Fund stamps which they advise are to be withdrawn from sale. The stamp is of oblong format and has the words "Caisse D'Amortissement" at the top with the value in the lower left corner and the added one in the lower right. A man and woman of France make the central figures, with the name of the country on the left panel and "Postes" on the right.

Gwalior.—Mr. R. Roberts submits for chronicle the 1a brown, 2a violet, 3a blue, 4a olive, 2R carmine and orange ordinary stamps, and the 1a brown, 2a violet, 1R brown and green Service stamps, Nasik printing overprinted at Nasik.

Liberia.—Mr. R. A. Moll sends us copies of five new stamps of this country. The 1c green, 2c grey-lilac, 3c olive-brown are all of the same design and picture three native trees in the centre with the country's name at the top in a curved frame. The figures of value are at each side in the lower part of the stamp with the value at the base in letters. The 5c light and dark blue pictures a map of Africa with the location of the country marked thereon. Mr. Moll also submits a copy of the same type of stamp in a 15c value in lilac with the surcharge "Official Service" in two lines in red. Also a 10c olive, stamp bearing the portrait of the same gentleman that appears on the 5 and 10c values of the 1923 series. This stamp is of somewhat smaller size measuring 23 x 26mm.

Persia.—Copies of the 3ch yellow green re-engraved stamp of the current issue are to hand from Whitfield King & Co.

Poland.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us a sheet of two of the Warsaw Exhibition stamps. The color is sepia and at the left is the 50gr with a portrait of Pilsudski, while to the right is the 1zl with the likeness of Moscieka with "Warszawa" and "1928" in two lines in perforated space between.

St. Helena.—Mr. C. I. Crowell writes us as follows:—A great deal of confusion has resulted from the c ing rumors that have been circula reference to the St. Helena 7/6 sir Scott Co. deleted the price on this I have just received a cable from Godden, Ltd., of London, that this has been officially obsolete for a of two months. Establishment Canal Zone Postal System, 1904

By HARRY E. HUBER.

After their liberation from Spanish rule on Nov. 28, 1821, the Isthmian provinces of Veraguas and Panama joined the Colombian Confederation as the Department of the Isthmus, and continued as a part of it until the revolution of November 3, 1903. The formal declaration of independence was made November 4th, when the Municipal Council of the City of Panama met, and after a discussion of the events of the preceding day unanimously voted that Panama should be declared a free and independent republic. This resolution was ratified at a mass meeting of the people of Panama City held that afternoon at 3 o'clock in Cathedral Plaza, and nine days later, the new republic was recognised by the United States.

By a treaty between the two Governments, signed November 18, 1903, the U. S. acquired the right to construct a canal across the Isthmus, and a strip of land ten miles wide (five miles on either side of the proposed Canal route), excluding the terminal cities of Panama and Colon, except in matters of sanitation and quarantine. For this Panama received 10 million dollars, and an annual payment of $250,000, after nine years. The treaty was ratified by the U. S. Senate, February 23, 1904, and proclaimed February 26th.

The purchase of the Canal properties was completed on April 23rd, by the payment of $40,000,000 to the French Canal Co., and on May 4th, at 7.30 a. m., at the French Administration Building in Panama City, formal transfer of them was made to Lt. Mark Brooke, U. S. A., who had been delegated by the U. S. Government to receive them in its name. On May 7th, the French Co. transferred 68,887 of the 70,000 shares of the Panama R. R. Co. stock to the authorised agent of the U. S. Government.

Six days after the ratification of the Canal treaty by the U. S. Senate, President Roosevelt appointed an Isthmian Canal Commission, of seven members, who were duly confirmed by the Senate on March 3rd. On May 9th the President issued an Executive Order placing the work of the Isthmian Canal Commission, both in the construction of the Canal and in the exercise of governmental powers, in the Canal Zone, under the supervision and direction of the Secretary of War (William H. Taft). In the same order power was given to the Commission to legislate and Maj. General George W. Davis, U. S. A., a member of the Commission, was appointed Governor of the Canal Zone. Gov. Davis entered upon his duties on May 17th and two days later issued a proclamation announcing to the people of the Canal Zone that he had assuumed the government of their territory by order of the President of the U. S. On June 16th an agreement was signed with the officials of the Panama Government containing a provisional delimitation of the Zone as described in the Canal treaty.

By sections 1 and 2, of Order 551, dated June 2nd, 1904, of the Postmaster General of the U. S., H. C. Payne, the domestic rates of postage were made to apply to or from all possessions of the U. S. named in section 3—

"3.—In this order, Hawaii and Porto Rico are included in the term 'United States'; and the Philippine Archipelago, Guam, Tutuila (including all adjacent islands of the Samoan group, which are possessions of the United States), and the Canal Zone, are included in the term 'Possessions of the United States.' The term 'Canal Zone' includes all the territory purchased of Panama, comprising the 'Canal Zone' proper, and the islands in the Bay of Panama named Perico, Naos, Culebra and Flamenco."

The postal system of the Canal Zone was inaugurated by an Executive Order of June 24, 1904—

"War Department, Washington,
June 24, 1904.

To the Chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission:—

Sir:—

The necessities of the inhabitants and the due administration of the affairs of government in the Canal Zone at Panama require the establishment of post offices and postal service in that territory.

It is therefore ordered: That a Post Office be established in each of the following named towns of the Canal Zone, to wit: Cristobal, Gatun, Bohio, Gorgona, Bas Obispo, Empire, Culebra, La Boca and Ancon.

The Post Offices at Cristobal and Ancon shall be Money Order Offices.

The Governor of the Canal Zone is hereby authorised to appoint Postmasters for the Post Offices herein established and fix the compensation therefor, subject to the approval of the Isthmian Canal Commission.

ALL PRICES CANCELLED

Pursuant to the terms set forth on the front inside cover page of my 1928 price list, all prices quoted in that list are cancelled as of July 1st. The reason for this will be apparent when one considers that I issue my list each fall and that nine months see price changes in any line of business. However, a large percentage of the prices will continue good until my 1929 list is ready in October.

Just order from the list as formerly but include a supplemental list of from 50 to 75 per cent of the total amount of your order. That will give me the opportunity of selecting stamps the prices of which have not been changed. [56

H. F. COLMAN

509 Seventh St., N. W. H. A. ROBINETTE (Successor) Washington, D. C.

The Governor of the Canal Zone is directed to formulate a plan for a practical and efficient postal service in said Canal Zone, and including such measures and provisions of the postal service of the United States as are not inapplicable to the conditions of law and fact existing in the Canal Zone, and to report said plan to the Chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission for such action as the discretion of the Commission shall approve.

Pending the establishment of the postal service by an act of the Commission or other competent authority, the Governor of the Canal Zone is hereby authorised to establish Post Offices at such additional places in the Canal Zone as in his judgment the interests of the public require, and to appoint Postmasters therefor and fix their compensation subject to the approval or other action thereon by the Isthmian Canal Commission.

The Governor of the Canal Zone is also authorised to adopt and enforce such temporary rules, regulations, provisions and requirements as may be necessary to secure a practical and efficient postal service in said Canal Zone; and to employ such temporary assistants and employees as the exigencies of the service require.

By direction of the President.

Signed, WM. H. TAFT,
Secretary of War."

The Treasurer of the Canal Zone, Paymaster E. C. Tobey, U. S. N., was delegated by the Governor to supervise the opening of Post Offices, and the operation of the postal system.

"Executive Office, Canal Zone,
CULEBRA, June 24th, 1904.

Paymaster E. C. Tobey, U. S. N., Treasurer of the Canal Zone, is charged with the work of establishment and operation of the Postal Service in the Canal Zone.

He will issue instructions from time to time as may be necessary. All postmasters, mail messengers and mail superintendents will report to Paymaster Tobey.

The accompanying notice is published for the information of all concerned. It will be posted in a conspicuous place in each Post Office.

Signed, GEORGE W. DAVIS, Governor."

Although only nine offices are mentioned in the Executive Order, ten Post Offices were actually opened on June 24, 1904, with Panama R. R. agents in charge as Postmasters. Matachin was substituted for Bas Obispo, and a tenth office opened at San Pablo.

A small quantity of postage stamps (2c, 5c and 10c) was secured from the Panama Government, and rubber stamped "Canal Zone," in one line, as a temporary issue pending receipt of U. S. stamps similarly marked. In the circular published concerning the establishment of the postal service, persons were warned not to purchase more stamps than were absolutely necessary for immediate use, as after receipt of U. S. stamps, those of Panama overprinted "Canal Zone" would not be valid for use, or redemption.

The overprinted stamps were placed on sale June 24, 1904, and precautions were taken to confine their sale strictly to postal use; the supply was only sufficient for the estimated postal necessities. Postmasters were instructed to sell only $1 worth silver, or 50c gold, to an applicant, but blocks and sheets are known in mint condition, with greater face value.

The stamps supplied by Panama were of the 1892 Colombian issue, Map design, engraved and printed by the American Bank Note Co. of New York, in sheets of 100 (10x10), perforated 12, single line, and locally overprinted at Panama City, with a bar cancelling "COLOMBIA" at the top, and adding "PANAMA—PANAMA" at the sides.

The 2c furnished the Zone authorities was with the overprint of the 3rd Panama setting. In these stamps "COLOMBIA" was first obliterated with a bar in the color of the stamp before applying the PANAMA—PANAMA overprint from a setting of 50 (5 horizontal by 10 vertical). Two impressions from this setting were required to completely overprint the sheets of 100 stamps. Usually, the overprint reads up on both halves of the sheet (i.e., left half and right half), but where the sheet was reversed after the left half had been overprinted, the overprint on the right half is in an inverted position, i.e., PANAMA—PANAMA reads down. Normally, the length of PANAMA is 13½mm, and the letters are 1¾mm, high, reading up at both sides. But on Nos. 46, 47, 48, 49, 50 (of the 50 subject setting) the word measures 15mm, and the letters are 2mm high. On No. 1 of the setting, PANAMA measures 13x 1¾mm, and reads down at the left, and up at the right. Varieties in the left half of the sheet are repeated in the right half, although the positions (in the 100 stamp sheet) are not always the same—depending on whether the sheet received the overprint in two applications of 50, side by side, normally, or 50 normal (reading up) by 50 inverted (reading down). There are in addition numerous minor varieties where letters of different font were used, etc.

The 5c and 10c stamps supplied, however, were of the 4th Panama setting, the bar and PANAMA—PANAMA 15x2mm, being printed at one operation, from a set-

OBLIQUE PARALLELOGRAM

We had a quantity of Sesquicentennial stamped envelopes printe the red and blue oblique parallelograms similar to the style recently tioned by the Post Office for use as air mail covers. The effect is striking.

To these envelopes, on the day of issue of the Valley Forge s May 26th, we affixed blocks of four of the new commemorative. We r them by air mail to points in Texas, California and Washington, so assure their being flown. They were mailed from the seven cities the stamps were issued, and the cover from Cleveland received the s colored cancel of the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition.

The set of seven first day covers, one from each city, is the fine we ever put out. The combination of the block of four of the stamp memorating the Sesquicentennial of Valley Forge, with the official env which the Government used to celebrate the Sesquicentennial Expositi unique. Think of the novelty, too, of the stamped envelope printed i and blue for air mail. And bear in mind that all seven covers were ac carried by airplane, as is proved by their backstamps.

We offer the complete set of seven beautiful first day, via air covers for $4.75. Guaranteed to please. Order them, look 'em over if you don't have that "tickled" feeling, then just send them back and return your money.

A single cover from Cleveland with your choice of a purple or "Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition" cancel will be supplied for $1.00.

The above cut cork conventional designs are interesting, though not in any way remarkable. The No. 2 is met with frequently, and is probably N. Y. City. There is little to say about them, and you have probably saved up many of these, or copies that are quite similar. No. 8 in blue, is perhaps the prettiest one in this group, and is an unusual design.

The Cleveland Exhibition was a dandy. Will mention a few items that may be of interest to the Forum folks, tho some are foreign cancellations and stamps. The several exhibits of Mr. Alfred F. Lichtenstein (not for competition) were to me even more wonderful than the first time I had seen them at New York. While each country exhibited was in remarkable array, I cannot but mention the particular exhibit of British Columbia, an example of philatelic perfection.

Have you ever found a perfect copy of any of these stamps on a neat, clean, and attractive cover? The first issue

FOR SALE

To close an Estate, the entire stock of postage stamps of a dealer who commenced business in 1874, and who held much of the stock accumulated by him up to 1900. This stock is a large and valuable one, and at least 85% is 19th Century, British Colonial and foreign, used and unused, much of the latter in mint sheets.

No 19th Century United States, nor early British North America pre-confederation. Canada from 1871 to date very strong, Newfoundland from 1880, also.

Prospective purchasers would require to come to Halifax to examine stock. We will be pleased to answer any enquiries on this matter. [58 appeared in 1861, and some ten years later they were superseded by the regular issues of Canada.

What impressed me with this exhibit was, 1, Each and every page was so arranged that it appeared as a complete unit, and 2, The thought of what a mass of material must have been gone over to unearth these super deluxe items.

Studying this exhibit resolves itself into the pictured layout of a page before it is started, then the gathering of the items, and that was a task that took plenty of time on a country like British Columbia. It could be easily done by making a page of interesting Valley Forge covers, blocks, etc.; but to do this with old issues is a very different proposition.

When a fine item comes to you in the issue, or stamp, you are collecting, it is well to take it while you may, for often items you like cannot be bought from the owner, if he be a collector, while if you have a beautiful duplication of an item, he may be eager to make an exchange, which would benefit both collections.

I mentioned British Columbia, for there it was, immaculate! You, personally, may substitute the country or stamp you are after, and your pages will gradually form themselves into the right kind of a collection. It takes much time gathering the unusual items, and it is always the unusual that attracts, at these exhibitions.

The Confederate exhibits were very strong. The Locals exhibited by Sidney and John Hessel were a surprising treat, and attracted much attention. The Confederate general issues shown by Tom Pratt of Tennessee were remarkable. This collection had an added interest to me, inasmuch as the owner is from the South, and being a newspaper man, he does not stop at the mere gathering and plating of the stamps, but digs in and gathers all the historical and philatelic news obtainable, and this fund of information is as interesting as are the stamps.

Two beautiful pages were those of the two 2c denominations. Imagine, a single, a pair, and then five copies, all on separate covers. The pair of 2c greens did duty as a pair of the 5c green lithos, and sure had the postmaster fooled. In this exhibit the most striking item was directly across from the booth of the Hot Stove League (they had a smoking station adjoining the Nehi soft drink Emporium). As you sat here the crimson glow from this 10c "carmine rose" (Scott No. 204a) cover rather blinded you to all else in that neighborhood. "Carmine Rose" isn't the half of it, for that was sure the ace of aces in color for that rare stamp, it howled!

Another single stamp which pleased me greatly was in the very unusual collection of "Stamps of Great Britain Used Abroad" shown by Dr. A. E. Whitehead of Montreal, Canada. While these stamps were shown in plentiful array, the one I was most strongly attached to was a 2d 1855 Gt. Britain, cancelled with the French "Diamond of Dots" carrying the rare "AOM," or Army of the Orient "M" at Kamiesch. As I try to save up a few of the unusual cancellations on the stamps of France, and of Gt. Britain, I recognized this as a real rarity. How was it used is the question I asked myself, and seeing no one around who knew his "Kameisches," assumed that an English officer while visiting a friend officer in the French Army, asked him to please post a letter he had written, and just thought of while visiting the French camp. This sounds possible; but it may be "all wrong." The stamp has a fine re-entry aside from its postmark.

Have you ever given a thought to the reasons why we find so many Confederate covers with damaged corners, dirty, and torn, and in generally worn condition? Take the Soldier's letters for example, they had no room for carrying reams of correspondence paper and envelopes, so when they decided t a letter, they must dig up pap worse yet, find an envelope, an glue if it were not well gummed. time off duty was limited, and f way many Soldier's letters start raining cats and dogs tonight"—i seem that they were allowed to duty mostly on rainy nights. Th ditions held in both Armies tho Federals had a better supply o and envelopes apparently.

We'll assume that the soldier h ten his letter, found an envelo some gum on it, and a rather dil stamp with a little gum still lef and now he proceeds to seal th and affix the stamp. On these we smoking was not enjoyable, an soldiers substituted a good chew dark burley for the smoke. So w letter began its trip it had a rath seam along the back, and the da often came out from under th of the face of the cover—I'll be had some of these, and wonder the dark stains showed under th That's the answer OK.

Say this letter goes to some ve town back home, and maybe s miles from the nearest railroad and postoffice. The courier w pony gets the mail, and crowds his sadle bags, and sets out to de It is raining. He dumps the of the bags onto the porch floor combination village store and P. the natives eagerly grab out wha rected to the local folks, and the crammed back into the bags courier is on full speed to the ne And so it goes. Those letters at of the line must be rather out o tion for the purists of philately.

The porch floors are muddy, t dle bags are wet, and that is find so few handsome Confeder ers. Usually the best covers fo tion are those carrying on a co correspondence from one city to where the tough trips were elimi

While many a Confederate c not pretty enough to mount in a tion, it may have made a trip tha tell a story fit to be entered rig your collection if it were known way these mussy old covers have strong appeal to your old corres who tries to disseminate a bit of edge along with much philatelic per the FORUM.

BRITISH COLONIALS

INVESTMENT STAMPS

I call them so because they are all stamps in which at any time I am only too glad to invest my money. Although they are not priced so highly, it is surprising to find what a large proportion of these are missing even in important collections. When present they give character to a collection, and these are among the very stamps that I —as a dealer—am first of all looking for when a collection is offered to me. Their presence or absence usually influences me in making my decision.

Among these "character" stamps I have scattered the offerings of a few others which although not in the same class with the more important stamps—are all likely to see an early and handsome enhancement in value.

While it gives the collector much pleasure to possess these stamps, which are not to be found in "everybody's collection", they are also just the kind of property that the really knowing investor or speculator likes to store away in his strong box.

To be true, the scarcity of many of these stamps are not yet fully recognized by our Standard Catalogue—but then again the wide-awake present-day collector and investor are no longer catalogue sticklers. May I also add that I consider every item an excellent investment at the prices marked.

Needless to say, the quantities are in many instances very limited. Condition always choice, which must be considered when comparing prices—something I invite your inquiries.

METROPOLITAN STAMP CO.

1482 BROADWAY NEW YORK CITY

UNITED STAMP SOCIETIES

By A. C. Weber.

Another interesting chapter was annexed to the history pages of the United Stamp Societies, Wednesday, May 30th (Decoration Day), on which memorable day that organization held its Tenth Annual Convention in Schwaben Hall, Ridgewood (Brooklyn), New York. All arrangements for the Convention were made by the Ridgewood Stamp Club, one of the group members of the U. S. S., and a philatelic body that has made remarkable progress during the short period of its existence.

Twenty-three delegates attended the Convention, besides thirty-four visitors. The U. S. S. membership comprises thirty different philatelic clubs located in St. Augustine, Fla.; Bloomfield, N. J.; Boston, Mass.; Bridgeport, Conn.; Brooklyn, N. Y.; Harrisburg, Penna.; Wilmington, Del.; Hackensack, N. J.; Sheepshead Bay, N. Y.; Lynn, Mass.; Memphis, Tenn.; Montclair, N. J.; Newark, N. J.; New Haven, Conn.; New York City, N. Y.; Westwood, N. J.; Passaic, N. J.; Paterson, N. J.; Philadelphia, Penna.; Pittsburg, Penna,; Ridgewood, N. Y.; Springfield, Mass.; Utica, N. Y.; Worcester, Mass.

The Convention was declared officially open by President H. F. Christensen, who introduced F. F. Reed, Vice President of the Ridgewood Stamp Club, as the first speaker. Acting in place of President H. E. King, of the Ridgewood Stamp Club, Mr. Reed in a few well-chosen words, welcomed the delegates and visitors to Ridgewood.

The morning session, which commenced at 10 o'clock, was devoted to the transaction of routine business, also the election of officers and a so-called "donation auction."

It was voted that the United Stamp Societies publish a magazine quarterly, as its official organ.

The annual election of officers resulted:—Pres., William C. Steiger, Hackensack Society; First Vice Pres., Hugh Wallace Smith, Boston Society; Second Vice Pres., William Lycett, Philadelphia Stamp Club, and Sec. of the S. P. A.; Sec., Elmer L. Clark, Lynn Society, and Treas., Gideon G. Ryder, Boston Society.

Mr. Christensen installed the newly elected officers, and a rising vote of thanks was accorded the outgoing administration. A "Donation Auction" was then held, consisting of 40 lots, including some fine U. S. and British Colonials, also other most desirable items. Good prices were bid throughout the sale, which was successfully conducted by Mr. Michaels.

At noon after photographs were taken, a sumptuous course dinner was served. During the dinner, J. M. Bartels spoke about the interesting exhibits at the Mid-western Stamp Exposition, held recently in Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Bartels acted as a judge on that occasion, and said it compared favorably with the big stamp show staged in New York City. He was especially impressed with the remarkable exhibits of the juvenile collectors. His talk was well received.

Mr. Bach, Editor of Stamp Collectors' Magazine, also spoke about the Cleveland Exposition. Uproarious laughter greeted Mr. Bach's story about one of the exposition visitors who created considerable curiosity on the part of thousands, when he examined a specialized collection of two-cent Columbians with the aid of a gigantic magnifying glass.

The newly elected President, Mr. Steiger, appointed retiring President Christensen, as Chairman of the Recruiting Committee, and also re-appointed Mr. J. W. Chew, as General Sales Manager for the coming year.

A rising vote of thanks was then extended the Ridgewood Stamp Club. In responding, Vice President Reed invited all delegates to attend the Third Anniversary Celebration of the Ridgewood Club on the evening of Memorial Day, Jung's Hall, Ridgewood, where the Club meets weekly. The delegates, in a body, accepted the invitation.

Each delegate and alternate was pleasantly surprised when a first-day cover of the Valley Forge stamp, addressed to these men, was presented them. These first-day covers were furnished through the courtesy of the Ridgewood Stamp Club, the covers having been mailed from Valley Forge on the first day.

Promptly at 6 P. M. a tasty buffet luncheon and refreshments were served, followed by drawings for two fine stamps, one being a 5-cent U. S., 1847, red grid cancellation on a piece of cover, won by Mr. Beauchamp, and a two dollar fine used copy of U. S. Columbian won by Mr. Moses. The remainder of the evening was devoted to stamp sales and exchanges, making new acquaintanceships and renewing old friendships.

The officers of the Ridgewood Stamp Club are: H. E. King, President; F. F. Reed, Vice President; O. F. Miller, Treasurer; T. Schmitz, Secretary, and A. C. Weber, Director of Publicity.

U. S. POSTAL DATA

Compiled by Harry M. Konwiser.

1789. Samuel Osgood was made Postmaster General under the Constitution of the United States.

1792. Pen and ink were used to denote amount due, later hand stamps; if prepaid were so marked or hand stamped —with variations according to office using or issuing.

1794. Letter carriers employed at direction of Postmaster General, with rate of 2 cents for each letter.

1810. General Post Office established at Washington, D. C.

1829. Postmaster General William T. Barry (President Jackson) became a member of the President's Cabinet, the Postmaster previously being "under" the Treasury Department.

1834. Railroads first carried the mails.

1836. Act passed authorizing the Postmaster General to establish a "carrier system" because private carriers were operating at lower rates than U. S. department.

1839. Envelopes first used.

1842. Alex M. Greig appointed the first carrier, by Postmaster Graham of New York.

1842. An adhesive stamp, not Government issue, was first employed, becoming voided by law in 1847.

1845. Franking privilege approved to amount of 2 ounces to members of Congress and to Vice President, the Congressional Act of March 3rd, 1845, changing previous franking regulations.

1845. Change of tariff for letters.

1847. First United States' postage stamp.

1851. Change of tariff for letters.

1852. Congressional Act provided for stamped envelopes.

1855. Change in tariff for letters.

1863. Congress enacted that no mail should be delivered unless postage was paid; mail must be prepaid at time of mailing; drop letters 2 cents; registration fee to be fixed by the Postmaster General, not to exceed 20 cents, the fee being thereupon fixed at 15 cents.

1864. Mail cards were produced.

EDITORIALETTES

By DEREK INGRAM, Editor (Stamp Collecting.)

If only because of the weather it is fitting that the vogue of the moment in philatelic circles should centre round the stamps that are upside down. Varieties of this nature have attracted philatelists from the earliest times, and yet the catalogues do not yet testify to these in completest fashion. As witness, there is the error of the 20 pesos claret and slate of the 1916 issue of the Argentine with centre inverted, which so far goes unrecorded in the works of Gibbons, King, Bright, and other historians. A brilliant mint corner block of four of this extreme rarity is to be offered for sale by Messrs. Harmer, Rooke & Co. on Monday, June 25th; only once previously has one of these come on the market.

* * *

The stamp mentioned belonged to the late Mr. Ernesto Honegger, an enthusiastic Argentine specialist, and the valuable general collection formed by him will be disposed of in the Strand Auction Rooms on the three evenings, June 25th, 26th, and 27th. For the convenience of dealers, the time of the sale has been fixed for 5.30 p. m. each day, so as to avoid clashing with the London International Stamp Bourse. All readers interested—and there will certainly be a great many—should send at once for a copy of the attractive sale catalogue, with separate booklet of photographs of the stamps to be offered, which can be obtained, free on request, from the auctioneers, at 188-189 Strand, W.C.2.

An "inverted" question of a different kind is raised by a much esteemed correspondent, who, apropos of our chronicle of Kedah duties with watermark reversed, considers that these should be chronicled as watermark inverted, not reversed. Messrs. Whitfield King & Co., who showed us these particular varieties, maintain that, if they advertised these stamps with inverted wmk., their customers would expect the wmk. to be facing downwards, and not to the right instead of, in this case, to the left. The view held by our correspondent, however—and undoubtedly by very many others—is that "reversed wmk." is understood to mean that the printing has been done on the wrong side of the paper, giving, with Colonial stamps, the so-called "Crown AC" wmk. With upright wmk., the meaning of inverted wmk. is obvious. When stamps are issued with sideways wmk., it normally points in one direction, e.g., Kedah, Bermuda, May, 1921, &c., to left; St. Helena, Malay, Bermuda, January, 1921, &c., to right.

Owing to pressure of affairs, we were not able to join the motley throng of reporters who foregathered to welcome—and worry—Adolphe Menjou and his bride when they landed on these chilly shores last week. The disappointment was genuine enough to ourselves, for this idol of the films is in his more serious moments—and we are assured he has many such—a very keen philatelist. He is, indeed, as much in love with his stamps as he is depicted to be so often with the fair sex, and his enthusiasm for the former is so infectious that it will be hard for his beautiful wife to resist the philatelic flame that burns within him. During their stay in London, Mr. Menjou will in all probability "go to the pictures"—as displayed in one or other of the West End stamp shops.

M. Mosiecki, who is portrayed with Marshal Pilsudski on the novel philatelic commemorative chronicled in our New Issue Notes, has been President of the Polish Republic close on two years. The 20 gr. vermilion stamp of 1927 bears his portrait, which Gibbons lists as that of "President Moscicki," and this version of the name seems to have been adopted by other dealers.

The Zamek, the historic castle of Warsaw, where the oath was administered to the new President on June 4th, 1926, is the Hradcany of Poland, and we understand it is shortly to appear on a new stamp. The castle stands on the crest of the high banks of the Vistula at the obvious point of strategic importance where the river is to-day spanned by an iron bridge. It dates from the fourteenth century, so there can be little left of its earlier buildings. According to a recent visitor, "there is a marked touch of Scandinavian influence about its architecture which betrays the hand of the Swedish dynasty as plainly as Kensington Palace displays that of the House of Orange. It epitomises the later history of Poland, and, as that history contains a good deal of fighting, it is evident that the buildings have been a good deal knocked about. It is scarred with wounds of many struggles: the old Seym buildings, once within its walls, was destroyed by the Russians, who again in the recent war damaged the whole range of courtyards, besides carrying off nearly all the artistic treasures of the interior, which are now only gradually being returned. It looks peaceful enough as it stands above its hanging formal gardens on the high banks above the river."

* * *

The fact that "a little philatelic learning is a dangerous thing" is instanced by the following Reuter message from Wellington, N. Z., which appeared in the Daily Chronicle the other day:—"A New Zealand postage stamp, believed to be the only one of its kind in existence, has been discovered at Christchurch. This is the penny stamp known to collectors as the 'Full Face Queen,' which was printed in London in the early sixties on unperforated sheets containing 240 stamps. These, when sold, were usually cut off the sheet with scissors. But the sheet from which the stamp in question came had been perforated by a firm of Dunedin printers, and is the only specimen known." The London printings of the N.Z. "full faces" ceased long before the sixties, while the private perforations of the Dunedin printings are, of course, fairly numerous.

OUR HONOR CLUB

Numbers 741 and 742

L. Aron, Paris, France
Reuel W. Smith, Auburn, Me.

We do not have very many members in the Honor Club who reside in foreign countries, but we are pleased to announce this week the addition to the Club membership of L. Aron of Paris, France. Mr. Aron is an old subscriber to the WEEKLY, and has not only taken out membership in the Honor Club, but would also give favorable consideration to a life subscription to the WEEKLY.

In submitting his check for $5.00 Mr. Smith makes the notation that the membership committee has reported favorably upon his application, and he is therefore remitting the amount needed for admission to the Honor Club. We appreciate the favorable report of the committee, and especially as it is accompanied by the application fee.

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

The cachet used at Toledo on June 3rd and 4th is apparently the same one—or its brother (or sister)—that was used on the initial flights over CAM No. 20 on June 1st. I have had reports of four colors being used, but suppose the supply of stamp pads gave out and others were not available.

******

A number of collectors have sent covers from recent flights and failed to mark them with their names, or in some way informing me as to whom I am indebted for the courtesy. Please be sure to include your name when sending covers.

******

There is every indication that Lowell, Mass., will do something in the way of a special cachet for the dedication of the new Airport. Whether or not it will be official remains to be seen, but private parties interested in the event will take pains to reward collectors who have covers there for despatch on June 20th and possibly the 21st and 22nd.

******

Covers sent to NORWICH, N. Y., for despatch on June 14th have been returned by the Postmaster with the notation that his request for authorization to receive and despatch air mail on that date has been refused by the Department. Norwich dedicated her new Airport on the above date and it was hoped that a special cachet would be used.

******

National Air Transport, Inc., announce that passengers, in addition to Air Mail, will be carried from Moline, Ill., to Chicago and from Oklahoma City to Dallas. This schedule is for the summer months only and the rate will be 10c per mile. Who will be the first Air Mail collector to make his own First Trip in this manner?

******

Word from Mexico City—yea, subject to change without notice—states that as soon as Captain Carranza has completed his trip to the U. S., the Mexican Government will be ready to go ahead. The flights being made to Tampico are fairly successful, which is encouraging the Government to speed up plans for the U. S. connection.

******

And while on the subject, this Capt. Carranza is said to be only twenty years old. Today's news states that he has been forced down at Mooresville, N. C., but even at that, he certainly made a beautiful try and deserves just as much homage as our own flyers.

******

No mail was aboard the "Friendship," Miss Earhart's Trans-Atlantic plane, when it left Boston. Whether or not she will be prevailed upon to carry letters from Trepassey, N. F., when she takes off, remains to be seen, but it is a pretty good bet that some of our collecting friends up in that neck of the woods will at least make the attempt to sell her the idea, anyway. Good luck to 'em!

******

Acknowledgment is made of clippings, etc., from the following co-operators — Messrs. Beuchel, Leve, Smalley, Montgomery, Gatchell and Hagstrom.

******

Score one for the West! Monte Vista, Colo., dedicated her Air Port on June 10th and secured official permission for a special cachet. Mr. O. H. Phinney sends me a cover and states that—"This is the First Flight from the San Luis Valley. Authorized by the P. O. Dept., Monte Vista Air Port opened and dedicated by the American Legion, Sunday, June 10th. Mail left Air Port 1 P. M., connecting at Pueblo with Western Airways, Inc."

******

Last minute advices from Houston, Texas, state that the "kicking mule" cachet fell through. Guess the Democrats are gonna prefer white mule instead! Messrs. Leve and Parker are my informants.

******

The Hon. P. T. Coolican, Asst. Deputy Postmaster General of Canada, is very desirous of having United States collectors place their names on his mailing list for the receipt of data pertaining to First Flights and First Day of issue covers. I am requested by Mr. Chas. L. Hall to give this as much publicity as possible, so don't be bashful in sending in your name to Mr. Coolican. His address is Ottawa, Canada.

******

Additional co-operators the early part of the week include the names of P. R. Crooker, Harold L. Burwick, Chas. L. Hall and Harry G. Klotzbach. Nice work, gentlemen. Come early and often!

******

The American Legion applied an unofficial cachet to mail at Norwich, N. Y., on July 12th, according to latest information.

******

July 17th has been set as the opening date for the service via CAM between Chicago and Bay City, Mich., and possibly between Pontiac and Muskegon, according to report issued in Lansing, Mich., on June 8th by the Chamber of Commerce.

Air Mail

—Lovers of First Flights will be Interested in the Invitation.

By B. F. Myers,
Air Mail Service, Chicago, P. O.

We have received advice from the Hon. W. Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General at Washington, D. C., that the Hon. P. T. Coolican, Asst. Deputy Postmaster General of Canada, at Ottawa, Canada, is desirous of building up a mailing list of those in the United States who might be interested in Canadian First Flight Air Mail covers, and we are giving him a copy of our mailing list, which embraces approximately 1,200 philatelists in the United States and a few in Canada, but we believe, in the interest of Air Mail philatelic history, that it would be a fine thing if you would advise your readers, through the medium of your publication, to the effect that Mr. Coolican is anxious to place any and all of them on his mailing list who will drop him a line in that respect, and in that way they will be advised sufficiently in advance of the effective date of any Canadian flights to enable them to forward their covers to the designated offices for special cancellation.

I might add that we feel that our mailing list is very small compared to the number of our philatelic friends throughout the country, and if you care to we would be pleased to have you also say to your readers that if they are not already on our mailing list we would be glad to include their names if they will so request. In fact, we want you to call on us in any case that you think we can assist you in carrying on your first flight Air Mail work, as we desire to help you and your readers in every possible manner.

Bagdad-Baranya

Bagdad Issue.—A name applied to a set of stamps used by the British Occupation Forces at Bagdad during the World War. Stamps of Turkey were overprinted "Baghdad—in British Occupation."

Balcony Falls, Va.—A town where a Confederate provisional appeared in 1861. The stamp is circular in shape and the design is a five pointed star with "10" in the centre and P-A-I-D and the letters "C. S." in the spaces between the points.

Balboa Tomando Posesion Del Oceano Pacifico.—"Balboa taking possession of the Pacific Ocean" on the Panama 1915, 2c stamp.

Banat Issue.—In July, 1919, the Serbian troops withdrew from the Banat, an agricultural region in Hungary, whose chief town is Temesvar, but before the Roumanian forces could take possession, the local Hungarian postal officials issued a distinctive local set of stamps. It is known as the Banat Issue and is purely Hungarian.

Baranya.—A city in Hungary where during the Serbian Occupation in the World War certain Hungarian stamps were overprinted "Baranya."

Junior News Items

—Henry Wetjen, 8542 108th St., Richmond Hill, N. Y., would like to exchange stamps with other Juniors.

—Gilbert R. Lesser is running a department of "Philatelic News" in the Leader-Observer of Woodhaven, N. Y. It's a nice piece of work. Thanks, Mr. Seifert.

—We are indebted to Clark Cooper for some contributions to our Junior Page.

Bisected

A philatelic term applied to a certain class of provisional or "emergency" stamps. These are stamps cut into halves or smaller pieces, each portion of which then has franking power as a separate stamp. They may be separated diagonally, vertically, or horizontally, and, more often than not, the bi-sected portions are overprinted with the value for which they are intended to pay postage. As an instance of a bi-sected provisional without surcharge, we may mention that for a period of about 25 years halves of the 10c postage due stamps of Belgium did duty as 5c labels. Various British Colonies—Barbados, Falkland Is., Niger Coast and Grenada, to mention a few—have issued bi-sected stamps with the halves surcharged with the value for which they had franking power.

Jamaica Jottings

Jamaica is an island in the West Indies south of Cuba and has been a British Colony for many years. Stamps were first issued for this island Nov. 23, 1860. This first issue for Jamaica is especially interesting as the paper on which the stamps were printed is watermarked with the design of a pineapple. If it was intended to advertise one of the colony's products it would seem that a better job would have been done if they had put a picture of a pineapple on a stamp rather than put the design into the paper where it is not easily seen.

In 1900 and 1901 Jamaica issued its first pictorial stamps which showed a picture of Llandovery Falls, two stamps that have always been popular with collectors.

There was a long break then until 1919 before any more pictorials appeared, the occasion of the next one being to show the embarkation of soldiers for the great war. As this stamp is very large it would seem that good sized envelopes would be needed to have room enough left for the address.

During 1920 and 1921 further pictorials appeared and ranged in value from ½ penny to 10 shillings. All of them have descriptive titles and make a very attractive display. As these stamps appeared during the time of the change over from the multiple crown and CA paper to the script CA paper, those on the first mentioned paper are by far the scarcer. This is especially true of the 3 and the 10 shilling values, which have recently been boosted in price in Scott's supplement to the catalogue.

Recently Jamaica has been using special advertising cancellations telling us to spend our vacations in "The land of to the summit, 8,740 feet above sea level. sunshine."—A. C. LeDuc.

Hints and Helps

Many of the younger collectors have difficulties in classifying their stamps. In case you have some that you are unable to place correctly, I shall be glad to help you out if you send them to me and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

* * *

With the British Colonials that bear kings' pictures they are unable to tell which are the King Edward and which the King George pictures. A quick and easy way to remember how to distinguish them is to remember that King Edward was the man with the bald head.

* * *

Stamps bearing the overprint "M. V. i. R." in any one of various forms of type, are listed under Roumania as German occupation stamps for that country.

* * *

If you happen to have some stamps from Saar (Saargebiet, as inscribed on the stamps) that are surcharged with the word "Dienstmarke," they should be classified as official stamps and not as the name of some other country. Dienstmarke is a German word meaning that the stamp is for official use.

* * *

In the case of the Guatemala 1924 and 1926 sets, they can be easily distinguished by noticing the tiny engraved letters below the design. In the 1924 issue is found "Perkins Bacon & Co.," and in the 1926 set "Waterlow and Sons." These are the names of large London companies who make fine postage stamps.

* * *

Stamps bearing the words "Pohjois Inkeri" are properly classified as those for North Ingermanland.

* * *

Some of the younger collectors have difficulty in placing the stamps of Japan as they frequently confuse them with those for China. Let them bear in mind that the money values used in Japan are "sen" and "yen," while in China "cents" and "dollars" are used.—A. C. LeDuc.

The Kookaburra

The strange bird appearing on the six penny stamp of the Australian Commonwealth issued in 1913-14 is a Kookaburra bird, sometimes called a laughing jackass. Although a member of the kingfisher family, instead of eating fish, as do our native kingfishers, it feeds only upon insects and reptiles. It is an uncouth-looking bird, about the size of a crow, brown and white being the predominate colors of its plumage. A common bird in all forests of Australia it is regarded as sacred by the natives.—CLARK COOPER.

Junior Dictionary

Poltawa.—A Ukraine district known to philatelic fame from the use of Russian stamps surcharged with a trident. Issued in 1918.

Ponta Delgada.—One of the three districts into which the Azores Is. are divided. From 1892 to 1906 each district had its own special issue of stamps in place of a general issue for the whole group as before.

Pony Express.—A postal service established by the well-known firm of Wells, Fargo & Co., in 1860 for carrying mail in the far West by relays of pony riders. The most famous route was that from St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento, Cal.—a distance of some 2,000 miles—which was accomplished in nine days. This wonderful service was discontinued in 1862 after some $200,000 had been lost in its working. Special postage stamps were issued in connection with this post, these showing a horse and rider as the chief feature of the design.

A Word On Albums

What type of album shall I use? is a question that faces the stamp lector, not only at the outset of his atelic career, but at more or less fre intervals during his development, a collection expands. It will therefor be out of place to dwell here upo choice of an album, bearing in mind proper consideration of the subjec forehand will save disappointment

I.—Printed without Arrangeme Stamp albums may be divided into eral classes. First, and least impo the album with printed squares, wi without a few illustrations, but wi anything to show where the stamp s be put. These are good for the beginning, but should be grown out quickly as possible. The best tha be said for them is that they are a porary home for stamps, for no c tion can be arranged intelligently i of them, and the collector will soo their limitations. So long, howeve the stamps placed in them have properly hinged, they will be easily ferred to one of the other classes. empty album should then be passe to a non-collector (with a few stam you can spare them) as an encou ment to collect.

II.—Detailed Printed Arrange —In this class comes the detailed p album, providing spaces for all th rieties, major and minor, listed in ever standard catalogue upon which based. SOME EGYPT TYPES ere is nothing in the designs of the s of Egypt that should prove trou- ne, even to the veriest tyro, with the le exception of the 15m value of 22, which exists in two types num- A34 and A35 respectively. Here hief distinction lies in the vertical at the right inscribed with Arabic cters. A close inspection of the cat- e illustrations will show that in A34 these characters are compara- few and elongated while in type they are numerous and close to- r. The other designs are quite dis- ve and a careful inspection of the rations given in the catalogue should l classification easy.

t there are other interesting things nnection with Egyptian stamps that ell worth the telling. Quite fre- ly we have been asked if there is a l way up in the case of the stamps of first issue, which are seemingly ly similar as regards their upper lower portions. And the answer is nd no. The keen eyes of studious lelists have detected differences so there are two varieties of each value. s the manufacturers did not appear ow of these minor distinctions no was taken in transferring the de- to the stones so that neither vari- n properly be said to be inverted or way up. So far as the average tor is concerned the designs may be to be right way up when the over- d inscriptions are right way up.

ese stamps were manufactured by rs. Pellas Brothers, of Genoa. The for each denomination were en- d on metal and from these trans- were made to the lithographic stones yed in the actual printing of the s. Then all values were over- d with inscriptions in black, the group being different for each and senting the values. The inscrip- at the sides and top, reading from o right signify "Egyptian Postage p" while the central character, which right when the central loop is up- s, means "Egypt."

the manufacturers did not notice difference between the upper and halves of the stamps it did not, of e, appear to matter which way up ransfers were applied to the stones. quently when the stamps were com- l by the addition of the overprints of them were upside down in rela- to the others. But as one position more correct than the other they t properly be called inverted. Nor hey properly be termed types and it obably best to call them varieties I II.

STANLEY GIBBONS LTD.

By Appointment to H. M. King George V

(Only address) Dept. 20, 391 Strand, LONDON, ENGLAND

Mr. G. B. Duerst, an English writer, was, we believe, the first to call attention to these two varieties, which he described in the columns of the Philatelic Record in 1896. Some thirteen years later they were described and illustrated by F. L. Pemberton in the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain and it is to this latter article that we are indebted for much of the following information. The two varieties of each value may be identified by the following differences:

5 paras. There are four large circles in the background ornamentation, one in each angle, each of which contains a six-leaved floret. In variety I the circle below and to the left of the word PARA has no leaf which points directly at the last A of this word while in variety II one leaf of the floret points directly at this letter.

10 paras. There is a Greek-key pattern in the upper and lower labels. In variety I this pattern, beginning immediately to the right of the numerals "10" in the upper left-hand corner, starts with a vertical section, while in variety II it begins with a horizontal section.

1 piastre. The upper part of the arabesque ornamentation in the central oval is roughly heart-shaped and in variety I the two curled lines within the "heart" do not meet, while in variety II they touch. Again, in variety I the numeral "1" in the upper right-hand corner is larger and has a more pronounced serif than the corresponding numeral in variety II.

2 piastre. In the background, immediately above the central word of the overprint, the lines of the ornamentation are interlaced so as to form two transverse loops. In variety I these are almost equal in size, while in variety II the loop at the right is smaller and shallower than the other.

5 piastres. The lower loop of the scroll of the central ornamentation is outlined in color by the circles containing the letters "PE." In variety I the scroll barely touches the circle while in variety II the bottom of the loop is cut off by the outline of the circle.

10 piastres. In variety I the "P" of the letters PE in the upper left-hand angle is well shaped while in variety II this letter is poorly shaped and appears to have the loop prolonged slightly downwards.

It will thus be seen that there are two well defined varieties of each value for the specialist to collect and all may, of course, be found tete-beche, if this term may properly be used in connection with stamps produced in this manner. As a matter of fact almost any pair of the 10pa, 20pa, or 1pia values is apt to be tete-beche for both varieties seem to be equally common. In the other denominations, the second variety seems to be much the scarcer.—Philatelic Opinion.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith),
Cor. Robbins Rd. & Locust Av., Lexington, Mass.

SUMMER IS HERE—

but I am still buying choice things in the way of United States Issues and if you have anything fine that you desire to turn into immediate cash, correspondence is solicited. My business has grown to such proportions that it is difficult indeed to keep rarities and unusual items on hand. In order to take care of my clients, present and prospective, and keep my stock up to its present high standard, it is necessary to purchase fine individual items or collections.

If you have anything in the way of choice United States, especially rare mint singles and blocks, as well as covers, it will be to your advantage to communicate with me, as I am purchasing the finest things being offered in the way of United States emissions, of both the postal and revenue issues.

It is preferred in submitting stamps that a price be placed upon them, but under certain conditions, I will be glad to make offers and please remember that when I purchase and a price is agreed upon that a check is mailed immediately.

Quite often the owner of a large property prefers to sell upon commission. In such a case, I will gladly arrange satisfactory terms, with remittances monthly for sales made. The very best of banking, commercial and philatelic references will be gladly furnished.

To those desiring the very choice items in the way of United States issues from the commonest to the great rarities, will find my stock a treasure ground of choice specimens. Correspondence solicited with the really interested collector.

New Air Mail Stamp

At this writing, Washington is not in a position to furnish any official information as to the probable design of the new 5-cent air mail stamp to be used after the new rate goes into effect on August first next. The design is entirely in the hands of Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, in charge of the air mail service. Mr. Glover is in attendance at the Republican Convention at Kansas City, hence, cannot be reached. It is understood, however, that he will make a formal announcement very shortly, giving the full details.

Plans at present, call for a new 5-cent stamp only, without any change in the higher values. There will be a 5-cent booklet, in addition to the stamp in sheet form. Before we are through, we will no doubt, have this variety from both the flat plate and rotary press. It will be very distinctive in design, so that it will immediately catch the attention of the mail clerk assorting letters.

New Special Handling Stamp

The new special handling stamps, namely the 10, 15 and 20 cent, which were described in this column last week, are further described in an official circular sent out by the Information Service under date of June 7th.

The circular confirms the details which were previously mentioned and calls attention to the fact that stamp collectors may obtain these at the Philatelic Agency in Washington, on and after June 25th next.

New Plates

Through the courtesy of Mr. A. W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, we are enabled to bring our list of plate numbers up to and including those assigned to June 6, 1928. In the list will be seen the first of the Lindbergh air mail booklets, as well as the Valley Forge varieties.

OUR BEST RECOMMENDATION TO YOU is any one of our approval sheets. May we send a selection of mint British Colonials for you to examine in your spare time? A first glance will show you that we only send out picked copies, in perfect condition, that the stamps are all worth while buying not only for the pleasure they will constantly give you but from an investment point of view; and that our prices are eminently reasonable. We are already in touch with thousands of collectors all over the world, but the service we give nevertheless remains prompt and personal. We should like to put that service at your disposal. It will help you to build up a collection that will be the envy of your friends.

We can offer the majority of regular items with 50% off catalogue. Nevertheless, our sheets contain many stamps for which you will appreciate paying 40%.

First Class references are required. Want lists executed.

ting of 50 (5 horizontal by 10 vertical), side by side. The bar is spaced normally 3½mm above the word PANAMA; there is a variety where this distance is but 2mm. On the 5c a few sheets contained a colon between the bar and PANAMA, at the right; and on the 10c, this took the form of a vertical bar, perhaps a raised "space."

The CANAL ZONE overprint, in one line of caps, was applied, in blue-black ink, with a rubber handstamp, by a clerk in the Executive Offices at Culebra.

All three values are known with the Canal Zone overprint double, and all three with the overprint inverted. (Of the latter variety, one sheet each of the 2c and 5c exists, and of the 10c two sheets.) On one sheet of the 5c the overprint was applied diagonally instead of horizontally. Of the 5c and 10c horizontal pairs exist with one stamp minus the CANAL ZONE overprint, occasioned by a vertical row in two sheets of the 5c and in one sheet of the 10c not receiving the overprint. The 2c is also known with double overprint, both inverted, and the 5c double, both diagonal.

The quantities of Panama stamps overprinted and sold between June 24th and July 17, 1904 (U. S. overprinted stamps were issued July 18th) and the remainders, later destroyed, are shown below:—

	Issued.	Sold.		Remainders
2c,	2,650	2,500	$ 50.00	150	$ 3.00
5c,	7,500	6,775	338.75	725	36.25
10c,	5,250	5,025	502.50	225	22.50
	15,400	14,300	$891.25	1,100	$61.75

This figure of "value of stamps sold" ($891.25) is $35.35 less than that given in the First Annual Report of the Isthmian Canal Commission, dated December 1, 1904, i.e. "The receipts from the sale of Panama postage stamps surcharged (sic) Canal Zone, from June 25th to July 16th, 1904, $926.60." Evidently a greater quantity was sold, and a less number destroyed ($26.40), than shown in this tabulation.

NEW ISSUE NOTES

ALBANIA.—To celebrate the first flight across the Adriatic, a special set of stamps has been issued and were on sale from the 21st to the 29th of May. The ordinary Air Post stamps of the 1925 issue have been overprinted "Rep. Shqyptare Fluturim' i I-ar Vlone—Brindisi 21.IV.1928," the denominations being as follow:—5, 10, 25, 50 qind, 1, 2 and 3 francs. We are informed that only 5,350 complete sets have been issued, and were sold at a premium, francs 10.45 gold being charged for the complete set.

ANDORRA.—This tiny Republic in the Pyrenees now has a special set of postage stamps of its own. The contemporary stamps of Spain have been overprinted in two lines with the words "Correos Andorra," the denominations being as follow:—2, 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 40, 50 centimos, 1, 4, 10 pesetas and Express 20 centimos. These stamps are of a provisional nature only, a new permanent set is being prepared and will show different views of places of interest in Andorra.

COSTA RICA.—Owing to delay in the receipt of further stocks of the 5c green and 10c red stamps of the current issue from the American Bank Note Company, old stocks of stamps which are not much in demand have been overprinted to meet the shortage. We have received the 15c purple, No. 71a, surcharged with the numeral "5" at the lower left and right corners obliterating the original denomination. We are also informed that the 5c orange Red Cross stamp has been additionally overprinted "5c," but up to the time of going to press we have not seen a copy.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—We have seen a set of five Official stamps for this country, 1c green, 2c carmine, 5c blue, 10c pale blue and 20c yellow. All five denominations are of the same design, showing a lighthouse in the centre, at the top of the stamp the inscription, "Republica Dominicana Faro A Colon," at the base of the stamp are the words "Correspondencia Oficial" and the value. These stamps are not sold to the public, but are for official use only.

LATVIA.—The Tschakste memorial set has at last appeared. We are informed that only ten sets were sold over the Post Office counter to each applicant and that the whole issue was sold out on the day the stamps were placed on sale. We have also received from this country three new Air Post stamps, which are of exactly the same design as the 1921 issue, type 9 in our catalogue, but with the values in santimu instead of roubles. The three denominations received are 10 santimu green, 15 santimu red and 25 santimu blue.

NEW CALEDONIA.—A complete new set of pictorial stamps has been issued for this French Settlement in the South Seas. There are 23 denominations of postage stamps from 1 centime to 20 francs, also a set of 13 denominations of Postage Due stamps. The set is a very pretty one and should be very popular amongst the junior collectors.

NEW GUINEA.—With reference to the 6d olive-bistre, No. 85 in our catalogue, which is an error of colour, we are now officially informed that further supplies of this denomination have been printed in the original brown colour as No. 84 in our catalogue. We have received a small supply of this new printing, which differs slightly from the first printing, the new printing being of a paler shade of brown. The stock of the olive-bistre colour is entirely exhausted at the Post Office and we think the catalogue price for this stamp will be advanced before long.

PERU.—In February last we received a few copies of the current 50 centavos mauve postage stamp, No. 203 in our catalogue, overprinted "Servicio Aereo" and we immediately sent out a large order for the requirements of our New Issue Service, but we have received a supply of Air Post stamps in exchange for our remittance and to our surprise they are of an entirely new design, printed in green, showing a portrait in the centre and in the background a map of the Pacific side of South America, with an aeroplane in flight. Inscribed at the top of the stamp are the words "Rapidez Progreso," at the sides, "Servicio Aereo," and value at foot. The stamps are very handsome and the engraving is the work of the American Bank Note Company. We are informed that the 50 centavos mauve surcharged stamps are quite unobtainable, only 3,000 having been issued.

POLAND.—A Philatelic Exhibition was opened at Warsaw, on May 3rd, and remained open until May 13th. To celebrate this event two special postage stamps have been issued, 50 groszy, showing a portrait of Marshal Pilsudski, the Polish Prime Minister and Minister of War, and 1 zloty, showing a portrait of President Moscicki. These stamps are printed in sheets of two, both values being on the same sheet, in the same manner as the 5 and 10 francs Philatelic Exhibition stamps issued for the Strasbourg Exhibition in 1927. We understand that 8,000 of these sheets have been printed and that only one sheet was sold ROUMANIA.—The new stamps have now been issued to celebrate the tenth anniversary of Bessarabia having rejoined Roumania. There are seven denominations:—1, 2, 3, 5, 7½, 10 and 20 lei. The 1 and 2 lei show a view of the former Bessarabian Parliament, the 3 and 5 lei, the Fortress of Hotin; and the three highest denominations, the Fortress of Alba.

SARAWAK.—A complete new issue has appeared here in exactly the same design as the previous issue, but printed on paper watermarked multiple rosettes. The denominations printed on this new paper are as follow:—1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 16, 20, 25, 30, 50 cents and 1 dollar. It will be noted that the 5c denomination is not included, but that it may be issued later on, the last supply of this denomination without watermark was sent out to Sarawak before the reduction was made in the Straits Settlements rate of postage with which Sarawak fell into line and as a result much larger stocks of the 5c stamps were left on hand than would otherwise have been the case, so that the old issue without watermark of this denomination will probably be on sale for some time to come.

SOUTH AFRICA.—The new 4d rectangular pictorial stamp has now appeared printed in brown and shows a picture of a South African Kraal. The stamps are printed in sheets showing the two varieties of inscription in English and Afrikaans. These stamps have also received the "S.W.A." overprint for use in South West Africa.

SWEDEN.—A set of five stamps will be issued on June 16th to commemorate the seventieth birthday of King Gustav V. The denominations and colours are as follow:—5 ore green, 10 ore violet, 15 ore red, 20 ore orange and 25 ore blue, but an additional charge of 5 ore on each stamp will be made, which will go to a fund for the fight against Cancer. These stamps will be available for franking all kinds of mail matter and they will be on sale until December 31st, after which date they will be withdrawn from sale.

URUGUAY.—A special 5 centavos commemorative stamp has been issued to celebrate the centenary of the Battle of Misiones.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

FOUND ON THE BACKS OF STAMPS

A Brighton philatelic society held a novel competition recently for young collectors in which thirty stamps were set out face downwards, and competitors were required to identify the countries from which they came. Most of the stamps were readily identifiable by the watermark, the shape, the colour of the paper, or some distinguishing feature like a silk thread in the paper or a grille embossing which showed through the paper. But the backs of postage stamps have been put to a great variety of uses. In a few countries they have been utilised for advertising, and the late Mr. John Barratt tried hard about 1888 to get the British Post Office to allow him to have a "Pear's Soap" advertisement on the backs of our ½d vermilion and 1d lilac stamps of that period. Some trials that were made at the time, with the name of the commodity in orange, blue or mauve, are familiar to collectors to-day. Similar experiments had been made in the United States in 1870, but New Zealand was the only country that gave the plan a practical run in 1893.

A more frequent use of the back of stamps is for the printing of some safety device or control, sometimes in place of a watermark. The blue posthorn on the back of Swedish stamps of 1886 to 1891 was of this class, and recently during a temporary shortage of stamp paper in New Zealand some unwatermarked paper was used, but before gumming, an imitation watermark "NZ and star" was lithographed in a faint blue or grey. The Hidalgo stamps of Mexico were also protected by a printing on the back covering the whole stamp with a moiré pattern. Queensland in 1879 and for a short period in 1896 used a burelé band, just a narrow strip of network pattern, across the back of each stamp.

Some of the early Greek stamps had numbers printed on the back, the figures denoting the denomination, which was not too clearly indicated on the front. There are some scarce errors of these in which the wrong denomination is shown on the back. Spain has numbered her stamps on the back for a considerable time. On the 1875 issue, and continuing up to 1900, each sheet of 100 stamps is numbered 1 to 100 on the back, but since 1900 the sheets have been numbered by a tell-tale apparatus and every stamp on one sheet bears the same number. Experiments were made in England within recent years for printing a tally on the back of stamps in caramel ink. This was intended to be used for stamps issued in coils, and would enable the user of a coil to know just how many stamps had been used or were left. Something of the kind may yet be adopted.

The most curious use of the backs of stamps occurred in Portugal in 1895 in connection with the handsome series issued to commemorate the seventh centenary of St. Anthony of Padua. The stamp shows scenes from the life of St. Anthony, but on the back of each is printed an invocation in Latin, with Portuguese heading.

Centenario de Santo Antonio,
MCXCV.—MDCCCXCV.

O lingua benedicta, quæ Dominum semper benedixisti et alios benedicere docuisti: nunc perspicue cernitur quanti meriti fueris apud Deum.—S. Bonaventura.

This may be rendered into English:—

O blessed tongue, who didst always bless the Lord and teach others to bless Him, now it is clearly seen of what great worth thou wast with God.—S. Bonaventura.

The allusion to the annual celebration on February 15 of the "Solemnity of the Tongue." The tongue of St. Anthony, on being examined thirty-two years after his death, is said to have remained perfect and intact.

THE LEEWARDS SURPRISE, 1928

By HARRY E. HUBER.

By Statutory Rules and Orders No. 15 of 1928, made by the Governor in Council, at a meeting of the Executive Council of the Leeward Islands, held at Basseterre, St. Kitts, on April 26th, 1928, 25 denominational varieties of Postage & Revenue stamps (with a face value of £5.11.1¼d) in use in the Federal Colony and the five Presidencies were abolished; two added (30s face), and in the rearrangement there are 63 varieties for the Colony and Presidencies with a face value of £4.8.9¼d instead of 86 varieties with a face value of £8.9.10½d.

Postage & Revenue Stamps.

The Stamps Order, 1928, dated April 26, 1928, made by the Governor in Council under sections 3 and 4 of the Leeward Islands General Stamp Act (No. 3) 1890.

At an ordinary meeting of the Executive Council of the Leeward Islands, at the Council Chamber, Basseterre, St. Christopher—the 26th day of April, 1928.

ORDER IN COUNCIL.

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend certain Orders in Council relating to stamps for postage rates and stamp duties.

Now, therefore, the Governor in Council doth hereby order as follows:—

1. Short Title.

This Order may be cited as the Stamps Order, 1928.

2. Definition.

In this Order, the term "stamps" means adhesive stamps for postage and revenue, and includes envelopes, post cards and wrappers stamped for postal purposes.

3. Leeward Islands Stamps.

The uniform stamps for use throughout the Colony shall be of the values and descriptions specified in the first schedule hereto.

4. Presidential Stamps.

There shall be used in the Presidencies of Antigua, Dominica, Montserrat, St. Christopher and Nevis, and the Virgin Islands, respectively, special stamps of the values specified in the second schedule hereto for use in the said Presidencies respectively concurrently with the uniform stamps.

5. Designs.

The designs of the several stamps hereby authorised shall be as specified in the third schedule hereto.

6. Dies.

(i) The several dies and other implements required to give effect hereto shall be provided.

(ii) The several dies and other implements hitherto provided in respect of stamps heretofore authorised, but not specified in the first or second schedules hereto, shall be destroyed.

7. Repeal.

The Orders in Council specified in the fourth schedule hereto and all orders made prior to the date hereof under the authority of the Leeward Islands General Stamp Act, 1890, authorising the issue of adhesive stamps are hereby rescinded; Provided that any stamps heretofore duly authorised, but not specified in the first and second schedules hereto may continue to be used unless or until otherwise ordered, and such stamps may continue to be sold until the existing stocks are exhausted.

Signed, HERBERT BOON,
Acting Clerk of the Council.

ALL PRICES CANCELLED

Pursuant to the terms set forth on the front inside cover page of my 1928 price list, all prices quoted in that list are cancelled as of July 1st. The reason for this will be apparent when one considers that I issue my list each fall and that nine months see price changes in any line of business. However, a large percentage of the prices will continue good until my 1929 list is ready in October.

Just order from the list as formerly but include a supplemental list of from 50 to 75 per cent of the total amount of your order. That will give me the opportunity of selecting stamps the prices of which have not been changed. [56

24 Mar., 1922. Adding new stamps for Antigua.
12 May, 1922. Adding new stamps for Dominica.
17 May, 1926. Adding new stamps for Leeward Islands.
8 Oct., 1926. Stamps on wrappers, envelopes and post cards for Leeward Islands.
8 Oct., 1926. Adding new stamps for the Virgin Islands.

By these Orders two high denominations, 10s and £1, have been added to the Leeward Islands Federal series, and these will be printed from the D. L. R., 1888, Postage & Revenue keyplate, King George V design, the 10s in green and carmine on green script watermarked paper, and the £1 in violet and black on Roman CA watermarked red paper, probably from keyplate No. 20.

The denominations abolished are as follows:—

Leeward Islands Federal series, 4d, 5d, 2s6d, 3s and 4s,	5	10.3d
Antigua, 4d, 2s, 3s, 4s, £1,	5	29.4d
Dominica, 4d, 2s, 3s, 4s, £1,	5	29.4d
3s and 4s,	6	9.9¼d
St. Kitts-Nevis, 2s, 10s, £1,	3	32.0
Br. Virgins, 5d,	1	.5
	25	£5.11.1¼d

These denomination stamps, however, are to continue on sale until the present stocks are exhausted, or unless otherwise ordered.

With the re-arrangement each of the five Presidencies will have a series of ten denominations, i.e., ½d, 1d, 1½d, 2d, 2½d, 3d, 6d, 1s, 2s6d and 5s (face 9.10½d), while in the Leewards Federal series there will be these same denominations minus the 2s6d, but with the addition of ¼d, 2s, 10s, and £1 (face £1.19.4¾d).

The following tabulation shows the number of stamps (and face value) in the series at present; the denominations dropped, added, and as the series will be in the re-arranged schedule.

The 5d of Montserrat and Br. Virgin Islands, as well as the £1 of St. Kitts-Nevis have been exhausted for some time, but in several instances, the denominations cancelled are on sale with the two varieties of watermark, i.e., Roman and script CA, notably.

Leeward Islands Federal—4d, plate 10, Roman CA yellow, and plate 11, script CA yellow.
2/6 Roman CA blue.
2/6 script CA blue, plates 10 and 11.
St. Kitts-Nevis—2s, Roman CA, blue.
2s, script CA, blue.

NICARAGUA VS. COL. REPUBLIC

By E. J. S. HALVORSEN.

Permit me to take exceptions to the front page article by Mr. John L. Stroub, subject "Nicaragua as the largest stamp country in the world."

Whatever seems to be the object of this article is rather immaterial, but if Nicaragua is supposed to have issued more stamps than any other country, what about Colombian Republic? I must frankly admit that I never knew, never took the trouble to count them, but just now I went through Scott Cat. and find that Col. Rep.—not considering Panama nor Canal Zone—has issued nearly 1,400 stamps, disregarding paper eties—tete beche's, errors and t Also omitting such items as for ir 20 varieties of a certain stamp o I have counted the color and sha riety as per Scott, and I find tha are about 1,388 cataloged stamps. thermore, I believe, Colombian R stamps are some of the best goin if it were not for the fact that truthfully speaking—are quite and that most any collector is to tackle them," these stamps wo quite in style. Once a collector into" these adhesives and begins at least half a show, I feel sure, t will never quit, except for this very natural reason, that Col. Re mighty hard to find, in fact, outs the minor common varieties, the scarcer than the proverbial "hen's Nicaraguans do not come anywh the neighborhood of that category.

THE PRECANCEL REVIEW

By FREDERICK W. ALLEN, 401 Oak St., S. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

CHICAGO ILL. | NEW YORK N. Y. | CAMDEN N. J.

Part I—The Bureau Prints

During the past few months changes have been slowly taking place leading to a, standardization of Bureau overprintings. The above illustrations show the two styles that will be used. All orders since the first of the year have been filled in this font of type where a new precancelling roll was made. There are many old rolls that will not be scrapped until they have become worn sufficiently to warrant their being discarded, so a complete standardization will not take place for many months. Now is the time to watch the Bureaus closely, for with the changing styles there are bound to be many varieties on the 11x10½ perforation that will become quite scarce. One that I might mention is the 1½c Omaha ordinary in the old style which was superseded by the style shown by Chicago and Camden, after a single printing. In order that we may see what is taking place in the Bureau field, I shall list unchronicled items and follow with a comment.

March Orders

E. Pittsburgh, Pa.—1½, 3c coils.
Baltimore, Md.—1½c coil.
Memphis, Tenn.—3, 4, 5, 10c coils.

April Orders

Richmond, Va.—1c coil.
Richmond, Va.—1½, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10c ordinary.
Baltimore, Md.—2, 3, 4, 5, 10c coils.
Battle Creek—3c ordinary.
Girard, Kans.—3c ordinary.

May Orders
(Incomplete List)

Chicago—1½c coil.
Minneapolis—1½c ordinary.
San Francisco—1½c coil, 9c ordinary.
Kansas City—1½c coil.
New York—1½, 3c, ordinary.

East Pittsburg—The March order marks the first arrival of Bureaus at this office. The Westinghouse people will probably use the entire supply.

Baltimore—Has for many months refrained from ordering the coils, in preference to precancelling them locally with the Multipost machine. We find that the entire set of coils has been ordered except the 1c, for which there is little need because of existing rates.

Memphis—Has had the 1, 1½, 2c coils in stock since Bureau precancelling first began. Now the set is complete, but two styles will be found, as the last order must have been printed in the new. This I cannot vouch for as I have so far seen none of the 3, 4, 5 and 10c coils.

Richmond—Supplements its February order for the 1½, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10c coils, with an order for the 1c coil and the entire set of ordinaries, except the 1c.

FOR SALE

To close an Estate, the entire stock of postage stamps of a dealer who commenced business in 1874, and who held much of the stock accumulated by him up to 1900. This stock is a large and valuable one, and at least 85% is 19th Century, British Colonial and foreign, used and unused, much of the latter in mint sheets.

No 19th Century United States, nor early British North America pre-confederation. Canada from 1871 to date very strong, Newfoundland from 1880, also.

Prospective purchasers would require to come to Halifax to examine stock. We will be pleased to answer any enquiries on this matter. [58

25th Anniversary Announcement

During the past six months these little ads have given lists of rare and fine items in U. S. postage stamps which altogether probably comprise a list of unusual or unique items the like of which has never been published by any dealer, anywhere, at any time.

The lists, of course, are not complete. They include only selections here and there from a collection of nearly one hundred volumes, and many items not mentioned are equally rare or equally desirable. Many of these items have been sold and now grace some of the foremost collections in America and the British Isles, but thousands of other beautiful stamps, blocks and covers are still available and want lists are solicited on all general issues after 1856. Five dollar orders receive the same courteous attention given to five thousand dollar orders. The sales referred to, without exception, have been bona fide transfers to new owners. Items for which I could find no buyer and which were returned (I don't say "sold back"), to the original owner are not reckoned as "sales". I have not found it necessary to exaggerate my own importance as a dealer by inflating statements of purchases or sales, nor by distorting facts, nor by committing assault and mayhem on the truth. Rather, I am quite satisfied to let facts speak for themselves, well knowing that he who blinds himself to them makes of himself either a liar or a fool—if not both.

Dealers whose reputation is of value and whose reliability is unquestioned are easily to be found and the wise collector will know how to seek them. I get my share of the good things. My job is to see that my customers get their share of them. If this sort of dealing appeals to you I'll be glad to serve you. [H

EDGAR C. CANTRELL, P. O. Box 1267, San Antonio, Texas

They must have liked the looks of the Bureau work, judging from the short time that elapsed after the original requisition.

Battle Creek—Adds the 3c ordinary to the 1, 1½ and 2c in the old style. These are fairly scarce with the exception of the 1½c, so it is logical to presume that the 3c will be fairly difficult to secure.

Girard, Kans.—Requests the 3c ordinary, making a total of three items to complete its set. As the Haldemann-Julius Co. is the only large user of Girard precancels, they will doubtless purchase most of these three cent Bureaus.

Chicago, Ill.—Reached me today, (June 10th) on the 1½c coil in the illustrated style. This means other varieties should follow soon.

Minneapolis—I have a report that the next order for the 1½c ordinary will be precancelled in the new style shown by Camden and Chicago. None have appeared yet.

San Francisco—Has had a worn plate for some time, so it does not surprise me to see the 1½c coil and 9c ordinary in the style shown by New York.

Kansas City—Is also going to come in the three line type. I have it on the 1½c coil.

New York—Was the first to break loose with the standard style in three lines. The 1½ and 3c have appeared to date and by the time this reaches your eyes, others of the set will likely be out.

Information on hand enables me to tip off readers of this column that these offices will shortly have Bureau precancels in the new standard style: Muncie, Worcester, St. Paul and Providence.

Part II—Miscellaneous

Lankershim, Calif.—The 1½c mentioned in my last article will undoubtedly be a "classic." Burt C. Wear, formerly sales manager of the P. S. S. advises that: "The name of this office was changed to North Hollywood over a year ago. I think 1½c precancels were used for about six months before the change in name. From a block I have the device appears to be a four-unit handstamp."

Henry F. Kinnear of Los Angeles also writes as follows: "I read with interest your Precancel Notes in the last issue of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. I see you list one from Lankershim, Calif. I am not a collector of Precancels, but suggest that this would be a good item to hold on to as this city was recently annexed to the City of Los Angeles. I drove thru there a week or so ago and note that they have changed the name Lankershim to North Hollywood least they have taken the Lanke name off the railway station and p the name of North Hollywood. T the best thing they do out here, c the names of cities and streets. time there is a new City Council immediately start in changing nam

San Rafael, Calif.—Has beco precancelling office. Besides a pla 73 handstamp, it has been furnis U-12 electro plate. The latter sho prettily on a 10c at hand.

Santa Monica, Calif.—Is preca ling with the smaller U-13 elect have it on the 12, 13, and 20c.

Dinuba, Calif.—Is a newcome first appears to me on a 6c in the style of handstamp.

Oroville, Calif.—Is out with an in the U-73 style. The 6, 7, 11, an have been seen by me.

La Salle, Ill.—Has a U-12 el plate. The specimen I saw was printed in a grey ink and rather r bled a handstamped impression.

Warren, O.—Is still another tion to the list of offices employin U-12 electro.

Fort Dodge, Iowa—Changes t small U-13 style from the U-10. sides the 10c of the current issue, I acquired the 1, 2 and 5c.

Newark, O.—Has long used n tudes of precancels, all of which been handstamped in a soluble ink. we need not fear their soaking for is a U-12 electro plate doing the wo

Stevens Point, Wis.—Never made much of a flare in the prec world, and I was quite surprised to that they now have a three line electro plate at that office. This is out by a 15c of the current series arrived a few days ago.

Paterson, N. J.—Is precance with a mimeograph. As precance this sort are always good propert will be interesting to hunt for them Minneapolis, Minn.—On the 10c in the U-13 electro is a hard ite match. It came to me in a depart store job lot, so there is nothing "pho about it.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Appears in U-12 style on the 20c with the over reading horizontally. This leads n agree with Prof. Gamber, who show a specimen, that the cancellation is set especially for the rectangular denominations. There are varietie spacing that seem to bear out this tention.

Denver, Colo.—The serif type i trated in a recent issue is evident new plate, although it seems very str when the U-12 style superseded the but a short time ago. In the new ver overprint I have the 9, 15, 30 50c, besides the 20c which was the of the series to come forth.

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

Tucked away in the Postal Bulletin, hardly visible to the naked eye, there appeared the following: "Discontinued—Massachusetts, 4985, Hartford, Conn. to Holyoke. From June 15th. (Not necessary)". In other words, the first motorcycle feeder route has passed out of the picture. Watch the covers that were carried on the first trips take a shoot up in value!

******

Another announcement comes as a distinct shock. The Ford Motor Co., contractors of route 6, have asked to be relieved of the contract, effective July 19th, 1928. The opening of the feeder route from Toledo to Detroit is the cause of the discontinuance of CAM No. 6; as no mention is made of CAM No. 7, it is reasonable to suppose that this will be discontinued as soon as the new Michigan route gets going. The Ford Motor Co. took hold of the mail contracts at a time when private interests were somewhat chary of investing in the new venture and their example was all that was needed to demonstrate to private contractors the possibilities of Air Mail. Covers from this route will undoubtedly become very scarce on the open market, for in addition to being the first privately operated CAM, there has always been a sentimental interest in anything pertaining to Henry Ford and the covers have always been good property.

******

R. E. Richard has called my attention to the fact that on the recent First Flight, northbound, of CAM No. 17, covers out of Richmond, Va., bear the machine cancellation of May 1st, 10 P. M., while the First Flight cachet is dated May 2nd!

******

Are you all set for July 10th? Here is the latest dope. Special cancellations will be used at CEDAR RAPIDS, IA., and LINCOLN, NEB., ONLY, according to the Postal Bulletin. Other stops are Des Moines, Ia., and Omaha, Neb. Westbound plane will leave Chicago on July 10th at 5.45 A. M. and the return plane will leave Lincoln, Neb., at 2.45 P. M., same date. This trip has no bearing on the Transcontinental plane, so save your money and not send covers to point on CAM 18.

******

My co-operators are doing great! The past few days have brought in items from S. D. Ravenel, Jr., R. E. Richard, Anna M. Schafer, A. A. Leve, Victor Donatelli, Walter Bruggmann, Fred Baumgartner and L. B. Gatchell. Don't forget the change in address for the Summer months—Buzzards Bay, Mass. Or if in a hurry, 24 Milk Street, Boston, Mass. My stenog will be on the job if I fail to show up.

******

Tulsa, Okla., will be served from Ponca City, Okla., effective on July 5th. The plane will connect at the latter city with the Southbound plane from Chicago at 4.10 A. M., arriving in Tulsa at 5.20 A. M. The return plane leaves Tulsa at 6.30 P. M., the Northbound plane being due at Ponca City at 10.50 P. M.

******

Yes, I sympathize with you, but it costs me money, too! If I ever stop and check back to see what these new routes are costing, am afraid that it will spoil my vacation. So I am not going to do it! This little Tulsa affair means 18 covers to a set and as for the Michigan Blanket—well, you count 'em, I haven't the courage! Wish the 5c rate was working!

SPECIAL AIR MAIL NOTE

Post Office Dept. announces the new 5c stamp will go on sale at Washington on July 25th. The design is described as follows:—

"The new stamp is a horizontal rectangle 1 3/32nds by 1 15/32nds inches in size, and is printed in two colors, the outer border in red and the vignette in blue. The central design represents the beacon light on Sherman Hill, in the Rocky Mountains, with a mail plane in flight at the left. In a panel at the top of the stamp are the words "U. S. Postage" in white Roman letters, and on the ribbons directly beneath, supported by acanthus scrolls, are the words "Air" on the left and "Mail" on the right. Ornamental designs appear in both upper corners and both lower corners, within circles with dark backgrounds, is the white numeral "5". A white bordered panel at the bottom of the stamp contains the word "Cents" in white Roman letters."

THE "FAMOUS" ST. HELENA 7sh6d

By Th. Berg.

(We feel that we have now given sufficient space to this vexed question of the market value of the St. Helena 7sh 6d and this communication will end the discussion. Were we to continue it, we might lay ourselves open to even stronger criticism. The poor editor knows but little about stamp values.—W. O. W.)

I notice that efforts are still being made to boost the now quite famous St. Helena 7/6. It is already several weeks ago that in one of my advts. in your paper I dealt with this stamp, and pointed out that it was then still current. The occasion for that statement was that certain parties had been trying to boost this stamp. I follow very closely the principal markets for British Colonials, and dare say that this "promotion" of the 7/6 took place only in the American market, and I consider it rather outrageous that collectors should be made to believe that the stamp was worth more than 100% over face. The men responsible for the boosting undoubtedly acted in good faith, and it must be considered as the acme of decency on their part to ask merely $5.00 for a stamp of such high face value—a stamp that was supposed to have become obsolete under such promising circumstances. It is nothing short of charity!

More recent developments seem to show that the rumors about this stamp have now crossed the ocean because I notice that some unknown British "expert" pronounces it as "the best stamp of the month." It is now only for him to tell us definitely of which month! It is certainly not "the best stamp of any past months" because it is still current. The source of my information cannot be questioned, and my latest advices were received only a few days ago.

It is not for me to say (and I am rather sure that it is not for anyone in the philatelic world to say) when this stamp will become obsolete. It is just as liable as any other current stamp to be withdrawn at any time.

While I wish to compliment you, Mr. Editor, on the great amount of really original and very useful information which you are able to pass on to your dealers, I think it is time for every editor to realize their responsibilities when it comes to accepting contributions purporting to contain "financial advice" in connection with stamps.

While on the subject of "market tips" may I at the same time kill the tip given on the Gibraltar 20/- in new colors. The information given some months ago in a leading American journal that this value would, or possibly might, change colors seems to be quite without any foundation because it is now already several weeks ago that a new printing was ordered.

We can no doubt thank these same "experts" for the boom which during recent months has existed in the various 20/- stamps on red paper. Some of the gossipers had it that the red paper would not at all be used for the 20/- stamps in the future—others knew to tell us that the long awaited change in watermark would take place. Of course, we all know that the Crown Agents' supply of block wmk. red paper is not going to last forever—but I am quite sure that no news regarding changes leak out of No. 4 Millbank. It may interest your readers to know that stamps like the Nigeria No. 12 and Sierra Leone 119 have been despatched to the respective Colonies during quite recent months.

PLEASE NOTE that on July 1 I go to my fishing camp in Canada, to be gone till Sept. 15th. Letters addressed to 15 John St., New York, will be forwarded, but as far as stamps are concerned, there will be nothing doing till Sept. 15th. Life's too short to endure a New York summer. [56

By CORNELIUS WRINKLE
(F. J. Melville, Postage Stamp)

A "Royal" Congress. — June will witness the fifteenth Philatelic Congress of Great Britain in London under the auspices of the Royal Philatelic Society, and I have no doubt it will be one of the most notable in the series of these gatherings. The proceedings will open with a reception by the President and Fellows of the Royal Philatelic Society, on Monday, June 25th, and the formal business of Congress will be taken daily from Tuesday, 26th, to Friday the 29th. A number of interesting visits will be mingled with a variety of entertainments, including a concert and dance. An exhibition of rarities at the Royal Philatelic Society's headquarters, at 41 Devonshire Place, is announced for Tuesday, June 26th.

* * *

Old Friends and New.—I hope to have the pleasure of meeting many of the provincial and country readers of The Postage Stamp at some of the Congress gatherings. Both the business meetings and the entertainments afford very pleasurable opportunities for renewing old acquaintanceships and making new ones, and this is, after all, one of the most delightful features of the annual "meet." At the time of writing, we know not what business is coming before this year's Congress, the titles of papers not being yet announced. But as they include papers by Mr. W. Dorning Beckton, Capt. H. R. Oldfield, Dr. Byam, and Mr. J. M. Wilson, there should be a good variety of themes under discussion. One wonders rather why, when gentlemen of their standing write papers for reading at Congress, it is found impossible (or perhaps considered inadvisable) to disclose the titles of their papers.

SCOTT STAMP AND COIN CO.

Moving Time.—After about twenty years, the Junior Philatelic Society has just undergone a "flitting." The old premises at 44 Fleet Street are coming down, and are probably by this time in the hands of the demolishers. So the Society's offices will now be found just a few doors away, at No. 33 Fleet Street, where also will be found the offices of Mr. H. F. Johnson.

* * *

Captain Crouch's Collections.—Messrs. Plumridge and Co.'s sale catalogue for June 14th and 15th, recalls some of my happiest philatelic memories and the greatest of my philatelic sorrows. The sale comprises the collection of my old chum, Captain Lionel Crouch, of the 1st Bucks Battalion of the Oxford and Bucks Light Infantry, who was killed in action near Pozières, on July 21, 1916. He was then but twenty-nine years of age. He was Vice-President of the Junior Philatelic Society, to which he bequeathed his fine philatelic library.

He was a very constant and delightful contributor to The Postage Stamp, and was deputising for the Editor when the war broke out. The Editor was unable to get back from a trip in which he had intended to visit Finland, Russia and Germany, and Crouch, who was already a captain in the 1st Bucks Volunteer Corps, had to relinquish all philatelic work and his profession of the law.

His stamp collections, which were extensive, were formed "more by dint of persevering search and research, than by lavish expenditure." I am sorry that they should have to be broken up, especially the Hayti and the Honduras. They were preserved by his father, Mr. William Crouch, who died in February this year, and left instructions that they were to be sold by auction. They include chiefly interesting collections of United States, France, Hayti, Honduras and Carlist stamps of Spain.

* * *

An American Exhibition. — May should have proved a memorable one for philatelists in the Midwestern States of the U. S. A., for from the 21st to 26th, there was held in Cleveland, Ohio, the first Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition. Without striving to compete in scope and magnificence with the New York International Exhibition of 1926, it appears to have been well planned, and ably advertised.

* * *

A Famous Philatelic "Burg." — Cleveland is no mean city, even philatelically. It was the headquarters and home of the greatest of the American general collectors, the late Mr. George H. Worthington. With him was associated one of the most experienced professional philatelists in the United States, Mr. Alvin Good. Among other early memories of Cleveland friends, I recall Mr. O. S. Hart, who was one of the first to try and plate the New York "postmaster" stamp, and Mr. W. H. Barnum, one-time secretary of the American Philatelic Society.

* * *

Its Influential Coterie.—In this Ohio city there has existed for nearly forty years a small but continuously active philatelic society, whose double-barrelled name—"The Garfield-Perry Stamp Club"—will conjure up memories for many an old-time collector, and for the philatelic literaturist. The Club has its permanent quarters with meeting room in Prospect-Fourth Building, and meets every Friday. It has never been a big society numerically, but it has always been remarkable for the quality of studentship among its members, among them, in addition to those already mentioned, Mr. J. V. Painter, Charles L. Pack, John F. Rust, J. C. Sanderson, and Dr. T. H. Tubman.

* * *

£100,000,000 in "Facsimiles."—Work is progressing on the albums of Fournier Facsimiles, but the magnitude of the task undertaken by the Union Philatélique de Geneva is colossal. An inventory has been taken of the facsimiles dealt with, and they amount at catalogue value of the stamps they represent to Swiss francs 2,354,875,070, or in the neighbourhood of £100,000,000. This is without counting the millions of soiled and defective facsimiles which have been destroyed in bulk. It becomes more than ever clear that the Geneva Society has rendered a most distinguished service to Philately in clearing this vast stock of spurious stamps from the market.

* * *

The Soviet Government.—The Soviet Government has started an air service linking Moscow with Teheran, Persia and Kabul. So Afghanistan has now its first air route. The service, later on, may include Erzerum, Sivas and other Turkish towns and possibly Angora.

* * *

The New Germany.—Germany has announced her intention of issuing an eight and a fifteen pfennig stamp with the designs of her two presidents, Ebert and von Hindenburg, in June. The official decree does not state whether the stamps showing pictures of Goethe and Kant will be withdrawn. The Frederick the Great stamp will be retained however.

* * *

Explorers on Stamps.—New Caledonia, the French Colony in the Pacific, has just been given an entirely new s of pictorial stamps. The higher va bear portraits of Bougainville and Pérouse, two eighteenth-century Fr explorers, while other stamps show v of the Colony.—Daily Mail, 7-5-28.

* * *

"Daily Telegraph" Exhibition Olympia.—The Daily Telegraph is ganising a great Exhibition of Anti and Works of Art at Olympia, to held from July 19th to August 1st year. The exhibition will cover m phases of collecting, including post stamps, and the President of the J. P has consented to act on the Execu Committee. Most philatelists, and stamp trade, will recognise the not service the Daily Telegraph has rende to Philately in maintaining the regu Thursday "Postage Stamps" feat which has been contributed by Mr. M ville for eighteen years or so. For greater part of the time the "D. T." v the only great newspaper which ope its columns to a regular feature on sta collecting.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that phil elists and dealers will readily acc their sympathetic support to the Da Telegraph exhibition, and any read who can assist or wish to have parti lars are requested to write to Mr. M ville as early as possible.

Postage Stamps And Their Use As Illustrative Material

The British Empire has not been lavish with its commemoratives. Besides those previously mentioned in connection with the Near and Middle East (Hongkong, India, and Tonga), only the following have appeared:

1497—Discovery of Newfoundland by John Cabot. A beautiful set illustrative of the chief occupation of the inhabitants of the island—lumbering, mining, hunting, and fishing. There are also portraits of Henry VII and John Cabot, and a picture of the Matthew.

1498—Columbus' discovery of Grenada (1898) and of Trinidad (1898). St. Lucia commemorated the fourth centenary of its discovery four years later.

1605—Annexation of Barbados by the crew of the English ship, Olive Blossom (1905).

1608—Founding of Quebec (Canada, 1908). Portraits of Cartier, Champlain, Montcalm, Wolfe, King Edward VII, and Queen Alexandra, and King George V and Queen Mary (then Prince and Princess of Wales) are shown. Cartier's fleet, Champlain's house, or rather fort) in Quebec, and Quebec itself (1700) also appear.

1609—Landing of Sir George Somers in Bermuda (1909).

1610—Settlement of Newfoundland by John Guy (1910). Portraits of James I, John Guy, and Lord Bacon, "the guiding spirit in the colonization scheme."

1620—Establishment of representative institutions in Bermuda (1920).

1788—Founding of New South Wales (1888). Captain Cook, Captain Phillip (the first governor) and Lord Carrington (governor in 1888) appear.

1805—Battle of Trafalgar. Issued by Barbados (1906), in the capital of which (Bridgetown), according to the stamp, was erected the first monument to Nelson (1813). Actually the first monument to him was erected in Montreal in 1808.

1837—Accession of Queen Victoria (1897). Great Britain, Barbados, British Guiana, Canada, the Leeward Islands, Mauritius, and New South Wales, all issued special stamps to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee. In addition the Newfoundland issue of 1897 commemorated the queen's accession as well as Cabot's discovery.

1901—Boer War (New Zealand, 1901), "The Empire's Call."

1905—Opening of the Victoria Falls Bridge across the Zambesi (Rhodesia, 1905).

1910—Visit of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught to Rhodesia on behalf of King George V and Queen Mary, who are pictured on the stamps (1910). The death of Edward VII made it impossible for the new king and queen to make the projected visit in person.

1910—Union of Cape Colony, Natal, Transvaal, and Orange River Colony in the Union of South Africa (1910).

1911—Coronation of George V (Newfoundland, 1911). The eleven values bear portraits of the king and queen, their six children, the queen mother, the Duke of Connaught, uncle of the king, and the seal of the Colony.

1918—End of the Great War (Newfoundland, 1918). Picture of a caribou and inscription "Trail of the Caribou" on each stamp. Twelve values, eight of them bearing names of battles in which Newfoundland troops took part. New Zealand and Barbados also put forth "Victory Stamps" a year later.

Religion, literature and the other arts, and in a lesser degree, science, have been the subjects of a considerable number of commemorative stamps.

Stamps with a scientific theme are just four in number—a French stamp celebrating the centenary of the birth of Pasteur (1923), a Netherland stamp celebrating the centenary of the founding of the Royal Dutch Lifeboat Society, and two Russian stamps, both issued in 1925, the one commemorating the bicentenary of the founding of the Russian Academy of Science, the other in honor of Popoff and his researches in wireless telegraphy.

Stamps with a religious theme are more numerous. As has already been related some of the ordinary stamps of Bavaria, the Virgin Islands, Liechtenstien, and Malta bear rather symbolic portraits of the Virgin Mary and the Apostle Paul, while Las Casas is portrayed on a stamp of the Dominican Republic. However, Portugal and some of her colonies

Senn Club's Annual

By Manley L. Behrens.

The Senn Stamp Club's fifth semi-annual soiree and stamp exhibition held in the auditorium and main dining room of the North End Club of Chicago on June 8, 1928, was well attended and was an entire success in every way, there being thirty of thirty-four members and fifty guests present. The exhibits were of a very high order, there being four classes in which there were a total of fifteen entries. The winners and their entries were:

1. Neatest Arrangement (not most elaborate, but most serviceable for collection purposes)—First, Gilbert Force, with a collection of U. S. mounted on quadrilled sheets with lined squares around each stamp and appropriate illustrations for commemorative issues; Second, Edwin Zimmer, with the country of Carinthia taken from his collection, the pages had a hand drawn border with the stamps mounted on a black background.

2. Most Complete Country—Frank Cunningham and Manley Behrens tied for a first place, both having the country of Liechtenstein complete and equally well mounted.

3. Historically Interesting—First, Cramer MacMillan, with a collection of patriotic covers with a footnote about the history or meaning of each; Second, Edwin Zimmer, with a very good historical article centered around King Edward VII as shown on the 12-cent Newfoundland stamp of 1910.

4. The Largest Number of Countries—Won by Todd Ebbers with one hundred and ninety-two countries represented. (This class was for Juniors only.)

The announcements were made by Raymond Hamer as though over a radio, a microphone being used on the stage, and the whole stage program being conducted as though in a broadcasting station. All plays were written entirely by members of the Club, and with the exception of one or two parts all the acting was done by members. The second original playlet on the program, "The Playactor," had for its plot the sale of a valuable stamp collection.

Philately—King of Hobbies

By Ralph J. Taylor.

Philately holds the position in the world today of being one of the largest and most extensive, if not the largest and most extensive hobby. The word philately comes from the Greek words loving and free of tax.

The fancy for this interesting hobby began shortly after the first British one and two penny stamps were issued, this was in 1840. Dr. Gray, an official of the British Museum, began to collect them soon after their appearance. It was not until 1842 however that the hobby began to be carried on with regard to such details as watermarks, perforations, different kinds of paper, and distinctive outline. In the same year that excellent British magazine, Punch, ridiculed the "collection of worthless bits of paper," as it was then considered.

Probably the first attention paid to the systematic collection of postage stamps by countries was in 1842 when a teacher in Paris instructed his pupils to paste stamps on the pages of their atlases and geographies according to countries. Paris collectors were the first to classify stamps, measure them by the gauge, and separate the distinct issues of each country.

Small bodies of English, French and American stamp enthusiasts formed themselves into clubs as early as 1865; however, the great English society, The Philatelic Society of London, was not formed until 1869. The leading society in America today is the American Philatelic Association; the Societe Francaise de Timbrologie leads the list of philatelic clubs in France.

Around the World Letters

By Philip H. Ward, Jr.

I have Mr. Maurer's favor of the 15th relative to "Around the World" letters, and in reply would advise that the Post Office Department frowns upon such procedure and does not countenance the sending of letters around the world. As a result, I doubt whether today a communication could be so mailed. The usual way is to place a 5-cent stamp upon the letter and should it be mailed from Boston, it should be addressed to Robert L. Maurer, % Postmaster, San Francisco. On the back in pencil, notation should be made that letter should be returned to Boston, via then mention—Japan, etc., where the letter is to pass through. Request should also be made that each postmaster postmark the communication.

As postmasters have been instructed to hold up such letters, I doubt whether they would meet with much success.

Kaieteur Falls

Kaieteur Falls, pictured on the 2c and 10c values of the British Guiana Jubilee issue of 1898, is one of the greatest natural wonders of the colony. The waterfall, discovered in 1870, is formed by the waters of the Potaro river, a tributary of the Esseguibo. The river plunges with a sheer descent of 741 feet over hard ledge of rock, 370 feet wide, whose underlying soft layers are worn back into an enormous black cavern, against which the white spray appears with wonderful effect. The surrounding scenery is grand and picturesque, the whirlpool below the fall being surrounded by a beautiful natural amphitheatre.—Clark Cooper.

Here and There

Our lady friends talk about whether they should have bobbed hair or not. Then if they have it bobbed, whether to let it stay that way or have it grow out again. If all the ladies had a set of Congo stamps of 1923-27, they surely could get some ideas on how (?) to dress up their hair. Look at the damsel pictured on the five centime value; looks like the horn of a sword fish. This is by far the most exaggerated style of the lot.

* * *

A stamp that always appeals is the Newfoundland half cent stamp of 1887 and 1896 showing a full faced view of a big Newfoundland dog. This dog has such an intelligent look that he makes friends with everyone. Altho the dog is a common domestic animal and found in all parts of the world, his picture has not appeared on postage stamps as much as other domestic or wild animals.

* * *

I sometimes wonder what kind of wild or domestic fowl can make such tracks as the surcharges on the stamps of Nejd. Owing to the price of most of them, only a few need worry as to whether they have them in their albums right side up or not. Scott's catalogue says that these surcharges sometimes come inverted, double, etc. What can the, "etc.," stand for? I think a person would need more than two hands to help him talk to explain that, let alone translate them.—A. C. LeDuc.

Sharki-El-Erdon.—An inscription in Arabic on Palestine E. E. F. stamps meaning "East of Jordan."

6 De Marzo De 1845—5 De Junio De 1895.—These inscriptions on Ecuador 1896 issue can be easily translated. The set was issued to commemorate two triumphs of the Liberal party, one in 1845 when it secured temporary supremacy and the other in 1895, its final ascendency to power.

Smilten.—This is a small town in Livonia situated on the Abuka River with a population of about 3,500 and occupied by Bolshevists in 1918. In 1919 under the Estonian Occupation Forces, certain Russian stamps were surcharged for the Lettonian post. The town being without stamps, the commander of the occupying forces ordered Russian stamps lying at the post office to be overprinted and used. The issue was limited, only one value being surcharged, the 25 kap.

S. N. D. A.—These four letters are prominently displayed on all values of the Dante commemorative set issued by Italy in 1921. They represent the patriotic Italian society "Societa Nazionale Dante Alighieri" in whose interests the stamps were issued.

The Leeward Islands

The Leeward Islands is a British Colony in the West Indies consisting of five groups of islands called presidencies. These presidencies are Antigua, with Barbuda and Redonda; St. Christopher and Nevis with Anguilla; Dominica; Montserrat; and the Virgin Islands. They all have local legislatures except the Virgin Islands. There is a legislative Council for the whole colony and subordinate to it are these local legislatures. In 1890, a set of stamps was issued for use by the entire colony and the stamps that had been used by the separate groups were discontinued. There is still a general issue for the Leeward Islands, but in recent years all five presidencies have had their own sets as well.—A. C. LeDuc.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

(Los Angeles Record, JAS. D. CARR)

Brethren and sisters, this stamp thing is really getting interesting. Like Catherine, the cat, fishing, or religion, when I get on a hobby I ride the poor old wood horse to the boneyard; I yet remain an enthusiastic kid.

After 35 years I became stamp-minded again and for some weeks my reading, my conversation and my eagle eye—Diamond Dick, the Demon of the Prairies—have been severally devoted to stamps. Remarkable what a fellow can discover in this placid routine if he gets an idea and keeps on its tail.

I have been pursuing stamps, especially old United States stamps, for some weeks and I have had the privilege of prowling some aged attics and I emerge from the dust with some experiences.

It was in 1892 that the Willamette river froze; ships were frozen in solid in Portland harbor; the spring of that year was a tuff one; there was smallpox all through the northwest; loggers came to town and died like flies; that was the year when high winds roiled the lower Columbia and big barks were blown upon sand spits.

In half a dozen old letters in an attic I read that bit of history, and it happens to be history.

Uncle Sam came out of the Civil war—I don't know why they call it civil, it was one of the most impolite wars in history—but, anyhow, Uncle Sam came out of the Civil war flat busted. So for years after said war he hung revenue stamps on every activity of his citizens. In another batch of letters I found diplomas for penmanship with 2-cent internal revenue stamps on them; mortgages with $2 stamps on them, high school and teaching certificates with revenue stamps on them.

I guess I'll start in and collect "original envelopes." Stamps alone tell you nothing, but a 3-cent stamp of '18 with a "Food will win the war, don't waste it," might carry an idea to my grandchildren 50 years from now—just as my Queen Lil H. T., my Panama, my Philippine stamps carry a story to me.

Stamps are no more pieces of paper than are banknotes. With my spare dimes I am building up in son's stamp album a history of the World war; occupation stamps, surcharges, bolshevik, memorial, Red Cross, semi-postals.

They are easy to get today, most collectors curse them heartily; but 40 years from today one of the German surcharged "five milliard" stamps is going to be very precious. I remember the time when United States locals were despised; try and buy a few dozen today. And the World war was a bigger thing than Wells-Fargo or the Pony Express.

There is a universe in any given microcosm.

NEW AIR MAIL STAMP

A new 5-cent air mail stamp, printed in red and blue, will be issued in Washington on July 25th.

For one dollar we will mail you an unused single, an unused block of four, and a first day cover on the day of issue. The cover will be a red, white and blue striped air mail envelope, mailed direct to you by air mail on the day of issue. All stamps will be picked copies, perforated on four sides.

Ten unused copies, including a plate number, will be supplied for one dollar.

A first day cover of a block of four will be supplied with either of the above two offers for 75c additional.

U. S. 1847 ISSUES

I recently had the pleasure of offering the interested collector the pick from one of the two finest collections of 1847 5-cent and 10-cent, ever gotten together. This collection, along with a second famous lot of the same stamps, contained the cream of our first issue. It was through these collections that the plating of the 10-cent was made possible.

One of my clients has recently acquired the larger and choicest portion of this second collection, and after picking out items which were wanted to add to a collection made on certain lines, he has turned over to me to sell for his account, the balance, which includes some of the finest 1847 pieces ever offered.

For instance, I note in the way of the—

1847 Railroad Cancellations

As the well known collection of 1847 gotten together by Congressman Ernest R. Ackerman is being broken, it is well to record the railroad cancellations found on the issue of 1847, for it is doubtful if this lot is separated, as to whether such a fine lot will ever be gotten together again. Mr. Ackerman has been collecting the stamps of this issue for many years and acquired the pick from the Chase collection, which was one of the finer lots gotten together.

I do not recall seeing a list published of these cancellations in recent years, so that the following list is possibly nearer complete than any other. Should our readers have any additional items, I would be glad to learn of their existence, so that they might be recorded.

New 5c Air Mail Stamp

On June 19th, the Postmaster General officially announced that on July 25, 1928, the new 5-cent Air Mail stamp will be issued in Washington, and will be on sale at the Philatelic Agency for the benefit of collectors. The stamp will be available at all important post offices by August 1st, for use in connection with the new air mail rate which becomes effective on that day. The rate will be 5 cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each additional ounce, regardless of distance. The present air mail rate is 10 cents per half ounce.

The new stamp is to be printed in two colors—red and blue, the center being in the latter color. It is a horizontal rectangle in shape, 1 15/32 inches long and 1 3/32 inches high. The central design represents the beacon light on Sherman Hill in the Rocky Mountains, with a mail plane in flight at the left. In a panel at the top of the stamp are the words, "U. S. Postage" in white Roman letters, and on ribbons directly beneath, supported by acanthus scrolls, are the words "Air" on the left and "Mail" on the right. Ornamental designs appear in both upper corners and in both lower corners and within circles with dark backgrounds, is the white numeral "5." A white bordered panel at the bottom of the stamp contains the word "Cents" in white Roman letters.

As thousands of these stamps must be printed, there is always the likelihood of the variety being found with the inverted center. In the case of such recent issues, as the Norse-American varieties, the stamps were inspected sever and the Post Office sent a repre to see that no errors occurred. stamp becomes a regular issue be constantly printed, no such will be probable, so that collec warned to watch available stocks offices, in the hopes that one m the good fortune of locating prized sheet.

1924, 1c Walloon

Rev. H. K. Roberson has kin mitted for inspection a lower pla of six from Plate 15759, of the Walloon, wherein certain const fects are noted, leading me to that the variety is caused by a d the transfer roll. Between the "E" of "CENTS," we find a slig spot which extends upward thro frame line. This is quite disti noticeable on three of the stam can be seen on close inspection of the others. No doubt, it oc many other stamps of the same Azores.—"As the current Parcel Post stamps are being finished with, I have received several letters from the Azores with Parcel Post adhesives instead of the current Ceres type of the Lisbon Mint."—C. J. CHAMBERS, Oporto. —Stamp Collecting.

Fiji.—Mr. R. Roberts under date of June 8th writes as follows: Fiji £1:—I have just received a supply of this duty in a very brilliant shade of colour from a new plate 13, two controls at top margin only, the first printing of this Die II stamp was from pl. 10 in a very worn state of the plate, the frame lines being thin and emaciated and almost printing double, whereas in the present issue the lines are thick and bold and the colour much deeper. There is a sheet number over the right hand top corner stamp, these stamps having been issued in sheets of 60, though sometimes the sheet is from the left pane and sometimes from the right pane. Although they were evidently printed in sheets of 120, they were cut in two and numbered in sheets of 60.

Guadeloupe.—To be issued on June 18th, New series, Ordinary postage: 1, 2, 4, 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 40, 45, 50, 65, 75, 90c, 1fr; 1fr 05, 1fr 10, 1fr 50, 2, 3, 5, 10 and 20 francs. New series, Postage Due: 2, 4, 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 50, 60c; 1, 2, and 3 francs. The current sets, both ordinary and unpaid, will be withdrawn from sale on the 16th inst.—Stamp Collecting.

Iceland.—We have received from Mr. W. T. Wilson a copy of the 10a red, type of A8, with a surcharge of an airplane in black.

Irish Free State.—A proposal to issue a special series of stamps for the Tailteann Games is receiving a good deal of support in the Irish press. So far, only slogan postmarks have been used to advertise these events. We should certainly like to see a series of Irish commemoratives.—Philatelic Magazine.

Siam.—Whitfield King & Co. have received the 2s chocolate, King's Head type, and understand that the 3, 15, 25 and 50 satangs of this new issue have appeared.

Uruguay.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 5m black, Artigas design, and advises that he has received the following additional values: 1c violet, 2c green, 3c olive-bistre, 5c red, 8c blue, 10c orange-brown, 15c slate, 20c sepia, 24c carmine, 50c grey and 1p yellow-green. Also in a larger size picturing the Statue of Artigas on horseback, 2p blue and chocolate and 3p lake and black.

—Proposed Convention Cancellation Prohibited by the Post Office Dept.

(Circular Letter from Houston P. M.)

I regret to return the covers which you have been good enough to send us for the special cancellation of the National Democratic Convention which the Philatelic Society of Houston has furnished this office.

The Post Office Department has ruled that our special cancellation cannot be permitted. See quotation from Departmental letter.

"The Department has consistently declined to permit the use of special cancellations except on mail matter passing over first flights on new air mail routes. We receive many requests from various parts of the country to commemorate more or less important events, but it is the consensus of opinion that the promiscuous use of special cancellations will detract from their value and tend to defeat their purpose in commemorating new air mail routes.

I appreciate your interest in this matter and regret that the desired permission can not be granted."

I assure you that it has been a pleasure to handle your covers and apply the special cancellations on them, but now we will have to comply with the desires of the Department at Washington.

I believe that you will agree that using special cancellations too often will be injurious to the interest in commemorating First Flights.

We are very pleased to receive the application for membership from Billy Burr, who is without doubt one of our Juniors and is much interested in the WEEKLY. Our Junior Page has proven a great success in holding as permanent subscribers, many of the boys and girls who take out trial subscriptions. There are many who write that this page is the first one they read upon receiving the paper.

Our subscribers are well aware that we have a familiar slogan upon our renewal blanks. It reads, "Why not remit $2 for two years' renewal?" Col. Adams in sending in his application for membership in the Honor Club asks, "Why not remit $5 for five years renewal?" We thank him for the suggestion, but think it best to continue our present plan of using both propositions.

U. S. CIVIL WAR REVENUES

Some Notes Concerning The More Important Perforated Blocks Of All Issues And A Guide To Their Values

BY HENRY L. DEAN, 239 Windsor Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

EARLIER articles in MEKEEL'S having dealt with the Multiple Imperforate and Invert groups it now appears desirable to publicly respond to those who have inquired relative to the better perforated blocks although cognizance will doubtless be taken of all in the next edition of the Specialized catalogue.

In rating a large collection in competition all blocks of the perforated stamps fall into a natural single grouping which as a whole lags far behind the Invert and multiple Imperforate sections for the reason that the bulk of the stamps are commonplace, and also because there are a score or so of items where there are no blocks of record thus making a reasonable degree of completion impossible. The large pieces also are naturally fragile on the lines of perforations and most collectors hesitate to strain a financial point for the procurement of a block so easily reduced to some of its components.

On the other hand there are some handsome pieces available, particularly those unused items in the bicolor series, and such are always welcomed by the specialist student striving for a balanced collection.

Comments are offered on some of the top line items.

2c Third Issue
Inverted Head

Attention was directed in the October 10, 1927 issue of MEKEEL'S to the unused O. G. block of 32 (4 x 8) of this stamp, consequently further comment is superfluous except to emphasize, in view of its obvious relation to the present article, that it is far and away the most valuable block known of any of the perforated revenues. However, I have always considered that the Invert group, which clearly is the most difficult, important and expensive branch of a collection, should always be considered as a distinct unit and this feeling is invariably borne out by the action of judges at competitions. For this reason I prefer to list the large block among the "Inverts" and not with the regular perforated or rouletted stamps.

5c Black Proprietary
Rouletted

Eliminating the Invert piece just mentioned, this plain stamp represents by all odds the best perforated revenue which is now known in block form, a fine single being really difficult to secure since the paper invites thinnings and the unscrupulous fake the rouletting. It is therefore particularly gratifying to have preserved a beautiful mint block of four fresh as the day it left the press or to be accurate was when it left the channels of commerce about fifteen years ago. Originally the piece contained six subjects, but an appreciative purchaser not materializing, two stamps were removed to please customers for fine singles, thus leaving what is to my mind the outstanding revenue block exclusive of certain Imperforates.

Any discussion of its worth can be classified as academic, but I have purchased and sold enough revenues over a period of years to know who would buy such an item and believe a figure around $700.00 to be close to the mark.

$20.00 Probate of Will Always a good stamp though for some reason never participating in the price advances accorded much less worthy singles there are two blocks known to the writer, one of four and another of six. Both contain bright, fresh, centered stamps, and what is particularly remarkable is the fact that the cancellation on each is an attractive circular hand stamp. Try and secure a single specimen in similar condition.

Concerning prices I value the block of six at $500.00, which indicates at once to the informed that the present "Specialized" quotation of $300.00 on a block of four of the $200.00 stamp is much too high. As a matter of information when the residue of the Eagle collection was disposed of at a spirited sale in 1923 a beautiful block of six of the $200.00 realized $142.00, and certainly is not worth more than $250.00 today.

50c Second Issue
Sewing Machine Perforation

The unofficial perforation of certain imperforate sheets has naturally resulted in the stamp being listed under a sub reference and quite probably the general lack of interest and appreciation even today is traceable to this cause as much as rarity. It is likewise most difficult to arouse enthusiasm over items which few have ever seen, although the stamps were early recognized, and were listed by Sterling in 1888. The fact remains that there are strips of 5 and of 7, and two blocks of four, one of the latter being a particularly imposing unused piece with sheet margin at the side. This is easily the best block known among the bicolored revenues and is worth $500.00. A fine single is badly underpriced at $15.00,

1895 NEWSPAPER SET

This handsome set of 12 values was, after it had been withdrawn from issue, sold by the Government for $5.00 a set. There was, however, a shortage of the values from $5.00 and up and these were reprinted to enable complete sets to be sold.

We can offer the complete set as sold by the Government at $5.00 for $3.10, or the complete set of originals excepting the $5.00 value for $6.50. We can supply the original set complete in blocks of four excepting the $5.00 value for $30.00. The 5 high value reprints for $2.25 a set.

In case you do not need the complete set, we list below our prices for single copies, all unused.

and I do not know who can supply an uncut specimen at three times the figure.

$25.00 Second Issue

This handsome stamp in a block of four as reflected by the piece from the W. S. White collection is truly imposing, but as already suggested there is but very moderate interest in the perforated blocks and I well recall the hesitation of Mr. White in paying $250.00 for this example. Even when his fourth collection was dispersed in 1925 the sellers were astonished at the lack of appreciation of this block, and it was one of the last to be sold. While I personally declined it years ago and at two different periods since, it is probably worth a top price of $300.00 today, demand not rarity establishing this level.

$20.00 Third Issue

The fine block of four of this stamp falls in the same category as the $25.00 just discussed, except that the single stamp is naturally commoner and pairs and strips more numerous, these factors obviously affecting the block. I have just sold a pair of the vermilion and black (error) for $45.00, the fine Eagle strip of three brought just under catalogue, so judgment on the value of the block would seem to focus at $225.00 although it is removed from the market.

10c Blue Proprietary (1881)

This has always been an attractive stamp to the writer, the pleasure being in the hunt for the clean, centered specimen without thinnings, hence I am particularly interested in the two well known blocks. The best is the unused O. G. piece of nine from the Eagle collection which brought $215.00 in 1923, while I purchased an attractive used block of six two years later for $150.00.

2c Proprietary (Ultramarine)

Here is a little stamp which in the true color was generally unappreciated, for many years being listed at $5.00, until recent times, but many become confused by the lighter or milky shades of blue, and erroneously believe they own the stamp, when a comparison with the real thing would enlighten them. The real color is delicate and fugitive, and to be fully appreciated should be noted from the mint example. The most striking block is one of ten O. G. subjects originally in the Adenaw collection, but Eagle likewise had an O. G. block of four which sold for $56.00, when the catalogue on the basis of singles was $20.00. The list is tripled today and while perhaps the net for a block of four is not the mint piece is surely worth $125.00.

The foregoing appears to cover the field of blocks of the scarce stamps as known to the writer, and while no individual comments will be made on the cheaper varieties it may possibly be interesting to record at random some only of the larger and striking pieces, many of which are of real value although composed of relatively low priced stamps. The omission of others is not intended to minimize their desirability, but they are more generally known.

Stars. Many are of cut cork, and they are clean cut cancellations. Mr. Eager had a real happy day when he found the nice lot of cancellations from Lee, Mass., on an accumulation of old Civil War covers, and there were other nice cancellations of '61s, too.

The Star designs with the word UNION cut in around the five points is always very pretty on a cover. They are what should be called a "Patriotic" cancellation, and I'd like to see something like these on a Patriotic cover, to make it unanimous.

The No. 8 is not uncommon here, and can be found in blue as well as purple. It is a very clear impression as a rule. The No. 7 is cleanly struck, too, and is very unusual. The lot may show some types of Stars which you have not seen previously, and they are selected for their varying types, rather than the spectacular.

When Confederates are mentioned in the Forum there are as a rule many replies to the article, and if I have overlooked answering your communications, it is usually because I do not know the answer, and will reply when I am able to answer correctly.

While I have no check list of the actual number of towns in the Confederacy, my idea is that there were in the vicinity of 8,000 towns. It is really puzzling why so few town postmarks are found on Confederate covers. I have been saving these covers for the postmarks for maybe a year, these falling on the commoner stamps to save expenses, and I will enclose a check list herein. The great majority of covers come from the Cities, and the smaller towns are often penmarked.

Some states have very few towns represented in my list, and I presume that covers from these states are not common. Arkansas, Florida and Texas are not well represented.

SYRIA -- 1918-1921

A Magnificent Collection of the Stamps of this Country formed by the Minister of Finance and the Postmaster General of Syria.

This Collection is unique and contains many exceedingly rare uncatalogued varieties of overprint. A strict record was kept of the number of Syrian stamps printed or overprinted, and stamps of which only one, in a few cases two, and in several instances less than ten copies exist, are included.

All stamps numerated by Yvert & Tellier in mint condition and a number of Entires. Two of the latter being—A letter addressed to the President of the Syrian National Assembly and another to the President of the Syrian Constitutional Congress.

There is also a copy of the 100pi (Y. & T. No. 63), the only existing duplicate of which realised £450 and is now included in a Royal Collection.

The stamps are priced singly and specialists interested are advised to make an early application for quotations or for selections on approval.

It is really quite annoying to find a new bunch of Confederate covers, and when you have hopes of adding several to your little collection of about 100 towns out of 8,000, to find that about 75% of them are from Richmond and Charleston.

You will see from this list, which is made up by saving what towns have come in to me in the last couple of years, that the states of Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana and Texas did not do so very much letter writing in those days. Virginia with its 100 counties was by far the heaviest letter writing state, during the Civil War, in considering mail in the Confederacy. My 1916 P. O. Guide shows that James City County is listed with only six towns. This is the smallest number of towns in any Virginia County. In it the principal town is Jamestown. When I was in Virginia just prior to the Jamestown Exposition —see your U. S. Commemoratives of 1907 —visitors used to ask me the best way to get to Jamestown. They always meant the town, and it was almost impossible to direct anyone to that little hamlet, the answer being to take a motorboat. I have never seen an old cover postmarked Jamestown, Va.

STAMP MARKET GOSSIP

By "THE SEER OF THE STRAND."

Trinidad.—I am informed that the 4d of this Colony is now obsolete. I do not know if there is a likelihood of a fresh issue on script watermarked paper, but I take it that the late issue is likely to receive marked attention in catalogue revision. A few mint copies should prove remunerative at current rates.

Ascension Is.—Upon a previous occasion, I mentioned the fact that the 4d and 6d of this little island were no longer on issue. Whilst being fully cognisant that they were certain to jump, I did not at the time place any specific value upon them. It is not often that I take exception to these rises, but I say it now, emphatically, there is no justification in the 4d being priced at 8/6 and the 6d at 12/6! There has never been a shortage of these values. Every dealer of note can testify to this, and now I say to you, "Do not pay these prices." I consider the 4d to be worth 3/6 and the 6d to be worth 6/- approximately. In conclusion I may ask what is to prevent a further printing? In any event, there is little likelihood of a further rise for a considerable time.

Surinam.—Those readers who are interested in the stamps of Surinam should fill up as soon as possible while prices are reasonable—more particularly the 1926 issue, S.G. 152-9. Information has reached me that the prices now being asked in Holland are four to five Gibbons' catalogue figures, and the every possibility of further increase Costa Rica.—I have noticed a shortage of the 10c on 12c carmine bergh Commemorative air-stamp o country (S.G. 174). My informati to the effect that 20,000 were overpr but I also know that 10,000 of these cornered by one firm. The other also appear to have entirely disapp Certain it is that I do not know dealer who has a stock of these. doubt we shall see some of them ently, but in the meantime I advi readers interested not to be coerce paying fancy prices. Only by this will the detestable practice of "c ing" be arrested.

Mauritius.—Once again I wis refer to this popular little Colony. is a stamp here which I consider the most rare of all modern issues. is the 10 rupees on blue-green with back. I do not even except the MCA 10/- of Malta. This latte been realising anything from £25 for some considerable time—but have always been on offer, and considerably more, so I am inf were printed than the Mauritius. why would one be quoted at £15 a other at £35? Is it because Malta much more popular than Mauriti doubt it. I give it as my opinio this stamp, S.G. 204a, is better i condition than Malta S.G. 96.

Whilst on the subject, I think t a little doubt as to the question of is the better of the pale yellow 5 with mult. CA wmk. S.G. 203b an are both very good stamps, but I opinion that the die II, number claims this honour, and have no tion in advising purchase if obta up to £2. I doubt, however, if o now get it at this price.

St. Helena. — As usual, my month's "Best Thing" has caused for the 7/6 denomination of this C and I am asked to give what I co to be a fair valuation. At the tim article was written, there was not ticular shortage, but to-day the hardly a copy to be obtained. I co that 40/- or thereabouts should me case at present, but one must b mind that although it is not exp there is always the possibility of print, and time alone will tell w this is likely to become a £5 or £10

St. Lucia.—How many of my re are in possession of the 1d red, scr this Colony? At to-day's quotatio is an extremely cheap stamp, and in ing it the "Best of the Month" I with the full knowledge that I am ing the right thing. Were I asked to S.G. 96, mint, I should say in the bourhood of 4/-, and I certainly this will go higher very shortly. stamp was only on issue for a very period, being almost immediately seded by the 1d brown, and it w found that many dealers are short asked for this particular item.

S.W. Africa Officials. — Here case where I cannot place a valu Although it is known that certa these stamps are occasionally to b in used condition, it is impossibl any of our catalogues to do more merely list them. I have not been

New Approval Books

The following new books have just been repriced for the Summer season. Rates will be found very moderate for superb condition.

PERSIA AND SIAM
A nice little lot of early issues only.

PHILIPPINES
Two fine books. The early issues are a fine lot with many rarities, blocks and scarce provisionals. The second book contains issues 1880-1906, priced half catalogue and less.

ROUMANIA
Fine book of early issues, many fine blocks and pairs in the Imperf. issues. Very strong in the "large head" types Nos. 37 to 49 inclusive.

CEYLON
Three very fine books divided as follows:
Issues 1857-1863
Issues 1863-1867
Issues 1867-1890
The "pence" issues are an exceptionally choice lot.

LUXEMBURG AND MONACO
The Luxemburg comprise a fine lot of the early issues. Several 10c and 1sgr of the first issue, unused. Some extra fine Imperf. of the 1859-63 issues including an exceedingly rare used block of 4 of the 40c, also a superb 1874, 1 franc, error "PRANC" and several of the scarce rouletted 37½c bistre.
In Monaco there is a fine 1st issue 5 franc with gum; not too dear at $65.00 considering it is priced $125.00 in catalog.

PORTUGAL
Good books of early issues, unused and used. I find good copies with large margins of the 1866-67 issue getting scarce and have been buying what I could find. Here are some fine singles, pairs and even a block of four of these desirable issues. The early Portugal are interesting and scarce and worth far more attention than they receive in this country. The early varieties are properly catalogued in Stanley Gibbons' Foreign Countries catalogue, but rare and common are jumbled together in Scott's catalogue in the issue 1870 to 1880 in particular, but this has some advantages as it enables some of us who "know" to pick up many rare items at ordinary price.

AZORES, MADEIRA AND GUINEA
A very fine book of early Azores and Madeira, and a few first issue Guinea (small surcharge only).
I find both the Imperf. and Perf. 1st type of Azores and Madeira to be really good stamps in fine condition, and am always glad to have the opportunity to purchase any of these.
In Azores a set of the scarce "St. Anthony" is also included.

BRITISH COLUMBIA AND VANCOUVER ISLAND
Three new books have just been made up from the balance of the collection I recently purchased in B. C. These are grouped as follows:—
1. Unused, finest shades and varieties.
2. Used, finest and rarest cancellations and one or two early covers.
3. General, Used and Unused, the cheaper copies.

ITALIAN STATES
Three good books comprising Modena, Two Sicilies, Sicily, Parma, Roman States, Sardinia, San Marino, Tuscany and Italy. A number of rare stamps are included, Naples ½ torn. Arms, and ½ torn. Cross, but most of the stamps are priced half catalogue or less.

AFGHANISTAN
Two fine books of early issues only, 1870 to 1878 inclusive. Most are unused and cut square. This book is priced at one-half to one-third of catalogue prices. It contains many rare stamps, mostly from the Ferrary collection.

TASMANIA
Rare and Early Issues only, 1853 to 1871, etc. Includes 1st issue 1d blue, one unused, and used on letter, three singles and a pair. 4d orange and orange-yellow, plates I and II, all fine copies cut square, 2 pairs and 19 singles. Many of the rarest varieties in the perforated issues.

CURACAO
A fine book of early issues strong in the rare perforations. Among the great rarities there are Perf. 11½x12, 5c and 25c unused, and 2½c, 10c and 50c used.
Also a few early unpaid and a fine lot of color trials.

HAWAII
Three books are now ready. No. 1 contains a nice lot of 5c and 13c of 1853-1868 and about fifty of the "large figure" type, including a number of rare cancellations. The other books have a good lot of the later issues, in particular the issue of 1864-71 have been divided into stamps on various papers and with varieties of gum. In the later issues there is a fine copy of the error, overprinted in red on 10c red brown, No. 61b not too dear at $120.00 mint, being listed $250.00.

METROPOLITAN STAMP COMPANY
1482 BROADWAY NEW YORK CITY

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY

THE DOMINICAN AIR, 1928

By HARRY E. HUBER.

(1) 10c Correo Aereo, May 30, 1928

Subsequent to the inauguration of the West Indian Aerial Express air mail service from Santo Domingo City, D.R., to San Juan, Porto Rico, on December 3, 1927, and to Port au Prince, Haiti, on December 5, 1927, the printing of the 10c blue, Entrega Especial, biplane in flight, of 1920, was resumed. (This stamp had been superseded in 1925, by the 10c Entrega Especial, Colonial residence type, and this in turn in 1927, by the 10c red-brown, with "Entrega Especial" erased, and "Expreso" substituted). It was the use of this obsolete stamp, 10c biplane in flight, a small quantity of which was found in some outlying Post Offices, on a portion of the first day air mail to San Juan, (605 letters) on December 3rd, that gave rise to the report that the Dominican Government had issued a special stamp for the occasion.

"For this mail a special marking was brought into use, a single line circle, 27mm, applied in blue, and lettered 'Santo Domingo, Rep. Dominicana,' with the date in 3 lines in the center 'MAY—31—1928.' At the right of the circle is a horizontal rectangle, 71 x 26mm, in the left portion of which is a plane, with 'CORREO' above it, and 'AEREO' below. This is separated by a vertical line from the right portion, which contains four lines, 'De Santo Domingo—Port-au-Prince-Haiti—San Juan-Pto. Rico—Santiago de Cuba.' The corners at the upper left and lower left are rounded, and there is no enclosing line at the left of the rectangle. The letter is backstamped (Duplex marking) 'San Juan, P.R., MAY 31—12.30 PM' with '1928' between the circle, and the ellipse on end (of graduated bars), with '1 inset,' at the right."

It had been suggested that instead of continuing to print from the 10c biplane in flight (1920) stone, the inscription be changed to "Correo Aereo," and the denomination to 12c (the combined postage and air carriage fee), but an entirely new design was decided upon, and a 10c blue, Correo Aereo stamp was issued on Wednesday, May 30, 1928, and first used on the mail flown to San Juan, Thursday morning, May 31, 1928.

The stamp is a horizontal rectangle, measuring 47 x 24mm, lithographed locally, in sheets of 25 (5 x 5), on unwatermarked paper, and perforated single line 11½.

The central feature of the design is a map of the island of Haiti-Santo Domingo, with the adjacent waters of "Atlantico" on the north, and "Mar Caribe" on the south; the eastern end of Cuba, and a portion of "Puerto Rico." The important coast towns of the Dominican Republic are indicated, Monte Cristi, Puerto Plata and Samana on the northern coast, and La Romana, San Pedro de Macoris and Santo Domingo on the southern; also the capital of Haiti on the Gulf of Gomaives, Port-au-Prince. A dotted line from San Juan via Santo Domingo City and Port-au-Prince, to Santiago de Cuba, indicates the route followed by the planes of the West Indian Aerial Express. At the top of the stamp is the monoplane, "Spirit of St. Louis," in which Col. Lindbergh visited the island republics in February, 1928; while on ribbons at the upper left and right, are "Correo" and "Aereo" (colored letters), respectively. Just above the central vignette is "Republica Dominicana" in colorless letters. On shields in the lower corners are the colored denominational numerals "10," and across the foot, "Diez Centavos" (colorless). Acanthus leaf ornamentation in the upper corners completes the design.

The map of the island (Haiti-Santo Domingo) is well drawn, and Porto Rico is correctly positioned, the two islands being separated by the Mona Passage, 70 miles wide. However, the distance between Mole San Nicolas, Haiti, and Cape Maisi at the eastern end of Cuba, is only 50 miles, but on the stamp, the separating Windward Passage is shown to be more than twice that width.

May 30, 1928. "Correo Aereo" stamp. Map of Haiti-Santo Domingo. Lithographed. Unwatermarked, perforated 11½.

10c centavos blue.

(2) Correspondencia Oficial, January, 1928

In January, 1928, a series of stamps, in five denominations, 1c, 2c, 5c, 10c and 20c, was issued for use on foreign official correspondence. These are not sold to the public.

The stamps are vertical rectangular in shape, 21 x 26mm, and are lithographically printed on unwatermarked paper, and perforated 11½.

A movement has been on foot for some years to erect at Santo Domingo City (the Cradle of America, as it is called) a suitable memorial and resting place for the remains of Christopher Columbus. The proposal contemplates the "erection of an enduring tomb with an interior modeled after Napoleon's at Les Invalides, and an exterior of austere simplicity, upon which, superimposed, will rise a beacon tower, perhaps 300 ft. high, on top of which would be installed one of the greatest maritime beacons as an aid to the present day navigator."

The cost of the memorial planned is estimated at somewhat over a million dollars, and in addition, an endowment fund should be provided for perpetual upkeep, so that the Pan-American shrine would at no time be left exposed to possible neglect.

Santo Domingo cannot undertake this project alone, and Pan-American cooperation is necessary. Some 36 years ago the Dominican Republic did take measures in the matter, when at the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America, a Junta Nacional was duly constituted by Governmental decree, to erect a monument in the Cathedral, and funds provided. That much was accomplished, although at the time it was understood

By FRED J. MELVILLE
(Stamp Collectors Fortnightly)

The Congress.—The fifteenth Philatelic Congress of Great Britain is upon us, and under the auspices of the Royal Philatelic Society, should prove one of the most distinguished and successful of the series. In the present issue we give as much of the programme as has been vouchsafed to us in advance, and a full directory of the delegates appointed by the Philatelic Societies of Great Britain and the Empire.

* * *

The Congress Book.—An interesting departure is being inaugurated at this Congress of issuing in place of the souvenir programme a Congress Year Book. That may or may not be its correct title, but is indicative of its purpose, which is to contain not only the full programme, but also advance texts of the papers to be read. It will be interesting to see if the possession of the papers a few hours or days in advance will help to raise the standard of debate in the "Stamp Collectors' Parliament."

* * *

The Antiquity of Stamp Congresses.—Congresses in connection with philately are much older than most collectors of to-day realise. Our flourishing French contemporary, L'Echo de la Timbrologie, discusses in connection with the French Congress of last month, the jubilee of the first philatelic congress, and although the occasion referred to was not the first, it was the most notable event of its kind in the early period of Philately. The Echo alludes to the memorable "Congrès International des Timbrophiles" held in Paris in 1878, the "memoires" of which make a substantial book of genuine importance and reference value. It is significant that our London Congress opens on the exact day, June 26, fifty years after the most famous of all philatelic congresses was opened under the presidency of M. Donatis, with Dr. Legrand as Vice-President, de Bosredon as general secretary, Schmidt de Wilde assistant secretary, and with notabilia like Philippe de Ferrari, Comte Durrieu, and Arthur Maury on the Committee.

* * *

A Congress of 1872.—But for the beginnings of philatelic congress we must look still further back. The earliest we have any note of was held at Lubeck, a place of interesting philatelic associations on Sunday, July 14, 1872. It was a great success, and an unconscionably long day, the visitors being welcomed as early as 7 a. m., and they do not appear to have been allowed any rest prior to their departure by train at 7 a. m. on the Monday morning for Hamburg. The programme was a very full one, chiefly entertainment, but that is the pleasant way with most Congresses.

* * *

A Crowded Day and Night.—At 7 a. m., there was general assembly, general entertainment, and "breakfast by the widow Lüdeman" until—10.30 a. m. Discussion as to the spreading of philatelical knowledge.

12.30. End of the discussion and dinner, some in the Exchange Hall, and others in the private houses of Lubeck amateurs.

1.30 p. m. Meeting on board the steamboat "Martha"; during the trip, music by the 76th Fusiliers' band.

2.30 p. m. Landing of the visitors.

3 p. m. Concert.

5 p. m. Supper.

8.30 p. m. Commencement of the ball, to be kept up till morning. Among other music will be played the new "Hamburger Briefmarken-Borse Waltz," and the "Doppler'sche und Hamm'sche Briefmarken Polka."

7 a. m. July 15th. Departure of the visitors to catch the train reaching Hamburg at 9 o'clock.

* * *

Stamps to Lydian or Mississipian Measures.—Thus even 56 years ago we find a Congress debating how to spread philatelic knowledge, pioneers of extension work. And to attract the fair sex to charm the live-long day they gave them the inducement of stamping the old fashioned polka to specially composed music. To whom among the variously talented members of the R.P.S.L. could we look to-day to provide special dancing music for the dance at the Great Central Hotel on June 28th? Perhaps the modern dances do not lend themselves so easily to philatelic labels. The "Blue Mauritius Sugar Step," might go down all right, and the "Escuditos Tango." But there would be questions asked in Congress the next morning, if such items as the "Shanghai Shimmy," "Tahiti-Jeebies," or the "Bloaters' Crawl" appeared on the dance programme.

* * *

Publishing Under Difficulties.—The "Philatelic Bulletin" of the Chinese Philatelic Society will henceforth be issued at irregular intervals. Its publication in the past has been the result of amazing energy and perseverance on the part of Mr. M. D. Chow. He has had to write all the articles himself in Chinese, and the English section has had to be translated by his son and by friends. Once the whole MSS. for an issue was lost in transit to the printers, and there was delay while Mr. Chow set to and wrote it all over again. What with the strikes and the continuous civil war of the past year or so, anyone less determined than Mr. Chow would have allowed all the obstacles to overwhelm him. But while no longer proposing to issue it at stated intervals he means to produce it as often as he can in the difficult circumstances. His son who helped largely with the English section, is now in America finishing his education.

MEDLEY—

THIS is the very latest. L. L. Heinselman, Plymouth, Ia., sends us a cover which was posted on an anniversary parade held at Mason City, Ia., June 19. In this parade was a Post Office exhibition float and the occasion was the celebration of the 75th anniversary of Mason City's birth. Letters were posted in special boxes placed along the line of the parade, picked up by the attendants on the float, cancelled, sorted and pouched in full view of the public with the idea of giving the people the chance to view the inner workings of a modern post office. On the cover in three lines in purple ink is the rubber stamping:—"Mailed on Mason City's Traveling P. O.—75th Anniversary Parade."

WE are favored with a letter from the "Top of the World." It is from Fred C. Schiller, Pres. Arctic Philatelic Society. Mr. Schiller lives at Fairbanks, and mails the letter from Barrow, Alaska, "the most northern post-office in North America."

THE Trans-Atlantic steamship lines are manifesting an interest in stamp collecting. Sandy Mackintosh sends us a clipping from L'Atlantique, a paper published on the boats of the French Line, reprinted from Tid Bits, entitled "The Lure of the Stamp." The Chicago Tribune Ocean Times of June 5, contained a contribution from D. B. strong dealing with London a stamp collecting interests. This ping was sent by Allan P. Vesta states that it was from the S. S. jestic.

THE American Railway Expre has just issued a superb pa describing the service that the co has provided and covering as w nation's express service from its beginning. The copy before us from the Detroit Division with th pliments of Herman W. Boers booklet of 24 pages is very freely trated and is a creditable product

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

Covers from the special flight accomplished from the S. S. Conte Grand at Gibraltar have been received and carry the following cachets and cancellations. Postmarked at the Varick St. Sta., New York, May 26th, 1928—two line rubber stamp in red "First Italian Air Trans-Mediterranean Service" applied to face of cover. Backstamped Barcelona, Spain, June 6th, 1928, on cover addressed to Spain and Rome, Italy, June 7th, 1928. The Rome cover bears a machine cancellation advertising the Torino Exposition of 1928.

******

On April 6th last, a U. S. Army Amphibian Plane made a special flight to the Island of Culion, carrying a small quantity of mail, returning April 7th to Manila. Covers received from this flight, through the courtesy of Mr. Walter Bruggmann, bear the usual Philippine miniature airplane cancellation on the stamps and a rubber stamp cachet reading "First Flight Manila to Culion Iland—U. S. Army Amphibian Plane—April 7th, 1928" in blue and the same cachet, with Culion and Manila transposed, in red, for the return trip. It is noted that the word ISLAND is misspelled ILAND in both cachets. Another cover from the same flight carries a different cachet reading "Via AIR PLANE of the United States Army in the Philippines", applied in a greenish blue ink.

******

The American Press report the first fatality to a pilot on the Chicago-Dallas route since its opening, two years ago. Pilot Wayne C. Neville of Dallas was killed when his plane encountered a tornado near Lebo, Kan., and was forced down.

******

The New York "Times," under date of June 23rd, carries an article relative to the Post Office Dept.'s announcement of the establishment of an Air Mail service between London and Egypt, Sudan, Latvia, Lithuania and Palestine. The service to Egypt is twice a week.

******

A central publicity office covering the activities of the Air Mail contractors, operating out of Chicago, has been established in that city with Mr. Harold Crary as manager.

******

Wausau, Wis., will entertain the American Legion State Convention August 13th to 15th and the entire U. S. Army Pursuit Group of Selfridge Field, Mich., on the same dates—Possibly a special cachet here?

******

"Co-operators" the past week include Messrs. Bruggmann, Leve, Esselen and Jandrue.

******

Pathetic Figures—Air Mail cover collectors with lots of mail, patiently waiting for the official special cancellation at Lowell, Mass. They are still waiting!

More than 30,600 pieces of mail were carried during the first month's business between Mexico City and Tampico, according to American Press reports.

******

Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., have announced the completion of plans and are starting construction on a "Super-mail wing" plane, which will have double the capacity of previous models, although little addition in weight. Getting ready for the 5c rate?

******

Akron, Ohio, is making an attempt to have Col. Lindbergh pilot the first mail plane from Cleveland to Louisville on the opening flight, which it is rumored will occur about the middle of July—"Co-operators" please keep their ears and eyes open and wire any definite news.

******

The award of the New York-Montreal Air Mail contract to Colonial Air Transport, Inc., has been announced by the P. O. D. and eventually means the route from Boston to Albany via Springfield will "tie in" to the New York-Montreal service, probably coincident with the initial flights between these points.

******

P. O. D. rules only cities with proper Fields will be included in future Air Mail plans.

******

Mr. E. C. Cantrell sends clipping from a San Antonio paper dated June 21, in which the statement is made that the U. S.-Mexico route will go through Laredo. The endorsement of the Mexican Government has been secured for this route and it really begins to look as if something will occur.

******

Mr. J. E. Whyte sends me a copy of letter received from Postmaster Putnam of Kalamazoo, Mich., in which it is stated that the Air Mail service over the State of Michigan will commence operations "on or about July 17th". Fourteen towns will be linked together by these new routes:

Chicago, Ill.	Pontiac, Mich.

We have an unusually large number of applications for membership in our Honor Club this week and we are very pleased at the splendid showing. We have every reason to believe that our subscribers intend to have us reach the One Thousand mark before our Honor Club shall cease to exist.

It is interesting to note that one of these new members comes from Canada, and another from Ampang, Selangor, Malay States. Mr. Holzapfel, who has long been upon our lists, also orders a Scott catalog and we are very glad to thus favor our subscribers who desire the 1929 Catalog.

Besa and Bloater

Besa.—Stamps of Albania with this surcharge were so overprinted that they might be regarded as genuine to distinguish them from previous spurious issues. Also a Benadir currency value equal to ½c U. S.

Blagoveschensk.—A town in Eastern Siberia where stamps were issued in 1921.

B. L. P. (Busta Lettera Postale).—These letters on stamps of Italy stand for "Postal Letter Envelope." The stamps are supplied at a discount from face value to charitable organizations that are aiding the war wounded, and are used exclusively on special envelopes furnished by these organizations and containing advertising matter.

Bloater.—A word of reproach for a stamp collector who covets and takes possession of every stamp that he can lay his hands on. Shades, papers and perforations are eagerly absorbed and padlocked for safe keeping.

B. N. F. Castellorizo.—This surcharge on French Levant stamps means "Base Navale Francaise" and "Castellorizo" the island where the stamps were used.

Junior Dictionary

Plimpton Envelopes.—In 1874 the contract for manufacturing the stamped envelopes for the United States was awarded to the Plimpton Manufacturing Company. The designs are but poor imitations of the Reay issue of 1870, though the Plimpton series are of great interest to the specialist on account of the diversity of paper used and the numerous dies.

P. L. Teheran.—An overprint applied to certain Persian stamps which were intended for use in the city of Teheran only. The initials stand for "Poste Locale."

Plonsk.—A Polish city where in 1918 upon the declaration of Polish independence German stamps of the "Gen.Gouv. Warschau" type were surcharged by the postal authorities with the words "Poczta Polska" or "Polish Post."

Poczta Polska. — An inscription shown on the stamps of Poland meaning "Polish Post."

Podolia.—A Ukraine district where in 1918 Russian stamps were surcharged with a trident.

Overprints

As the name indicates, an overprint would be something printed on a stamp after it has, to all intents and purposes, been finished. An overprint might change the value of the stamp. In such cases collectors usually refer to it as a surcharge. In the broad sense, overprints include surcharges and other kinds of printed notations applied after the stamps are finished.

With the regular adhesive postage issues of the United States, we have never had any surcharged stamps. Envelopes and postal cards, however, have had their facial complexion changed by either a lowering or a raising of the values. Some issues of the regular United States postage stamps have been overprinted with names of some of our possessions for use in those places at various times. These are Cuba, Porto Rico, Canal Zone, Guam and Shanghai, China.

In one case United States postage stamps were overprinted as in 1898, to be used as revenue stamps. The dollar values of the 1900-1902 revenue issues were surcharged with large figures of value corresponding to the value on the stamps. These aided in distinguishing the various values.

However, the most prolific use of overprints for this country has been in the revenues where values were changed or the stamps changed for other uses than originally planned. By this I refer to the playing card, stock transfer, cigarette tube and future delivery issues.—A. C. LeDuc.

Annapolis

The capital of the State of Maryland, situated on Chesapeake Bay, and having a present population of about 9,000. It is philatelically famous from the fact that about 1846 the then Postmaster issued a special 5c envelope to facilitate the prepayment of postage. How many were issued or how long they were in use is not known but the rarity of the envelope may be gauged from the fact that only one specimen exists.

Carinthia

Certain stamps of Austria are found with the overprint "Karnten—Abstimmung" in German lettering. These words may be confusing to many collectors and cause them to wonder about their meaning or know where to place these stamps. Most albums now have spaces for these stamps and are listed as Carinthia.

Stamps for this province were in use only from Sept. 16 to Oct. 10, 1920, during a plebiscite held in this part of Austria. Besides the 19 surcharged as above mentioned, there were six other values of newspaper stamps of Jugo-Slavia surcharged with the initials K. G. C. and date 1920, and a large letter "A." All letters and figures are in fancy type, and a new value is expressed at the bottom. The initials stand for "Koruska Glasoona Cona A 1920." which in English means, "Carinthian Governmental Commission Zone A 1920."

For the collector who is looking for easy countries to get complete, this one can easily qualify as the total catalogue value for all its stamps is only $2.19 either used or unused.—A. C. LeDuc.

"My Son"

—What a Father thinks of the Stamp Collecting Pastime.

(This clipping is sent us by Robert Herrera, who found it in "Faultless Magazine." We think it worth while passing on to our juniors. Show it to dad.—W. O. W.)

My son, at the age of eleven, has gone in for stamp collecting, and it seems to be the best thing that ever happened to him.

He has suddenly found a specific and understandable use for all the things he has been learning at school.

He now has a selfish interest in knowing the name and location of every country in the world. He conducts a vast correspondence with stamp-selling agencies which forces him to write legible, well-composed letters. He receives great quantities of mail, containing valuable enclosures of stamps sent on approval. This enforces order and a complicated accounting system, for he must keep track of the stamps he keeps and send the proper payment and the "returns" to the right agency. Since he was formerly allowed to spend only a limited amount of money for candy and movies, he depended on his allowance, and had no particular incentive to earn extra money by doing chores.

Now he begs me for the privilege of building a fire in the living room, for which he receives a nickel. One day, when he was desperately in need of thirty cents I could think of no chores, so I told him I would give him a dime for each composition of two hundred or more words on any subject he cared to write about. He delivered three themes and collected the money within twenty-four hours, and they were very well done.

The Junior Exchange Club

Several juniors have written us in regard to the proposed exchange club. We regret to say that sufficient interest has not developed for us to give the matter serious consideration. If any of our juniors care to engage in exchange we shall be glad to publish their names, but we cannot be responsible for any unsatisfactory exchange relations that may result.

Study Your "S's"

Staceywise.—These letters are found as watermarks on certain Newfoundland stamps. The complete word is the name of the paper manufacturer.

Stanislau Issue.—The stamps of Western Ukrainia, Nos. 11 to 81, overprinted at Stanislau, a town in Galicia. The whole issue is dubious, as the presence of overprinted stamps of Bosnia indicates.

Steigiamasis Seimas.—This inscription is found (also in abbreviated form) on stamps issued by Lithuania to commemorate the opening of the "First Parliament," this being the translation of the two words given.

Sub Umbra Floreo.—This inscription found on British Honduras 2c Peace stamp beneath the arms is the Colony's motto. It signifies "I flourish beneath the shadow."

Blued Paper

This, from a philatelic point of view, is paper which has not been intentionally colored but which has turned more or less blue, owing to one of the ingredients of the printing ink running into the paper, which was originally white. Examples of this "blueing" may be found in many of the stamps for Great Britain and its Colonies printed by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., from line-engraved plates.

The Grill

By Geo. H. Snyder, Jr.

There is nothing that has caused confusion than this little thing what is it, where is it, why and Well, it is a series of small pyrami pressed on a stamp so as to bre paper. This was done so the ca ink would be absorbed into the and could not be removed. An il tion of a grill is to take a cheese and roll it over a piece of blotting This would give you a fine grill grill is generally seen on the back stamps more readily then it is front. The grill was put on the with a roller which was covere small pyramids. When this was over the stamps the grill was im on them. This grill was put on t side of the stamps and later put back of the stamps. The U. S. first country to use the grill. Per had a few stamps grilled.

Blue Safety Paper

A paper employed by Messrs. Rue & Co. in the manufacture of stamps of Great Britain of 1855 a tain fiscals. This paper had pruss potash in it, this salt added as ventative against illicit cleaning. paper is characterised by its blu varying in intensity, but it appea the blueness was quite unintentior it was attributed by the manufa of the stamps to the presence o particles of iron in the pulp which not to have existed therein.

"SHIP ISLAND, MISS."

By Dr. J. Harper Blaisdell.

Army and camp post-marks of the Union forces, with three or four exceptions are quite unusual. I have recently acquired a 3c 1861 cover, cancelled "SHIP ISLAND, MISS.," with a manuscript date added of April 26. The cancellation is a two line, straight line type of solid block letters about the size of the common "PAID" of this issue. After the second line which is "MISS." appears the above date. The stamp is nicely tied on and the letter is written by a Union soldier to a friend in Boston.

The original letter is in the envelope and a quotation from it is interesting. "N. E. Div., Ship Island, Co. A., 8th N. H., Apr. 17. 1862. We had a long and rough voyage from Boston. We were 40 days on board the boat—had two or three hard gales—one off Hatteras, very severe—another in the Gulf, not to be forgotten, but at length were all landed safely 2 weeks ago last Sunday, having lost but one soldier on the voyage and none since. The captain of the vessel died when about 21 days out, having laid drunk the entire voyage and probably came to his death from that cause. Probably you have seen a description of the island where we are. It is simply a sand-bar at the lower end and a swampy wood at the upper."

The following facts are taken from Lossing's "History of the Civil War." Ship Island was the place of rendezvous for the naval as well as the land forces destined for the capture of New Orleans. It is a low sand-bar, off the coast of Mississippi, between Mobile Bay and Lake Borgue, lying just above low water and averaging seven miles in length and three-quarters of a mile in width. When the war broke out there was an unfinished fort on Ship Island. The insurgents of the region took possession of it in considerable force in July, 1861, and during their occupation of it for about two months they made it strong and available for defense. They constructed eleven bomb-proof casements, a magazine and barracks, mounted twenty heavy Dahlgren guns and named it Fort Twiggs. When rumors of a heavy naval force approaching reached the garrison they abandoned the fort on September 16, 1861, burnt their barracks and with their cannon, fled to the main. On the following days a small force was landed from the National gun-boat, Massachusetts, and took possession of the place. They strengthened the fort and named it Fort Massachusetts. On Dec. 4, 1861, General Phelps and two New England regiments arrived. All winter Phelps and his troops remained on the dreary little island, unable on account of the great and small guns in the hands of the neighboring insurgents to gain a footing on the adjacent shore and waiting in painful anxiety for the arrival of General Butler and his troops, who at one time it was feared had gone down to the bottom of the sea. These forces arrived after great delay and many troubles on March 25, 1862, and in all about 13,700 men were mustered on the island. These troops took part in the capture and occupation of New Orleans, which fell before the Union naval forces under Farragut on April 25, 1862.

I am particularly interested in material of this type and would greatly appreciate it if anyone would send me on inspection a similar cover or any Union camp post-marks in connection with the capture of New Orleans. Dr. J. Harper Blaisdell, 45 Bay State Road, Boston, Mass.

U. S. RARITY

We own and offer a pane of 100 stamps of $1.00, 1894 from plate 76, having five vertical rows of type one and five vertical rows of type two. This becomes a particularly desirable piece because it is so well centered. Its catalogue value is derived as follows:—

10 blocks of type "1" .....$ 600.00
10 horiz. pairs of types "1" and "2" ... 500.00
10 blocks of type "2" 1,250.00

These figures do not take into consideration the value of blocks of four containing both types one and two; nor the fact that the plate number is affixed.

We should be glad to quote a price to interested parties, on request.

that this monument would be but temporary. The memorial provided is undeniably ornate, but it is in no wise commensurate with the greatness of the man, nor does it constitute a fitting or adequate monument in the fullest sense of the word.

It will be recalled that to defray the expenses incident to the erection of the monument in the Cathedral, special stamps were prepared, and issued on February 27, 1899, the anniversary of Santo Domingo's declaration of independence from Haiti, in 1844. The series comprised eight values, 1c to 2 pesos, there being printed 250,000 of the 1c, 200,000 each of the 2c and 5c, 150,000 of the 10c, and 25,000 each of the 20c, 50c, 1 peso and 2 pesos. Until withdrawn November 1, 1900, they were sold to the exclusion of all other stamps.

On May 20, 1506, Columbus died at Vallodolid, Spain, and his body was interred in the church of Santa Maria de la Antigua in that city, and later, about 1513, was removed to the Carthusian Monastery in Seville. Columbus had oft expressed the desire that he should be buried in Santo Domingo, and in 1536, his remains, with those of his son Diego, were transferred to the island, and there deposited in the Cathedral at Santo Domingo City.

In 1795 France became possessor of the whole of the island, and on December 21st, of that year, remains supposed to be those of Christopher Columbus were removed from the Cathedral at Santo Domingo City, and conveyed by the Spanish brigantine "Descubridor," to Habana, Cuba, and placed there in the Cathedral.

In May, 1877, while making some repairs to the Cathedral at Santo Domingo City, a vault was opened, which was found to contain a metal box bearing on the inside, Columbus' initials; on the inside of the lid, his name, and a small silver plate found with the bones was inscribed with his name and titles. Some 20 years later (1898) these remains were placed on an urn, and reinterred under a mausoleum of marble and bronze, erected at the end of the nave, just inside the plaza entrance of the Cathedral. It is common belief that the remains transferred to Habana were those of Columbus' son, Diego.

U. S. 1847 ISSUES

I recently had the pleasure of offering the interested collector the pick from one of the two finest collections of 1847 5-cent and 10-cent, ever gotten together. This collection, along with a second famous lot of the same stamps, contained the cream of our first issue. It was through these collections that the plating of the 10-cent was made possible.

One of my clients has recently acquired the larger and choicest portion of this second collection, and after picking out items which were wanted to add to a collection made on certain lines, he has turned over to me to sell for his account, the balance, which includes some of the finest 1847 pieces ever offered.

For instance, I note in the way of the—

PROPOSED MOTORCYCLE SERVICE

Henry O. Meisel, the Indian motorcycle dealer, of Clintonville, Wisconsin, is now busy trying to establish two motorcycle Air Mail feeder lines from Green Bay to Milwaukee, the first to go via Oshkosh, and the second via Manitowoc. Mr. Meisel has been working on his plans for the past three and one-half months and now things are brightening up. He was immediately notified by telegram from the Indian motorcycle factory on the termination of the three months experiment on June 15th on the motorcycle route operated between Holyoke, Northampton, Westfield, Springfield and Hartford, connecting with the airplane stop at Hartford on C. A. M. No. 1, between Boston and New York. The telegram stating that this motorcycle Air Mail experiment was a huge success and that the Post Office Department was willing to permit these feeder routes throughout the country where necessary, and where returns are assured. This experiment just concluded in the East is the first Motorcycle Air Mail line in the world.

Mr. Meisel has his plans all worked out except the final details to operate two motorcycle Air Mail feeder lines between Green Bay and Milwaukee provided he is given authorization from Washington. The first line is as first proposed, Green Bay to Milwaukee via Oshkosh, while the second line would be from Green Bay to Milwaukee via Manitowoc, with intermediate stops at Denmark, Two Rivers, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, and Port Washington. As now proposed these lines would carry all Air Mail from Milwaukee to the cities named each forenoon upon arrival of the northwest bound plane on C. A. M. No. 9, the Chicago-Twin Cities route; the return trip from Green Bay would be made each afternoon carrying all Air Mail from cities on each route to Milwaukee to connect with the south bound airplane from the Twin Cities t cago on C. A. M. No. 9. There a saving in time over the presen service on the Oshkosh route of b three and four hours, while on the itowoc route a saving of time wi from about three hours at Sheboy about twelve hours at Denmark. motorcycle schedule would be carr every day except Sundays and holidays. The plans as now bef Post Office Department call f inauguration of this service abo gust 1st, or possibly sooner.

have to thank the Second Assist- stmaster General, Mr. Warren Ir- lover, for the fact that the new il stamp will be printed in two He has always had an eye for aractive and there is no doubt but bicolored stamp is prettier than nted in a single color. The fact, er, that the cost is several times as eads one to conclude that it would surprising if later on the stamp ed in a single color, especially if dnand is as great as is expected.

rgh Air Mail Stamps

erous inquiries have been received he arrangement of guide lines on w Lindbergh air mail booklet Mr. H. M. Southgate kindly in- ed in our behalf and writes:

numbers are not located as in the l work at the top, but are placed he rotary press sheets at the top ttom corners in the side margin. mbers on the right side will al- e trimmed off, but those on the le will probably show up in the cut books. We find these in the books opposite the upper left and left stamp of the booklet panes, dom more than the bottom edges h figures. However, it is remark- w easily the number can be iden- when we know the number to be e for from hardly more than the f the line of the number. Occa- sionally a book is found with sufficient side margins to show the entire figure, but they are scarce. The Bureau does too good work for this to occur often."

Rotary Press Stamps

Mr. Henry C. DeWitt, Jr., as well as others, have called attention to the fact that the gum on the sheets of rotary press stamps is being broken in a different manner than heretofore. The former breaking showed the lines running about nine to the inch, whereas in the present case, they are spaced seven-eighths of an inch apart. The Bureau uses this method of breaking the gum in order to have the sheets lie flat when they reach the post office, for if they were supplied just as they come from the press without the gum being broken, they would more readily curl, then they do at present. Even today's work is not thoroughly satisfactory and the Bureau is experimenting from time to time, endeavoring to produce a rotary sheet that will be just as satisfactory, insofar as handling is concerned, as the flat bed sheet.

Canal Zone

Mr. R. S. Carter writes a most interesting letter relative to philatelic events in the Canal Zone from which I quote:

"I want to call your especial attention to the fact that the Canal Zone Postal Administration has ordered 50,000 of the new 5c air mail stamp, which is to be placed on sale in the United States on August first. It will appear here on August first and be placed on sale at all post offices on that date, or as soon thereafter as available.

"I am enclosing a copy of a circular to Postmasters re the Special Air Mail Stamped Envelopes, of which I sent you a first day cover on the 21st ultimo. There were 10,000 of the No. 6 and 5,000 of the No. 9 printed by the Post-office Department here.

"It might interest you to know that 1,000,000 of the 1c Gorgas and 3,000,000 of the 2c Goethals have been, or are intended to be, ordered from the United States and these will become our permanent stamps. Other denominations will be added as fast as they become exhausted (the present stock, I mean) and will bear the likenesses of members of the I.C.C. who served on the Canal Zone. As these cannot be used until the demise of some members whose portraits are to be used, it is likely to be 'quite some while' before the set is complete. Booklets, stamped envelopes, etc., are also a probability before long. The Bureau of Engraving & Printing is, of course, printing these stamps for us, and the design is left largely to them, we are merely specifying that the stamps should be of the general color and size of the current 1c and 2c, substituting 'Canal Zone' for United States. They are to read 'CANAL ZONE POSTAGE,' with names GORGAS and GOETHALS appearing below the plates in the case of the 1c and 2c."

As to the air mail envelopes mentioned, these are the regular 2c stamped envelope of the Canal Zone with red and blue horizontal lines printed across the center.

CHARLES O. MEISEL, SR.

Charles O. Meisel, Sr., an ardent philatelist, passed away on June 10th at the age of sixty years and seven months, having been born on November 11, 1864, in Klingenthal, Saxony, Germany. When in his early 'teens he came to the United States and shortly after went to Milwaukee, which remained his home until death took him from this earth. Mr. Meisel began to collect stamps as a small boy just going to school and never lost interest in the hobby until death. He collected for the joy of it, but being of limited means he had to sell off part of his collection at times. He was also greatly interested in collecting coins and besides a nice collection of stamps also had a nice coin collection when he died. It is now proposed by his sons to contribute this stamp and coin collection to the public museum at Clintonville, Wisconsin, as his family now reside on a farm near there. Mr. Meisel is greatly missed by his many friends in the philatelic and numismatic world.

FOR SALE

To close an Estate, the entire stock of postage stamps of a dealer who commenced business in 1874, and who held much of the stock accumulated by him up to 1900. This stock is a large and valuable one, and at least 85% is 19th Century, British Colonial and foreign, used and unused, much of the latter in mint sheets.

No 19th Century United States, nor early British North America pre-confederation. Canada from 1871 to date very strong, Newfoundland from 1880, also.

Prospective purchasers would require to come to Halifax to examine stock. We will be pleased to answer any enquiries on this matter. [58

RIDGEWOOD STAMP CLUB

It was with regret that the Ridgewood Stamp Club accepted the resignation of Pres. H. E. King, as he was unable to devote the time to same, owing to business reasons. Mr. King, however, still retains his membership in the Club. Vice Pres., Fred F. Reed was elected President, and R. J. Linder, Vice President. Two vacancies on the Board of Governors were filled.

The officers are as follows:—Pres., Fred F. Reed; Vice Pres., R. J. Linder; Sec., Theodore Schmitz, 1659 Cooper Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.; Treas., O. F. Muller; Fin. Sec., Roy A. Edling, 2430 Putnam Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.; Board of Governors, William Feldheim, R. M. Osborne, Otto Wolf, and H. W. Bolde; Sales Manager, G. H. Fabian.

The Club moved to its new headquarters, entirely renovated, 657 Fairview Ave. (near Gates Ave.) Brooklyn. Visitors are always welcome. Meetings held every Wednesday evening, business meeting first meeting in the month, take Myrtle Ave. L to Forest Ave. station, and walk four blocks to the left.—AUGUST C. WEBER.

CINCINNATI COLLECTORS CLUB

Thursday evening, June 21, the Cincinnati Collectors Club, Branch No. 2, Society of Philatelic Americans, held their annual banquet at Chester Park with fifty members and friends present. The affair was a great success and everyone had a good time, after the banquet the time was given over to a trip thru the "Park" and amusement houses. The house of "Mystery" where an "Air Mail Cover" from Japan was posted caused the most excitement as no one was able to pick the cover from the wall. The program for the coming year, which will start in September, has already been worked out and contains many new features which should prove a big surprise. —A. E. HUSSEY, M. D.

PHILATELISTS MEET AT AUGUSTA

The Maine State Philatelic Association held its annual convention at the Augusta House, June 24. The Penobscot Valley Stamp Club, Bangor, the Kennebec Philatelic Club, Waterville, the Androscoggin Stamp Club, Lewiston and Auburn, the Collectors Club of Portland, and the Augusta Maine Stamp Club were all well represented. Vice Pres., Reuel Smith presided. After the officers' reports were read and other business transacted, Dean George D. Chase of the Graduate School of the University of Maine gave an illustrated talk on the Three Cent Stamp of 1851. He exhibited a collection of covers showing the different shades in color and recutting of the plate. W. B. O'Connor conducted a very spirited auction, disposing of many choice covers and stamps from foreign countries and some especially fine United States specimens.

These officers were duly elected: Pres., Reuel W. Smith, Auburn; Vice Pres., Sewall C. Brown, Bangor; Sec., Abbott B. Cragin, Waterville; Treas., Mrs. Roger North, Augusta.

J. Waldo Sampson, New York and Manchester, Me., followed with remarks on stamp collecting. Mr. Sampson is well known in philatelic circles as an authority on the 7c Stanton. Following the banquet a social hour was enjoyed and it was voted to meet Oct. 27 at the Worcester House, Hallowell. At this time a contest will be held and will be awarded.

U. S. Patriotic Covers

A RESUME OF THE PREMIER COLLECTION OF THE WORLD AS FORMED BY MR. WILLIAM S. WHITE OF NEW YORK WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO THOSE OF THE CIVIL WAR PERIOD.

By HENRY L. DEAN, 239 Windsor Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

NOTWITHSTANDING the multiplicity of issues and stamps now available for the collector of U. S. postal emissions the more recent years have witnessed a decidedly broader degree of specialization upon some individual stamp, plate, series, covers, cancellations, foreign usages, air mails, postal rates, etc.

The academic question of the basic soundness of permanency of all of these movements is irrelevant to the present discussion, but none will deny the historical significance embraced in and the great philatelic interest attached to the covers of the Civil War period, when for four years many of the bitter feelings as well as patriotic sentiments were depicted on our envelopes.

Naturally those interested in the collection of these historical souvenirs are privileged to formulate their own plans, but personally the writer is sorry to observe a tendency to be governed by the design on the cover, rather than consideration of the stamps employed for franking or of CONDITION. Now the best thought appears to be that the fundamental of the stamp collector irrespective of the frequently devious channels of specialization is the STAMP itself, and the following technical recitals of the William S. White collection of used Patriotics will reveal that here is truly a cover Collection Of Stamps, all upon FULL patriotic envelopes (not faces) showing rates, combinations of values, foreign usages, cancellations and transit markings as well as a careful and interesting selection of pertinent designs. The latter, however, have wisely been made secondary to high denomination stamps and CONDITION the former embracing practically all those types and values used during the War, but with only a representative showing of the 3c 1861, and not a bloated accumulation of these in ordinary shape to illustrate thousands of different pictures.

Presumably it will be surprising to cover enthusiasts that such a collection of excessively rare items is possible, but Mr. White, some years ago, was fortunately able to secure, almost intact, the celebrated correspondence addressed to Dr. Henry C. Angell, who for a long period of time during the days of the Rebellion was located in the countries of Central and Western Europe. With this nucleous and aided by diligent search while others remained passive or were content with the 3c stamp, the collection grew until at the International Exhibition at New York in 1926 it was awarded first honors and a Gold Medal in a field of five entries. Second place easily went to Sen. E. R. Ackerman of New Jersey, whose fine collection was subsequently purchased by the writer and resold in its entirety to Mr. White. Later on the Lyons collection and important single items were added until today the property occupies the niche in its class, which is shared in their respective fields by the Sydney Views of Mr. Pack, the Lapham plates of 5c New York, the West Indies of Major Henry, or the Mauritius of Mr. Hind.

Space limitations prevent a listing of many of the gems of the collection, but a résumé will indicate the scope and deal with some of the major items.

1857-60 Issue

1c—Several copies each of Types 1, 2, 3a (from Plates 4 and 11) and 5, showing New York City Delivery and Carrier use in combination with 3c from various points. A particularly interesting piece is a cover from Honolulu to Dubuque, Iowa, paid to San Francisco by a 5c blue Hawaiian and thence to destination by a pair of 1c (type 5) and a 10c (type 2), all stamps bearing the San Francisco cancellation.

3c—Attractive covers with Green and Red postmarks and various combinations.

5c—The very rare (used) Orange-Brown of type 2 in combination with a 10c Type 5 from Milwaukee to Schwerin, Germany. The best information appears to show that no other patriotic is known bearing this 5c stamp which was in use for a very brief period only in the first months of the War.

10c—Several covers showing Transcontinental use (both directions) also combination 15c rate to Germany and a strip of three making the double rate from Durham, N. H., to France.

12c—Singles from Buffalo to Ireland. Two covers each bearing a pair of 12c and a pair of 3c, Boston to Bavaria. Five others showing combinations to Austria.

24c—A magnificent lot of seven covers showing usage from Cincinnati, Milwaukee, New York and Philadelphia to England and Scotland, and with Black, BLOCKS PRO RATA.

H. F. COLMAN
509 7th, N. W. H. A. ROBINETTE (Successor) Washington, D. C.

Red and Blue cancellations. One item of special importance and great rarity is a cover readdressed in England and forwarded by a 1p Red. Another is one bearing a horizontal strip of four of the 24c stamp.

30c—A beautiful single canceled June 12, 1861, at Alleghany and mailed to Germany. Likewise what is considered the second best cover in the collection, i.e., a horizontal pair from New York to Prussia canceled in Red and bearing the very rare design of a charging Continental soldier.

1861 Issue

10c August—A striking Transcontinental cover bearing the double rate of postage, including the "August" and a 10c 1857 Type 1. Another combination of "August" and a 5c Buff to Germany.

1c—A dozen domestic covers with strips of three showing different cancellations. Also the Philadelphia (U. S. Penny Mail) and Carriers likewise used in combination with high values to Europe.

3c—Several PINKS, including the Taunton and Woonsocket "GREEN." Also used with Blood Penny Post and Boyds City Dispatch, these latter being extremely rare.

5c Buff—One used in combination with a 10c to Prussia. Also the finest cover in the collection, being a horizontal pair of "Buffs" from Virginia City, Nevada Territory to Portland, Maine, postmarked May 27, 1862, and canceled by a very unusual double line open cross. The entire cover is in the finest possible condition, the stamps bright, centered and without a blemish, and it speaks volumes for the strength of Mr. White's exhibition collection when it took precedence over that of Mr. Ackerman for the latter showed this pair and also the pair of 30c 1857.

10c—Single and double rate Transcontinental covers, also to Canada West and to Guatemala.

12c—A section of extreme strength containing a score of covers showing many pairs, combinations, single and double rates to Paris and Vienna, transit marks, etc.

24c—Wonderful copies of the Red Lilac used with 1c, 3c and 10c to France, Germany and Italy.

30c—This exceedingly rare stamp on Patriotic is represented by five covers bearing singles to Austria, Bavaria, and France, and combinations to Italy and from Stockton, Cal., to Switzerland.

1862 Issue

2c Jackson—A strip of three for the double domestic rate and also in numerous combinations.

5c Red-Brown—Two fine copies used with a 1c to Munich.

5c—Half a dozen covers bearing the 5c and 10c in combination. One in particular is a wonderful item being addressed to Paris and refranked there by a 40c France to Madrid.

24c—Several used in combination with other values.

Apart from the main collection there are reference covers showing various grilled stamps, but the War ceasing before the issuance of any grills they obviously cannot be considered as legitimate Patriotics.

One section, however, is devoted to covers of the Spanish War period, but such are beyond the scope of the present review, and the suggestion is made that interested parties communicate direct with Mr. White at 116 Nassau St., N. Y. C.

Still another specialized collection of Mr. White is his assemblage of Presidential campaign covers, and as these seem to lie in a field not yet favored by journalists the writer at a later date will attempt to chronicle them.

NATAL — AND THE LAST WORD

By Rev. C. S. Morton.

Natal became a British Colony in 1843 and made tentative postal arrangements until 1851, when a law was passed to regulate the conveyance and postage of letters, and Mr. Francis Spring was elected as Postmaster in April of that year. The postage per ½ oz. letter was 3d if prepaid and 4d if not prepaid. Post offices were opened at fourteen of the larger places, the mails going thrice a week between the larger towns and twice between the lesser. As, however, many writers lived miles and miles from any post offices, they were permitted to stop the mail carrier and pop their letters into his mail bag.

Early in 1853 Mr. Spring considered a little voyage to Australia would benefit his health and slipped on board a vessel going thither. Unfortunately he neglected the formality of gaining leave Mr. Collins reigned in his stead.

The First Stamps

On June 1, 1857, postage stamp peared, or rather the embossed stamps were allowed to do posta vice. This was only a provisional as the Lt.-Governor of Natal state they were clumsy substitutes fo usual postage stamps and prepared difficulty. He wrote for 3d stam 1858. Natal preferred to have he spring one by one, and not by twi triplets. The 3d was the eldest, the 1d followed by the 6d and the junior 1s.

The 1d value came into its own the inland postal rate was reduced 3d to 1d on and from August 19, 1

The 6d stamp was chiefly of serv prepaying letters to the Cape en for the United Kingdom. To arran this journey to the Cape of 820 mi eight days was the greatest mail lem Natal had to face. The proble long since solved itself, and we ma miss it with the thought that, whe mail packet "Waldensian" was wr in 1862, the Natal mail service h revert to sailing vessels.

Developments

The period of 1860-64 was one of great postal advancement. Not onl the postage reduced (which is n done in G. B.), but many addi post offices were opened and much er use was made of the postal se In fact, they went rather too far like the boy who delightedly ble balloon bigger and bigger, the m came when it suddenly exploded. inflated salaries of 1864 could n maintained, the storm burst, and a tremendous outcry everything wa down.

DIRECT TO YOU

Each time that a new city of the United States is added to a new route of our wonderful air mail system, the Government provides the postmaster of the newcomer with a special first flight cancellation, which is applied to all mail on the first day. The collecting of these first flight, or first day, covers, with their official cachets, has developed into one of the most popular branches of present-day philately. The Government has done its bit by varying the style and size of the cancels, so as to make them especially attractive.

These Government cachets are not to be associated with the many rubber stamps which are being used by contractors, chambers of commerce, clubs, individuals, etc., for application to covers in connection with more or less important local events. In the years to come, the covers bearing the private rubber stamps are very likely to fall by the wayside, but the thousands of collectors of officially recognized covers (those which bear the official cancellations) assure the continued popularity and increasing value of the latter.

If you are not collecting first flight air mail covers, now is the time to start, while all of the varieties are still available. If you have been attempting to make your own first flight covers, now is the time to stop,—and let us prepare the covers for you.

At a charge of only 20c per cover, including all postage, we will address and mail direct to you a first flight cover from each new city as it is added to the air mail system. These covers consist of air mail envelopes with either red and blue borders or red and blue stripes, as you prefer. The envelopes are six inches long, the popular, neat, small size which takes up a minimum of space in your album. They are franked with picked copies of air mail stamps. We use no stamps that are damaged or have straight edges.

A deposit of $1.00 is all that is necessary to bring you this service. You pay for the covers after you receive them. When you discontinue the service the deposit is sent back to you.

Just send a dollar and say: "Send me service "D." With the next route to be started you will begin to enjoy the thrills which first flight covers, Government-recognized mementos of the romantic conquest of the air, provide.

THE DOMINICAN AIR, 1928

By HARRY E. HUBER.

(3) Lindbergh Air Mail, February 6, 1928

The inauguration of the air mail service to Santiago de Cuba (275 miles northwest of Port au Prince, Haiti), was planned for the first week of February, 1928, but the visit of Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh, in the "Spirit of St. Louis," at that time, caused this to be deferred until later in the month. Col. Lindbergh did, however, carry an air mail of 9 kilos 500 grs. (2729 letters) from Santo Domingo City to Port au Prince, on Monday, February 6th, and a mail to Habana, Cuba, on February 8th from both Santo Domingo City (10 k. 95 gr.) and Port au Prince (9 k., 2527 letters and 4 post cards). That between Santo Domingo City and Port au Prince was the very first air mail ever carried by Col. Lindbergh in the "Spirit of St. Louis."

The stamps used to prepay the regular 12c air postage on this mail, to Port au Prince and Habana, were the 2c red, Arms type (flat topped shield) of 1924, and the 10c blue, Entrega Especial, of 1920 (plane in flight) both lithographed locally, and perforated 11½. These were postmarked in blue-green, with a single line circle, 24mm, lettered "Correo Aereo—Sto. Domingo" with "FEB—6—1928" in three lines in the center; at the right are five horizontal lines, 45mm long, and spaced vertically 4mm.

The Santo Domingo City Post Office also prepared and applied, in blue-green, to the mail intended for Port au Prince, a special marking, in the form of a horizontal rectangle, 55 x 26mm, with four lines of lettering, "Correo Aereo Especial—por—LINDBERGH—"Espiritu de San Luis." On receipt at Port au Prince, this mail was backstamped "Port au Prince, Haiti" within a single lined circle, 27mm, with "6—FEV—28" in the center in three lines, while to the face were applied in red, the Avion marking (2 concentric circles, enclosing a plane and "Avion") introduced on Sept. 13, 1927, for inland air mails; and the special "Lindbergh" plane marking prepared for the occasion.

The mail prepared by the Santo Domingo City Post Office, for dispatch to Habana, by Col. Lindbergh, was similarly postmarked, but the special marking applied, in blue-green, also horizontal rectangular, 74½ x 26mm, reads "Primer Correo Aereo—Santo Domingo—Havana—Vuelo especial "LINDBERGH" con el—"Spirit of St. Louis."

Col. Lindbergh arrived at Port au Prince, on Monday afternoon, February 6th and departed for Habana on Wednesday morning, February 8th, landing at the Columbia flying field, just outside of Habana, at 4 o'clock that afternoon.

The three bags of mail which Col. Lindbergh carried (one from Santo Domingo City, and two from Port au Prince), were turned over to the Habana General Post Office, on Thursday morning, February 9th, and electric machine cancelled on the back "Habana, Cuba, 1928" within a single lined circle, 21mm, with "FEB 9—11-AM" in the center in two lines, and at the right, the flag slogan (58 x 18mm), with the representation of a biplane in the left portion, and in the right, in three lines, "Utilizando el—Servicio Aereo—Economiza Tiempo" (i.e., Using the air service saves time).

On receipt of a large quantity of this mail, a Habana addressee immediately suggested to the postal authorities that the mail be marked with the hour of Col. Lindbergh's arrival, 4 p. m., February 8th. This was done, and his letters together with all the transit mail in the Post Office was run through the machine again, with the date and hour expressed as "FEB 8—4-PM." I have seen letters addressed to Habana with only the "FEB 9 11-AM" backstamping, and others to a town in the eastern province of Oriente, with no backstamping at all.

(4) W.I.A.E. Service Inaugurated to Stgo. de Cuba, Feb. 20, 1928

On Monday, February 20, 1928, at 2.15 p. m., the "Santa Maria" left the flying field at Santo Domingo City, with the regular weekly air mail for Port au Prince, and also the first air mail (weighing 5 k.

SYRIA - - 1918-1921

A Magnificent Collection of the Stamps of this Country formed by the Minister of Finance and the Postmaster General of Syria.

This Collection is unique and contains many exceedingly rare uncatalogued varieties of overprint. A strict record was kept of the number of Syrian stamps printed or overprinted, and stamps of which only one, in a few cases two, and in several instances less than ten copies exist, are included.

All stamps numerated by Yvert & Tellier in mint condition and a number of Entires. Two of the latter being—A letter addressed to the President of the Syrian National Assembly and another to the President of the Syrian Constitutional Congress.

There is also a copy of the 100pi (Y. & T. No. 63), the only existing duplicate of which realised £450 and is now included in a Royal Collection.

The stamps are priced singly and specialists interested are advised to make an early application for quotations or for selections on approval.

50 grs.) for Santiago de Cuba. The night was spent at Port au Prince; the flight resumed at 11.50 the next morning, and landing effected on the Malecon at Santiago de Cuba, at 2.40 p. m.

On Friday afternoon, at 1 p. m., February 24, 1928, the plane took off from the Malecon, with the first air mail for Port au Prince, Santo Domingo City, and San Juan, P. R., and arrived at Port au Prince, at 4.40 p. m. The next morning, Saturday, February 25th, at 11 a. m., the "Santa Maria" left for Santo Domingo City, where it arrived at 1.15 p. m. The flight was resumed to San Juan at 3.10 p. m., landing there at 6.50 p. m. Although the mail was delivered to the Post Office at San Juan that evening it was not backstamped until Sunday morning, February 26th.

The weight of the first air mail dispatched eastward from Santiago de Cuba was as follows:—

To Port au Prince, Haiti, 12 lbs. 14 oz.
To Santo Domingo City, D. R., 9 lbs. 8 oz.
To San Juan, P. R., 9 lbs. 12 oz.

On February 21, 1928, a quantity of mail was presented at the Port au Prince Post Office for dispatch to Santiago de Cuba, that day, by the "Santa Maria," and before the matter came to the attention of the Haitian Postmaster General, a portion of it had been postmarked, and the AVION and Inauguration markings applied.

As no public announcement had been made of the commencement of the air mail service to Santiago de Cuba, that day, the Haitian postal authorities would not permit any mail to be dispatched by the plane leaving February 21st. The mail already postmarked was held over in the Post Office until the next week, when it was additionally postmarked Feb. 28th, and sent along with that presented subsequent to the announcement on February 23rd, that the service would be inaugurated February 28th.

(5) Haitian Service Suspended, April, 1928

The air service of the West Indian Aerial Express to Port au Prince, Haiti, was suspended temporarily about the middle of April. Cuba and the Dominican Depublic have quarantined against Haiti because of some cerebro spinal meningitis in the north of the Republic, but as under international agreement, this is not a quarantinable disease, the service was resumed late in May. The plane stops for mail only, and en route to Santiago de Cuba the stop is limited to one hour only.

(6) "Record Flights," by Clarence Chamberlin, 1928

On page 26 of Chamberlin's "Record Flights" (Dorrance & Co., Inc., 1928), he writes, "If I myself had been given a free hand in the beginning (that is, in preparing for the trans-Atlantic flight to Germany, in June, 1927), I should have picked my own companion for the flight, probably Basil Rowe, with whom I long was associated, or Hughie Wells, or Harry L. Chandler."

And further along (page 247), "During 1923 I was alone in whatever airplane business I had . . . random flying jobs, aerial photography, and the sale of occasional ships which I had reconditioned. In 1924, however, I combined forces with Basil Rowe, Sydney, N. Y., aviator, to form the Chamberlin-Rowe Aircraft Corp. This affiliation lasted . . . until we came to the end of the string in the conversion of surplus war planes obtained from various sources . . . " (page 253). "As the winter of 1924 approached and our stock of airplanes dwindled to almost nothing, Rowe and I decided the time had come to wind up our partnership. He wanted to go to Florida, where he had been offered an opportunity to get into the operating end of the airplane business instead of the selling end. So he went south for the winter . . . "

Basil L. Rowe, to whom reference is made, is the chief pilot and in charge of operations of the West Indian Aerial Express, at Santo Domingo City, D. R., and Hughie Wells is now one of the pilots on the Key West to Habana run of the Pan-American Airways, Inc.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

(This feature is a "regular" in the Los Angeles Record and is the product of the brain of H. B. R. Briggs, a founder member of the Los Angeles Philatelic Club. This is the second we have reprinted. —W. O. W.)

THE heart of a boy; father and son banquet; scout master; "Now my little fellow, we will build a little fire with the nice dry sticks."

BLAH.

All you old stiffs are wandering in circles trying to get a boy to go in the way you think he should go.

Ninety per cent of you aged fellows who lead "boy" movements, and who pat yourselves on your creaking backs because you parade as boy saviours, are a jest to the boys; who look solemn before you, and wait, like wise little apes, for the ice cream. Your pious admonitions and your elephantine gambolings are alike funny to the wise little Indians who analyze you from paunch to thin thatch.

It seems like, today, men are crying around—especially successful men—for the comradeship of boys; I haven't heard any news of boys wailing for men.

I am back in the hill shack after three days in town; I analyze my experiences.

Going into town I stopped at the stamp house and bought a few "sets" for son's album. Son met me with two other kids, each of whom son had started on stamp collecting, and we four got out the old folding table, the reading glass, the albums, the watermark detector, the catalogue, the case of duplicates and the pincers. The lads hopped their bicycles and went home and came back with their little albums; and, while son was sticking up the cheap sets I brought in his album, I was going over the albums of the other two lads and giving them stamps from the duplicate file.

Two hours passed like ten minutes; those three boys—12 to 14—didn't spend a second figuring out how old I was; we four just worked together on stamps, and I was as young as any of them, without even thinking about my age; and they were as old as I was, because each of them placed several stamps that I hadn't figured out—young eyes are bright, young minds are smart, young memories are uncluttered and efficient.

That two hours cost me about $1.75—thanks to several of you folks who have sent in a lot of duplicates. I regard it as one of the best investments in 40 years; investment in my own personal, selfish pleasure; none of this la la, help-little-boy-out bunkum.

Heart of a boy!

STUDY OF ENTIRE STAMP SHEETS

By W. GARDNER.

The study of complete sheets of stamps at the present time is an important aspect of specialising. A thorough knowledge of plate numbers, controls, Jubilee lines, marginal perforations and imprints, and in the case of surcharged stamps, the method of applying the surcharge can be obtained. For instance, in the 1893 provisionals of Seychelles, the stamps were surcharged thirty at a time, so that each sheet of 120 had to go through the press four times. This can at once be seen by examining a pane of sixty stamps, for the shifted and broken letter varieties occupy identical positions on the top and bottom blocks of thirty.

The following notes by a noted Continental collector many years ago, contain much that is useful on this important aspect.

"The benefits accruing from the study of whole sheets as compared with that of single stamps, are especially noticeable in reference to modes of printing, paper, watermarks, perforation, and several other items. On a single stamp, it is difficult even for the expert to differentiate between lithographic etching and copper printing, with a whole sheet it is easy to do so, even for the less technically educated layman.

"From the entire sheet can be seen, if several mother dies have been used (for instance, two dies Oldenburg, 1852, 1-30 Thaler), or if the complete printing plate has been formed of smaller plates or parts all identically alike (a sheet of Germany "Deutsches Reich" contains 100 stamps, and is formed of four groups, therefore the error "Dfutsches Reich" is four times the twentieth stamp). Of Cashmere stamps, the whole sheet is cut in wood. Faridkot, 1877, has every stamp done separately by hand-stamp, they are therefore irregularly placed, and often overlap each other. Brazil, 1860, perhaps the oldest copper-printing, shows dividing spaces between the stamps to be of different widths.

"Narrow and wide distances are frequently caused by the method of separation, for instance, Thurn and Taxis, plain roulette and rouletted in coloured lines; in the latter case the metal strips necessary for the printed rouletting must find room between the dies, causing the divisions to be wider. From whole sheets can be ascertained if specially coloured paper has really been used (France, 1876, 5c. green), or if the toned paper is only a result of bad cleaning, the sheet is then coloured the size of the plate only, leaving the margin entirely white. For the position of types and their separation from mere printing errors or defective plates, entire sheets are of utmost value. As a case in point, take Bolivia, 1867, 5 centavos lilac, where every one of the seventy-two stamps is separately engraved on copper, or Tasmania, first issue, showing for the same reason twenty-four types in steel engraving. Indispensable are whole sheets for the study of surcharges, which, bacillus like, multiply and threaten to endanger philately.

"Errors of colour owe their existence to careless soldering into a plate a die of a different value, like Roumania, 1878, 5 bani in the sheet of the 10 bani. Sometimes it originates through using a differently coloured paper, like the Saxony error ½ Neugroschen black, which instead of the proper grey paper, was printed on the blue paper of the 2 Neugroschen, and the single sheet printed thus was issued together with the latter. In the whole sheet one can also see if inverted centres are created by the tête-bêche position of a certain die, or if the wrong feeding into the machine at the second printing was the cause resulting in one or several sheets all with upside-down centres. Shades and light as well as indistinct printing may also be combined on one sheet.

"To have in type printing the outer rows of stamps, which get a heavier pressure, clearly and equally printed, there is often a special border put round the plate which in the complete sheet is found to encircle the whole stamps. The Printing Office at Berlin, and Messrs. De La Rue, London, use this device (Jubilee Lines). Mottled paper (so-called Granite paper) for instance, Switzerland, 1881, is better seen in whole sheets than on a single stamp. Indispensable are entire sheets for the study of watermarks, because frequently a single one covers the whole sheet. Whole sheets also explain comprehensively the mode of separating stamps; the advantages of the so-called comb perforation is apparent at once.

"German stamps are always printed two sheets of 100 each at one and the same time; Italian stamps are turned out even at the rate of four sheets of 100 at a time. States whose currency is outside the decimal system have many different sheet combinations, Great Britain, for instance, with 240 penny or 480 small half-penny stamps. Austria, 1858, possesses the well-known and often wondered at white St. Andrew's crosses as supplementary stamps or "dummies" to complete the sheet, which otherwise the currency would leave unfinished. Bergedorf, 1½ schilling, contains in each half sheet four stamps, tête-bêche, in addition to the eight rows of twelve normally printed stamps. One of the smallest whole sheets is found in Heligoland, 1876, 3 pfennig; only ten stamps complete the same."—Postage Stamp.

EDITORIALETTES

Notes of the Month

By JOHN N. LUFF.

(Our editorial matter this week is taken from "Scott's Monthly Journal," well and favorably known to a considerable number of our readers. Mr. Luff has been the editor of this publication for many years. The announcement is now made that after thirty-five years of philatelic work he will in the future restrict his labors to the "Journal" and the Standard Catalog. He will spend much of his time in the country and will travel part of each year.)

Belgium.—In recent months the philatelic press has had many paragraphs about the proposed issue of stamps to provide a fund for the restoration of the ruins of the celebrated Orval Abbey. The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly brings some welcome news on this subject. After receipt of an official announcement of the proposed issue Mr. Fred J. Melville writes:

"Nothing was said of the 'stamps' having postal validity, so we wrote M. Cammaerts, whose reply confirms the non-postal character of the labels:

11th April, 1928.

"Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of April 7th, I believe that the prices mentioned do not concern the postal validity and are simply purchased as 'vignettes postales,' the whole proceeds going to the Orval fund.

Yours faithfully,
EM. CAMMAERTS."

We hope this will not prove too good to be true and that for once stamp collectors are not to be asked to help a beneficent enterprise by buying stamps of a postal-charity purpose.

* * *

Brazil.—In the April number of this journal we chronicled the five official stamps of the 1919 issue, surcharged with new values and issued for use as ordinary postage. The official stamps are listed in our catalogue as watermarked "Casa da Moeda" though several European catalogues list them as without watermark. The first lot that we saw of the surcharged official stamps was watermarked and we so chronicled them. Recently a firm in Brazil sent to our publishers a small lot of surcharged stamps, or rather two small lots, each containing twenty copies (two vertical rows of ten) of each denomination. One lot was on watermarked paper and the other on unwatermarked. The two lots were invoiced as separate items. As we do not catalogue the 1919 official stamps on unwatermarked paper we were prompted to examine our stock. To our surprise we found some blocks having two vertical rows without watermark and the balance of the block watermarked.

Among the regular postage stamps we have frequently seen sheets and blocks with one marginal row unwatermarked. We call attention to this in the catalogue in notes after the 1918-19 and 1922-25 issues. The official stamps had at least two rows without watermark. Collectors may be interested to know that the two varieties come from the same sheet.

* * *

Chile.—A cablegram from Santiago, Chile, to the New York Herald Tribune states that government inspectors have discovered millions of pesos' worth of fraudulent stamps and it is believed the counterfeiters have been operating for several years. It is not stated if the fraudulent stamps are postal or fiscal. As a rule, counterfeits of postage stamps are soon detected by the sharp eyes of stamp collectors. Chile is credited with having some careful and studious collectors.

* * *

China.—On several occasions we have published notes about the dollar values of the current series being overprinted with Chinese characters to render them useless should they be stolen by bandits. In reply to our inquiry, our correspondent Mr. A. S. Yaroshevitch, writes that these overprints have been made for sixty-four cities.

* * *

Ecuador.—Can anyone give us information about a Semi-Postal stamp of the 1920-24 issue, the 20c bistre brown (No. 511) surcharged "DOS-CENTAVOS" in two lines in black? The surcharge seems to be in the same type as that of the first two lines of the green surcharge of 1924 (No. 514).

About three years ago our friend Mr. A. Roterberg wrote us about this stamp, but had mislaid his supply of it. Recently it was found in rearranging stock and he has sent a copy to our editor who would welcome information about it.

France.—According to despatches to the daily press the French Government is thinking of selling a large quantity of stamps of all the national and colonial issues. We are told that there are stored at the Mint the official set of platinum weights and measures, the dies for striking coins and plates for printing stamps. It is not made clear whether or not plates of all issues have been retained but reference is made to "old copper plates."

Along with the plates there is stored a great quantity of stamps of all issues beginning with the first. In some issues there are several sheets of each value and there are impressions in trial colors, essays, stamps of other countries which have been obtained by exchanging and through distributions by the Agency of the Universal Postal Union. It is proposed to select a very fine collection from this accumulation, which shall be deposited in the National Library, and to then sell the remainder.

* * *

Nicaragua.—While examining some sheets of a recent purchase of Nicaragua stamps surcharged "Resello-1928" our publishers have noticed two interesting varieties. Stamp No. 10 in the sheet has a capital "I" for the "1" of "1928" and stamp No. 30 has "928".

We have seen these varieties on the 1c, 2c and 1c R de C and understand these sheets came from the second printing of the surcharge.

A MIXTURE—

THERE is a letter at this office for A. C. Weber. Will Mr. Weber kindly send us his address?

F. A. SPIELMAN, Fairfield, Iowa, sends us a cover from Houston, Tex., dated June 26, the first day of the Democratic Convention. In the absence of an official cachet by the P. O. Department, Mr. Spielman invented one of his own consisting of a rubber stamp showing the G. O. P. elephant and the Democratic old gray mare squaring off at each other.

IN the Anyac Hospital, Brisbane, Queensland, is a veteran of the World War, wounded at the battle of Lone Pine, Gallipoli, August 8, 1915. He writes that he has "been in dry dock" ever since, and there are sixteen other lads in the hospital. The name of this veteran is James R. Monroe. He is a Scotsman and would like to correspond with anyone who would care to write him. He passes the days in collecting stamps, but is not in a position to acquire many. Our readers can no doubt send a ray of philatelic sunshine into the life of this wounded soldier.

St. Petersburg

—This Live Florida City Plan National Exhibition for Jan

(It is with great pleasure that we p following clipping from the St. Pet "Times" of June 18. It is sent us by A Newman, vice-president of the St. Pet Stamp Club. We feel like quoting or graph from Mr. Newman's letter, inasr he appears to be an enthusiastic boo this city. Moreover, we want to encou local club all we possibly can in promot exhibition. Mr. Newman writes:—

"St. Petersburg is noted for her hos the world's best fishing with 300 vari tributary waters, and a wealth of game with bear, deer, turkey and quail plen that tourists or visitors can come here a outdoor pleasure in a city where the su 360 days out of the year. Five golf magnificent boulevards and equitable ho are always additional drawing cards."—W

One of the most valuable collect stamps ever assembled south Mason-Dixie line will be shown Petersburg during the last week uary, 1929, when the St. Pete Stamp club will sponsor a nation hibit of stamps, it was announced day by Ed. M. Fisher, president local club.

With some of the finest collect the United States already arrange exhibited by their owners, and several other famous collectors tively planning to enter their colle it is expected by the local club tha than $250,000 worth of stamps v entered in the show. Prizes will b for the best displays.

Belief that St. Petersburg wou nation-wide notice and publicity fo a movement was expressed by Anderson of the local club, origin the idea of holding the exhibition Petersburg. A recent survey of th ber of stamp collectors in the States by a prominent stamp per revealed that more than a million of this country are vitally interes stamp collecting. At an exhibit Cleveland, O., of the Garfield Stamp club, it is said that the upper floors of one of the largest ings in the city were filled to c with stamp enthusiasts who had neyed to attend the exhibition.

Arrangements are being made to suitable location to house the e It is possible that the Art club cha will be used for the meeting, as Pr Walter Fuller has offered the stan use of the rooms for the exhibit.

Postage Stamps And Their Use As Illustrative Material

Special commemorative postage stamps have been issued to help advertise numerous international and national conventions, congresses, exhibitions, and expositions. Following is a list of cities which have held such advertised exhibitions and meetings, exclusive of those held in the United States, all of which were previously mentioned: Antwerp and Brussels (Belgium, 1894 and 1896), Guatemala City (1897), Bucharet (Rumania, 1906), Rio de Janeiro (Brazil, 1908), Batavia (Dutch East Indies, 1922), Singapore (stamps of Straits Settlement and Brunei, 1922), Munich (Germany, 1922 and 1925), Moscow (Russia, 1923 and 1926), Santiago (Chile, 1923), London (Great Britain, 1924 and 1925), Smyrna (Turkey, 1924), Cairo (Egypt, 1925 and 1926), Paris (France, 1925), and Prague (Czechoslovakia, 1926).

Stamps issued to commemorate and advertise the Olympic games call for special mention. Greece issued an Olympic set when the games were revived at Athens in 1896, and again when they were held there ten years later. Belgium issued such a set in 1920 when the games were held in Antwerp, and France followed suit when they were held in Paris four years later. Uruguay commemorated her Olympic soccer championship the same year. Costa Rica was host for a carnival of athletic games for the Central American states in 1924, and a special series was issued in commemoration thereof. Greece's first Olympic set is exceptionally artistic and beautiful. The various values show the Acropolis of Athens, the Athenian Stadium where the Olympic games took place, Victory driving a Quadriga, or four wheeled chariot, Wrestling Gladiators, a Greek vase, the renowned Discobolos or discus thrower by Myron, the statue of Winged Victory, and Praxitiles' statue of Hermes.

The development of national postal systems and of the Universal Postal Union have been subjects of numerous commemorative issues. The following countries have celebrated the inauguration of a national postal service: Sweden (1620-1920), Denmark (1624-1924), Argentina (1826-1926), Japan (1871-1921), and China (1896-1921). The introduction of postage stamps has been commemorated by Belgium (1849-1924), Denmark (1851-1926), and Turkey (1866-1926). The formation of the Universal Postal Union in 1874-75 was celebrated fifty years later by special issues of stamps in Germany, Salvador, and Switzerland. The latter country also issued a special set on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the U. P. U. Spain celebrated the seventh Congress of the Universal Postal Union (Madrid, 1920) by a special issue. Sweden did likewise on the occasion of the eighth Congress (Stockholm, 1924). The meeting of the South America Postal Congress held in Montevideo in 1911 was commemorated by a special issue by Uruguay. Ten years later Argentina commemorated the meeting in Buenos Aires of the Pan-American Postal Congress. Other events connected with the postal service which have called forth special issues are as follows: Establishment of Russian post offices in the Turkish Empire (Russia, 1857-1907), establishment of inland penny post in the South African Republic (1895), and in New Zealand (1901), the establishment of imperial penny postage in the British Empire (Canada, 1898), completion of the new post office in Stockholm (Sweden, 1903), the union of the Japanese and Korean postal services (Japan, 1905), and the inauguration of the airpost in Lithuania (1921).

Pictures of General Post Office buildings of the following cities are found on the stamps of the countries in which they are located: Adelaide (South Australia), Berlin, Copenhagen, Lima (Peru), Mexico City, and Stockholm.

Of special interest to stamp collectors are the stamps commemorating national and international philatelic Congresses and exhibitions. The following countries have issued such stamps: Italy and Luxemburg (1922), Russia (1923), and Netherlands (1924). In 1869 and 1881 Spain put forth two stamps, the whole issue of which was given to the authors of two books on the stamps of Spain for franking through the mails their works, which were officially described as being of "public utility"! Although the United States has issued no stamps to commemorate any of the American philatelic exhibitions, last year stamps were specially printed in New York City in sheets of twenty-five with a border reading "International Philatelic Exhibition, Oct. 16th to 23rd, 1926, New York, N. Y., U. S. A."!

Ordinary or non-commemorative stamps may be called to the history teacher's aid in another way. Every new sovereign and every change in the form of government naturally causes a change in postage stamps. France furnishes a concrete illustration. Every change in its government since 1849 (when stamps were first issued) has led to a corresponding change in postage stamps. The formation of the German Empire from the two dozen odd small states and the intermediate North and South German Federations, may be traced on postage stamps. Incidentally Bavaria and Wurtemberg continued as stamp issuing countries after 1871 (the latter until 1902 only), as one of the conditions of their entrance into the Empire. The unification of Italy and the kaleidoscopic changes occurring in the Balkans in the last half century may also be traced on postage stamps. The formation of the British Empire, or of parts thereof such as Canada, Australia, and the Union of South Africa, may be studied with the aid of stamps from the many colonies. Finally, the amazing territorial changes wrought by the Great War and its subsequent repercussions in Russia, Turkey, and Ireland are all recorded on postage stamps. Especially interesting are the stamps issued for use in the plebiscite areas.

Many of the war and post-war stamps are merely older issues overprinted. Following are some examples:

Austrian stamps overprinted "Poczta—Polska" (Poland), "Serbien," "Montenegro," and "Deutschoesterreich."

Bavarian stamps overprinted "Volkstaat Bayern," "Saare," and "Freistaat Bayern."

Bosnian stamps overprinted "Serbien."

Belgian stamps overprinted "Malmedy," "Eupen," and "Allemagne—Duitschland."

French stamps overprinted "Postes Serbes," and "Memel."

German stamps overprinted "Belgien," "Russisch Polen," "Gen. Gouv.—Warschau," "Rumanien," "Saare," "Commission—Interalliee Marienwerder" (East Prussia), "Memelgebiet," "Libau," and "Dantzig."

Hungarian stamps overprinted "Banat Bacska," "Occupation—Francaise," "Fiume," and "Baranya."

Indian stamps overprinted "Kuwait."

Italian stamps overprinted "Eritrea," "Libia," "Tripoli—Di Barberia," and "Oltre Giuba" (Upper Jubaland).

Malta stamps overprinted "Self-Government."

A Few "P's" Defined

P. L.—The initials of M. P. Lemaire, of Ghent, who designed the postage due stamps of Belgium issued in 1895. These letters are shown in microscopic capitals at the left hand end of the upper tablet.

Plate Number.—The number officially assigned to any particular plate from which stamps are printed. All the earlier plates from which British stamps were printed were numbered on the margin in the numerical sequence in which they were made, and a record was kept of the time a plate was in use. At first these numbers were only shown on the margins, but about 1858 they were also engraved as part of the design of the stamps as well. The practice was discontinued about 1880. The plates used for printing United States stamps are all numbered in the margins in a similar consecutive manner.

Plate Proof.—A proof impression taken from the whole or part of a finished plate as distinguished from a die-proof, which is an impression from the die used in making the plate.

Pleasant Shade.—A small Virginian town. In 1861 its then postmaster issued special 5c stamps.

Plebiscito Meridionale.—("Southern Plebiscite").—An inscription shown upon special 5c and 15c stamps issued in Italy in November, 1910, to commemorate the national plebiscite of the Southern states in 1860.

Plebiscit Slesvig.—This inscription is found on the pfennig values of a set of stamps issued during the taking of the plebiscit in Schleswig-Holstein in 1919 under the decree of the Allies war adjustment council. The plebiscite in the northern part Schleswig was favorable to Denmark, while the southern portion voted to remain under German authority.

Junior Dictionary

Poccir.—This word is made from the Russian alphabet (or "Cyrillic") and to be properly spelled the last letter is our R written backwards, but is "ya" in its sound. The word is "Russia" in Russian. The word as it appears upon the stamps is the equivalent of Ros-si-ya.

Poczta Pol. Korp—(Post Polish Corps).—Russian stamps bearing this surcharge were issued in 1918 for the Polish Expeditionary Force.

The Care of Stamps

GRINNELL JONES, JR.

Many young collectors ruin their stamps by not observing the following rules:—

Never soak mint stamps in water because the gum on the back is washed off and the value of the stamp is decreased in the eyes of other collectors. If the stamp has been canceled soaking in warm water will not harm it. Most of the modern stamps are printed in fast colors, but some of the 19th century stamps were printed with inks which will run when soaked. To get rid of any extra paper clinging to these stamps soak a blotter in water and then place the stamp face up on the botter. In a few minutes the offending piece of paper can be pulled off quite easily.

Do not stick the stamps to the album with the gum which the home government provided so generously, because if for any reason you want to move the stamp, you, as well as the stamp, are stuck. It is safer to use hinges which are made expressly for mounting stamps.

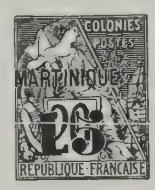
Another serious mistake which Juniors often make is to improvise hinges from labeling tags or from cheap Austrian or German stamps which are quite common. These tags are made to stick, while the regular stamp stickers are strong enough to hold the stamp in position, but are not strong enough to withstand a little gentle urging.

Mother's lectures about clean hands would apply here, because there is nothing more repulsive to a collector's eyes than a dirty and badly worn specimen. The only remedy that I know of is to handle stamps with tweezers and clean hands.

Even turning the pages of your album is an added pitfall to collectors. Seniors as well as Juniors frequently push the outside edge of the page toward the center instead of lifting the pages. The rough edges of the stamps interlock with one another and tear. Lifting the pages lessens the danger of tearing.

Martinique

An island of the Caribbean chain in the West Indies belonging to France.



Postage stamps for this colony were first issued in 1886.

Hejaz

A new kingdom in Arabia formed early in 1917. The Hejaz kingdom is situated in Southern Arabia and is famous as the birthplace of Islam. In it are found the two most sacred cities of the Moslem world—Medina and Mecca—towards which millions of people direct their faces in their daily prayers. Its population has not been exactly ascertained but it is estimated at about a million and a half of whom 250,000 are city-dwellers while the rest lead a nomadic life. It was for many years a vassal of Turkey, but when Turkish troops were indiscreet enough to bombard this "symbol of the unity of God," as Mecca is known to the faithful, things began to happen and the Grand Sherif of Mecca, El Hussain ibn Ali, lineal descendant of prophet himself, threw off allegiance to the Sultan of Turkey and proclaimed the independence of Arabia. One of the first acts of the new Kingdom was to issue postage stamps the first three values of which appeared about March, 1917.

More About Overprints

If a collector were to collect only stamps from countries that have never issued any overprinted adhesive postage stamps he would have to confine his activities to exactly 47 countries, including the United States.

Taking the hundreds of countries all the way from Abyssinia to Zululand, only 47 have seen fit to issue stamps without changing their facial appearance for some such purposes as changes of rate, changes in government, celebrations, charitable purposes, air mails, etc., etc.

Of these 47 countries, none are located in South America, Central America, nor the West Indies. Europe takes the lead with 27, or more than half, and includes nearly all the small states which later went to make up the Italian Kingdom and the German Empire. North America and Asia each account for four. The South Pacific includes two, namely, the Australian Commonwealth and the British Solomon Islands, while Africa accounts for the rest.—A. C. LeDuc.

Grenada

A small island in the West Indies—the southermost of the Caribbees—belonging to Britain. It is situated about 96 miles north of Trinidad, and about 100 miles southwest of the Barbados. The first postage stamps for Grenada were issued in 1861.

A-A-A

Aniversario De La Independencia.—A surcharge applied to the 2c Honduras stamps of 1911 on the 19th of September of that year to mark the ninetieth anniversary of the Independence of the republic.

Anjouan, Sultanat D'.—One of the islands of the Comoro group belonging to France, and situated halfway between Madagascar and the east coast of Africa. It is known to English geography as Johanna Island. It has had its own stamps since November, 1892.

Anna.—The value in which many of the stamp of India, the native States of India, Zanzibar, British East Africa, Uganda, Somaliland, etc., are expressed. An anna is, usually, the sixteenth part of a rupee and is equal to 2c in United States currency.

Valley Forge Variety

Bgium's stamps are unique in one spt. Before 1893 this country was ited over the question of whether or t e mails should be delivered on Sun-y. The question was settled in an em-ny practical manner by allowing each i dual to decide the matter for him-f This was accomplished by adding a pe to the bottom of each stamp, read-n French and Flemish, "Not to be li red on Sunday." If the user of the n does want his letter delivered on n y he simply tears the label off along e erforations provided for that pur-se

P tage stamps are of course not the ly kind of adhesive stamps and labels ected with the postal service. Some th other kinds have already been men-n incidentally. Closely allied to the ar postage and commemorative ns are stamped envelopes, postals, te cards, reply cards, and wrappers; cl, department, and "service" stamps, ve pes, wrappers, franks, permits, and ds franchise stamps (given by some re ean governments to certain chari-le and benevolent societies for frank-their correspondence); specimen rs (for distribution to members of e niversal Postal Union); special de-r special handling, "express" pneu-ti post, and air mail stamps; regis-ti and insurance stamps; "too late" rs (issued by certain South Ameri-ountries for including a letter in a il lready closed); letter tax stamps; nwledgment of receipt stamps; war s liers and sailors' stamps; newspa-nd parcel post stamps; Red Cross narity stamps; postage due stamps, ve and local stamps, postal and war ns stamps; and telegraph stamps. wer, none of these are of as much tc cal and philatelic interest as the ur and commemorative postal emis-s Oftentimes the designs of the w mentioned special kinds of stamps ue only the name of the special serv-al the value in a large central figure. is s not true of the special delivery n, which usually show something olnatic of speed, once usually Mer-y r a boy running or riding a bicycle, w often an aeroplane!

Revenue or fiscal stamps constitute a of class in themselves. Some are of sderable interest, such as those issued th United States to help finance the il War, the Spanish-American War, e Great War. Also, the stamped e issued in 1765 in connection with amp Act is of great interest and rely rare. Many American proprie-ymedicine companies and match fac-e were in the past permitted to de-nd print their own revenue stamps ese constitute an interesting class.

Conclusion

t ppears from the foregoing survey th postage and revenue stamps are e raordinary historical interest and i ance. The great majority of those nt value to the history teacher are il secured and cost not more than a nts each. Doubtlessly, few teach-th no previous interest in philately, ll be willing to go to even a modest e e in purchasing stamps for illus-i material. However, in almost r high school and local community, more persons are found who have n collections, and such persons are a only too glad to show them. In l ge cities stamp dealers have collec-s pen to inspection and doubtlessly n f them would be willing to arrange s cial displays before history classes. Al, in some cities there are public e ions such as the United States gov-nt collection in the National Mu-n Washington, the collection in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City, and the Tapling Collection in the British Museum.

When a teacher has the knowledge, inclination, and the means (or the stamps), the ideal way to use stamps is to mount them on display sheets about the size of this page. Sheets can be made up to illustrate some political evolution such as the disintegration of the Austro-Hungarian and Russian Empires, the unification of Germany, the expansion of the British Empire, etc., or the stamps may be mounted according to designs such as individuals, battles, maps, natural features, public buildings and monuments, etc. Commemorative stamps lend themselves to special kinds of treatment.

Where a Balopticon is available, stamps may be used with excellent results. Besides increasing the size of the illustration, its use has the advantage of focusing the attention of the entire class on one thing at a time, thus giving the teacher ample opportunity to make explanatory remarks.

Another effective way to use stamps is to give, or lend, or show one or more selected stamps to each pupil and ask them to find out all they can about the designs and to report, either orally or in writing, the results of their investigations. The Columbian issue of the United States could be used in tracing the life of the discoverer. The Egyptian stamps showing the Sphinx, the Great Pyramid, and the Assuan Dam, and many other stamps picturing battles, assemblies, and buildings, lend themselves particularly well to this kind of treatment. In some schools there are stamp clubs, the meetings often being devoted to explaining the historical significance of certain stamps.

Oftentimes a high school or a history department can acquire an interesting collection through donations and it is within the realm of possibility that the budget of a history department, or a high school, or a school board might sometimes provide for the purchase of stamps as worthy illustrative material!

BUREAU PRINT PRECANCELS

DR. W. I. MITCHELL, Paonia, Colo.

In taking charge of this column from now on I shall endeavor not only to give a list of new issues actually seen, but shall advise as to Bureau orders received and filled, through the kindness of our Washington members who have been furnishing this information regularly to me for some time. While the information is usually correct, owing to the fact that the Bureau employees are mostly non-philatelists, mistakes may creep in at times, so these lists of new orders should be taken "tentatively" only.

I shall start off by giving a complete list of all perf. 11x10½ in my collection or items seen by me, and shall appreciate any additions to this list if the owners will kindly submit them for my inspection, as no stamps will be listed until I have actually seen them; so please do not send lists of additions without submitting the stamps, as no attention will be paid to them.

This month's surprise is a letter from one of our well-known Bureau specialists who advises me he has at last secured the 1c Trenton coil which was supposed to have been ordered from the Bureau over two years ago, but a stamp I have never seen and the existence of which I have always doubted. This man knows what he is talking about, and while I shall not list it until I have seen it, I have no doubts about it.

The January Bureau orders are as follows:

Worcester, Mass., 3c ordinary.
Framington, Mass., 1½c coil.
Albany, N. Y., 2, 3, 4 and 5c coils.
Richmond, Va., 1½, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 10c coils.

The bureau has standardized on the new small type overprint for all bureau precancels. As soon as a precancelling cylinder is worn out they will replace with this new type. It will be a slow process as not many places outside the largest cities wear out a cylinder very soon. So far the new type cylinders have been prepared for Brockton, Columbia, Dallas, Huntington, Camden, Omaha, Port Washington, Richmond, Cleveland, Oakland and Muncie.

The 3000 subject coils for Shermack mailing machines have been precancelled recently by the Bureau, but I have no definite information as to the cities and there will be no way to tell from individual stamps whether from small or large sized coils as the perforation is identical.

U. S. 1847 ISSUES

I recently had the pleasure of offering the interested collector the pick from one of the two finest collections of 1847 5-cent and 10-cent, ever gotten together. This collection, along with a second famous lot of the same stamps, contained the cream of our first issue. It was through these collections that the plating of the 10-cent was made possible.

One of my clients has recently acquired the larger and choicest portion of this second collection, and after picking out items which were wanted to add to a collection made on certain lines, he has turned over to me to sell for his account, the balance, which includes some of the finest 1847 pieces ever offered.

For instance, I note in the way of the—

5-Cent Brown

Magnificent horizontal strip of ten on entire cover (unique)
Strip of four on entire cover
Numerous covers with different town cancellations
Copies used on cover from Canada
Copy used to Belgium, showing foreign postmarks and Wilmington - Raleigh Railroad cancellation Copy tied to cover with "20" in circle, in red—used with "Blood's Local"
Copies used with Carriers
5c used with Davis-Baltimore Local (unique)
Copies used with numerous Locals
One whole volume of Railroad covers — finest known
Several covers used abroad
Two mint blocks, four and five
Block of five—red grid postmark
Strip of six — black French postmark (unique)
Two strips of four
Several hundred singles and pairs with unusual postmarks 5c postmarked "Way 6" in blue (unique)
Reprint block of ten (unique)

10-Cent Black

Strip of five and single on cover (unique)
Strip of three on cover with blue Philadelphia "Paid"
Strip of three used to Mexico—"Panama" in red straight line
Numerous railroad cancellations
Troy & New York Steamboat
Several covers from Canada
Buffalo Steamboat
Strips of five, four and three
Several pairs and singles off and on cover
Reprint block of four and block of six

This lot is priced individually and is available to interested clients. Personal inspection is invited and arrangements may be made whereby those in the East may inspect the entire lot, or I will gladly submit on approval any portion desired.

I again bring to your attention the fact that the finest things coming upon the market in the way of U. S. Issues, are passing through my hands. If you care to either buy or have unusual pieces or collections for sale, correspondence is solicited.

Special Handling Stamps

On June 25th, in accordance with previous announcement, the Post Office Department placed on sale in Washington, the new 10, 15 and 20 cent green special handling stamps, similar in design and size to the previously issued 25 cent, which we have been using for some time.

In the Postal Bulletin for June 28, 1928, the Department explains under what condition these, as well as the special delivery stamps, should be used, in accordance with the Postal Bill enacted May 29th, which became effective July first.

The law makes no change with reference to special delivery of first-class mail except to increase the rate in addition to the regular postage, as follows:

10 cents—special delivery charge on mail weighing up to two pounds.
20 cents—from two pounds to ten pounds.
25 cents—on first-class mail weighing in excess of ten pounds.

To pay the latter fee, a 10-cent and 15-cent special delivery stamp should be used, although special delivery charges may be paid with regular stamps.

With reference to all classes of mail, except first-class mail, the law merges what has heretofore been known as special-handling service and special-delivery service into one service and calls the combined service special-delivery service. The law fixes the following rates in addition to the regular postage namely: 15 cents on matter weighing not more than 2 pounds; 25 cents on matter weighing not more than 10 pounds; 35 cents on matter weighing in excess of 10 pounds.

The new statute, however, continues special-handling on matter of the fourth class only, without the necessity of the special-delivery service, and for this class the new stamp previously described, has been issued, the charges being 10, 15 and 20 cents on packages up to two, ten and in excess of ten pounds.

It will be noted that the new law makes no provision for special-delivery service without the special-handling service. In other words, the special-delivery service necessarily carries with it the special-handling service.

The Department officially defines these two services as follows:

"Special-Delivery—By affixing to all mail matter other than first class the required special-delivery rates, such matter is not held for shipment with ordinary bulk mail, but is distributed, dispatched and transported on the same trains as is matter of the first class, and is given immediate delivery at the office of destination.

Special-Handling—By affixing to matter of the fourth class the required special-handling rates it is distributed, dispatched, transported, and delivered the same as matter of the first class, but is not given immediate delivery at the office of destination."

Under date of June 22nd, the Third Assistant Postmaster General announced that the new special-handling stamps could not possibly be distributed throughout the country by July first, and postmasters were instructed that ordinary postage stamp should be used temporarily to pay special-handling charges, as provided in paragraph four of Order No. 7790 of the Postmaster General, appearing in the Postal Bulletin of June 13th.

Democratic Convention

While the Postmaster General refused to issue a special postmark for use at the Democratic Convention at Houston, they locally arranged an unofficial marking, consisting of a "Kicking Mule," somewhat similar to the famous cancellation used at Port Townsend, some years back. Underneath the mule, we find in one line, "He's in Houston." The copies that I have seen have been applied in magenta. I wish to thank Mr. Charles E. Jandrue, Jr., and the Houston Philatelic Society for such covers, which came forward via air mail.

Air Mail Abroad

As previously mentioned in this column, the Second Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Warren Irving Glover, in charge of air mail matter, has been giving considerable thought to the subject of transporting air mail from United States ports to abroad. We now have the service which was inaugurated some time back between Key West and Havana, and the Department has recently opened bids from three concerns, covering a service from the same point to both Porto Rico and the Canal Zone. When these are established, it is expected that the one service will cover several of the islands of the West Indies, such as Cuba, Haiti and Dominican Republic, whereas the Canal Zone service will include Cuba, Mexico, British Honduras, Honduras and Nicaragua, with the understanding that later on stops will possibly be made at Guatemala, Salvador, Colombia, Venezuela, Curacao, Trinidad, British Guiana and Dutch Indies.

As the bids are within the limit of the amount specified by Congress for foreign air mail service, there is small doubt, but what this service will be established in the near future. This is simply a forerunner of what will, no doubt, be continued down on through South America, so that the time is not far distant when air mail services will be available from northern Canada, down through to the extreme southern portion of South America. A few years hence, will no doubt, find the entire civilized world in communication, via air mail.

Philippine Islands

Mr. C. F. Brown, Disbursing Agent of Philippine Revenues in care of the Bureau of Insular Affairs at Washington, D. C., writes that on July tenth he will have available the new Philippine Postage Due Stamps consisting of the 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 16, 20 centavos. These may be purchased at face value, in sets only, at 38 cents per set, together with postage to cover return mail.

In addition, Mr. Brown writes that the 2c coil stamps of the Philippines of the current series are sold in strips of two or more at 1 cent each. The Philippine Commemorative stamps, bearing the design of the "Palace of Legislature," with the exception of the 1 peso, that is, the 2, 4, 16, 18, 20 and 24 centavos, are available at 42 cents per set. All current Perf. 11 stamps from 2c peso inclusive, are to be had and is a small supply of the 16c with p of Admiral Sampson, although I believe these are well centered.

In making remittances, they shou by money order or certified check, ble to the Bureau of Insular A Personal checks are not acceptable, any circumstances.

I wish to thank Mr. M. P. Col for covers of interest.

AIRPOST CHRONICLE

Afghanistan. — The Russian Soviet Government has entered into an agreement with Afghanistan which results in the operation of a service twice monthly between Kabul and Tashkent, machines leaving the former town on the 1st and 15th of each month, and from Tashkent on the 18th and 28th. Information is not yet to hand regarding air mail rates, but now that Afghanistan has joined the Postal Union, it is probable that established rates will soon be made.

Albania.—A new overprint has been applied to the air stamp series of 1925 for use in connection with the first flight from Valona to Brindisi, the inscription being: "Rep. Shquiptare fluturium: 1-ar. Vlone-Brindisi, 21.IV.28." Champion Bulletin reports the following quantities, the first column giving the numbers of each value remaining from the 1925 stock, and the second column the proportion of these which were overprinted:—

	Remainders.	Surch.
5q,	17,372	16,375
10q,	15,786	14,600
25q,	23,769	23,075
50q,	14,246	13,040
1fr,	5,987	5,500
2fr,	5,812	5,350
3fr,	5,659	5,350

Belgium. — Official air stamps are promised from this country which will illustrate well-known architectural features of Belgian cities.

Bulgaria.—The current 2 and 10 lepta stamps have appeared with aeroplane overprints, in red and green respectively, but we are advised that no regular service within the interior has yet opened.

Chile. — On March 5th connection was made for the transportation of mails on the South Atlantic service from Buenos Aires. Mails are flown weekly from Valparaiso to Santiago, and then carried by rail over the Andes. For this service a temporary air mail stamp series has been issued which will be current for about two months and then replaced by a definitive issue. The following stamps have been overprinted, 150,000 of each:—20c, 25c, 30c, 40c, 50c, 1dol, 2dols, and 3dols on 5dols; 100,000 of each, 5dols, and 6dols on 10dols; and 75,000 copies of the 10dols, the inscription reading "Correo Aereo."

Dominica.—An official air post stamp of the denomination of 12c is due to appear as we go to press. This will be used on the very successfully operated lines of the West Indian Express Co., who are anticipating further extensions of their flights before long.

Dutch East Indies.—Further to our note of last month, Mr. Benders tells us that on September 1st regular air mail routes will be inaugurated between the four principal cities of Java, for which the extra air fee will be 10c for cards and letters. A special stamp of this denomination will appear in due course, but in the meantime it is suggested that ordinary stamps will be overprinted in readiness for the opening date. The printing will be done in India to save time. Other news relating to this colony will be found under "Holland."

Esthonia.—There have been many rumours of a new series of air stamps.

These should materialise this year, as the service has been reopened by a new company.

French Morocco.—A handsome series of charity aero stamps is announced to appear as we go to press, and will be on sale until the end of June. The ten values, as here described, will be sold at double face value: 5c (Moroccan Horsemen), sea-blue; 25c (Ploughman), red-orange; 50c (View of Saffi), carmine; 75c (Marrakesh), brick-red; 80c (Shepherd), bronze-green; 1fr (View of Fez), ochre; 1fr 50 (View of Tangiers), blue; 2fr (Casablanca), lake-brown; 3fr (Rabat), violet; 5fr ("Le Hedia"), black.

Grand Liban.—Two new series of air stamps have appeared, a black overprint being succeeded by a red one within a few days. The new printing, with red aeroplane and the name of the country, is similar to that of last year, but includes the name "Republique Libanaise" in Arabic characters below the French, both in black. The succeeding printing shows all four values, 2, 3, 5 and 10pi, with the whole overprint in red, the French inscription being below, instead of being superimposed upon, the aeroplane, and thus closer to the Arabic.

Great Britain.—Imperial Airways advise us that from Monday, May 7th, an agreement took effect by which the charge on C. O. D. consignments carried by operating companies represented at the Berlin Conference will be at the rate of 1 per cent. on sendings of a value up to 1,000 francs, and ½ per cent. when over that amount, with minima of 50c and 10frs respectively.

According to a local newspaper account seen by Mr. Cossar, the Aerial Transport Co. of Glasgow proposes to open a line between Glasgow, Stranraer, and Belfast. As, however, there is difficulty in acquiring a suitable ground at the second place, it is probable that there will be no immediate developments.

In mid-May the Postmaster-General issued a new attractive guide to the air mails. This may be consulted at any post office or may be obtained at many of them, including all head and branch offices. It is now produced in foolscap size, the type is larger, and the arrangement simplified so that users may see at a glance, aided by a double-page map in the centre of the leaflet, how to apply the advantages of speedy air mails to their own purposes. Parcels may now be flown to the Scandinavian countries and Luxemburg, in addition to the services of last summer; while letter-mail rates to the United States, Russia and the Russian Border States, Italy, and Egypt have been reduced. Airmail enthusiasts are obviously familiar with the saving of time effected through aerial delivery, but the ideas of the majority of British business men on this point are still very vague, and we suggest that a more aggressive propaganda policy be adopted to improve the position. Leaflets and posters giving pointed facts as to the saving of time and money over certain routes and periods could, for instance, be distributed through Chambers of Commerce and with telephone trades directories. The postal authorities are so modest that they hide some of the most striking facts of the modern postal system in columns of figures and place names. Examples should be extracted and displayed forcefully, until they have penetrated into the subconscious minds of the public.

Holland.—This month will take place the first of three direct air mail flights to the East Indies, writes Mr. Benders. The services will be undertaken by four machines, special postmarks will be used, and two air stamps, of 40c and 75c values, will be issued.

In 1929 and 1930 monthly flights will be made to India, for passengers and mails; then, if results are satisfactory, weekly or bi-weekly services will follow.

India.—The official blue labels, formerly applied only to air mail sacks, came into public use for application to individual correspondence on March 17th, at Karachi Post Office. As few people were aware of this fact at the time, letters of this date bearing the adhesive are very scarce. Mr. S. H. Smith has shown us a very rare variety from the first printing, consisting of a pair with horizontal perforation missing between the two. From March 24th, Indian mails were accepted for despatch by the air line from Marseilles to London, reports the Monthly Bulletin, thus effecting delivery at least one day earlier.

Italy.—The new 50c (red) air stamp first appeared on March 29th, and we also learn that a complete new series is under consideration. Each stamp will bear an attractive symbolical design, an example of which we illustrate this month.

Japan.—The Yuraku announces that the arrangement for transport of Japanese mails over the Moscow-Berlin line ceased on October 28th last, owing to lack of support. Fifty pieces of mail were the largest number carried on any one day.

Jugo-Slavia. — Until the new air stamps appear, special postmarks will be applied to air mail, states the Kurrir.

Kenya.—A local journal forwarded to us by Mr. Tunstall publishes the following official statement in view of the rumours that mails would be carried by aviators passing through the Colony:—"With reference to the paragraph . . . to the effect that Lady Heath and Captain Bentley will convey letters from Kenya to England against payment of a fee, I have the honour to inform you that any such action would be definitely illegal. The fact that neither Lady Heath nor Captain Bentley would receive pecuniary benefit from the arrangement does not alter the case."

Peru.—Our details in the last number of The Aero Field were incomplete. The first actual mail flight from Lima to Iquitos was made in December, as all first-flight covers we have examined are postmarked in that city on December 29th, and bear 10c in ordinary franking stamps, a 2c Tacna-Arica adhesive, and a pair of the scarce provisional air stamps. Envelopes flown on the first day from Iquitos to the capital are similarly franked, but were postmarked on January 9th, and bear an unframed cachet in red. All obliterations are very illegible, unfortunately. The first experimental flight, when mail was carried, has been made from this country to Bolivia. About 800 letters were postmarked at Lima on February 25th, and backstamped with the violet oval postmark of La Paz the following day.

A handsome definitive stamp replaces the provisional air stamp mentioned above. Of the same value, 50c, it is printed in deep green, and the design includes a portrait of the President, with, in the background, a map of the country, over which an aeroplane is flying.

Portugal.—A Portuguese company is considering the operation of a service which will include a connecting line between the three principal islands of the Azores.

Sweden.—Besides the special "Malmo Luftpost" aerial postmark, another variety of Swedish obliteration is now being used. This is applied at Stockholm airport, and is inscribed, between two concentric circles, "Stockholm Flyghamnen."

Switzerland.—On May 14th, the summer services reopened between Basle and La Chaux, etc., and the special postmark we illustrate was used on the first day. The through line between Geneva and Madrid was inaugurated on April 23rd. The majority of mail was backstamped at Barcelona and Madrid. Dr. Vogler advises us that as from May 2nd Swiss mail was accepted for flight over the line from Brinidis to Athens and Constantinople, despatches being made from Lausanne twice weekly.—The Aero Field.

HISTORY FROM LOVE LETTERS

(This editorial from the New York "Sun" is so interesting that we reprint it for the benefit of our readers. We are indebted to Warner Bates for this courtesy.—W. O. W.)

The department of history of the University of North Carolina through the efforts of Professor Joseph G. de D. Hamilton some time ago began the collection and preservation of love letters as an aid to present and future historians. The letters proved peculiarly enlightening on economic and social conditions from early in Colonial times to late in the nineteenth century, and, made so easily available to research workers, their assembling became a successful literary venture. The university now is to furnish a new safe repository for this correspondence, and Professor Hamilton has redoubled his efforts to rescue from garrets, closets, old trunks and antique receptacles in the Carolinas and other States documents and letters which may help to throw light upon the basic conditions and history of the early settlements.

In giving to love letters so much importance Professor Hamilton is no doubt influenced by the study of the correspondence which he has collected. There was in these letters an intimacy of detail and description which was not to be found in business letters or formal documents. He cites the case of the correspondence of a young Carolinian with a girl who was probably to become his wife and help him in establishing a home in a new land. He described his experience as a pioneer in Tennessee and Mississippi and the social and living conditions there with a minute-ness and charm such as no other had done. Sentiment saved let this character from the destructio was the fate of most old correspo Professor Hamilton is not likely sider himself the originator of le an aid to the study of history a torical characters. He has befo the value of the correspondence o ard and Heloise in revealing many mysteries of the medieval age, a letters of Napoleon to Madame harnais, later to be the Empress ine, telling of his struggles in hi campaigns.

Abelard would have been known as a teacher of philosophy and by ophers only had not the world r correspondence between him and and in so doing learned something time in which they lived. Dean S a character of history and litera revealed as much by his letters t and Vanessa as by his writings. It be almost impossible to understand without recourse to the correspo he carried on with Fannie Brawne ner's music may not today be und by many, but his personality and acter are known by his romanc Mathilde Wesendonck and his ma first with Minna and next with C as they are told in his own letters the letters of the other actors drama of his life. 1c Jefferson	100,000	$1,000.00

In the consignment of Sept. 26, 1927, curved plate printed stamps were used for the 2c and 5c (perf. 11 x 10½), and 2c booklets (perf. 10 x 10), while the others (14c, 15c postage and 10c due) were flat plate printed and perforated 11. The 2c from curved plates, perf. 11 x 10½, was first issued (with the 1c) on June 28, 1927; and in booklet form (perf. 10) in May, 1927.

The 5c curved plate printed, perf. 11 x 10½, however, was a new variety, and was placed on sale at Balboa Heights, on December 13, 1927. (In unoverprinted state, the 5c from curved plates, perf. 10, was first issued April 4, 1925, and with the combination perforation, 11 x 10½, on March 24, 1927.) The flat plate printed 14c doubtless received the sharp "A" overprint, a new variety, but up to the end of May, 1928, the flat "A" stamp was still being sold by the Philatelic Agency, at Balboa Heights. With the flat "A" overprint, the 14c was issued June 27, 1925. The 15c flat plate, flat "A," was first issued July 1, 1924; and with the sharp "A," in January, 1926.

On Nov. 8, 1927, an order was placed by the Panama Canal covering stamps overprinted "Canal Zone" which were left over after filling several previous orders. These stamps were dispatched to the Zone on December 1, 1927.

The ½c, 1½c, 14c and 50c have not yet been reported with the sharp "A" overprint.

In all, three faces of type have been used by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, in overprinting stamps for the Panama Canal. The flat "A" type used originally (in 1924) gave way in 1925, to what is called the sharp "A" type. The third variety was first seen on the 1c rotary (11 x 10½) dispatched May 27, 1927, and issued June 28, 1927. This has also been seen on the 2c and 5c rotary, combination perforation, and doubtless was used on other denominations included in that and subsequent consignments to the Zone. This third variety, also sharp "A," differs very little from the second type (or sharp "A"), and to differentiate between the two, it is really necessary to see the two types together.

(2) Rotary Errors, 1927

Only two errors have been reported in recent overprintings dispatched to the Zone, i.e., 2c curved plate, perf. 10 x 10, horizontal pairs (10), one stamp without overprint; and 1c curved plate, 11 x 10½, vertical pairs (10), one stamp without overprint. In the case of the 2c 10 x 10, one Post Office sheet of 100 was found with the right hand vertical row not overprinted, while a sheet of the 1c, 11 x 10½, found at about the same time, has the overprint missing on the lower horizontal row. Inasmuch as these stamps are overprinted in imperforate sheets of 400 stamps (four P. O. panes of 100), it

A COVER BARGAIN

I handle thousands of old U. S. original covers every year, with the more common varieties in predominance, of course. Many of us remember when the 3c 1851 were considered almost worthless even on cover, but all of us now know what specialists have done for that stamp.

I believe other stamps—now common—have good futures, but my safe and storage capacity seems to be taxed to the limit and so I am making an offer you can't lose on.

(3) Panama Lindbergh Stamps, 1928

In connection with the visit of Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh to Panama in January, 1928, special postage stamps, of 2c and 5c denominations, were authorised, and issued on January 9, 1928, the day of arrival from San Jose, Costa Rica. The plates were zinc etched in the plant of the Star and Herald, Panama City, and the actual printing done at the Panama Canal Press, Mt. Hope, Canal Zone, 300,000 of the 2c and 150,000 of the 5c.

The stamps were also placed on sale in the Canal Zone, but restricted to the Post Offices at Balboa Heights and Cristobal. Letters mailed at these two offices were forwarded to Panama City, and Colon, respectively, for cancellation and dispatch. All sales were made between January 9th and January 31st, 1928, in the following quantities:

	Balboa Heights.	Cristobal
2c,	54,986	25,000
5c,	27,498	15,000

(4) Permanent Issue of Postage Stamps, 1928

In his report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1926, the Director of Posts of the Canal Zone, C. H. Calhoun, wrote—

"As soon as funds are available for obtaining the required dies, for the printing of a distinctive series of Canal Zone postage stamps and other stamped paper, it is proposed to discontinue the use of the surcharged U. S. stamps."

In his 1927 report, he repeats his earlier remarks, with this further comment—"As the additional revenue derived from the sale of an entirely new issue of stamps would in all probability nearly defray the expenses involved, it is hoped that funds for this purpose may be made available at an early date."

At the end of April, 1928, General M. L. Walker of the Canal Zone, gave approval to the issue of the first two denominations of this permanent series, 1c and 2c, which will be placed on sale about September 1, 1928, or as soon as the large stock of 1c and 2c overprinted U. S. stamps is exhausted. On April 27th official photographs were forwarded to Washington, from which to make the engravings.

The stamps will be designed, engraved and printed by the recess process, by the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, Washington, D. C., and presumably perforated 11.

A common frame design will doubtless be used for all denominations of the series, but the vignettes will be different, the head of Gen. W. C. Gorgas has been assigned to the 1c, and that of Gen. G. W. Goethals to the 2c. One million 1c and three million 2c stamps have been ordered. The subjects are most appropriate, as both men played very important roles in the construction of the Panama Canal.

Gen. William Crawford Gorgas was appointed Chief Sanitary Officer, effective June 2, 1904, and member of the Isthmian Canal Commission November 17, 1906. He served through the Canal construction period and was relieved from duty with the Canal on April 6, 1913. He died on July 4, 1920.

General George Washington Goethals was appointed member of the Isthmian Canal Commission by Executive Order dated March 4, 1907, his service beginning March 5, and was appointed Chairman of the Commission April 1, 1907. He continued as Chairman and Chief Engineer until the Isthmian Canal Commission was succeeded by The Panama Canal, April 1, 1914, when he became the first Governor of The Panama Canal. He resigned as Governor on January 10, 1917, and died on January 21, 1928.

It was rumored at one time that a common design would be used for all denominations of the proposed series, i.e., the seal of The Panama Canal, the finished product having somewhat the appearance of the peso values of the Philippine Islands series, displaying the arms of the City of Manila. The seal of The Panama Canal already appears on the locally produced 1c and 2c stamped envelopes, and 1c post cards.

(5) Summary, Dates of Issue, Etc., 1924-27

A summary of the normal varieties (excluding the errors, such as inverts, ZONE ZONE, etc.) which have appeared since July 1, 1924, when the Canal Zone resumed the use of United States overprinted stamps, and the dates on which they were issued, is given in the tabulation below.

AIR MAIL ENVELOPES

We have just received a large stock of size 6¼ (6 inches long) air mail envelopes, printed in the new style. This size is much more satisfactory for use in making air mail covers than the 6¾ (6½ inches long) size as it can be mounted in less space and looks better in the album. Why have an unnecessary two and one-half square inches of paper on each of your covers?

These envelopes have the red and blue oblique parallelograms sanctioned by the P. O. Dept. Send for FREE sample and prices on large and small quantities.

JOTTINGS—

OUR precancel editor, Frederi Allen, wishes us to make r of the fact that Capt. John R. Cr confined in Hospital Ward No. tional Soldiers' Home, Phoebus, a worthy shut-in. Upon the stre Mr. Allen's recommendation we this note and request our readers some of their duplicates to Capt. ford. He writes:—"My stamp h all the pleasure and pastime left except reading, but continuous becomes monotonous and time with leaden wings."

N. JOSEPH, dealer and prin Walden St., Boston 30, Ma sending out a specially designed cover. He advertises it this week sample will no doubt be sent to on request.

W. H. DODGE of Melrose High Mass., is putting out a l approvals with prize offers for purchases. We note that a year's su tion to the WEEKLY is given in c tion with total sales of $3.00. This like a good offer and should be vestigating.

IF anybody wishes a complete the WEEKLY from 1895 to 1908, Frank P. Brown, 333 Washingto Boston, Mass. These volumes a bound in half-sheepskin with white and the price is very reasonable.

WE have received from several subscribers Houston covers were made locally but not officially have not taken the space to chroni of these eccentricities. One thing i tain, the Democratic mule has co for a good bit of publicity.

WE are indebted to W. T. W Birmingham, Eng., for a from London bearing a cancellatic vertising the 15th British Philatelic gress held in London, June 26.

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

Photographs of covers carried from Sharon, Pa., to San Francisco, Calif., by Costes and Le Brix, autographed by the fliers and addressed to John Thomas of Sharon, Pa., have been shown me by Mr. Paul P. Wentz. A splendid picture of the plane "Nungesser-Coli" taken at Sharon, Pa., on the day the fliers were forced down, accompanied Mr. Wentz's letter.

Clippings are acknowledged from H. G. Burwick and R. E. Richard.

******

Through the courtesy of Mr. Buell A. French, I am able to add a First—"Last Trip" cover to my collection! The cachet reads,—"Last Courier Trip, Hartford, Conn.—Holyoke" in red and was carried on the now definite motorcycle route. The cachet is not official.

******

"Co-operators" the past week include Percival K. Stone, A. A. Leve, Ed. Pelgen, Austin L. Jones, R. Y. Mottahedeh and Harry Leonard. Advance information has been supplied by Mr. Pelgen to the effect that a new route is projected between Chicago, Elgin, Rockford, Dubuque, Iowa, Mason City, Sioux City and Sioux Falls, S. Dakota. The date set for the inaugural flight as given in the "Rockford Republic" is August 7. As yet no official confirmation is at hand.

******

Information pertaining to Persian Air Mail Stamps has been supplied by Mr. R. Y. Mottahedeh to the effect that they have been issuing a new set. The Persian government has surcharged a small quantity of its revenue stamps for Air Mail use. The surcharge is in four lines, the first reading "Air Mail" in Persian, below which is an airplane. The third reads Poste Aerien and the fourth line is the value in English. Five values have been surcharged as above which is quite different from that on the first Air Mail set.

Mr. Harry Leonard supplies a clipping from one of the Canal Zone papers covering the extension of Air Mail service from the United States to Panama, one route going through the West Indies and second route through Central America. The clipping states that no announcement was made regarding possible bidders but it is known that several companies are eager to obtain the contract as a basis of inaugurating a passenger and freight service. In connection with the above, see item relative to Cuban Air Mail which appeared last week.

Special Item—Through the courtesy of Mr. J. P. Penning, we are informed that the contractor of C. A. M. 11, Mr. Clifford Ball, is going to apply an unofficial cachet to mail out of Pittsburgh and McKeesport, July 31 and August 1. The cachet for July 31 will read, "Last Air Mail flight under old rate July 31, 1928, McKeesport, Pa." This will be an oblong cachet, approximately one by one and a half inches in size. The cachet for use on August 1 will be of circular design and appropriately worded. Covers may be sent to Mr. Clifford Ball, care of Bettis Field, McKeesport, Pa., with despatching instructions. All covers, of course, must be stamped.

On Monday, July 9, Miss Amelia Earhart, Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon were the official guests of the city of Boston and through the courtesy of the National Aeronautic Association, a special card was available, carrying a suitable inscription. Approximately 500 of the cards were flown out of Boston over C. A. M. 1, on the same date. Each card bears a serial number. 100 envelopes were prepared and given a serial number, these envelopes to be used by the various committees. Fifteen of the envelopes bear the autograph of the three fliers. Numbers 1 to 5 are to be auctioned off at the Crosscup—Pischon Post luncheon, Thursday, July 12. The proceeds received are to be added to the fund being raised for a memorial building to be erected at the Boston Airport. These cards and covers are of a semi-official nature and undoubtedly will be in demand by admirers of the "Friendship" fliers.

SYRIA - - 1918-1921

A Magnificent Collection of the Stamps of this Country formed by the Minister of Finance and the Postmaster General of Syria.

This Collection is unique and contains many exceedingly rare uncatalogued varieties of overprint. A strict record was kept of the number of Syrian stamps printed or overprinted, and stamps of which only one, in a few cases two, and in several instances less than ten copies exist, are included.

All stamps numerated by Yvert & Tellier in mint condition and a number of Entires. Two of the latter being—A letter addressed to the President of the Syrian National Assembly and another to the President of the Syrian Constitutional Congress.

There is also a copy of the 100pi (Y. & T. No. 63), the only existing duplicate of which realised £450 and is now included in a Royal Collection.

The stamps are priced singly and specialists interested are advised to make an early application for quotations or for selections on approval.

TRINIDAD

By C. A. Howes.

Next to Jamaica, the island of Trinidad is the largest of the British West Indies. It lies at the extreme southern end of the chain of islands called the Antilles, close to South America, from which it is separated by a narrow strait. It was discovered by Columbus on his third voyage, being the first land sighted on July 31, 1498, and receiving its name from the three mountain peaks which it exhibited. It has a population of some 300,000.

Because of the commercial importance of the island it was natural that the question of the use of postage stamps should have been considered at an earlier date than in many of the smaller neighboring colonies. It was thus the first of the West Indian possessions to issue them, but a curious fact in this connection is that the stamps were ordered, printed and shipped from England in 1848, but not issued for use until the spring of 1851; in fact, a second order was placed and executed in 1850, before the first shipment had been touched, and no explanation has ever been unearthed for this queer proceeding.

On April 4, 1851, an Ordinance in Council was passed, establishing a general post-office at Port of Spain, the capital, and making provisions for an inland postal service. Letters under a half ounce weight were to be charged one penny, thence up to one ounce two pence, and an extra two pence for every additional ounce or fraction. Foreign mails were to be received and despatched only at Port of Spain, and every foreign letter so received or despatched was to be taxed one penny by the post-office, irrespective of weight. This was to be collected in cash on delivery, but was to be denoted by a stamp when posting the missive. This Ordinance was promulgated on April 11, 1851, and the stamps ready for so long were issued on that day, but only for use between the towns of Port of Spain and San Fernando, the two chief ports of the island, between which there was water communication. The inland service, properly speaking, was not begun until August 14th following.

The stamps were the product of Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co. of London, being the well known "seated Britannia" type, used as well for Mauritius and Barbados. The name at the bottom is the only inscription, and in the case of the two last mentioned colonies the denomination was indicated by the color of the stamp. It was very likely the intention to do the same in Trinidad, for the first shipment, received in December, 1848, was of 25,000 stamps in blue and a like quantity in "lilac." The latter name is used by the contractors, but this ink was particularly susceptible to change and is now catalogued as "gray." The second and unaccountable order received at the end of 1850 was for only 5,500 each of stamps in blue and purple-brown, which would look as though they were considering a third and higher value stamp represented by the new color, and thought best at the same time to augment the supply of the lowest value in anticipation of extensive use. But w the intentions, when the stamps finally put in use in 1851 they w employed as 1 penny stamps. proved by a letter from the Post General of Trinidad to M. Moens in 1864, in which he states that value of the grey, blue and red which you mention in your first questions, was 1 penny." An ex tion of original covers by Mr. Bacon also bears out this fact. stamps included in the above sta were shipped from England in 18 made their appearance toward the that year. But the curious fact half as many blue stamps (16,720 ordered with the red ones at this yet two succeeding shipments of each were all in red, and then i 1854, we find 50,000 in deep purpl only explanation seems to be th authorities were fond of variety!

The stamps are line-engraved in of 110, eleven horizontal rows each, on hard white wove paper w blued more or less by the chemical of the ink except in the case of th ple stamps. The red stamps w brick-red and brownish-red shad in 1857 the color was changed t red, the ink of which did not aff gum, so these are on white paper. stamps in "dark grey" are listed white paper, but these may wel come from changes in the deep ink.

During the period of issue stamps above described there wer eral shortages due to the non-arr orders from England. The first o occurred about September, 1852, a services of a French engraver and ...epher, M. Charles Petit, then liv Port of Spain, were employed to a substitute for use until new s should arrive. Very little is known the issue of this provisional save a orandum of the then postmaster that M. Pétit would print 5,000 for £1. The provisional stamps lithographed in sheets of 54, six h tal rows of nine. The design is of the Perkins-Bacon design, b reticulated border is replaced b parallel lines and the engine-turnec ground by diagonal crossed lines color is nominally blue, but of a ra tints and shades from pale blue to ish-gray. The first impressions we and clear on a yellowish paper, bu ones show more and more wear the last printings from the stone in in gray and in red, are hardly mor rectangular blotches of color. The supposed to have been about half a periods of use of these provis

EARLY BRITISH POSTMARKS

By Dr. A. E. Whitehead.

The purpose of this short article is to record certain abnormal British postmarks which are constant, and which have been found at various times during the period 1840-1855. The term "abnormal" does not refer in this instance to the many types of obliterations as the rarer or less known varieties of the Maltese Cross, e.g., those known as the Edinburgh, Scotch, Plymouth, Manchester, Norwich and other crosses. Attention has been called to these; to some of them I have quite frequently. I desire in this article to write of abnormal usages of the obliterating types, which abnormalities I think must have been occasioned by one or more of the following causes:

1) The improper observance of official instructions.

2) The non-supply or the mislaying of official stampers, making it necessary to impress a mark designed for another office.

3) The temporary lack of black obliterating ink.

Specimens of the first issue are to be met with cancelled with the familiar "Penny Post" mark, which, of course, never intended to be used as an obliterator. Nearly always this will prove to be a "Dumfriesshire Penny Post," or "Poulton Penny Post." These are generally in black, impressed in red they are very rare. Their rarity in black suggests that the Maltese Cross obliterator had been supplied to these small offices in May, 1840, but was mislaid before February, 1841, when the change to black obliterating ink took place. I have seen these postmarks on many blacks, and—in black only—on many reds and Mulreadys. A careful examination of most specimens so impressed will disclose the fact that there is a Maltese Cross obliteration; I have often seen one specimen with the "Penny Post" mark and the Maltese cancellation also, suggesting that the office was without the standard mark for some years. The second postmark in each case—Maltese Cross or 1844 cancellations—was, in all likelihood, impressed by a zealous postal clerk at the office of destination.

These same issues may also be found occasionally with various types of Charing Cross postmarks, either "Charing Cross" or "C.X." (varieties).

The town postmarks are extremely rare, of these stamps, the exception most frequently met with being "Dorchester," with various dates in 1842. I have seen dates from March to October, 1842. This office was certainly supplied with a Maltese Cross obliterator in 1841, as I have a cover—carrying the rare plate eleven of the Penny black, by the way—dated March 15, 1841, and cancelled in the usual way. What happened after 1842 I am at a loss to say; in all probability the old stamper was found, or a new one supplied.

Occasionally one comes across the 1841 One Penny obliterated with "No. 1" (or other number) in a small rectangular frame. This was a "receiving station" postmark, and, like those already referred to, was not intended to be used for obliteration purposes. I have seen a small correspondence dating from 1845 to 1847, originating from a little village near Littlehampton, all the stamps of which were so cancelled.

As every collector of British issues is aware, after February, 1841, the prescribed color of obliterating ink was black. However, exceptions are not uncommon, although certain of these are very rare. One of the most desirable is the red Maltese Cross on the Penny of 1841. Those known date from Ireland or Scotland. Here, for a very short period, two or three weeks only in all likelihood, the requisitioned black ink not being supplied, the old red composition was used perforce. I have a notice to postmasters, dated Edinburgh, 1841, announcing new issues of stamps and envelopes, and also instructing that red composition should be used until the supplies of new black ink should arrive. There must have been a similar lack of black ink in Ireland at this time, due in both cases, I have read somewhere, to a lack of bottles in which to transport the precious fluid, for I have two Irish covers, dated February and March, 1841, and both have been red obliterations and postmarks.

It is possible that this change from red to black ink might account for certain other colored cancellations on the 1840 Penny. This stamp is listed by Gibbons obliterated in all the colors of the rainbow—violet, blue, yellow, purple, etc. These are rare, and may have come into being through lack of knowledge regarding the proper mixing of the new ink. I am quite aware that deoxidization has been claimed as the cause of these varieties. However, I have the white Maltese Cross on a large piece of cover dated Cirencester, February 13, 1841—the period of change—and I have seen one or two other similar pieces. In each case the stamp was from plate eight, suggesting that any specimens from plate eight with a white Maltese Cross had the same place of origin.

Not all abnormal colored obliterations originated at the period of change from red to black. I have a brilliant magenta cancellation on the Penny black dated May 27, 1840, the first month of issue. No theory of deoxidization would account for the unfaded purity of this unusual colored cancellation.

Colored obliterations are known on the Penny of 1841: Yellow (rare), green (rare), blue (not uncommon), etc. An interesting cover in my collection is one franked with this stamp, and cancelled "Hull, 1845" in green. The day and the month are both lacking. Considerable laxity can be traced to this same office of Hull. I have seen a Mulready, dated May 30, 1840; the familiar Maltese Cross, which the regulations required to be impressed on the figure of Britannia, is missing, and only the date-stamp is seen (on the right hand of the envelope). This, after all, is not a serious matter; but the laxity continued, for, several years later (in 1867, to exact) the postmaster at Hull issued certain new values, the 10d, 2s, and 5s, two weeks or more before the announced date—vide Wright and Creeke.

Later colored obliterations are known, such as the rare red "466," used at the Liverpool "Floating Receiving House"—a small branch office at the river side used as a last minute depository for Atlantic mail; and for a lengthy period in 1855 (I have dates from April to July), a blue-green ink was employed at the chief office at Nottingham.

It is quite fitting that letters from the Emerald Isle should disport in green! That color seems to have been quite considerably used in Ireland in 1855, and I am certain that, for some time, black obliterating ink was unprocurable in even such large cities as Dublin and Belfast. During the same period of shortage blue ink seems to have been used in the more westerly parts of the island. I have covers dated July, August, and September with blue obliterations from Moate, Westport and Galway. I have also a letter originating from Belfast in August, 1855, with a rich black cancellation, indicating that a return to normalcy was on the way.—Philatelic Opinion.

Timely Topics

By ALBERT H. HARRIS.
(Philatelic Magazine)

"Pasch" Forgeries. A man named Pasch is offering forgeries for sale, and nobody seems to have pluck enough to say so. The British Philatelic Association has circulated one of its usual milk and water bulletins (carefully avoiding any name) and stating that it is asking the views of other societies as to what action should be taken. Could anything be more palpably weak? We do not want a society that has to ask others. Let it lead the way. This man is offering fakes from Switzerland, circulating samples with his letters and quoting prices. His notepaper says he is registered at the Swiss Board of Trade. Surely it does not need a genius to approach the Post Office (who have been enquiring for some time into the sale of faked stamps coming from abroad), and either through them, or direct, to approach the Foreign Office? Does the Swiss Government permit stamp forging without let or hindrance? If it does, as has often been suggested, this man's mail can be stopped in Switzerland through the same means as the Post Office adopted when they refused to accept for English delivery Swiss auction catalogues containing coloured illustrations. Let us have some action, not a lot of silly little resolutions.

The French Congress. The report on another page of the doings at the French Congress of Philatelic Societies, held last month at Toulouse, is timely, for its numerous resolutions and discussions may be compared with the British Congress now about to take place. We have no doubt at all that the social side of the London Congress will be every bit as enjoyable as that at Toulouse, but on the score of subjects for debate we think it must be admitted that our French friends show more initiative and activity.

Canadian P. O. Enterprise. It may come as a shock to the authorities here, who seem to discourage interest in the Post Office rather than the reverse, that, with a view to securing greater co-operation on the part of the public, the Postal Administration of Canada has requested postmasters to take advantage of every opportunity to initiate wide circles of the public into postal problems, and sets of slides illustrating different phases of postal activities as well as notes explaining each subject shown on the screen have been placed at the disposal of the District Controller. Postmasters desiring to make use of them must apply to the District Controllers in order to obtain replies and notes for the specified date. Each set is composed of about 60 slides, showing the handling of correspondence in the course of transmission through the post and the various operations which go to make up the Post Office. Each lecture lasts about 35 minutes. We commend this enterprise to the notice of the British Postmaster-General, and can assure him in advance that he would receive the active coöperation of philatelic society secretaries, in addition to the numerous other organisations that would undoubtedly be interested.

When Stamps are "a Hundred." We have already pointed out—and many journals in various parts of the world have copied our remarks—that stamps are verging upon the antique, inasmuch as the world at large does not recognise anything as coming within that category until it is at least one hundred years old. When twelve more years have passed, and as that period draws near, this wider market will make marked appreciation in the value of early issues in general absolutely inevitable. While this appreciation may be expected in the main to effect classic issues it will not be without its effect on later ones, by reason of the fact that added attention will be drawn to stamps in general, and we do not agree with one or two pessimistic writers that the popularity of modern stamps is waning, or about to wane.

Stamp Pedigrees. But with the inclusion of stamps in the world of antiques will come a demand for better credentials, and the rare stamp with a proved pedigree will command a more ready market than one without. This is a matter that has been largely neglected in the world of stamps, and it is doubtful whether the record of ownership of many stamps could be traced owing to the reticence observed when they change hands. But it is a matter that will receive greater attention in the future, because it will have considerable influence on the commercial aspect.

"Who's Who in Philately," 1928. No book is being so eagerly awaited by collectors and dealers alike as the new edition of "Who's Who in Philately," the popular international biographical philatelic directory. In the two years which have elapsed since the last edition appeared, numerous changes have been made in the stamp world, and all these will be found reflected in the new edition. The whole work has, in fact, not only been very fully and thoroughly revised, but nearly a thousand new names and addresses have been added, increasing the size of the work to nearly 250 pages, although at 3/9 post free the price of the book remains unaltered. Altogether, apart from these improvements, the value of the book has been quite doubled by the addition of a "Location Finder," or index to countries, counties, states and towns, by which the reader can locate immediately all the addresses in the book relating to them. The book is now in the binder's hands, so those who have not sent a remittance in advance should immediately do so, or else order through their news agents or booksellers.

Index to Volume XXI. In the early days of the Philatelic Magazine, the title pages and indexes to volumes were given away to every reader, but finding that this involved a good deal of waste, as many readers do not bind their volumes, we gave up the practice in favour of printing a limited number only, making these available to those who required them. With this issue we are making another experiment by publishing the index on the last pages of the present number, which also forms the last part of the half-yearly volume. This will prevent any complete volume of the Philatelic Magazine for the first half of 1928 being without an index. The title page will, however, still be printed separately, and will be presented free to everyone who buys a binding case. Those who wish to have their journal bound in private binding may obtain the title page in return for 3d in stamps.

Private Binding. While on this question, we may deplore the practice of private bindings in general, and we would strongly urge all who bind, not only the Philatelic Magazine, but any other periodical, to use the covers supplied by the publishers in preference to any other. Not only does this make for uniformity, but from an investment point of view all journals are much more marketable in publishers' covers. Only those who deal in philatelic literature appreciate the difficu making up uniform sets of bou umes when every binding is of a ent character and quality, and a more collectors now regard thei telic literature as an investment, they do their stamps, it is a po this which considerably affects i ketability should the time come is desired to realise.

PAUL MIRABAUD

By CHAS. J. PHILLIPS.

Among the very greatest collectors of France after Ferrary, we should have to include Dr. Legrand, A. B. l'Argentiere, and Paul Mirabaud. The latter of these gentlemen was known to me personally for nearly twenty years. I often visited at his beautiful home in Paris and he was always one of my best friends in that capitol.

M. Mirabaud was born in the year 1848. He was a member of a very distinguished family occupying a high place in Society and in commercial circles. He and his brother owned one of the largest and richest banks in Paris ranking, I believe, next to the Rothschilds. He was a very prominent man in the world of finance, a Regent of the Bank of France, Director of the Suez Canal Co. and a Director of the Paris Orleans Railway.

M. Mirabaud first started to collect stamps for his son who had a disease of the spine and who lay on his back in bed for many years. After the death of this son he got interested in the collection and eventually built up one of the finest collections ever formed in France. On one of my visits to his home he took me into a side room which, as far as my memory serves me, was entirely filled with cases of a collection of pocket knives of the whole world that had also been formed by his son.

M. Mirabaud was reported to be one of the richest men in Europe and like many of the great French collectors, he kept very much aloof from his brother collectors and from Paris Society, and I believe that it is very few collectors or dealers who had the privilege of inspecting his collections. One of his most intimate friends was my good friend Baron Alex. de Reuterskiold who collaborated with M. Mirabaud in writing a very magnificent work upon the issues of Switzerland 1843 to 1862.

This work was published in 1899 in three editions in three different languages. There were 200 copies printed in French, 150 in German and 150 in English. I purchased for my firm the whole of the English edition and the work was put on sale at £6. The whole edition was sold and recent prices I have seen for this beautiful work, is from $55.00 to $60.00 per copy in either language. In my opinion, this is the finest philatelic work that has yet been published. All the early Swiss stamps are illustrated in the exact color of the stamp. All the plates are most beautifully illustrated and have been drawn to show all the plate varieties. There is very little difficulty in plating any Swiss stamps with the aid of this magnificent work. Special attention was also paid by the authors, to cancellations of which there are illustrations of many hundreds with details as to where and when they were used. M. Mirabaud told me that he had spent at least $10,000.00 in trials before the book went to press. He had hundreds of experiments made by the best artists in Paris to get the best results and to take all necessary steps to prevent the illustrations being used fraudulently.

His collection of France was a remarkable one consisting of many sheets and portions of sheets of the early issues showing the position of the tête-bêche varieties. Among other special favorites of his were Mauritius, Hawaiian Isle, New South Wales, Canada, New Brunswick, Newfoundland, Trinidad, Tasmania and Western Australia. M. Mirabaud was born in France but lived for some considerable time in Switzerland and it is from this association that, I suppose, he got his great love for Swiss stamps.

I spent very many pleasant evenings with M. Mirabaud inspecting his collection and showing him various collections I took with me to Paris. One of these visits I remember very distinctly, was upon the occasion when F. W. Ayer came over to England and placed his great collection in the hands of my firm for sale on a commission basis. Mr. Ayer had never been to Paris and asked me if I would go across with him. We first of all priced up the bulk of the collection, then went across and saw M. Ferrary and afterwards I called on M. Mirabaud, who invited us to dine with him and spend an evening at his home. On this occasion some very large sales were made amounting to a good many thousand Pounds and one incident I have never forgotten.

Mr. Ayer had a remarkable lot of the first issue of the Hawaiian Islands, the so called "Missionary" stamps. M. Mirabaud wanted the best set he could get of this issue and we eventually picked out the finest 2c, 5c, and the two types of the 13c. The 2c had several pieces of paper on the back and he said he would like our permission to float that stamp before he finally decided if he would buy it. As the owner, Mr. Ayer, was present, he agreed to this. Some warm water was brought and this great rarity had a good soaking and to our great surprise came in three pieces. Mr. Ayer was horrified and M. Mirabaud was terribly disappointed, and eventually purchased the next best copy.

M. Mirabaud always sought for the very finest copies regardless of price. He seemed to have the vision which is coming so true nowadays that in the long run it is the fine stuff that always pays, whatever price may be paid. This was noteworthy throughout his famous collection. One of the most important purchases that he ever made was in the very early days when he related the following incident to me himself:

In the years about 1858 to 1865 or thereabouts, there was a French gentleman named Rondot, who was in the habit of sending sums equal to about $5.00 to $15.00 to post offices all over the world, for stamps then current. He secured some of the most beautiful items in British Colonies that I have ever seen, many of which afterwards passed into the possession of H. M. King George V. and the late Mr. Henry Duveen. Many years after the above mentioned dates M. Rondot decided to sell his stamps and went to M. Mirabaud who eventually purchased the whole lot. It is from this source that he obtained a very large number of the finest pieces of British Colonial stamps in his great collection.

In the later years of his life, M. Mirabaud suffered from heart disease. I think my last visit to him would be in the autumn of 1907. He then told me that he considered his race was well run and that he could not expect to live long. Unfortunately, this turned out to be true as his death took place on the 12th of May, 1908.

After the will had been proved the Executors disposed of this great collection in various ways. First of all, the magnificent collection of Switzerland was sold to Messrs. Zumstein & Co. of Berne, for a sum equal to about $62,500.00. Today the collection would probably bring at least four times this price, if not more. A number of other collections, such as France, Mauritius, Japan, etc., etc., were sold separately to friends and noted collectors. The balance was eventually placed in the hands of the well known Paris auctioneer, M. Gilbert, and sold at public sale in three great auctions. I have only been able to find the auction catalogues of the first and second sale but looking at these we can form some idea of the strength of this noted collection. For instance, the rare Reunion stamps of the first issue are represented by no less than 12 copies, most of them with large margins, and many on parts of cover.

The British North America were a superb lot including many of the finest items from the famous F. W. Ayer collection. In the Canada there are four 12d. In Newfoundland a number of the very finest copies known of the scarlet-vermilion and the orange stamps, matchless copies that cannot be found in the trade today. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, 1/- about 15 copies several on cover, one of the best combinations being the New Bruswick 1/- and a 6d. used on the same cover.

His Italian States were very fine. In Tuscany I note 4 of the 3 lire, 4 of the 60 crazie, and so on. In Sicily the famous blue "Arms" type was represented by 2 unused and 5 used copies, and the "Cross" by 2 unused and 10 used, and so on throughout this fine collection.—Philatelic Classics.

Carcassonne

By PROF. M. J. BOYER.

In looking thru my New York Times Magazine section this morning, my eye caught in a headline a familiar name which would not have been familiar were it not for my interest in postmarks on old covers. This particular article entitled: "Carcassonne Boasts of 2,000 Years," I would never have thought worth reading had it not been for a very interesting cover I acquired a few years ago among some others.

The writer recalls how upon examination of this cover, he with a great deal of interest traced the course taken by it thru the mails in France to find the addressee. It is postmarked Monte Carlo, March 28th, 1899, and addressed to Monsieur Paul Bernard, Soldat 11 eme Compagnie 42 ligne, Belfort, H. Rhin. It bears a perfect copy of Monaco, Scott No. 15, tied to cover with Monte Carlo cancellation. The receiving postmaster at Belfort, in northern France, backstamped the letter and crossed out the original destination inserting in red ink "En permission a' Carcasonne, Aude." The letter then travelled to southern France and the Carcassonne backstamp shows that it arrived in Aude (a department) on April 1, 1899. On the back of the cover rather interestingly we are informed evidently by the writer of the letter that he was an ardent philatelist. In pencil and dated March 29, 1899, we read "Chr. Bernard—Si vous pouvez, conservez moi l' timbre de Monte Carlo; amusez vous bien." Unfortunately, I am unable to decipher the signature of the one adding this, and too, there is apparently an error in date, for this pencil-inserted date as above indicated is a day later than the Monte Carlo cancellation on the stamp.

This cover served as a stimulant toward the reading of Miss Adams' article in the New York Times and the description of the towers and parapets of the ancient fortress of Carcassonne lent an unusual charm to the cover above described, which cover in turn vitalized the reading of an article otherwise possibly overlooked.

Canal Zone

—Two New Postage Stamps Soon to be Issued, 1c and 2c Values

Orders have been given for the printing of 3,000,000 two-cent Canal Zone postage stamps to bear the likeness of Gen. George Washington Goethals, and 1,000,000 one-cent stamps to bear the likeness of Gen. William Crawford Gorgas, men of outstanding distinction in the construction of the Panama Canal.

General Goethals was appointed member of the Isthmian Canal Commission by Executive Order dated March 4, 1907, his service beginning March 5, and was appointed Chairman of the Commission April 1, 1907. He continued as Chairman and Chief Engineer until the Isthmian Canal Commission was succeeded by The Panama Canal, April 1, 1914, when he became the first Governor of The Panama Canal. He resigned as Governor on January 10, 1917, and died on January 21, 1928.

General Gorgas was appointed Chief Sanitary Officer, effective June 2, 1904, and member of the Isthmian Canal Commission November 17, 1906. He served through the Canal construction period and was relieved from duty with the Canal on April 6, 1914. He died on July 4, 1920.

These will be the first stamps designed especially for the Canal Zone; but stamped envelopes, one and two cents, with Canal Zone design, have been printed locally since 1924. It has been the practice to use stamps of the United States or the Republic of Panama surcharged "Canal Zone." United States postage stamps of the denominations of one-cent, two-cent, five-cent, eight-cent, and ten-cent were used as an emergency measure from July 18, 1904, to December 11, 1904, during the organization of the Canal Zone postal service. Beginning December 12, 1904, and lasting until June 30, 1924, stamps of the Republic of Panama were used, surcharged "Canal Zone." From July 1, 1924, to date, United States postage stamps have been used, surcharged for Canal Zone use, and these will continue to be used at least for the immediate future for denominations higher than one-cent and two-cent. It is expected that the new Canal Zone one-cent and two cents will be placed on sale about September 1, 1928.

Early Dating Hour

By LORIN T. BLODGET.

On page 407 of the July 2nd issue under the heading "Miscellany" there is an item regarding the cancellation used at the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition, in which you state that the earliest time shown in the cancellation is 10.30 A. M. I have a cover which I obtained through Mr. C. E. Nickles that is postmarked 10 A. M., which is one-half an hour earlier.

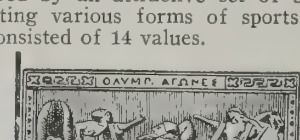
Olympic Games

By A. C. LEDUC.

With the coming of the Olympic games this year to Amsterdam, Holland, it is interesting to look back to the other Olympic game contests held in recent years and commemorated by sets of postage stamps.

Those issued by the Dutch government this year consist of eight values, and on each variety is pictured one of the major sports.

When the ancient Greek custom of having athletic contests was revived in 1896 it was fitting that they should be held in that historic city of Athens. The Greek government at that time, issued a set of 12 attractive stamps to help call the attention of the world to the events of that year. This set, by the way, was the first departure by Greece from the mercury head types so long in use. Ten years later, the Olympic games were again held in Greece, and was again honored by an attractive set of stamps depicting various forms of sports. This set consisted of 14 values.



The 1924 games—the eighth Olympiade—were held in Paris and were honored by a set of four large attractive stamps, each one bearing a design symbolic of sports.

Aside from the three countries mentioned, Belgium was the only other country to honor the Olympics with a set of stamps. This was in 1920 at the time the games were held at Antwerp and consisted of three values.

Of the nine Olympiades, it is seen that five out of the nine have had sets of postage stamps issued in honor of these sports events.

Transfer Collecting

By ROBERT E. DUNLOP, Cicero, Ill.

Some time ago you printed an article on transfer collecting and I want to thank you for printing it. I answered it and now I am a transfer collector along with my stamps. It is a good, interesting hobby for those who do not collect for the money end of it. Perhaps many of your readers do not know that stamps may be exchanged for transfers and vice versa. There are a score of collectors who will "pitch in" and help the beginner out. I'll offer some Chicago forms to any prospective collector.

U. S. Commemoratives

By FRED B. BAMBER.

If we notice the U. S. commemoratives we find that they increase more than other kinds of stamps. For example a Norse American catalogue number 621, five cent dark blue and black. In 1926 it was catalogued 12 cents, and in 1928 it is catalogued more than double.

Hercegovina.—The local spelling of Herzegovina as shown upon the stamps for Bosnia-Herzegovina.

Herzogth.—This word followed by "Schleswig" or "Holstein" appears on most of the stamps of these two German duchies. It is an abbreviation of "Herzogthum," which means "duchy."

Herzogthum Holstein.—The inscription shown upon the 1½ schilling stamp of Holstein. It means "Duchy of Holstein."

September, 1852, and following m March to May, 1853 (on bluish ca paper); March to June, 1855; Dec 1856 and January, 1857; October to February, 1859; and March to 1860. The stamps can usually signed to the proper periods by th pearance, each "stage" of the stone plainly more worn or blurred th predecesssor.

Prepayment of foreign letter been optional until October 9, 1858, a notice was posted to the effect t letters addressed to Great Britain be prepaid; if not, an extra 6d be added to the postage as a fin January 1, 1859, after which dat would not be forwarded at all. postage to England was 6d per ounce, the need of stamps of highe than 1d was apparent; 4d, 6d and nominations had therefore been o in London, but did not arrive in to be issued until May 9, 1859. were of the usual design, but the now appears in a curve at the top stamp with the value indicated bottom. The old plate was still us the 1d value, however. The new were in sheets of 240, twenty hori rows of twelve, and printed on the hard white wove paper as befor the 4d there were printed 4,000, of 9,000, and of the 1s 7,000, which ac for the great rarity of the 6d unuse of the other two values also be quantity of remainders was found years ago.

All the preceding stamps have be perforate, but in July, 1859, the facturers were ordered to perfora ture supplies. The first of these to appear in September, 1859, and 'pin perforated." This was done small wooden wheel around the per of which was a metal band bearing of short pointed pins. Each row sheet had to be 'perforated" sepa by running the "pin-wheel" alo straight-edge, a long and tedious tion. There were two wheels used different spacing of the pins, one ga 12½ and the other 13½ to 14. Al values are to be found with both g but the 12½ variety seems scarcer the other. Of the 1s there was onl small supply of 3,000, so that this is a real rarity in either gauge pin perforation.

In the summer of 1860, Messrs. kins, Bacon & Co. acquired a real rating machine, which punched cle holes gauging 14 to 16½. The Tr stamps were the first ones to be op on by this machine, and we the have a consignment of the 1, 4 a with this perforation which began pear in August, 1860. This ma wore out very quickly, so that it h be repaired in January, 1861, but th not wholly mend matters and the two supplies of stamps, which inc all four values, sent out from Lond April and December, 1861, showed p the deterioration in the work of th chine. These stamps are known as the "rough perforation, 14 to though the 1s indigo is known w perforation intermediate between "clean cut" and "rough"; it is a rare stamp, however.

In 1862 the plates of the four st we have been considering were t over to Messrs. De La Rue & Co. b Crown Agents, and this firm has printed all the stamps supplied to Colony. The first lot was issued in (Mr. Bacon thinks very plausibly it may have been in 1862), in practi

NEW ISSUES ON APPROVAL

Our offer to send monthly selections of new issues, on approval, has met with such a keen response, that we have had to largely increase our orders for new stamps.

If you wish to have regular sendings of new issues, from which you can select without any obligation as to the amount you buy, please write us today, saying whether you want British Empire or other countries, or both, and the limit of face value to which you buy.

bits of their stock in order to tempt collectors into buying. Naturally, with an essentially indoor hobby such as ours, business in the stamp trade is somewhat slackened during the summer months, but associated as I happen to be with a good many collectors, I can, by taking account of those who collect with unabated interest throughout the year, tell that this class of collector is in the majority and that they take little notice of the seasons so far as their collecting activities are concerned. After all, whatever may be said for or against summer time collecting, a keen collector cannot afford to drop out of the running even for a few months. Somebody will steal a march on him if he does and perhaps obtain the very stamp he has been waiting and watching for for years.

Perhaps a few reasons why I am particularly sensible to the charms of our hobby during the summer will bring some aspects new to the reader and which may be adopted with benefits.

In the first place, having passed the days of callow youth, most of the outdoor pastimes call for the expenditure of more energy than the time of year permits without discomfort. I am not a lazy person in these matters, but, a hard worker all the week, I look forward very eagerly to a quiet week-end. In the summer I divide this equally between philately and exercises in the open air. I certainly enjoy my hours in the open, but I scarcely know how to adequately express the measure of enjoyment and satisfaction obtained from my Saturday afternoon—it is often afternoon and evening—with stamps.

When all outdoors is basked in sunshine and it is too hot to be out and about, it is delightfully restful and enjoyable to sit here in my den with albums, catalogues, approval selections, and all the other items which go to make a stamp collector happy, spread about the table. Occasionally I pause in the pursuit of my pastime to glance out of the window and, as I stand there smoking a welcome pipe, I gaze away across the lawn and beyond the gently sloping fields to where the black-blue sea shows a stretch of its mightiness in the bay.

Whenever possible I ask for an approval selection of one or two of my favourite countries to be sent me so that they shall reach me by the Saturday morning's post. Such times I keep an eyelid lifted for the postman. I see his head bobbing up and down between the border of roses as he goes to deliver at the house next door, and I get ready to greet him, fumbling in my jacket pocket for a stub of pencil with which to place my signature upon the precautionary green slip and so take possession of the packet containing the approval selection.

Perhaps this extra energy and enthusiasm I seem to possess for stamp collecting in the summer is due to the sunlight. It is no less than a sort of super-keenness, deepening the romance of stamps which is always with me. At any rate, I must confess myself a lover of summer time stamp collecting. It has several advantages over the winter period. For instance, the days are longer and lighter—a better, whiter light. There is no need to seek the fireside chair, a position totally unsuited to a stamp collector in action. The covers of one's album have a nasty habit of curling and they never get properly back to normal again, added to which, the best of workers will in these circumstances, fall to the temptation to partake of "forty winks." Daylight brings out the most subtle charms in a nicely displayed page of stamps and this urges one along with collecting.

Many a collector in the far East, and in other climes, would welcome the English summer in order that philately might be carried on enjoyably and without inconveniences. At no time of the year is the English climate in any way harmful to the condition of one's stamps.

Aye, summer time is a good time for the stamp collector, if he is a man who can follow his inclinations, for he has better light, a larger variety of stamps to choose from, better opportunities for buying, and, when friends are holidaying one often receives a surprise call, so that the "den" is invaded, stamps are taken out and all else but stamps is forgotten in a chat upon them by collector to collector. But, heaven spare you from visits of non-collectors and their annoying sophistry and their everlasting questions—"How many stamps have you?" "What are they worth?" "What are you going to do with them all?" and so on and so forth.

However, after all is said and done, I suppose I express the general opinion as to the best time for collecting in the following adaptation, "Philately for health and pleasure all the year round."—West-End Philatelist.

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

Numbers 753 and 754

T. H. Buxton, Charlotte, N. C.
J. Bogris, Salt Lake City, Utah.

We have an application for membership in our Honor Club this week from T. H. Buxton, Charlotte, N. C., special agent for the Factory Insurance Association of Hartford, Conn. Mr. Buxton writes that it would be hard for him to get along without our paper.

We are also indebted to J. Bogris, 30 S. Main St., Salt Lake City, Utah, for his application for membership in the Club. Mr. Bogris is proprietor of the Utah Cafe and is a longtime subscriber to our publication.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

Collections 19, 20, 21 and 22

We broke up XIX, put in the counter-books and stock. I noticed among $3500. cat. over $1.00 each in good condition, some very fine Australian earlies, Gibraltar 4/ and 8/ script, some real nice German States, used Portuguese Colonies, Latin Americans and British Colonies 19th.

Balance went in the "Opportunity Approvals", which sell at straight half cat. less 10% extra over $5.00 net and less 20% extra over $10.00 net.

Collection XX is just a little group of fine U. S., Capes and Penny blacks—sold intact.

Collections 21 and 22 on the five—about 20,000 on general, with special attention paid to used copies. Does any of this interest You?

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) LEXINGTON, MASS.

CLASSIC UNITED STATES

The wonderful lot of 1847 5c and 10c which have been described in my announcements during the last few weeks have now been removed from the album pages and mounted in small booklets, more convenient to send through the mail to the interested collector. The booklets containing the mint and off cover copies will run in value from $2,000 to $8,000 and these will gladly be sent to the serious collector.

There are upward of several hundred covers priced at a few dollars each up into the thousands. Tell me what appeals to you and a selection will be made to meet your special desire. There are covers with strips and pairs. Singles on covers showing foreign and domestic use from numerous towns. There is a wonderful assortment of transit postmarks such as railroads, steam boats, way and the like. Many are used on the cover with carriers, some with locals. Each piece has some special attraction, otherwise it would never have been added to the wonderful collection which is now being broken.

I also hold and offer the finest lot of 1851 3c now available, including wonderful blocks, used and unused, strips, pairs, covers and even complete reconstructed sheets. The little lot of earliest known used covers from each plate cannot be surpassed and the prices throughout are most reasonable.

In other United States issues from 1847 to 1928, my stock is not surpassed by that of any professional, so if you are looking for the odd, the unusual or even the regular run of fine items, your want list is solicited. A wonderful array of mint blocks on hand, the items that are only to be found when large collections are broken.

Please remember that I am always in the market, summer or winter, to buy really fine United States items or collections. Money to any amount is available for important properties.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps from 1900 to date. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, cor. Robbins Road and Locust Ave., Lexington, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

1922, ½c Nathan Hale Varieties

Mr. Vance Holden has been studying his ½c Nathan Hale stamps most carefully and finds two varieties worthy of mention. On the southeast pane of plate 17047, there is a vertical crack in the gutter between the seventh and eighth stamp. This starts from the top of the second horizontal row of stamps and extends upward, no doubt, running between the ninety-seventh and ninety-eighth stamp on the northeast pane. We, however, have not been able to check the northeast pane, as yet.

The same correspondent also submits two copies showing a scratch on Hale's forehead, running from the hair down nearly to the right eye. This is found on the northwest pane of plate 17075, but the exact position cannot be stated.

"The Damn Things"

It is seldom that we find humor in the stamp album, but two items have recently come to my attention, which are well worthy of note. It seems that trouble in sticking stamps upon letters is not a new complaint, but dates back to the early days.

I note a copy of the 1851 3c mailed from Laurenceburg, Ky., on July 2, 1857. Evidently this postmaster had trouble with his stamps sticking, for he wrote upon the cover, "Paid if the thing don't stick." In other words, he wanted to convey to the postmaster at Frankford, Ky., to whom the letter was addressed, that if it arrived without the stamp, not to collect postage as it had been paid.

The postmaster at Hannibal, Mo., on February 26, 1858, possibly had been having much trouble with his stamps sticking, for he wrote across the envelope, "Paid if the damn thing sticks."

These two items are the first of their kind that have come to my attention. If any of our readers have other similar varieties, we would like to know about them.

George Washington and The Post Office

I recently was shown a most interesting autograph letter, of George Washington to Major George Lewis, at Fredericksburg, Va. The letter, which was written when Washington was President, was dated Philadelphia, 8th of March, 1796, and the postscript upon the letter will prove of interest to philatelists, as it shows that the post office, even in the early days, was a safe and efficient method of sending letters.

I quote from the postscript:

"P. S.—Always put the letters you may write to me into the Post Office, as far preferable to any private conveyances."

Canal Zone

Mr. R. S. Carter advises that under date of June 25th, a notice was sent out to all post office authorities in the Canal Zone, notifying them of changes in rates on postal cards, etc., the new rates becoming effective July 1st. At that time, postal cards and private mailing cards are reduced from 2 cents to 1 cent, to agree with the new rates prevailing in the United States. Other changes affect second class and parcel post matter.

Philippines

Mr. Eugene Klein has shown me vertical pairs imperforate between of the complete "Palace of Legislature" series, consisting of the 2, 4, 16, 18, 20, 24 centavos and 1 peso. The 2c, 4c and 16c have been noted in horizontal pairs imperforate between, heretofore.

With all of these extra varieties coming out, it looks very much as if there has been some tampering with the stamps produced locally, and it is hoped that the future issues for the Islands will be printed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Bolivia.—Our Quito correspondent, Dr. Salinas de Lozada, reports that on March 10 tenders were invited for sion of new stamps as below: 1 c yellow, Printing, 300,000; 5 centavos green, Printing 4,000,000; 10 c slate, Printing 3,000,000; and 15 c dark red, Printing 4,000,000. Not said as to design or inscription.

5,000 DIFFERENT STAMPS, MOUNTED --- ONLY $17.00!

For dealers and collectors—a great value!

5,000 stamps of both 19th and 20th Centuries, all different, listed by Scott, lightly cancelled and well centered, and otherwise in good condition, at less than 1/8th catalog!

Practically all the important stamp issuing countries in the world are represented. There are portraits and pictorials, charities and commemoratives, ship pictures and airmails, and many other desirable stamps, from such countries as Argentina, Algeria, Azores, Memel, Monaco, Nyassa, Uruguay, Paraguay, British Guiana, Venezuela, Saar, and Siam. There is a good showing of United States and of British, French, and Portuguese Colonies; and nearly every country in South and Central America.

Naturally, of course, you will also find a good many cheap European stamps. But many worthwhile varieties will be found even in the "common" countries, such as Austrian and Danzig airmail; Belgian "tin-hats"; Fiume triangles; French charities; Pasteurs, and stamps of the Decorative Arts Exhibition; German men of genius—Beethoven, Kant, Goethe, etc.; fantastic issues of Soviet Russia; Italian commemoratives of St. Francis of Assisi and Volta.

This handsome little collection, neatly and lightly hinge-mounted and alphabetically arranged by countries in ten approval booklets, is all ready to be transferred to your album, or mounted for re-sale on approval sheets.

Judge for yourself, from the following figures, what savings or profits this collection will bring you! There are 5,000 all different stamps. The total catalog value will probably exceed $150.00. And the price is Only $17.00!

"As to the 5,000 Variety Collection, allow me to say just a word of appreciation for it. To say that I was surprised at the wealth of worthwhile items is expressing it mildly. I did not suppose—considering the price—that you could be sending out such a lot of really fine stamps, nor was I disappointed with the humbler members of the collection" —Extract from a letter from Mr. Paul Barry, of the Barry Company, Muscatine, Iowa.

NOTES ON GEORGIA PRECANCELS

desire to specialize in Savannah. There are two plates, both listed in Rotnem as Type One. Plate One is of one hundred subjects, designed for the usual stamps of the day (1912-1914), while Plate Two has only fifty subjects, wide spaced for use on the Parcel Post issue. Each plate is type set—linotype set, in fact—and as a result a few very interesting errors are found.

Plate One, being fifty ems wide (if there are any printers in the audience, they will know what this paragraph is all about) was set on a twenty-five em slug and encased between the usual 30 em rules. Plate Two was forty ems wide and hence was set on a twenty em slug with thirty em rules. The rules are poorly joined, and these breaks sometimes occur on both top and bottom at the same point and sometimes at different points in the top and bottom bars.

When Plate One was assembled, all lines were normal, except lines two and four. In line two, the word "Georgia" fails to center underneath "Savannah," as in the normal varieties. The "G" has worked over under the space between the "S" and "a" of the word above, thus throwing all ten subjects off center to the left. In line four, the left hand slug of five subjects has "Georgia" so far to the right that the final "a" falls directly under the "h" of "Savannah."

In Plate Two, the middle subject of each line has an error. This was caused by the printer failing to bevel off the end of his two slugs when he joined them together to form the entire line. As a result, a wide space occurs in both "Savannah" and "Georgia." And since the division would have fallen in the middle of the letter "r," "Georgia" is shifted to the left until the first letter falls under the first letter of "Savannah."

WHEN ordering stamps write "As per advt. in MEKEEL'S".

As to relative scarcity, Error No. 1 (the second line of Plate One), is one in ten; Error No. 2 (half of the fourth line of Plate One), is one in twenty; Error No. 3 (in Plate Two) is one in five. Any Type One normals of Savannah are scarce enough, but the errors are just about as plentiful as the proverbial hen's teeth. Blocks containing both normals and errors are good.

The little city of Decatur, Ga., is really a suburb of Atlanta, being five miles removed to the east. It can boast of some of the rarest precancels in the country. Having no large business interests to employ the privilege, it precancels at Christmas time. The postmaster informs me that miscellaneous values have been precancelled for the past two years, but no local collector has any record of any value except the cent and a half. This stamp was used by the city's only permit holder, an Atlanta paint manufacturer, who sent out circulars on one occasion only when he opened a sales branch in Decatur.

Rotnem lists this stamp at twenty cents. All those who have copies and who wish to dispose of them at double catalog will find plenty of takers by addressing the Atlanta Collectors Club.

The permit holder is now preparing to exercise his privilege in a new advertising campaign, and probably there will be some one and a half, perf. ten, to add to the list.—Precancel Gazette.

pesos Official 1910 and 1916-17 ds Seen by a Specialist.

B LIEUT. COL. C. S. HAMILTON.

s collector and specialist for some s in the stamps of Mexico I can ia throw a little light on the recent e 5 pesos stamps of both the 1910 1 6-17 issues, overprinted "Oficial" ocial use. The almost simultane- a earance of these stamps seems to e eated quite a little furore and nt, indeed, it has even been stated t se stamps have no official stand- vich is incorrect and unfounded.

h reason that the 5 pesos stamps of 10 issue were used as well as the se stamps of 1916-17 is because the ne (1910 stamps) have been current e he latter (1916-17 stamps). In e y part of 1919 the Mexican Gov- ne t received a large consignment n England of the 1910 issue which l en ordered before the beginning h World War, but the delivery of ch was held up by developments aris- a a result of the war and of the ol ion in Mexico. These stamps n ceived were placed in use by the ci in Government and used from y 919 to early 1923, when the new ir issue was placed in use.

h Director General de Correos of ci issued a written order last fall ct g the overprinting of nine sheets) amps) of the 5 pesos denomina- ith the word "Oficial" for offi- v. Four sheets (400 stamps) of 5 esos 1910 issue were in stock and v printed. Of these, one sheet (100 p were overprinted in red and e heets (300 stamps) were over- te in blue. The stamps with the o rprint first made their appearance h public in October, 1927, and those t blue overprint in February, 1928. e leets (500 stamps) of the 1916-17 e ere used to complete the order t se were overprinted in black in- d f red or blue, the type of the r nt being identical in all three s.

ll re equally authentic and author- l the highest source in Mexico on al matters, the Director General de re s. Of course due to the num- o each issued they are not all equal- ar n his connection it may be well to t tention to the fact that official np have been in continuous use in xi since 1884. Until 1895 they were e irely different series from the ul postage stamps, but in that year th thod of surcharging the regular es "Oficial" for official use was pt and continued to date.

CANAL ZONE POTPOURRI

By HARRY E. HUBER.

(6) Postage Stamp Sales, Postal Revenue, Etc., 1922-27

In his report for the year ended June 30, 1924, the Director of Posts of the Canal Zone (C. H. Calhoun) writes:—

"The total receipts of the postal service were $152,336.30, as compared with $151,958.16 in the preceding year. Current expenses exceeded receipts by approximately $25,000. As in previous years, this deficit was due primarily to the fact that under the terms of the Taft Agreement all stamps and stamped paper were purchased from the Republic of Panama at 40% of their face value, involving an expenditure for the fiscal year 1924 of $33,494.63. It was contemplated that this agreement would be abrogated on May 1, 1924, but this date was extended by the State Department to June 1, 1924, with the understanding that no change would be made in existing conditions until the end of the fiscal year. In anticipation of the abrogation of the agreement, arrangements were made for the purchase at a cost of approximately $1,500 for one year's supply of U. S. stamps surcharged 'Canal Zone,' which were received and placed on sale July 1, 1924. Relieved of the subsidy to the Republic of Panama, the Canal Zone postal service should in future be self-supporting, notwithstanding the large volume of official mail carried under frank."

Over 60% of all mail handled locally is sent under official frank, from which the Bureau of Posts derives no revenue, although it must bear the burden of transportation and other handling charges.

Year ending June 30	Stamp sales	Total postal revenue
1922	$ 93,683.24	$157,407.85
1923	93,532.29	151,958.16
1924	95,458.07	152,336.30
1925	110,014.08	171,125.75
1926	113,657.74	178,324.02

(7) Philatelic Agency, Balboa Heights, Aug. 28, 1924

At the end of August, 1924, a Philatelic Stamp Agency was opened at Balboa Heights, Canal Zone, to which are referred all orders received from abroad, for Canal Zone postage stamps and stationery, whether addressed to that office, or to others on the Canal strip.

"The Panama Canal.
Canal Zone.
Executive Department.
BALBOA HEIGHTS, CANAL ZONE,
August 28, 1924.

Circular No. 4

To all Postmasters:

Philatelic Agency

Effective at once the Post Office at Balboa Heights is designated as the Philatelic Agency for this Bureau for the purpose of supplying Canal Zone stamped paper at face value to purchasers for collection purposes. Hereafter all inquiries to Postmasters concerning stamped paper or orders for the same, for collection purposes, shall be forwarded to the Postmaster at Balboa Heights for attention.

The Postmaster at Balboa Heights will make a monthly report of the sales of postage stamps sold for collection purposes in accordance with the provisions of section 183 of the Canal Zone Postal Guide.

Signed, F. H. WANG,
Acting Director of Posts."

No obsolete postage issues are available at Balboa Heights (i.e., Panama stamps overprinted "Canal Zone" in use previous to July 1, 1924), but great care is taken in selecting stamps perforated on all four sides, and in well centered condition, suitable for collection purposes.

The Panama Canal Record of October 5, 1927, gives some very interesting figures and information relative to the business transacted by the Philatelic Agency.

"Sale of Canal Zone Stamps for Collection Purposes.

The sales of Canal Zone stamps for collection purposes reached such proportions in 1924 that in order to facilitate the handling of such sales, it was deemed advisable to concentrate all philatelic orders at one office, Balboa Heights, and designate it the official Canal Zone philatelic agency.

Due to the complete change of Canal Zone stamps in 1924, at which time the use of Republic of Panama stamps surcharged 'Canal Zone' was discontinued, and the use of United States stamps surcharged 'Canal Zone' established, the sales for the first three months amounted to $1,924.57, the greatest volume of business by the agency for any like period since its establishment. Excluding this 3 month period, the records show a continued increase in the amount of yearly business. Orders and their value have been as follows:—

Period.	No. orders filled.	Amount
Sept. 1 to Dec. 31, 1924,	204	$ 2,125.43
Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1925,	717	3,120.94
Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1926,	970	4,074.08
Jan. 1 to Aug. 31, 1927,	530	3,258.26
Totals,	2,421	$12,578.71
Average per year,	807	$ 4,144.67

The present issue of Canal Zone stamps consists of 15 denominations ranging from ½c to $1, three types of stamp books, one type of postal card, and six types of stamped envelopes. The approximate percentage of value in sales by classes of denominations has been: From ½c to 5c inclusive, 8%; 10 to 17c inclusive, 33%; 20 and 30c 19%; 50c and $1, 40%."

Previous to the establishment of the Philatelic Agency, it was necessary for the Postmasters to report to the office of the Director of Posts at Balboa Heights, "sales of stamps to collectors and other unusual sales," this being covered by section 183 of the Canal Zone Postal Guide.

(8) Post Offices In Operation, 1928

Of the twelve offices in operation on June 30, 1927, that at Culebra was closed on September 30, 1927, and all records transferred to Pedro Miguel. Culebra was one of the ten Post Offices opened on June 24, 1904, and is mentioned in the Executive Order of that date establishing the postal service in the Canal Zone territory.

"The necessities of the inhabitants and the due administration of the affairs of government in the Canal Zone at Panama require the establishment of Post Offices and postal service in that territory.

It is therefore ordered: That a Post Office be established in each of the following named towns of the Canal Zone, to wit: Cristobal, Gatun, Bohio, Gorgona, Bas Obispo, Empire, Culebra, La Boca and Ancon.

The Post Offices at Cristobal and Ancon shall be Money Order Offices."

Although the Executive Order mentions only nine offices, ten were actually opened on June 24, 1904, with Panama

Death of Col. Jos. A. Steinmetz

AIR CRAFT INVENTOR — DESIGNER OF WAR BOMBS — NOTED PHILATELIST

(Last week we announced the death of Col. Joseph A. Steinmetz of Philadelphia, Pa., and among those who will mourn his passing on will be many philatelists. We are indebted to Eugene Klein for the following clipping from the "Philadelphia Public Ledger." Mr. Steinmetz' philatelic activities were numerous. He specialized in U. S., including airmail stamps, and also had an extensive general collection of Great Britain, France and Colonies. Clippings have also been received from Edw. H. Sprangers and Lorin Blodget.—W. O. W.)

Lieutenant Colonel Joseph A. Steinmetz, former president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania and distinguished for his contributions as an engineer and citizen in peace and war, died yesterday, after an illness of several months at his home at Westview and Wayne avenues, Germantown. He was 58 years old.

Descended from illustrious Colonial families through both parents, Colonel Steinmetz, who was born in this city, was the son of John and Frances Morris Steinmetz. He was educated at Central High School and Lehigh University, and in 1903 married Miss Oma Frances Fields, of Colorado Springs.

In the infancy of aviation he took a keen interest in the new science and had been regarded since 1910 as a pioneer in the advancement of flying. His interest took especially interesting and valuable form in 1914, when he began to work out a series of inventions designed to protect cities from air attacks.

French Used His "Hook Bomb"

The Steinmetz "hook bomb" was adopted by the French and used in repelling attacks by Zeppelins. The bombs were suspended by wires from airplanes, with a hook to catch in the covering of a dirigible and explode the bomb.

When the United States entered the war Colonel Steinmetz was appointed a member of the National Research Council, and toured France and England, studying progress of the Allies in airplane construction. He helped to select Hog Island as the site for a great war shipyard. Shortly before the armistice he received the commission of a major in the ordnance reserve corps, and recently was raised to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. Besides his anti-aircraft inventions during the war period he patented devices for use against submarines.

Colonel Steinmetz founded the iron and steel firm in the Morris Building of Janney, Steinmetz & Co., but had to withdraw because of ill health about six months ago, when a Southern trip failed to improve his health. Colonel Steinmetz was president of Steinmetz & Co., Inc., of this city; director of the Globar Corporation, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and founder of the Steinmetz Heating Company, Inc., of New York.

Belonged to Many Organizations

His widespread interests in the city, country and internationally are indicated by the list of organizations with which he was connected. They include the American Red Cross, Council of National Defense, Fairmount Park Art Association, of which he was a trustee, Association of Founders of the First Naval Battalion of Pennsylvania, Sons of the American Revolution, Baronial Order of Runnymede, the Naval and Military Order of the Spanish-American War, Military Order of the World War, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Franklin Institute, Society of Automotive Engineers, Compressed Gas Manufacturers' Association, the Electro-Chemical Society, Engineers Club, Submarine Defense Association, Philadelphia Cricket Club, Sunnybrook Golf Club and the Manufacturers Club.

Besides being a member of the Royal Philatelic Society of London and various other organizations of stamp collectors, he was president of the Aero Philatelic Society of America. His collections are famous, including his aero stamps. When Alcock and Brown made the first trans-Atlantic flight in history in 1919 they carried a letter from Newfoundland to Ireland transmitted by Colonel Steinmetz to an address in London.

He is survived by his wife, who is the daughter of the late Judge Field, of Colorado; a son, Joseph Janney Steinmetz, and a daughter, Miss Frances Margaret Steinmetz.

THE KING'S STAMPS

A LONDON EXHIBITION OF RARITIES

H. M. The King exhibited a few pages of rare stamps from his famous collection at the small exhibition organised by the Royal Philatelic Society at 41 Devonshire Place, W.1. In addition to the King, who is Patron, the President of the Society, Mr. T. W. Hall, and sixty-four fellows and members contribute rarities to the display, which forms part of the entertainment the Royal Philatelic Society is offering delegates to the 15th Philatelic Congress.

The King's selection consists of stamps all of a high degree of rarity, and may be classed in two main groups. The first group consists of the rarest of the official stamps of Great Britain. For a number of years the Government Departments used British postage stamps specially overprinted "I. R. Official," "O. W. Official," etc., and during the greater part of the period of their use they were only rarely obtainable by collectors, except in the used state. Some are now of great value. Of the extremely rare set of the 5s, 10s and £1 King Edward "I. R. Official" stamps the King is showing a set of singles and a set in pairs unused, and a used set. At a moderate valuation these are worth about £1,500 each set of three. The 6d of the same group is one of the rarest of all British stamps (worth £1,000 to £1,200 each), and here also the royal collection contains a single used, and a pair unused and one overprinted "Specimen." Of the old £1 purple-brown Queen Victoria stamps with the inland Revenue overprint, there are no fewer than six examples in the display. Another notable rarity is the 1s King Edward "Board of Education," represented by a pair and three singles. These are worth about £350 per stamp.

The second group of the King's stamps consists of a fine collection of the rare stamps issued in Baghdad at the commencement of the British occupation in September, 1917. These were captured Turkish stamps overprinted "Baghdad in British Occupation," and surcharged with new values in Indian currency. Most of these—there are 25 normal varieties—are shown in blocks of four, and in addition the King shows the rare errors lacking, either (1) the word "Baghdad," (2) the word "Occupation," or (3), the value in annas.

Of the world's best known rarities Mr. A. F. Lichtenstein, of New York, shows three "Post Office" Mauritius, including two of the one penny stamps used together on one envelope. He also shows the unique tête bêche pair of the 1 peso Buenos Aires, which be bought at the Ferrari sale for £522 in 1923. Mr. Louis Meinertzhagen, among many beautiful copies of classic rarities, shows the 4d Western Australia, with swan inverted, a gem worth over £1,000. Mr. Anthony de Worms shows rare Ceylons, including his two matchless copies of the 4d imperforate unused.

The chief philatelic surprise of the show is a torn portion of a sheet of unused 2d "Sydney Views" of New South Wales. The curious scrap has been torn off leaving a block of seven perfect stamps, and portions of two others. The impression is from the first plate and singles are valued at about £150 each; the block, shown by Mr. G. J. Hutson, is a recent "find." Another extraordinary item is Mr. Ralph Wedmore's strip of six one penny stamps of South Australia, used on a letter, the impression being that of the first Colonial printing from the London made plates.

The King visited the exhibition, when he was received by Mr. T. W. Hall, the President and Captain L. J. Gilbert Lodge, Hon. Secretary, and other members of the Council. His Majesty displayed the keenest interest in the rarities shown, particularly in some of the Great Britain and British Colonial issues shown by fellows and members. To some items he returned several times, and spent an hour and a half in viewing and discussing the exhibits.

Owing to the attendance upon the King at the headquarters of the Royal Philatelic Society, Mr. T. W. Hall, President, was not in the chair at the opening session of the 15th Annual Philatelic Congress at the Hotel Great Central yesterday morning. Mr. W. Dorning Beckton, Vice-President, deputised for him, and on behalf of the delegates of some seventy philatelic societies of Great Britain, the following telegram was sent to "The Private Secretary to H. M. the King, Buckingham Palace.

"The Delegates and Members of the 15th Annual Philatelic Congress assembled in London, present their humble duty to H. M. the King and beg him to accept their thanks for the interest he continues to show in Philately, and their hope that for many years he may continue to reign over a happy and contented country. W. DORNING BECKTON, Acting Chairman."—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

STOLEN STAMPS RETURNED

(Clipping from Frank Helm)

What is said by its owner to be the largest Russian stamp collection in the world has just been rescued from the hands of a dealer who bought it from an unknown agent for $50,000, and a court order has given it back into the keeping of Baron Carl von Scharfenberg, from whom it was stolen more than a year ago.

The collection, which won a gold medal at the 1926 October exposition in the Grand Central Palace in New York, comprises more than 50,000 stamps of rare issues and denominations, and fills thirteen large books. Just after having been exhibited in New York, the collection was stolen and was lost for more than a year. In 1927, however, it was bought by a New York stamp dealer and the baron obtained from the American courts an order forbidding its resale until the rightful ownership could be proven. Baron von Scharfenberg, who is visiting San Francisco, has just received notice of a decision in his favor, and the collection will be returned to him.

The collection includes stamps issued by the various White Generals who fought against bolsheviks in Russia in 1918-19-20, some of which were in circulation only fourteen days, as the White and Red armies alternately drove each other out of captured districts.

Baron von Scharfenberg served as a German intelligence officer in Russia during that time.—San Fran. Chronicle.

ITEMS—

WE find in the San Francisco Examiner a six-inch advertisement of the Emporium, the largest store in San Francisco, announcing the organizing of a Junior Stamp Club. This store carries a large stock of albums and stamps and the Club will be an adjunct to the regular business of the firm.

WE have a tip from Herman W. Boers. He writes that there may be some stamp collectors who expect to take a vacation this summer and don't know where to go. He suggests the A. P. S. convention as a good place To-run-to.

By Derek Ingram
(Stamp Collecting)

Is Philately fulfilling its Purpose?

And now abideth philately, hilarity, (f)utility—these three—and the greatest of these is—need we be cynical? Most certainly we have no cause to be pessimistic. If the Congress just concluded can have any claims to historical import, it will at least have marked an epoch by the publication of an excellent Year Book, whose purpose is to tell us what these annual conferences of stamp lovers have done, are doing, and aim to do. He is a veritable prince of philatelic optimists who tells us in a short Foreword that "Congress is fulfilling its purpose. It is pleasant to meet together. May the work prove fruitful and the days happy." One can hardly imagine a misanthrope attending a Philatelic Congress, and it is not only the social part of the programme and the opportunity of meeting old and new friends that attract the visitors, most of whom are filled with an earnest desire to eradicate everything that is rotten in the state of stamp collecting—or perhaps we ought to say anything, for the champions of the craft have such firm faith in its merits that they decline to admit that there are items on the debit side of the hobby.

Romeo and July Trade.

If philately were fulfilling its purpose there would be no need for advertising managers to play the rôle of Romeo and serenade the July traders. For this is the time of the year when we must needs apologise for the gradual attenuation of our weekly numbers, when the sentiments expressed by a kindly correspondent in a recent paragraph on "Dormant Dealers" are only too pathetically true. Of course, we are not going to claim that stamps should come before the various outdoor delights of summer time, but so long as we have to hold over great quantities of news and views, articles and paragraphs—much of it perhaps for months—so long shall we say that there is something wanting somewhere. We have just lived through a truly wonderful Stamp Week, with philatelists from all parts of Britain "in Parliament assembled," and dealers from many European countries, from Africa and from America, buying, selling, and bargaining in a novel Bourse, and we do catch something of the spirit of the optimist. So did the certain gentleman trader whom we approached on the point—a dealer who, ordinarily handicapped by a grouse in his speech, conceded that business, from being "pretty rotten," had improved to "jolly good." We can only say that if only every stamp dealer would consistently advertise throughout the summer months—and, of course, the winter too—the stamp trade would be one of the jolliest and most prosperous of businesses.

The New Distinguished Philatelists.

There are now sixty-two names inscribed on the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists, headed by H. M. the King, and including deceased gentlemen and the two latest recipients, Messrs. Percy de Worms (Great Britain) and A. J. Derrick, J.P. (Australia). We published in our issue for April 28th (page 87) a brief biographical note on the first-named gentleman, who last week so delightfully entertained Congressists to tea—the choicest Ceylon blend!—at his beautiful Surrey home. Mr. Derrick is one of the pioneers of Australian philately, and his recollections go back to the days when all stamps were faithfully gummed down flat in the albums, days when it was the fashion to "improve" the stamps by neatly trimming off the perforations. He has confessed to buying Sydney Views for half-a-crown and half-length Victorias at sixpence a piece in the palmy days of Young & Stockall, and Thomas Ridpath and other dealers of the seventies. Mr. Derrick was a contributor to Vindin's Philatelic Monthly prior to the advent of the now defunct Australian Philatelist, and is President of the forthcoming Melbourne International Exhibition.

His Re-Ward.

We learn that at the recent Stamp Exhibition at Cleveland, Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr., the popular and capable writer on modern U. S. issues, received congratulations on having his portrait put on the stamp that he worked so hard for—the 2c Valley Forge commemorative, recently described in detail in our New Issue Notes. According to the irrepressible A. C. Roessler, Mr. Ward is the "little fat fellow in modern dress to the left of the tree," and the likeness is stated to be an excellent one. The U. S. Government is not in the habit of putting the portraits of living persons on its stamps, although it is generally believed that the current $5 adhesive had Mrs. Woodrow Wilson as the model.

Afghanistan Joins the Postal Union.

The following official notice reaches us with the compliments of the Director of Information, Bombay, by courtesy of Capt. E. M. Gilbert-Lodge:—"Afghanistan having joined the Universal Postal Union, correspondence for that country will henceforth be subject to the conditions laid down in the Post and Telegraph Guide for correspondence to be sent by the foreign post. The rates of postage for a letter posted in this country for Afghanistan will be 3 annas for the first ounce and 1½ annas for every additional ounce or part of that weight, and the rate of postage on a single post card will be 1½ annas. The rates of postage for other classes of correspondence will be the same as those which apply to foreign correspondence. Registration will be available for all classes of articles, the fee being 5 annas on each article."

Twelve Years Hence.

The year 1940 is going to be the "greatest ever" in the stamp world, and we shall soon have to be thinking about it pretty seriously. Penny Blacks will have, as their hundredth birthday present, a rise of hundreds per cent on their catalogue valuation, and all the other Old Uncontemptibles will have their long service medals and a substantial bonus into the bargain. The Antique Dealers' Association, meeting in London this month, will admit nothing as "genuinely antique" that is less than a century old. However, there are a good many priceless treasures in the pseudo-antique world that are none the less valuable because they are youngsters of ninety years or less.

C. C. P. S. BANQUET

Tuesday evening, July tenth, was the occasion of the annual banquet of the C. C. P. S. which was held at the Willow Mill Farm Hotel in a suburb just outside of the city of Harrisburg, Pa. About 40 members from Harrisburg and surrounding cities and towns sat down to a real chicken and waffle supper, which was greatly enjoyed by all. The usual long after dinner speeches were dispensed with and in place of those, the committee in charge treated the guests to an entertainment, philatelic and otherwise. This club at Harrisburg is a real live one as is shown by the interest taken in the regular meetings, the annual exhibition and the annual banquet and general get-together.—A. C. LeDuc.

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

"Co-operators" the past week include Messrs. John Faloon, T. P. Hungerford, Rev. T. O. Perrin, Chas. G. Riess, J. P. Penning, G. H. Keiley, Wm. Esselin, Jr., Harold G. Burwick, Drew Ray, Robert Richardson, Alfred E. Glatfelter, Howard Walter and Anna Shafer.

******

F. C. Ormiston, Supt. Mails at Flint, Mich., notified me under date of July 12, that Flint will not be on the new air mail route due to lack of landing field.

******

Covers from the Chicago-Lincoln flight of July 10 have been received and it is noted that the official cachet is of practically the same design as the recent Tulsa application but much clearer and attractive, as the set-up is a complete reversal of the Tulsa cachet, the background being white and the letters and design in outline. Cedar Rapids applied a nice cachet as a back stamp in addition to the above official cachet.

******

Mr. Robert Richardson states that the Cleveland-Louisville Air Mail route will open about August 1, according to local reports. Mr. Richardson, whose address is 230 North Forge Street, Akron, Ohio, kindly offers to handle any covers sent him for despatch on the above route, it being necessary, of course, to have your covers stamped and addressed before sending to Mr. Richardson.

******

The French liner, S. S. Ile de France, has been equipped with a hundred foot runway and compressed air catapult from which will be launched a small mail plane when the Ile de France makes her next westward trip to this country. This is an endeavor to speed up the delivery of mail from ship to shore by saving from 20 to 36 hours.

******

Postmaster General New has under consideration the establishment of a airway postal service. One of the largest companies operating air mail service has submitted to the department plans covering the construction of a mail plane which will provide accommodations for a distributing clerk who will work the mail while the plane is in flight.

******

We beg to notify you that a new 25c Air Post stamp has just appeared for Mexico. This was issued on 20th June. Our correspondent who sent them writes:—

"You will see that the design remains the same, but the colour of the border has been changed, green instead of carmine. The reason for this is that there have been cases where in sorting letters, 'air stamps' have been taken for 'special delivery' stamps, and it was decided to make a change of colour."—Bright & Son.

******

In our column dated July 14, an error appeared wherein it was stated that C. A. M. 26 would commence operations August 12. This should have read August 1.

******

I am informed that the contractors of C. A. M. No. 24, the Embry-Riddle Company, are going to apply a special cachet to all mail carried August 1. Boston is also making plans for a special cachet for that date.

******

The cachet used at Tulsa was much too large to take the ink properly, the result being a vague, indefinite picture of an air field beacon throwing its rays on to a plane in the act of landing. This cachet bears in five lines—"First Flight—Tulsa, Okla.—July 5th—1928—Air Mail C. A. M. 3—Chicago-Dallas." Also a second cachet reads, "First Air Mail Flight from Tulsa, Okla, Oil Capitol of the world, July 5, 1928," also of five lines.

******

Another flash on the Mexican situation is the statement that the contract to carry mail to either Laredo or Brownsville from New Orleans, has been awarded the St. Tammany-Gulf Coast Airways, Inc., at $1.00 per pound. The A. P. report states that service on the Mexican route will be inaugurated September 15.

******

Air mail cover collectors will be shocked to learn of the death of Lt. Col. Jos. A. Steinmetz of Philadelphia, on July 11. Col. Steinmetz had long been identified with the Air Mail branch of the hobby and had acted in a number of official capacities in the old Aero Philatelic Society, now called the American Air Mail Society. His death removes another staunch supporter of Air Mail Cover collecting.

******

Additional information on special cachets that will be applied July 31 and August 1 have been received from Mr. Charles G. Riess, who states that Albany and Buffalo will apply special cachets if letters are sent to the Colonial Western Airways, Hotel Statler, Buffalo, and Colonial Western Airways, Hotel Ten Eyck, Albany. The above two cachets are very attractive. Mr. H. J. McNally supplies information that Chambers of Commerce in Springfield and Peoria, Illinois, and Robertson Aircraft Corporation of St. Louis, will apply special cachets on air mail July 31 and August 1.

MR. SEVERN IN FRANCE

We have heard twice from our editor Mr. Severn while in Paris. He writes that he is in good health and is having a splendid trip. He is now in England where he will remain during July, returning home by the middle of August.

WANT LISTS

Bring in your list or send it in; there are four competent stamp people here to find the stamps for you; if we have it, we'll dig, if not, we'll advise you when it shows up.

And "the stuff" is here also. Years of want list work tells—what to buy and stock.

Of course a lot of it, especially the less popular countries, is hard to find. The weekly purchase of a fair sized collection helps out here.

Will I hear from you?

REMOVAL TO BRUSSELS

(This clipping is from the Springfield "Republican" and is sent us by courtesy of W. A. Lieson. We have also been favored with a similar clipping from Eugene Cosgrove.—W. O. W.)

PARIS, July 6—The international postage stamp market is apparently to be transferred from Paris to Brussels.

For 50 years Paris has been the recognized gathering place for stamp collectors, with an annual congress held on several occasions at the Sorbonne, and weekly sales when weather permitted under the trees of the Champs Elysees. As the result of the decision of the French government to exercise a control over all sales, even those between amateur collectors, and to tax all profits, the principal French dealers have decided to open branches in the Belgian capital. They have received assurances that under the Belgian laws there will be no taxes imposed when the transfers are shown to be for purposes of completing collections and the buyers and sellers are known to be amateurs and not professional dealers.

Although the line of demarcation seems vague, the promise has been sufficient for two Parisian dealers to transfer their entire stocks to Belgium, and a Rochester (N. Y.) collector, whose name has not been announced, is said to have appointed a personal representative to attend Belgian sales during the summer.

H. H. Nawab Shah Jahan Begam.—The inscription shown upon the stamps of the Indian native state of Bhopal. They are the names and titles of the ruler of the state. On the issue of 1902 the word "shah" is replaced by "sultan."

H. H.—The initials of M. H. Hendrickx, a Belgian artist, which are shown in minute letters at the foot of the design of each of the Belgian stamps of the issue of 1869-70.

H. I. Postage. — An inscription shown upon some of the stamps of Hawaii, the first two letters standing, of course, for Hawaiian Islands.

Hill, Sir Rowland.—The originator of penny postage, who was born at Kidderminster, England, in 1795. He invented the rotary press for printing newspapers and, as the government declined to permit the attachment of a machine to affix the revenue stamp, he propounded the theory of penny postage and invented the adhesive stamps. In 1839 he was attached to the Treasury—after very considerable opposition—for the purpose of putting his theories into practice, and in the following year his great scheme of penny postage was inaugurated. He died at Hampstead in 1879 and was buried in Westminster Abbey.

The Appearance of a Collection

By JOSEPH B. BREED, 3rd.

It appears to me that the average Junior attempts to gather as many stamps as possible, not laying as much stress to the way in which he mounts them. Often a collection of this variety consists of stamps attached to paper and crumpled and jammed into boxes instead of being mounted on a clean, white album page.

It is much better to have a small collection well-mounted than a large collection in a sloppy form. If one should desire to sell a collection this would be proved true. A collection should be a thing of beauty, not a jumble of soiled, torn stamps.

Advertisements on Stamps

Beecham's Pills.—On the reverse side of New Zealand stamps of 1892, may be found advertisements of various commodities, such as Beecham's Pills, Fry's Cocoa, Sunlight Soap, etc. These resulted from an arrangement made by the New Zealand P. O. Department with an advertising firm in Wellington for the right to use the reverse side of postage stamps and telegraph forms. For this privilege the sum of £800 per year was paid. Some twenty millions of stamps were thus printed, but the experiment was short-lived. The contract for one year was not renewed.

Exchange Wanted

Herbert Rommel, Jr., 16 S. Wycombe Av., Lansdowne, Pa., would like to exchange stamps. He has about 8,500 varieties.

Leslie G. Deinstadt, 40 County Way, Beverly, Mass., has some foreign that he would like to exchange for precancels.

If any of our subscribers have revenues, telegraph or local stamps that they wish to exchange, write Waldemar Wurts, 161 William St., East Orange, N. J. Mr. Wurts is a member of the A. P. S.

Great Central Fair Stamps

These were labels issued in connection with the Great Central Fair of the U. S. Sanitary Commission held at Philadelphia in 1864, and they were also sold at a similar "fair" held in New York. The object of these fairs was to raise funds for supplying comforts to the men of the United States forces in hospital, and, these "stamps," while never officially recognised and only having franking power within the confines of the fairs, served as a means of raising considerable money. Three values were issued—10c, 20c and 30c.

Reasons for Overprints

It is always interesting to try to figure out the reason for an overprint on a stamp. Let us look into some of the reasons for such.

Many of the smaller countries run on a very limited budget and cannot afford the expense of getting new plates made so that often when new values are needed, other values are simply surcharged by some printer. The smaller countries do not have facilities within their domains to get engraving and printing done and have to send overseas for it. Often delays occur which may necessitate the home production of a surcharged issue, sometimes even by the tedious hand stamp method. Stamps have been known to have been surcharged by the pen and ink method. Three examples of this are: Trinidad Nos. 62 and 63 and Hawaii No. 7.

At the time Portugal changed its form of government from a monarchy to a republic, all the current stamps for it and all its possessions were overprinted "Republica" to denote the change in the home government.

During and after the World War, many British and French Colonies issued surcharged stamps for the benefit of the Red Cross or in the form of War Tax stamps as an extra postage charge.

Many countries overprint their regular postal issues with the word "Official," or its variations, to denote that the stamps are to frank governmental business mail.

Stamps of certain countries have been overprinted with different names for use in some other countries, such as those of Bermuda being overprinted for Gibraltar, North Borneo stamps changed for use in Labuan and Mozambique stamps overprinted Nyassa. Where a large country has colonial possessions, those of the mother country are frequently overprinted for use in the colony until a regular issue can be made. There are cases, however, where such overprinted issues are kept in use for many years. This is especially true of Azores, Bechuanaland and Eritrea.—A. C. LEDUC.

Helena

A small Texan town which is famed philatelically from the fact that in 1861 its then postmaster issued special 5c and 10c stamps. These were suppressed directly the general series for the Confederate States was ready.

Some Definitions

O. F. Castellorizo.—This overprint on 5c, 10c, 20c, 25c, 50c and 1fr French stamps means "Occupation Francaise Castellorizo." It was the third and last issue of stamps for the island indicated and was made with handstamp on board the vessel La Provence.

One Fraction.—In 1914 Trinidad permitted the local Red Cross Society to use a type-set label as a frank upon letters soliciting donations for its work. They were used only on Sept. 18, 1914, some nine hundred copies being circulated and postmarked in regular form. Upon the stamp appears "One fraction," an unexplained expression connected with its regular use as a Red Cross seal. It passed the post on the one day in place of a half-penny stamp.

Some Rare and Queer Sta

At the Chancery Lane Auction some of the Empire's plainest and est stamps were recently sold— first issue. A die was made, and they simply embossed different c papers, placing them on issue on 1857.

But their demure appearance is flected in their prices, which rang £8 for the 3d to £100 for the 9d In fact, one is not far wide of th in stating that the plainer the sta higher the price.

The "record stamp" of British which has been sold at £7,300, was and printed in a Georgetown new office. The principal part of the consisted of a three-masted sc which usually decorated the head c shipping column.

One might fancy that plainness no further go, but that would be get the philatelic iniquities of the Miller, the Uganda missionary, far forgot himself as to utilise hi writer to produce the stamps pr cowrie shells!

Later, heaping infamy upon infa took his pen and with malice of thought surcharged some of these ing the demand had exhausted his he sinned again, heinously and telically, and, without remorse, c his ribbon and made another issue

His success roused his neighbo Rev. F. Rowling, to use his little printing outfit to produce stamps in annas and rupees, which late surcharged with an "L" by the lo lector at Kampala.

It is a very painful episode, a only equalled when, under war tions, stamps were similarly prod Long Island in the Aegean Se twelve years ago to the day. Stern sity drove them to it. The outp extremely small, and their pric commensurably high.

The stamps of the Indian States are a little outside our sco they are not so much plain as dov ugly. Their designs vary from the to the incredible. Bundi, for in would produce 294 philatelic vari a sheet, whilst Bhor had a little block much like our cancellation and printed these stamps off by individually.

All the world's plain stamps, ho have not had their fount and or the Empire. Other countries hav sins of commission. Witness the efforts of Moldavia, with its desig minatory cow's head with a star a horn below, and a halo of badly letters. But that cow, originally at 81 paras, has now a price of £ its head.

I think the brightest Bolshevik was achieved by Bela Kun, who i imprisoned in Vienna, and longed Budapest. He had five stamps in 1919 in Hungary which show leading lights of his weird cult a really were.

Even Pétofi, the poet, who w cluded, could not make that quaint pass for a male beauty chorus.

Of all the world's plain stamp palm for the plainest must be shar tween Martinovics and Dozsa, whom Engels look respectable, saintly, and Pétofi positively ang London Star.

BRITISH WEST INDIES

If a vote were taken to ascertain what is the most popular group of postage stamps at the present day, we are certain that British West Indies would head the list.

The demand for these stamps is phenomenal and comes from all parts of the world.

We have a fine stock of the stamps of this group, and shall be glad to submit selections on approval or to execute want lists based on any standard catalogue. (All stamps sent against want lists are strictly "on approval".)

TRINIDAD

By C. A. Howes.

From this time on the issues are very readily distinguishable, as they are printed on the regular watermarked paper with the two regular gauges in perforation. The first watermark was of course the "Crown CC," which appeared in 1864 with the 12½ perforation. The same colors are used for the stamps, but each value runs through a wide range of tints and shades. In 1869 the series was augmented by a 5s stamp of larger size which was surface printed like most of the stamps produced by De La Rue & Co. It is printed in sheets of 60, five rows of twelve, and is perforated 12½. All values of this watermarked set are known imperforate.

In 1872 the colors of the 4d and 1s stamps were changed to gray and orange-yellow respectively, partly, perhaps, because of possible confusion in the similarity of their previous hues. The watermark and perforation remained as before, but in 1876 the set of four stamps appeared perforated 14, a gauge which Messrs. De La Rue had introduced into the Colonial issues in 1875 to take the place of the then standard 12½, as it enabled the stamps to be separated more easily. As no new supplies of the 5s were needed this stamp was not altered.

Trinidad joined the Postal Union on April 1, 1879, and the consequent revision of its postal rates necessitated a half-penny stamp. Instead of making a new plate for this value, the plate used for the one penny (no value expressed) was employed to print a supply in mauve which were then surcharged Halfpenny in black. They were perforated 14 and watermarked Crown CC, but the watermark is very often found sideways and also "reversed" in both positions—that is, the "CC" reads normally when the back of the stamp is examined instead of backward as it should be when properly placed. As these stamps were not received and issued until June, 1879, the current 1d stamps were allowed to do duty as ½d stamps when divided either vertically or diagonally, and this permission was not withdrawn until April 1, 1883, after which date they were not recognized.

In April, 1882, the ½d surcharged stamp and the 4d appeared on the new Crown CA watermarked paper. The 1d was also issued with this watermark about the same time, but as a specimen bearing a date earlier than July does not seem to have been noted, and as a provisional 1d was issued in May, it seems probable that the new 1d, which now has its value surcharged upon it after the manner of the ½d, was not issued until after the other two. It is also found bisected diagonally for use as a ½d stamp.

The provisional 1d referred to was issued on May 9, 1882. It was made in the post office with pen and ink out of the 6d of 1877, a line obliterating the original value and "1d" being written in the middle of the stamp. As several clerks were employed in making it there are several varieties of handwriting exhibited. Most of the surcharging was done with red ink, but black ink was used on a small number, and collectors are warned against surcharged stamps which were once in red, but have had the penmarks carefully traced over in black ink. The red surcharged stamps are known cut vertically, diagonally and horizontally for ½d stamps, and the black surcharged one cut horizontally.

In January, 1883, an entirely new design appeared, this being typographed in the usual style of the De La Rue colonial issues. Three values, ½, 1 and 2½ penny, were issued first, followed by a 4d in February. The stock on hand of the 6d and 1s of 1877 was sufficient to last until 1884, before these values in the new type were issued to replace them. The sheets were in the usual De La Rue form of four panes of sixty stamps each, the latter being arranged in ten horizontal rows of six. The 5s stamp was unchanged until 1894, when it appeared in a claret shade, perforated 14, but still with the "CC" watermark.

As these stamps were used for revenue purposes as well as postage, and as the common pen cancellations could be fairly easily removed from them, it was finally decided to issue a new set with the body of the stamp printed in fugitive inks, which would be affected by any chemicals used to remove cancellations. The new set appeared on August 17, 1896, reverting to the "seated Britannia" type for its design, though the loss in artistic finish due to the surface-printing method is readily apparent. All values up to 1s are printed with the body of the stamp in lilac, the values being printed in the bottom label in different colors. The three high values are double the size of the others, and the body of the stamp is printed in green with the values again in different colors. These large-sized stamps have a special watermark to fit them, showing the letters "CA" over the Crown. All stamps bear the legend "Postage & Revenue." The 1d stamp of this issue occurs in two types differing in the "O" of One; in the first type it is very round and in the second type is oval. It is due to the use of two different "duty plates," as the plates from which the values are printed are called.

That the use of fugitive inks did not remedy fraud is evidenced by the following extract from the Postmaster General's report for 1899: "The recent stamp frauds by which portions of used postage stamps were joined together . . . drew attention to the danger of having so many stamps of the same color, except for the words denoting the value, and it was decided, as an immediate step to lessen this danger, to abolish the 5 penny and 10sh stamps and to alter the color of the 5s stamps." The remainder of the 5d and 10s stamps said to have been destroyed, and the number issued is placed at 34,728 of the 5d and 1,189 of the 10s.

The changes due to the above quotation began with the 1d, which was issued in black on red early in December, 1901. The 5s in lilac and mauve followed about April, 1902, the ½d in green in September, and the 2½d in lilac and blue on blue, together with the 1s in black and blue on yellow, about the end of the same year. The 4d in green and blue on buff appeared in September, 1903. The design of the stamps was apparently retouched about December, 1902, the horizontal lines of the background being lightened and some disappearing entirely. The 1d stamp is known with value omitted and one pane of sixty is said to have appeared thus. The normal stamp is of the second type with oval "O" in ONE, the first type being unknown.

The introduction of multiple watermarked paper in 1904 was extended to the Trinidad stamps between that year and 1907. The ½d and 1d were issued on ordinary paper in August, 1904, but all the other values, including the 6d and £1 in the old colors, were issued only on the chalky paper and the ½d and 1d were later issued on this as well. The 1s was issued with the design printed in lilac in November, 1906.

Again, the introduction of the "Colonial Color Scheme" by the Crown Agents for the Colonies caused changes in the set. The 2½d appeared in ultramarine

CLASSIC UNITED STATES

The wonderful lot of 1847 5c and 10c which have been described in my announcements during the last few weeks have now been removed from the album pages and mounted in small booklets, more convenient to send through the mail to the interested collector. The booklets containing the mint and off cover copies will run in value from $2,000 to $8,000 and these will gladly be sent to the serious collector.

There are upward of several hundred covers priced at a few dollars each up into the thousands. Tell me what appeals to you and a selection will be made to meet your special desire. There are covers with strips and pairs. Singles on covers showing foreign and domestic use from numerous towns. There is a wonderful assortment of transit postmarks such as railroads, steam boats, way and the like. Many are used on the cover with carriers, some with locals. Each piece has some special attraction, otherwise it would never have been added to the wonderful collection which is now being broken.

I also hold and offer the finest lot of 1851 3c now available, including wonderful blocks, used and unused, strips, pairs, covers and even complete reconstructed sheets. The little lot of earliest known used covers from each plate cannot be surpassed and the prices throughout are most reasonable.

In other United States issues from 1847 to 1928, my stock is not surpassed by that of any professional, so if you are looking for the odd, the unusual or even the regular run of fine items, your want list is solicited. A wonderful array of mint blocks on hand, the items that are only to be found when large collections are broken.

Please remember that I am always in the market, summer or winter, to buy really fine United States items or collections. Money to any amount is available for important properties.

United States

Special Stamps for Hawaii

The Post Office Department has announced that on August 13th next, there will be placed on sale at Honolulu, the current issue 2c red Washington and 5c blue Roosevelt, printed from the rotary press and surcharged in two lines in black "Hawaii 1778-1928." These are to commemorate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of the islands by Captain Cook.

The delegate in Congress from Hawaii has been endeavoring for several months to obtain a special series of stamps for the occasion, but was unsuccessful. He, however, was successful in securing the issue of these two special overprinted varieties. They will be placed on sale in all post offices in the islands on the following day, namely—August 14th. A limited supply will be available at Washington, for collectors on August 13th, and I am informed by the Department that these stamps may be used on all United States mail.

New Envelope Contract

On August 7th the Postmaster General will open bids submitted by envelope manufacturers covering the manufacture and furnishing of government requirements of stamped envelopes for the four years beginning January 1, 1929. It is expected that the present contractors will be successful, and in this case they will, no doubt, follow the past procedure by changing the watermarks of the current envelopes, so that the new watermark will read "U. S. 1929" instead of "1925" as at present.

I also learn that the new contract calls for a special 5-cent air mail envelope. This envelope will have the red, white and blue design on the edges as recently approved by the Department. The new contract will, without doubt, be awarded sufficiently in advance to enable the contractors to have the new envelope available by the first of the year. It is expected that its use will be very extensive, for under the new 5-cent rate most business firms will, no doubt, use the air mail service, if the communication is going any distance.

Special-Handling Stamps

Under date of July 9th, the Third Assistant Postmaster General called for the redemption of the unsold 25-cent special handling stamps now on hand throughout the country. As there is no further use for this denomination, postmasters are given instructions as to how they should be returned. The Department is sending out supplies of the new special handling 10, 15 and 20-cent, just as fast as the Bureau can supply them.

Revenue Stamps At Post Offices

It will be recalled that several years back Documentary Revenue stamps were obtainable at most of the post offices. This was then discontinued, but under date of June 30, 1928, the First Assistant Postmaster General, issued further orders whereby post offices in cities of over twenty-five thousand inhabitants will again have available documentary stamps in the denominations of from 1c to $100 inclusive. The larger denominations from $10 to $100, however, will not be sent without special requisition signed by the Postmaster. The Postal Bulletin of July 5th, gives full details and instructions regarding the matter, as well as a list of cities that will receive the stamps.

Mr. Benjamin Cadbury kindly submits for inspection a copy of the 2c Documentary overprinted "Stock Transfer" in two lines with the new serif type of capital found on certain other denominations. This is the first time that the 2-cent has been noted with the new overprint.

Ocean Mail Service Routes

Under date of July 9th the first bids were opened by the Postmaster General for the carrying of mail under the new Merchant Marine Act of 1928, designed to stimulate American shipbuilding and the carrying of mail in American bottoms. Bids were asked on five routes and a single bid was received in each case. The Postmaster General is sending out requests for bids on further lines, and it is to be hoped that more American mail will be carried in American bottoms in the near future.

It would be a fitting tribute to the service if special postmarks were used on the opening days of the new contracts, the first of which goes into effect on August first.

Baltimore Postmaster

Those interested in Postmasters, should refer to the very able article written by Mr. J. M. Bartels, appearing in the Collectors Club Journal recently issued, devoted to the 10-cent Baltimore. Mr. Bartels gives us the history of the stamp and detailed information of the four copies known on white paper and the two copies on blue. He quotes the price paid in each case and gives the figures at which the stamps moved from hand to hand. As I had the pleasure of handling the last copy found on white which Mr. Bartels described in detail, it may be of interest to the history of the variety, to add that Mr. Bartels acquired this from a lady who brought it to his place of business along with other items at a figure said to be $250.00. Quite naturally, this resulted in a very handsome profit to Mr. Bartels.

Philippines

Mr. Walter Bruggmann kindly submits for inspection, three new Philippine varieties not noted heretofore.

He sends me a copy of the 4c carmine McKinley, perforated 11 with the air mail surcharge inverted. A further air mail variety submitted is the 16c Sampson, perforated 11, Scott's No. 289 with air mail overprint. It will be recalled that the 16c stamp in the normal set is the one with portrait of Admiral Dewey.

Mr. Bruggmann writes that a sheet of each of these errors were found at the time the stamps were issued, but have been closely held since.

The same correspondent also sends a vertical pair of the 20c orange and black Legislative series in imperforate condition. I am certainly not enthusiastic about these numerous errors now coming from the Philippines. They look too much like printers waste.

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

Numbers 755 to 757

J. S. Dubin, 2 Sickles St., N. Y. City
Guy Malambre, Baltimore, Md.
H. Clay Masser, State College, Pa.

It is with pleasure that we acknowledge three applications this week for membership in our Honor Club. Each of the three persons whose names are recorded have remitted $5.00 for five years' renewal of their subscriptions, and thus continued appreciation for the WEEKLY is expressed in a very tangible manner.

We felt that five hundred members was a worthy objective to be attained, but we are now ambitious to reach the one thousand mark. We have frequently referred to the fact that no other publication of any kind or description can boast of nearly eight hundred subscribers who have renewed their subscriptions in advance for five years without receiving any form of premium or reward. We are fast approaching the eight hundred mark and no doubt there are many who will yet avail themselves of our invitation to become members of our Honor Club.

HARRISCO QUALITY-BILT COLLECTIONS

20,000 Varieties, Mounted

At Less than One-Fifth Catalog!

COLLECTORS! Tremendous economies in stamp-buying—great savings that you ought to take advantage of—are offered in this magnificent Quality-Bilt Collection of 20,000 Varieties.

Every stamp is a carefully selected, clean, lightly-cancelled copy.

There are no duplicates in the collection. Every stamp is a definite and distinct variety.

Only a few stamps—less than a hundred—are not listed by Scott. And even for these "strays" we have made an allowance in the price.

Neatly and lightly hinge-mounted in forty booklets, these twenty thousand all-different stamps represent the highest expression of the art of fine collection-making. Every booklet will win your admiration—and save money for you!

Thousands of Popular Colonials

There are more than five booklets of British Colonials—a total of 2,500 stamps—covering all the better-known colonies, mandates, and protectorates of Great Britain, and most of the obscure ones, such as Aitutaki, Batum, Brunei, Cayman Islands, Gambia, Iraq, Samoa, Sarawak, Penhryn Islands, etc.

French Colonies, both old and new in brilliant array, fill three booklets. Among these 1,500 beautiful stamps you will find such remote and strange colonies as Alaouites, Anjouan, Canton, Somali Coast, Lebanon, Mayotte, Nossi Be, and Rouad. . . .

Two booklets, or a thousand stamps, are devoted to the increasingly popular units of Portugal's vast colonial domain; and there is one booklet full of Belgian, Dutch, Italian, German, and Spanish Colonies, with the former German possessions especially numerous.

Plenty of United States and Latin America

The Americas are abundantly represented. There are more than 200 varieties of United States; a liberal assortment of Mexicans; over 375 varieties from Argentine; over 250 varieties from Brazil, and so on, with a good display of every independent nation of South and Central America and the West Indies.

In all, there are just under seven books, or almost 3,500 stamps devoted to the United States and Latin America—a really wonderful layout for a beginner's or medium collector's album.

No Padding with New Europe

The other twenty booklets comprise stamps from the independent nations of Europe, Asia, and Africa. Noteworthy is the fact that the collection has not been unduly puffed and padded—as might easily have been done—with stamps of New Europe.

There are plentiful assortments from the larger stamp-issuing countries, such as France, Italy, Jugoslavia, Germany, Russia, Liberia, Persia, Turkey, China, Japan, etc.

But the other countries are represented also. You will find stamps from such odd and interesting places as Azerbaijan, Abyssinia, Eupen and Malmedy, Carinthia, Epirus, Marienwerder, Monaco, Saar, Sardinia, San Marino, and Thrace. In fact, it would be difficult if not impossible to find a better-balanced, all around collection than this Quality-Bilt one of 20,000 Varieties.

Easy Payments

As you can readily see, the exceptionally low price we quote enables you to have these fine stamps at a small fraction of what they would cost if bought in smaller quantities.

The total catalog of the collection is estimated at over $2,000.00. Our price, at less than one-fifth of this amount, is such a big discount from catalog that even dealers can profitably take advantage of it, to secure worthwhile merchandise for approval trade.

Easy payments, if you desire, can be arranged. Write to us for terms.

15,000 Varieties

Dealers and collectors who need a collection like the "20,000 Varieties" listed above, but feel that they cannot afford it, will welcome the real values Quality-Bilt into this smaller collection of 15,000 all different stamps. Similar to the foregoing collection, but smaller, with a catalog value that is many times your cost, it is an outstanding bargain at our price of

—Only $199.00*

12,000 Varieties

At Less than One-Seventh Catalog!

The stamps comprising this popular Quality-Bilt Collection catalog approximately $800.00. They are so excellent in condition, quality, and scope that you would expect to pay much more for them than we are asking. All are different, genuine, and in good condition. The greatest possible savings to collectors—and profits to dealers—are assured by our special low price of

—Only $110.00*

10,000 Varieties

One-Eighth Catalog

Mounted in ten large approval books, with all pages ruled to permit the insertion of catalog number, value, and net price under each stamp, this inexpensive Quality-Bilt Collection offers the dealer a great saving in time and labor as well as money.

Assembled according to the Yvert & Tellier catalog, it contains one or two hundred varieties not listed by Scott. Although this slight fault scarcely detracts from the general excellence of the collection, we have made a liberal allowance for it in our unusually low price of

☞ * You can order any Harrisco Quality-Bilt Collection with perfect safety. If — on three day's examination — you are not entirely satisfied with it, we will make you a prompt, full, and unquestioning cash refund.

on ordinary white paper in September, 1906, and the 1d in carmine on the same paper in November following. About the beginning of September, 1909, the 4d, 6d and 1s were issued in the new colors, but it was announced that the 5s and £1 would not be altered.

The next change in the stamps of Trinidad was the introduction of the Arabic numerals into the design of the ½d, 1 and 2½d stamps, "in order to comply with the Postal Union requirements." This occurred in December, 1909.

The island of Tobago, which lies 22 miles northeast of Trinidad, is a political dependency, but from 1879 until 1898 it was supplied with its own individual stamp issues. Before and since that interval the stamps of Trinidad were employed; but in 1913 the name of Tobago was added to the inscription on a new issue for Trinidad. The six low values appeared in January and February, the ½, 1 and 2½d on ordinary paper, and the 4 and 6d and 1s on chalky paper. Advantage was also taken of the change to put Arabic figures in the lower corners of the three higher values. The 5s and £1 appeared in 1914, but only the name was changed. In this year also the 4d and 1s were printed on the surface-colored paper (usually called the "white-backs") which was employed by Messrs. De La Rue for a time owing to paper difficulties during the War.

The new multiple Crown and Script CA watermark appeared in the set in 1921, though the 4d and 1s were not issued thus. Meanwhile increases in postal rates caused the dropping of the 2½d stamp, only a small number of which were issued, and the issue of a 2d and 3d with a change in color of the 1d in 1922. Lastly, an entirely new series of handsome design and combining the "seated Britannia" with the King's portrait, was issued on November 1, 1922. These were printed in sheets of 160, in two panes of 80 each (eight rows of ten) on white paper with the "script" watermark, except the 4d and 1s, which, being on colored paper, had the old "multiple CA" watermark.

Trinidad issued one commemorative stamp in 1898, which is thus described in a letter of the Governor: "The 31st July, 1898, will be memorable in the annals of Trinidad on account of its being the 400th anniversary of its discovery by Columbus. On that day, in the year 1498, he sighted the Trinity Peaks on the south coast of Trinidad, and at the same time first saw the mainland of the Western Hemisphere. I propose that 500,000 of this stamp be sold to the public. . . This commemorative stamp will be used for postage purposes only. . . . . I enclose a photograph of a stained-glass window which is in the Council Chamber here, the design of which I should wish, if possible, adapted to the purpose." The picture on the stamp is labeled, "The Landing of Columbus." It was line-engraved and printed in two colors in sheets of sixty (five rows of twelve) on the old "Crown CC" paper, arranged for these large sized stamps.

Official stamps were issued early in 1894 for use in the offices of the Governor and Colonial Secretary, but only on official matter going out of the Colony. They were made by overprinting the 1883-94 issue with the initials "O. S." (On Service), but were apparently little used and are very scarce. In 1909 a new attempt was made by overprinting the ½d with the word "OFFICIAL" and in 1910 the new ½d with numerals and the 1d carmine, no numerals, were treated likewise. Since 1913 the ½d "Trinidad & Tobago" has been overprinted in several styles of type.

A circular of the Postmaster General dated November 17, 1884, announced that "On and after 1st January, 1885, the sum to be collected in Trinidad from the addressee, on unpaid and insufficiently-paid correspondence, will be represented by a special stamp or stamps. . . . These stamps will be affixed to the cover of the letters. . . ." These postage-due stamps are labeled "surcharge postage" and differ only in the figures in the center, running from ½d to 1s. They were at first watermarked "Crown CA," but received the multiple "CA" watermark in 1906-07, with the exception of the ½d. In 1923 the 2d appeared labeled "Trinidad & Tobago" with the multiple "Script" watermark.

In 1917-18 the ½d and 1d stamps of the 1913 issue were surcharged "WAR TAX" in a number of different varieties of type.

The type-set Red Cross stamp figured in the Catalogue is thus accounted for by the Postmaster-General: "His Excellency the Governor on 17th September was pleased to grant an application made by the local Red Cross Society that letters in connection with their work should pass through the post free of charge within the Colony, bearing the Red Cross Stamp. On the following day, about 900 envelopes containing Red Cross circulars were presented at the General Post Office by the Secretary of the 'Society,' for distribution to country addresses, and were passed by my instructions in the ordinary way at ½d rate, as the 'Society' was anxious that these circulars should be dispatched at once, although the sub-offices had not then received instructions about them, and in order to avoid their being taxed, as they certainly would be in the usual course of business, I directed that the 'Society's' label should be obliterated by the date stamp of the hour and date of posting, and I sent out a circular to all the offices informing them of what had been done, and instructing them that all letters franked by certain members of the Red Cross Committee must be passed postage free in future an further orders, provided they h Red Cross label affixed, but on no a must this label be obliterated agai thus appears that the label takes r a ½d stamp only when cancelle the postmark of September 18, They were sold by the Society penny per dozen for use as seals, "one fraction" represents a thirc farthing. Red Cross stamps issu the Post Office were overprinted 1d stamps with the date "21.10,1 sold on that day only (October 21, The 100,000 issued were sold three hours. It is said that the proceeds of the sale of this stam turned over to the Red Cross fun postal deficit being borne by the C budget. The date is the annivers the battle of Trafalgar. Anothe day issue" was made on October 1 ("19.10.16" on the stamp), a 100,000, which were again sold record time. — New England Monthly.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY

LEEWARDS 2 1-2d ORANGE, 1923

By HARRY E. HUBER.

When the seventh congress of the Universal Postal Union opened at Madrid, Spain, on October 1, 1920, one of the many important matters to be acted upon was the upward revision of rates on postal articles passing in the International mails, to satisfy those countries whose currency had depreciated following the signing of the Armistice on November 11, 1918. It was a foregone conclusion that the letter and post card rates of 25 centimes and 10 centimes, respectively, could not be adhered to, but as some of the larger countries were not in favor of an increase, approval was finally given to maximum postage rates (on a gold basis) of 50 centimes on letters, and 30 centimes on post cards—but with the proviso that members desiring to retain the rates previously in force might do so, or adopt others, so long as they did not exceed the maximum rates approved by the Congress. The new rates were made effective generally as from 1st January, 1922.

In the Leeward Islands, by an Order in Council of January 9, 1922, new rates were fixed on postal articles, other than parcels, for destinations beyond the Colony, with effect as from 1st February, 1922.

"The United Kingdom, other parts of the British Empire, Tangier, and the United States of America (including the United States Virgin Islands, Porto Rico, Alaska, Hawaii, and the Canal Zone).

Letters.—
For the first ounce or fraction thereof,	2d
For each additional ounce or fraction thereof,	1½d
Post Cards.—
For each post card, single,	1½d
For each post card, reply,	3d
Registration fee for all articles,	3d

"For all other foreign countries the rates of postage shall be as follows:—

Letters.—
For the first ounce or fraction of an ounce,	3d
For each additional ounce or fraction of an ounce,	1½d
Post Cards.— Registration fee.—	The same rate as that for the United Kingdom

In 1920 script CA watermarked paper was introduced for Colonial Postage and Revenue stamps, ordered through the Crown Agents for the Colonies, and the first to be printed on this new paper were the 1d and 2½d of Bermuda's first Legislative Tercentenary series (double medallion type) issued at Hamilton on November 11, 1920.

In the Leeward Islands Federal series the first stamps to appear on the new script CA paper were the ½d green and 1d carmine in October, 1921, followed by the ¼d brown in April, and the 2d gray in June, 1922, printed from DLR-1888, King George V, Postage & Revenue keyplate No. 10, die 2 introduced in June, 1921, in sheets of 120 stamps, 2 panes of 60 each, separated by a narrow gutter. Plate number 10 appears twice in the lower margin (under the 2nd stamp of the left pane, and under the 5th stamp of the right pane), the upper margin being blank.

The increased foreign post card and letter rates permitted by the Madrid Congress of 1920, and which were gradually acted upon in the British Colonies, naturally necessitated a re-arrangement of the Crown Agents color scheme of 1907, (which called for the 1d, 1½d, 2½d and 3d stamps being printed in red, orange, blue and violet on yellow, respectively), to allow of the 1½d being printed in red, and the 3d in blue. In the Leeward Islands Federal series there was not at that date a stamp of 1½d denomination, but it was included in the Presidential series of St. Kitts-Nevis and Dominica, and added to those of Antigua and Montserrat by Orders in Council of January 9, 1922, and March 24, 1922, respectively.

On July 13, 1922, a series of stamps, ½d to 5s, was issued for Barbuda (overprinted on Leeward Islands Federal series), but oddly the 1d and 2½d (on script CA) and the 3d (on Roman CA yellow) were in the old colors, i.e., red, blue and violet on yellow, respectively, although the new foreign rates were then in effect (since February 1, 1922). The second printing of the 2½d and 3d received in April, 1923), were as before, i.e., 2½d in blue, script CA, and the 3d violet on Roman CA yellow.

Of the three denominations, 1d, 2½d and 3d, of the Leeward Islands Federal series, the 1d was the first to change its color, and on August 21, 1922, it was issued at Basseterre, St. Kitts, in deep violet (or as it is officially termed, blue-purple). It appeared in the other Presidencies of the Colony, excepting the British Virgins, within the six months following.

The 1d red, script CA, was sent to St. Kitts only (of all the islands) in August, 1921, but was not issued there until January 7, 1923, and the supply being very small, it exhausted in less than 2 months.

H. F. COLMAN

509 7th, N. W. H. A. ROBINETTE (Successor) Washington, D. C.

There being large stocks of the 2½d and 3d Federal series, Roman CA watermarked, in all the Presidencies, a printing of the 2½d and the 3d on script CA paper, was not made until about the second quarter of 1923, when Montserrat requisitioned these two denominations, and printed in changed colors, orange and blue, respectively, from plate 10, they were issued at Plymouth, Montserrat, on Sept. 22, 1923. (The 2½d blue, script CA, had of course been issued as early as July 13, 1922, overprinted for Barbuda.)

During 1924, several lots of 3d blue, script CA stamps, printed from plate 11, were sent out to the islands, Antigua, Dominica, Montserrat and St. Kitts, but only Montserrat received the 2½d orange (plate 10), and it was sold only in that island. In most all the islands, excepting the British Virgins and Montserrat, the 3d on Roman CA yellow, and the 3d blue, script CA, were sold concurrently.

On August 18, 1924, the Presidential authorities at Montserrat burned £8490.5.0 worth of Presidential stamps (232,200), and 88,200 stamps of the Federal series, £4302.3.6, among the latter being included the following:

Leeward Islands

2½d blue, Roman CA, 104 panes of 60,	6240	£ 69. 3.6
3d on yellow, Roman CA, 146 panes of 60,	8760	109.10.0
	15000	£178.13.6

The 2½d orange, script CA, Federal series, is a stamp about which much conflicting information has been circulated, but it has been officially stated, by both the Federal and Presidential authorities, that it was requisitioned only by the Montserrat authorities; that the entire lot of 100 panes of 60, 6,000 stamps, was dispatched by the Crown Agents to Montserrat, and that it was sold only in that island (of all the islands) until it exhausted in May or June, 1926. There was of course an additional quantity (probably 3,000 or thereabouts) sold by the Crown Agents in London.

I have seen this 2½d orange Federal stamp, script CA, with postmarks of other Presidencies, from Tortola in the Virgins south to Dominica, but the stamps were sent to prepay replies, and they were not requisitioned by nor sold at Post Offices in other Presidencies than Montserrat. As a matter of fact, the demand for the 2½d was very small after the foreign letter rate was raised to 3d (although it could of course be used in multiples for the British Empire and U. S. A. combined letter and registration rate of 5d), and for this demand there were plenty of 2½d Roman CA Federal stamps, and the 2½d Presidential stamps.

The statement has been made that when the 2½d orange Leeward Islands exhausted at Antigua, in 1926, the 2½d blue, Roman CA, was again brought into use. Antigua never received any 2½d orange, Leeward Islands stamps, and in 1926 was still using the 2½d blue, Roman CA, plate 8. As a matter of fact in June, 1926, I received from Barbuda (whose stamp supplies are drawn from the Colonial Treasury at St. John's, Antigua), ½d, 1d red, 2½d blue, 3d on yellow, and 6d, all Roman CA watermarked, from plate 8 (Federal series).

On August 19, 1926, the Postmaster (G. B. Seignoret) at Roseau, Dominica, wrote me "No 2½d Leeward Islands, orange were ever sent to Dominica," and on December 2, 1926, the Postmaster (G. H. King) at Basseterre, St. Kitts, made the statement "The 2½d Leewards we have are blue, block watermarked, plate 8, and plenty on hand."

From Antigua itself a friend wrote me under date of Sept. 3, 1926 as follows:—

"The 2½d Leeward Islands orange stamp which you have put on the envelope sent me, should become a very rare stamp. The stamp has been used in Montserrat only, and only 50 sheets (of 120), were printed, so you were lucky to get some of them. I managed to get 60."

In September, 1927, I had the good fortune to spend my holiday among the islands of the eastern Caribbean, on the Furness s. s. "Dominica." We arrived at Antigua at 4 p. m. Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 28th (having left St. Kitts at 11 a. m., passing Redonda and Montserrat en route), and were there until 10 p. m. when we sailed for Pointe a Pitre, Guadeloupe. These hours I spent to good advantage on shore in St. John's with my friend. As rain kept us indoors, during the evening, it was quite natural that stamps should come into the conversation.

Having read in the philatelic press that the Leeward 2½d orange, script CA, had been sold at Antigua (although no one seems to have secured supplies from the G. P. O. at Antigua), I inquired how this could be possible, when the official advice I had received from all quarters was that the 6,000 had been requisitioned by Montserrat, and sold only there. Mr. A. C. K. Tibbits, Federal Postmaster at St. John's until September, 1925 (when he was appointed Magistrate of Nevis) had written me that the stamp was to be had only at Montserrat, and in writing around to the other islands, the postal officials had all replied that they had received none, and I would have to remit to Montserrat. My friend assured me that all the 2½d orange Leewards held locally had come from Montserrat; that those interested had secured their supplies by remitting to Montserrat during the currency of the stamp; and the demand for it (following the passing of the Order in Council of 1st March, 1926, restoring the 2½d foreign letter rate from 1st April, 1926) was responsible for its exhaustion. It was known a new lot had been requisitioned, a necessity these would be in blue.

It really matters little whethe 2½d orange Leewards was sold a tigua, but all the information I been able to secure, through corre

METROPOLITAN STAMP COMPANY
1482 BROADWAY NEW YORK CITY

NORWAY 1854-1924

By CLIFFORD A. HOWES.

The Kingdom of Norway, from which most of the Norsemen came in the early ages, is the most northerly kingdom of Europe and in its comparatively narrow strip of mountainous territory along the western coast of the Scandinavian Peninsula it includes a hardy population of some two and a half million people. Norway was independent in the middle ages, but was united with Denmark from 1450 to 1814. In the latter year it was ceded to Sweden, but the strenuous objections of the Norwegians finally modified this to "independence in union with Sweden," the two forming a dual kingdom, each with its own local government but united under the Crown with the King of Sweden as the King of Norway also. Mutual jealousies and particularly the refusal of Sweden to allow Norway to have its own consular service, because of its preponderance in shipping, finally brought on a crisis in 1905, when Norway declared the union dissolved and deposed King Oscar. To the great credit of both nations, this did not result in war but was settled by mutual agreement on October 26, 1905, when Norway became independent. A Danish prince was elected King on November 18, 1905, who took the title of Haakon VII.

On July 7, 1854, the Postal Law was passed which authorized the issue of postage stamps and changed the rate of postage, making it uniform at 4 skilling per lod (about ½ ounce) irrespective of distance. Thus we have but the one stamp of that value for the first issue which occurred on January 1, 1855. The simple design shows the arms of Norway in a shaded circle, the word Frimaerke (postage stamp) above and the value beneath. The currency at that time was based on the speciedaler which consisted of 120 skilling, the value in United States' currency being about $1.10 which makes the face value of the stamp just under four cents. The design was the work of a mechanical engineer of Kristiania named Zarbell, who submitted several essays and finally was awarded the contract for furnishing the stamps on June 20, 1854, before the Postal Law was passed even. The following extract from the contract may prove interesting.

"In pursuance of your offer you are hereby entrusted with the provision of postage stamp plates, as well as with the printing of postage stamps, in connection with which it will be your duty to make provision for the impressing of a watermark to appear in the sheets of paper, which watermark is to consist of the Norwegian Lion with St. Olaf's Axe. The paper required for the stamps will be delivered to you by the Department to the necessary number of reams, after which you will be held responsible to account for the full total after deducting such as may have been manifestly ruined in process of printing. The materials made use of in the process of printing, including printing blocks as well as the actual dies, will, so soon as the stamps are ready, be delivered to and become the property of the Department of the Interior."

The contract provided for printing at least two million stamps at 18 skillings per thousand, and there were actually accepted 2,018,200. It is supposed that stamps rejected at first as faulty were afterwards issued because of postal needs, so that the total issue may have been as much as 2,367,600 stamps. In manufacturing them the design was engraved on steel which was pressed into a copper matrix, and from the latter separate castings in molten type-metal were made (the process known as stereotyping), these casting or clichées being clamped together to form the printing plate. The latter consisted of two panes of 100 each, ten rows of ten, placed vertically one above the other. The printed sheet was therefore of 200 stamps but was separated into Post Office sheets of 100 stamps each. There are many curious variations found on the stamps, especially in the corner ornaments and the lettering, which are evidently due to faults in the stereotyping. A prominent variety is one with a double foot on the right hind leg of the lion. The stamp is of course normally imperforate but is known with an unofficial roulette.

The circular announcing the issue of the stamps, sent out in September, 1854, provided that: "Each postage stamp shall at the time of posting be cancelled by a canceller and blackened. The postage stamps upon letters which are handled by country post offices which have not been provided with a cancelling stamp are to be crossed with ink and cancelled later in the prescribed method by the receiving office." This canceller was the well known grid of 10-12 bars with a circular outline. In January, 1856, it was "decided that the cancellers which are used to obliterate postage stamps shall be engraved with a numeral so that each cancellation stamp shall bear its own special number." This was of course the three concentric rings enclosing a number, the numbers running up to 383. Finally a circular announced that from January 1, 1859, "all postal stations which are furnished with date-stamps shall cancel every letter with the time and date of postage in such manner that the date cancellation shall obliterate the postage stamp." As the first stamp had been superseded by a second issue toward the end of 1856, one would not look for postmarks on the earlier stamp, yet they are not rare and show by their dates that they were used thus in spite of regulations during the years of their issue.

The cheap appearance of these stamps, the lack of perforation and the poor gumming, even as soon as three weeks after the first stamp was issued, led the Post Office Department to make inquiries as to whether the production of stamps could be undertaken in London. An estimate was obtained from Messrs. De La Rue & Co. but was considered too costly, so negotiations were entered into with firms in Sweden. In December, 1855, a contract was entered into with P. A. Nymann, an engraver of Stockholm, who delivered the first lot of a new 4sk stamp on June 5, 1856. When the first stamp was issued its use was restricted to the domestic mails, but from February to April, 1855, its use was authorized on mail matter for France, Denmark, Germany and Great Britain. This showed the need for stamps of higher value so that an 8sk stamp was added to the 4sk. A decree of November 7, 1856, authorizes the issue of these two stamps but requires the old 4sk stamp to be used up first.

The design shows a profile head to the left of King Oscar I of Sweden and Norway. The name "NORGE" now appears on the stamps at the top with "FRIMAERKE" at either side. The die was engraved on steel with the omission of the bottom label which was to bear the indication of value. Matrices taken from the die then had the figures and lettering required for the different tom label belonged and were then ready for taking stereotyped moulds or clichées

By Fred J. Melville
(Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.)

And More to Come. It is a considerable strain to take part in a whirl of crowded events and report them fully for immediate publication. However, we have managed to keep our readers au fait with the recent Congress and the Bourse, and our energies are again being drawn upon for the next big philatelic event in London, the Exhibition of Antiques and Works of Art organised by the Daily Telegraph at Olympia.

Education and Inspiration. It will not be necessary to emphasise to our readers in the home country that this exhibition at Olympia is a public enterprise of substantial responsibility and distinction. Every department of antique lore and art has been in charge of experts of high standing, and most of the stately homes of Britain have contributed beautiful things to delight the thousands who will crowd Olympia between July 19th and August 1st. As Sir Robert Baden-Powell has said, "the exhibition should have a splendid value in educating and inspiring all of us, since it is by studying the past that we can visualise the opportunities for the future."

Aesthetic Value in Philately. It was important in view of the "bigness" of the event, that effective steps should be taken to demonstrate the aesthetic interest and value in Philately, and as will be seen from the catalogue we print of the rich and varied stamp exhibits to be shown, it may fairly be claimed that the leading collectors have collaborated in a great effort to support Philately's claim to attention in the world of art and culture.

British Champion at Durban. A special cable to the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly brings us news of the success of the International Philatelic Exhibition at Durban. This was opened on July 2nd, and the judges had evidently got together and decided their awards in good time, for the cable reached us on July 3rd, the day after the opening. Our congratulations are due to several regular readers of the S.C.F., notably Mr. E. J. Lee of Stoke d'Abernon, whose 50-volume collection of Uruguay stamps has won for him the championship. It was a big undertaking to take the whole of such a collection out to Natal for this occasion.

Mr. A. F. Lichtenstein, who has rendered great service to Philately at many exhibitions sent some of his beautiful Capes to Durban, for which he receives a gold medal. Mr. H. H. Hurst, Mr. Vallancey and Mr. Watson are among the gold medallists.

The "White" Collection. Mr. Frank Godden, who has been having a busy and exciting time with the Congress and Bourse, and is lending us valuable assistance in connection with the Olympia Exhibition, has yet found time to bring off a most important stamp deal. His firm announces the purchase of the "White" collection of Great Britain, which has been a steady winner at international exhibitions for some years past. It is certainly a wonderful collection, the outstanding feature of which is the large number of mint blocks with corner margins and plate numbers, of the 1d black, 2d blue and other early British stamps.

The stamps in this great collection have been priced up, and British specialists now have the chance of a lifetime for enriching their own collections.

Another notable acquisition by the same enterprising firm is the Duveen collection of Victoria, of which particulars will be found in our advertisement pages.

The Conquest of Cleveland. Mr. Herman Toaspern in Scott's Monthly Journal, gives an amusing picture of how he (and others) went down from the great New York expecting to have the laugh on the Clevelanders as organisers. "Neat phrases were coined on the journey, and the writer was all set to tell everyone what was wrong and why." But at every point the organisation baffled criticism, even through to the close, when the great show was dismantled "with even less confusion, if possible, than the mounting" and by 3.30 p. m. on the day after closing, every collection was on its way back to its owner.

Incidentally the Clevelanders devised a novel method of putting the album leaves in the frames, a method which deserves close examination on the part of all who have anything to do with arranging stamps for exhibition.

The Congress Year Book. An interesting and successful innovation at this year's Congress was the issue of a bound volume to delegates, containing all the usual information embodied formerly in the programmes of Congresses, but with the addition of various other matter. Of the latter the most important feature is the printing beforehand of the papers to be read at Congress. All four papers read at this year's meetings are embodied in the book, and the fact that delegates, or at least some of them, had the opportunity of giving them consideration overnight, added to the liveliness of the discussions on the papers.

The full title of the book is "The Philatelic Congress of Great Britain Year Book, London, 1928," and it is edited by Alexander J. Séfi and L. J. Gilbert-Lodge.

INTRODUCING THE

STRAIGHT JACKET
(inner jacket)

For Loose Leaf Spring Back Albu

The chief objection to the loose-leaf, spring-back type of albun of the leaves slipping back, has been eliminated by the ingenious s jacket INNER JACKET. The solid wood ends (a) hold the leaves e shown (b) and (c). Your album handles better, looks better and is to use.

We have prepared the STRAIGHT JACKET Inner Jacket in al for the Wallace, Bruce, Douglas, Ne Plus Ultra, National and Intern Loose Leaf Albums.

THE COLORS

The colors of the Straight Jacket Inner Jacket will match the of the National and Wallace, Bruce and Douglas albums. A pleasing and Bronze Moiré design has been selected to harmonize with the of the International and Ne Plus Ultra Albums.

HONG KONG 2c CA, PERF. 12

By R. B. YARDLEY.

I am sure that all collectors of Hong Kong postage stamps will read with the greatest attention and interest Mr. Bacon's opinion on this matter.

As you pointed out in your editorial [illegible] is, however, based mainly on a block four 2c CA, perforated about 12, which was submitted to Mr. Bacon by Mr. J. Phillips in 1925.

Unfortunately I have not seen this block which Mr. Bacon describes the perforations "under 12" and "amateurish." [illegible] does not accord with the gauge on single specimen, which is practically [illegible] whether the two are connected in any way is not clear.

Mr. Bacon considers that any difficulty [illegible] decided with his block of four casts [illegible] doubt on the specimens belonging to Surgeon-Captain Bishop and myself. May, however, point out that in the case of Mr. Calman it was never [illegible] that the perforation of the two [illegible] specimens was the work of Messrs. [illegible] Rue's well-known single-line machine that was freely used in the eighties [illegible] last century—and the account of [illegible] origin of the perforation given by [illegible] De La Rue to your firm is [illegible] was the work of a "hand needle [illegible] perforating machine." I have never seen [illegible] De La Rue's perforating machine but I should be surprised if the single line machine, gauging about 12, frequently by them in the eighties, [illegible] hand machine. On the contrary, [illegible] machine that it was a large piece of machinery, worked either by treadle or being, and required time and trouble [illegible]. The account furnished by [illegible] De La Rue points rather to the conclusion that when the 14 machine [illegible] known there was perhaps only one left unperforated—and that to save [illegible] this was passed under a hand [illegible].

As far as my experience goes most printers have these small hand machines, which can be used without any preparation, and are used by them for specimens of work, e.g., of a circular letter with a form of application at the foot to be torn off, filled in, and returned to the person who issues the circular.

Mr. Bacon felt a difficulty in the incidental references to the shades of the specimens—in particular Mr. Hausburg's description of the shade as "bright rose"—but Mr. Hausburg, who was in touch with Messrs. De La Rue at the time, confirms the story of the use of the "hand machine" to produce the rough perforations. I remember Mr. Hausburg's display of his fine collection, but my impression is that it did not contain a specimen of the 2 cents, perf. 12—and, personally, I doubt if he had seen one. The stamp submitted by your firm to Messrs. De La Rue was presumably the specimen now in the collection of Surgeon-Captain Bishop, which is distinctly in the dull rose—and I suggest that Mr. Hausburg's general description of the variety was purely conjecture, from the comparatively late date of the discovery of the first known specimen (in 1898).

Mr. Bacon says that he had seen the specimen (presumably that now in the collection of Surgeon-Captain Bishop) and, after a cursory examination, believes that he "saw nothing wrong with it"—in fact, in the important article by himself and Commander Napier on the De La Rue perforations in Volume XIV of the Monthly Journal, it is listed as "Hong Kong, 2c, rose, 1882," perforated 12, though, if genuine, it does not strictly belong to the class in which it is included—the stamps perforated "barely 12," such as the line-engraved Antigua 1d, the Bahamas 1d and 4d, and so on—but belongs to a class apart, "Perforated roughly on hand machine 12."

Unfortunately Mr. Bacon does not distinctly remember the shade of the block of four submitted to him in 1925, but I may add that although my own specimen is somewhat brighter in shade than the stamp of Surgeon-Captain Bishop, I am satisfied that it is of the dull shade but it has been soaked in water.

Personally I cannot see any reason for discrediting the clear circumstantial explanation of the variety given by Messrs. De La Rue to your firm and set out in the American Journal of Philately of January, 1901, and copied into the London Philatelist of February, 1901, so far as the two single specimens are concerned. To do so involves ascribing deliberate invention, for which there was no apparent motive, and with the names of Mr. C. J. Phillips and Messrs. De La Rue in print in association with this explanation, repudiation would have at once followed.—Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

New Caledonia

—First Postage Stamp Etched with a Pin, According to F. J. Melville.

The arrival of a complete new series of stamps from New Caledonia, the first definite issue since 1905, recalls the curious history of this colony's first primitive stamp, issued at the beginning of 1860. A postal service had been started between Nouméa and Canala on August 4, 1859, and an order was given to the official printer to prepare 10-centime stamps for use on such letters, and also for letters going overseas via Sydney, which required a 10-centime New Caledonia stamp, together with a 6d New South Wales stamp to cover the postage rate beyond Sydney.

It was easier for the governor to order the stamps than for the printer to deliver them. There was no type in the colony, and all the Government printing, official notices, notepaper, and even the "Moniteur Impérial" were produced by auto-lithography. Even this medium of printing was the result of a happy discovery by a sergeant of Marines, who found a soft bluish-grey stone of fine texture at a spot some five miles from Nouméa, capable of use as a lithographic stone. The sergeant, named Triquérat, became assistant lithographer to the official printer, and etched the first New Caledonia stamp with a pin point on the stone, repeating the task fifty times to enable him to print in sheets of fifty stamps. He was no skilled artist, and his tools were primitive, so there is little resemblance in his stamps to the model from which he worked, the French portrait stamp of Napoleon of the 1859 issue.

The stamps created a sensation among the early collectors when copies first reached Europe, and the first sheet of fifty which reached Paris in 1863 was bought, I think, by M. Donatis, for 1,000 francs (£40), an astonishing figure for any stamps at that period. But other sheets turned up, and the price dropped to one-fifth. At the present date a sheet is valued at £100. Although the total printing is supposed to have been only 1,500 or 3,000 stamps, the stamp is not rare unused (25s in Gibbons, and 200frs in Yvert). On the other hand, used copies are of extreme rarity, and the postmarked copies known probably do not exceed a dozen. As the stamps were not gummed they were affixed with the aid of a gum brush at the post office, or by means of wafers elsewhere; instances are recorded of the stamps having been eaten through by insects attracted by the wafers.

Sergeant Triquérat took his discharge in the colony, and set up as a lithographer there until ill-health caused him to sail for France; he died on the voyage, in 1866.

Burger & Co., 90 NassauSt., NewYork [10

The new stamps for this Colony are thirty-six in number, twenty-three being ordinary and thirteen Postage Due stamps, in four designs by Paris artists and engravers. The ordinary values 1 centime to 25 centimes show the harbour of Nouméa. The 30 centimes to 90 centimes values show a scene with a Kanaka before his hut amid palms by the waterside, and the 1 franc to 20 francs show an old sailing vessel in the centre, flanked by portraits of the Comte de La Perouse and Admiral de Bougainville, French navigators who secured for France some of her chief possessions in the South Seas. It was originally announced that the portraits were to be of La Perouse and Jules Sebastien D'Urville, a famous navigator of a century ago. But Bourgainville has replaced D'Urville on the stamps as issued. The Postage Due stamps show a stag in a New Caledonia landscape.—Postage Stamp.

NEW 5c AIRMAIL

As we go to press we have received from Washington three first day covers bearing the new 5c airmail. The stamp is quite attractive, printed in red and blue. The design shows a rather diminutive airship sailing over the ocean with a beacon occupying a prominent place in the foreground. Our thanks are extended to Stanley Gregory, Albert E. Gorham and the Capitol Stamp Co. for courtesies.

Watermarks

Watermarks—the bane of many an enthusiastic collector! Sometimes seen and sometimes imagined! Makes a a stamp worth more or less.

What is a watermark anyway as to cause so much trouble or fuss and worry? Starting away back in the paper mill where there are immense machines turning out dried finished paper from a pulpy mass, we find that as this wet mass on its journey over the rollers comes in contact with one which is roughened with a design. The pressure of the design on the roller leaves an impression in the paper.

Much ordinary writing paper discloses some design in it, usually the monogram of the paper company or the name of a particular brand of paper. This can usually be seen by holding the sheet of paper up to the light.

Paper used for the printing of postage stamps is frequently found watermarked. Such paper has the watermark design so arranged that a part shows in each stamp.—A. C. LeDuc.

Junior Dictionary

H. I. & U. S. Postage.—This inscription appears on the rarer of the two types of the 13c "missionary" stamps of Hawaii. The letters are simply an abbreviation for "Hawaiian Islands & United States." The letter postage was divided into 5c local, 2c ship and 6c United States.

Plebiscite — Olsztyn — Allenstein. — An overprint on German stamps used in the Polish-German plebiscite, Allenstein area. The word "Olsztyn" is the Polish term for the district.

Pilgrim Tercentenary.—This name is given to a set of three stamps issued by the U. S. in 1920 to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, Mass. There are three values, 1, 2 and 5c.

Springbok.—The head of a springbok—one of the most typical of South African fauna—forms the watermark in the current stamps of the Union of South Africa.

SRB.—This abbreviation meaning Srbska (Serbian) is found in the oval of the 1 crown and 2 crown values of the so-called Laibach issue of stamps. It is in Roman as well as Cyrillic letters.

Portuguese Olympic

While one can excuse a certain carelessness in the preparation of provisional stamps which are needed in an emergency, one can only express surprise when a European nation like Portugal issues such a disgraceful travesty of a postage stamp as the new Olympic label. The regular postage stamps of Portugal are not unattractive, while her commemoratives (though not, usually, a financial success) are often beautiful productions. The Olympic stamp, however, combines poor printing, dull colouring, and lack of tact, for the original design apparently omitted the important indication that the stamp hailed from Portugal, and the omission was corrected by the international discourtesy of printing "PORTUGAL" right across the word "Amsterdao" (Amsterdam) at the foot of the stamp. Probably the authorities feared that the stamp might be taken for a Dutch emission, but while Holland has certainly issued stamps of weird design, no poorly produced stamp leaves the ateliers of the Enschedé firm.

The design of the Portuguese Olympic stamp is not bad, and a curious feature of it is that the ship in the background has eyes. I always believed that this practice of painting eyes on the bows of ships was confined to Chinese junks, but I am evidently wrong.—Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

St. Helena

By HENRY MAYFIELD, JR.

St. Helena was discovered by Juan de Nova, a Portuguese naval captain on May 21, 1502, which was St. Helena's Day and was named in her honor. It was densely wooded and without any inhabitants. The Dutch had possession of the island for a time. It was chosen as a place of exile for Napoleon chiefly because of its remote position.

The island is about ten miles long and half as wide, it rises high above the sea and is very fertile. Oaks, pines, willows, bamboos, dates, and bananas all flourish on the island. It is said that there is a greater variety of beetles there than any other place. Every two weeks a steamer calls.

The first issue was printed by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., the same picture of Queen Victoria as was used on the stamps of Ceylon. Several different designs followed, including some large and handsome pictorial stamps with a picture of the government house at Jamestown on some and with a picture of the wharf on others. In 1922, a very beautiful set was issued. To date twenty values have been issued of this design. The values appear in the upper corners of the stamps with "ST. HELENA" across the bottom. In an oval frame at the top is a picture of King George of England. Directly below this picture appears a picture of a three masted sailing ship approaching the island. Part of the set is watermarked with the Multiple Crown and Script C A and part with the Multiple Crown and C A watermark.

There are two war stamps, one surcharged "WAR TAX ONE PENNY" and the second "WAR TAX 1d."

Egypt Cotton Issue

By HENRY MAYFIELD, JR.

During 1927, Egypt issued an attractive set of stamps which would set off any Junior collection. It was issued to commemorate the meeting of the International Cotton Congress. The stamps are rectangular in shape with "EGYPT" and Arabic Characters across the top. The values are in the lower corners of the stamps with "CONGRES INTERNATIONAL DU COTON, 1927" written between in Egyptian and in Arabian. Across one side is the value written out in Egyptian on the left side of the stamp and in Arabian on the right side. In an oblong frame in the center is a picture of a stalk of cotton. The stamp is watermarked with a Multiple Crown and Arabic F watermark and is perforated 13½.

Watermark Hunting

When it comes to finding the watermarks in stamps, the collector is confronted with many difficulties. He should provide himself with a small bottle of benzine which can be obtained at a drug store. The stamp to be investigated is laid face down on a black surface—preferably a watermark detector as sold by all dealers—then a few drops of benzine dropped on the stamp. If the stamp is curled it should be pressed down carefully so that the benzine covers all parts of the stamp. The watermark will usually show up plainly under such treatment unless it is a heavily cancelled specimen.

A word of caution is in order on the use of benzine. Don't smoke while using it, neither should you use it near an oil lamp or gas light, or you may not have any furuther need for stamps. No mail has ever been received from there yet!

The stamps of Argentina and the British Colonies, except Australia, should not give the collector any difficulties. He will have trouble with the various slogans or whatever you want to call them that are used in Brazil. He won't know whether they are "Casa da Moeda" with or without stars. All he will see will probably be stars! Or casa da cuckoo!

Seriously tho, the watermark chaser has a good chance to look for the various kinds of crowns with the big or little A's, in the stamps of Australia. A comparison of the stamps with the pictures in the catalog is about the only way to settle the matter of which is which.

With watermark hunting it is usually a case of continued practice that makes the efficient hunter. When you once get used to what to look for the battle is already half won. We can be thankful that not all countries have felt it necessary to use watermarked paper for their stamps.—A. C. LeDuc.

ping together into printing plates. ngraved on them where the bot- mps were printed at the Gov- Printing Office in Stockholm in f 100, ten rows of ten, upon un- rked paper as far as the stamps erned but with a marginal wa- of two wavy lines all around, at the corners by the "Lion of ." They are perforated 13 and is known in imperforate condi- tally used.

o the end of 1856 the letter rates duced to 2sk for letters posted vered in the same town and 3sk ers delivered within a certain n postal radius. Two new stamps e values were added to the set on y 28, 1857.

revious stamps were never wholly ory to the Norwegians, partly they bore the head of a Swedish d partly because they were not estic manufacture. In 1862 the ian Postal Department considered igns and entered into a contract w issue with Schwenzen's Litho- Works of Kristiania at a price per thousand. A decree of Feb- 1864, fixed the highest value at ving the other values to be de- l by the postal authorities, who change in the values already in e design reverted to the arms of now properly shown with shield wn. The paper was similar to the previous issue with marginal k only. The perforation gauges 13½ and was done by a machine in England.

s one of the most interesting of es of Norway to the specialist as e four minor varieties of type in ue, and as there were two plates k there are eight varieties of this mation. The stamps were litho- in sheets of 100 composed of ive blocks of four. These blocks identical, but the four stamps of k all differ slightly from one It is to be noted, however, that ks can be further divided into ups, numbers 1 and 3 (so far as d is concerned) being very simi- ach other and numbers 2 and 4 ing the same similarity. The dif- ypes are most easily distinguished e 24sk value owing to its color), but with the 2sk yellow and e, for the same reason, the task te very difficult. Full details of the ces between these four types are le in publications for those desir- n. As to the cause of the vari- l their similarity in pairs Mr. W. Vestoby, in the Adhesive Postage of Europe, says it appears prob- at two separate engravings or rs were made of the portion of the h that is common to all the values. hese transfers were taken and in blocks of four. The values en added and the four designs uched up generally. Twenty-five s of this finished block of four d down on the lithographic stone as then ready for printing. But n stumbling block is why were iginal engravings or drawings y where one should suffice?

3 and 24sk were the first values set placed on sale on August 31, he 4sk followed in January, 1864, in 1865 and the 3sk in 1866, s of the previous issue being used e the new ones were placed on he 3sk was not in use more than rs and is the scarcest of the set. sk unused is fairly common as ere 491,000 of them in a lot of lers sold in November, 1913.

ner information from a Norwe- blication shows that the date of e quoted for the new 2 and 3sk as February 28, 1857, could not be for the latter stamp, as it was not printed until March 13th. It was probably issued about the end of March. There were 1,000,000 of the 2sk printed and issued and 1,050,000 of the 3sk.

From the same publication it appears that the issue of 1863-66 was produced by making four original drawings of each value on a lithographic stone, and then transferring these blocks of four twenty-five times to the printing stone to make the sheet of 100 stamps in ten rows of ten. The large number of 4sk stamps required, that being the domestic letter rate, caused a second drawing of a block of four for producing new printing plates, and this is what has been termed "plate II," as the new drawings all differ in detail from the first block of four.

In 1867 the Norwegian Postal Department reverted to the typographical method of producing its stamps, giving the contract to Mr. P. Petersen of Kristiania. The design of the new issue was changed but little, the principal difference being in the lettering at the bottom and the repetition of the numerals of value; the background also is now composed of vertical instead of crossed lines. The stamps were produced from a single original steel die, the numerals of value being engraved upon secondary dies from which stereotyped clichés were obtained for clamping together into the printing plate of 100 in ten rows of ten. There are therefore no variations of type. As there were plenty of 24sk of the previous set on hand, and as this value was not used much it did not appear in the new type. New rates for printed matter, however, required a stamp of 1sk, so that this value was added.

The 2 and 4sk stamps were the first to appear in June, 1867, and were printed on the same paper as used for the previous issue, with watermarked lines in the margin and lions at the corners. The remaining values and later supplies of the 4sk were printed on a thinner paper with no watermark at all. The perforation was 14½ x 13½. The 8sk was issued about October, 1867, and the 1 and 3sk in May, 1868.

A reduction in the domestic letter rate from 4sk to 3sk, and other changes, took place on January 1, 1872, and a new issue was furnished for this occasion. This was in an entirely new design known as the "posthorn" type, which has remained in use with slight modifications ever since. It was produced by Petersen as before, in the values of 1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7sk, the 8sk having been dropped. The original die was engraved with the value label blank save for the word "skilling," and a hole in the circle of the pattern for inserting a plug with the figure of value thereon. The method of producing a plate was then to insert the plug with the desired numeral in the die and make a "subsidiary" die, probably by electrotyping, on which the word of value was engraved by hand before the word "skilling." From this subsidiary die clichés would be made, either by stereotyping or by electrotyping, to make up the printing plate. A study of this issue by Mr. Jellestad convinced him that the subsidiary "die" had been composed of twelve reproductions of the original die for the 1, 2, 3 and 4sk stamps, he having found this number of varieties in the engraving of the word of value in each. As the greatest number of any one variety appearing in the printed sheet is ten, there must have been at least ten reproductions of the subsidiary "die," thus making 120 clichés, of which only 100 were necessary for making up the printing plate, leaving 20 in reserve to replace any damaged in use. One might think that the strip or block of clichés made up from the subsidiary "die" would be used thus in making up the plate, but it is evident from the irregular distribution of the varieties over the printed sheet that it was cut up into separate clichés in each case. With the 6sk Mr. Jellestad finds 15 varieties of the word, which, if the subsidiary "die" were made up of this number, would require but eight reproductions to obtain the necessary number of clichés for the plate plus the necessary reserves. With the 7sk he finds originally only 10 varieties, with 12 as the maximum number appearing on the sheet, so that the subsidiary "die" must have had 10 reproductions of the original and itself have been reproduced 12 times to make the clichés. He has found a second setting, however, in which appear 12 new varieties in slightly smaller and thinner lettering than the first plate. These he thinks must have been due to heavy damage to the first plate, necessitating the making of a new subsidiary "die" (of 12 reproductions of the original this time) to obtain enough new clichés for repairs and reserves. The new clichés were mixed in with the old ones to the number of 31, the greatest number of any one variety being four, so this setting has been termed plate II. The 1sk also comes in two settings, known as plates I and II, but they are simply different arrangements of the same varieties.

VICTORIA

We have recently bought a very nice collection of this popular country, the value of which is about $3500.

It includes nearly 150 "Half-lengths", no less than 280 of the 2d "Queen on Throne", 48 of the "Emblems" issue, imperf., and many good items in the later issues.

Selections can be sent on approval.

Other countries in which we are particularly strong at the moment are New Zealand, Mexico, Rhodesia, Irish Free State, and South West Africa, but we can send good selections of most countries, or can execute want lists by Scott or any other catalogue.

VOLUME

Well known men about town have told me—"Tom, I've seen more Chile, more French Colonials, more used new issues, than I've seen for the last two years". Admittedly, there is a large volume of stock at the Stamp Trust Store—three or four good sized collections to wade through. Everything for Sale, no hold outs, but it isn't all displayed (at fancy prices).
Volume can help you—if you wish to do ground work—starting new countries, or if you wish to fill in a good sized lot at one clip. I can make you some attractive proposals.

POOR ALBERT JAMES

The idle life of Albert James
At ten years old was bad.
He called the other pupils names
And even sassed his dad.

This was in eighteen seventy-five,
This tale I now relate.
When bustles were about, alive,
And horses drew the freight.

One day our Albert saw a stamp
With others on a page,
Owned by a friend, who told the scamp
Collecting was the rage.

Our Albert fell and got the yearn
To own some paper joys.
While yet far off he could discern
A stamp before the boys.

He sought them in the paper mill,
He sought them in the store,
And each new treasure gave its thrills,
But still he wanted more.

He knew them cleaned, he knew them soiled.
He knew them pasted flat.
He kept them in his pantaloons,
And stored them in his hat.

The fever had its way and passed,
And forty years was dead,
But came alive and reared at last
Its long recumbent head.

The funny ones were all the rage,
Some worth a thousand bills,
And invalids adorned the page
And propagated thrills.

One perforation more or less
The philatelists sought,
And he who found, the Gods would bless,
And tarried not but bought.

Blue beamed the philatelic star,
Cavorted earth and sea,
Espied its prey both near and far,
In microscopic glee.

Abscond, vamoose, get home at once,
Ye joys of seventy-five.
Antiquity is now a dunce,
For science is alive.

A. Lincoln

—Letter Written by the War President Found in a Pile of Trash.

(Clipping from Herman W. Boers)

ATLANTA, GA., July 22.—Unearthed in a trash pile, a letter signed "A. Lincoln," and believed to be from President Lincoln during the Civil War, congratulates Michael Hahn, on his election as "the first free state governor of Louisiana."

The letter is written on stationery headed "Executive Mansion" dated March 13, 1864.

O. P. Walton and "Tubby" Walton, restaurant owners, found it.

The text of the letter follows:

"I congratulate you on having fixed your name in history as the first free state governor of Louisiana. Now you are about to have a convention which, among other things, will probably define the elective franchise. I barely suggest for your private consideration, whether some of the colored people may not be let in—as, for instance, the very intelligent, and especially those who have fought gallantly in our ranks. They would probably help, in some trying times to come, to keep the jewel of liberty with the family of freedom. But this is only a suggestion, not to the public, but to you alone.

"Yours truly,
"A. LINCOLN."

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) LEXINGTON, MASS.

DO YOU REALIZE—

That in the purchasing of stamps, while pleasure may be the main consideration, there are other factors of prime importance that should not be forgotten. Argue all day and part of the night, if you will, and if you are not narrow minded, you must admit that the collecting of stamps along certain lines has proven to be a real investment. The breaking up of many of the larger United States collections in recent years has demonstrated this fact, beyond doubt. From personal knowledge I can cite numerous instances where owners received returns anywhere from 20 to 150% on expenditures made in periods covering from three to ten years, and these are not simply isolated instances.

When the wise man purchases his stocks and bonds, he usually purchases something that is well known and desirable, something that he may call up his broker and sell within a few minutes—at any time. He does not buy the stocks and bonds of some small out of the way concern, that are not listed on any exchange, and which when sold are only moved with difficulty, after a long hunt for an actual buyer.

Why not give the same consideration to the subject when buying stamps? Did anyone ever see a superb collection of United States go begging for a buyer? And at the same time, some of the finest specialized collections of many of the other countries containing real rarities are at times unsaleable, and no dealer will buy—why?—simply because there is no market for the items, unless almost given away.

There is always a demand for fine United States, especially mint items and covers, and when I say fine, I do not mean average or simply good copies, which are easily had at half catalog or less, and are always plentiful.

Of course, if you are putting but a few dollars into your collection, investment is of small importance and condition may even be forgotten, but the man who spends hundreds and thousands should not forget the fact that just as much pleasure may be had in purchasing the investment items as can be had from the general rif raf available in every stock.

The type of items mentioned above are the kind that I am buying daily. What have you to offer? Prompt cash is available for anything fine in the way of United States early mint blocks, singles and covers, as well as fine mint 20th century. I also offer to the interested collector a wonderful United States stock to pick from.

5c Air Mail Stamp Issued

In accordance with previous announcement, the new 5c blue and red air mail stamp, described in detail in this column, was placed on sale in Washington, on Wednesday, July 25th. Thousands of first day covers were sent out and it is believed that the two color stamp, larger than the normal variety, will prove exceedingly satisfactory, for the two colors make it unusually attractive. No inverted centers were reported on the first day, but in view of the fact that stocks have already been sent to most of the air mail offices, it would not be surprising to learn that such an error has been issued, for the quantities will run into the thousands, and as the Bureau has been required to print large numbers in short order, means that they cannot be quite as careful as when printing small quantities over a longer length of time.

Mention was previously made that the stamp would possibly be overprinted "Canal Zone" for use at that point, but the Post Office at Washington has returned the requisition, and called to their attention the fact that our postal regulations do not call for an air mail service, hence, no immediate need for such a variety.

Through the courtesy of the Department, arrangements have been made whereby every air mail station will have the new stamps by August first, so that letters may be sent out on that day under the new schedule with the new stamps. The Postal Bulletin mentions that the Department does not feel it wise to have special postmarks on August first, hence, has not authorized the use of such markings. There is no doubt, however, that certain postmasters will take it upon themselves to kindly favor collectors by applying a special marking made from a cancellor prepared locally. Advice has already been received that such a marking will be used at St. Louis, Mo., Springfield and Peoria, Ill. The air mail carriers at Boston are an aggressive company and, no doubt, special postmarks will be applied at that point.

1847, Railroad Cancellations

In a recent Chronicle, mention was made of the known 5c and 10c 1847, showing Railroad cancellations. Through the courtesy of Dr. Ralph W. Payne, James S. Hardy, and others we are able to add the following to our list.

5c—1847

Troy & Whitehall R. R.—Circular in blue
Washington Rail R. D.—Circular in blue
Richmond Rail Road—Circular in red
Little Miami R. R.—Circular in red

10c—1847

Little Miami R. R.—Circular in red
Madison & Indianapolis R. R.—Circular in red

We would be most pleased to list any further varieties that we have not, as yet, seen.

1875, 5c Cracked Plate

We recently mentioned seeing a copy of the 5-cent Taylor, hard paper, on cover with cracked plate. Mr. W. E. Whitnall kindly advises that he has in his collection a block of four of the stamp on hard paper, showing a crack running vertically through the left side of the northeast stamp down through the left of the southeast stamp, through the margin near the bottom and just touching the engraved corner of the southwest variety, so that the crack shows on three stamps out of the block of four. Mr. Whitnall advises that the northeast stamp shows a strong shift in addition to the crack.

Professor C. T. Hurst calls attention to a cracked plate copy in his collection, which from the description is one found in the block just described.

Registered Mail

Under date of July first, the new regulations on registered mail became effective, so that a letter or package may be insured anywheres up to a thousand dollars, at fees ranging from fifteen cents for a package valued not exceeding fifty dollars and one dollar for a thousand dollars. We will, therefore, be able to get our higher denomination stamps on small covers legitimately used, so that later on if we have a new $1 stamp there will be actual use for the variety on a small first day cover. The amount of insurance is prepaid by regular stamps in addition to the normal postal charges.

Australian Commonwealth.—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly learns from Mr. Allan Clements that in a recent speech the P.M.G. stated it was practically certain that Air stamps would be issued for Australia.

Belgium.—Restoration of Orval Abbey.—We have pleasure in publishing the following analytical details, just received from the Orval Abbey Committee, regarding the projected Charity stamps :—

Rate. fr.	Additl. tax. fr.	Subject.	No. per sheet
0.05.	0.05.	Ogives and pillars.	400
0.25.	0.05.	Ogives and pillars.	400
0.35.	0.10.	Monk.	50
0.60.	0.15.	Duchess Mathilda.	50

3.	1.	Duchess Mathilda.	50
5.	5.	View of Orval.	25
10.	10.	View of Orval.	25

The complete series will therefore be worth 40fr or 6 Belgas.

The stamps of 0.05fr and 0.25fr are the reproduction of a fine drawing in two colours, which obtained a medal at a competition of the Institut Supérieur des Arts Décoratifs.

The stamps of 0.35fr and 2fr represent a monk clothed in a white mantle and sculpting the capital of a pillar.

The stamps of 0.60fr, 1.75fr, and 3fr represent, in medieval style, the legend of the Duchess Mathilda and of the gold ring. These two vignettes are the reproduction of two drawings of the eminent artist, Anto Carta.

The stamps of 5fr and those of 10fr are from the designs of Mr. Chaplin, of the Ecole des Chartes of Paris. In the foreground figures that delicate work of art, the rose-window of Orval, in the middle distance a monk ploughing, and in the background the old abbey as it is planned to restore it.

In addition to the special postage stamps an illustrated post card is to be issued by the Government as a further means of helping the fund for the restoration of the ancient Abbey of Notre Dame d'Orval; it will have the face value of 35c+15c, and will probably be on sale from September 15th. The Germany.—We are indebted to Anton Huber for the following information:—"I wish to inform you of a new set on September 1st. The stamps will have the portraits of the dead president, Ebert, and the second president, Hindenburg. The following values will be issued: 3, 8, 10, 20, 30, 60pf (Ebert), new value 45pf for registered letters, id, 5, 15, 25, 40, 50, 80pf (Hindenburg)."

Italy.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us a 7½c brown, of a new type, similiar to A85. Also an 80c air post stamp in lilac and red-brown.

Kuwait. — Mr. A. L. Greenway writes Gibbons' Stamp Monthly that the transfer of the local post office to the Indian Government has been indefinitely postponed. The 3a blue Service has gone out of issue and the 3a orange has again been put on sale. Probably a small stock of the latter is being used up.

Malta.—A "Stop Press" notice in the Philatelic Magazine announces that the entire postage series has been overprinted "Postage and Revenue."

St. Helena.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin reports that for some reason or other the rumor has been about for the past few months that the 7sh6p denomination of the current issue has been withdrawn from use and in consequence high prices have been asked for this stamp. Official notification has been received informing that there is no intention of withdrawing this value.

Spain.—Color error.—Ordinary adhesive of 1923 printed in blue instead of carmine. 25c bluue.—M. Th. Champion.

We understand that blue was the color originally intended for this denomination, but the sudden alteration in the postal tariff necessitated the 40c being issued in this hue, in order to conform with the Postal Union regulations as to international correspondence (25c being the old and 40c the new foreign letter rate).

Needless to say, very few of these errors have got into general circulation and, of course, it may be found that they are merely proof impressions.—Stamp Collecting.

AUGUST 13, 1928

(Albert E. Gorham is sending out a rather unique circular that we are disposed to reproduce in our paper. True, it gives Mr. Gorham considerable of an advertisement, but we feel favorably inclined in view of the tremendous activity Mr. Gorham is showing in connection with airmail developments. With all the advertising that he receives there is some news matter here which will be welcome. The circular is printed in red, indicating that August 13 will philatelically be a red letter day in "stampdom, Washington and Honolulu". — W. O. W.)

August 13, 1928: The Writer, as General Chairman of Entertainment, will extend the Gavel of Authority to the President of the Society of Philatelic Americans, to be called to order in Annual Convention in Washington. Third Assistant Postmaster General Regar (in charge of Philatelic Agency—as salesman) and Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing Hall (as manufacturer of United States Postage) will probably extend addresses of welcome.

August 13, 1928: The 2-cent and 5-cent current series of postage will be Specially Surcharged "Hawaii" across the upper half with dates "1778-1928" below in black ink.

August 13, 1928: From Washington and Honolulu, the writer will issue First Day Covers; 2-cent stamp by regular mail; 5-cent stamp by airmail, suitably inscribed, at $1.00 for the set of four covers. If desired, Send Your Remittance to Me by Return Mail.

August 13, 1928: "The surcharged stamps will not be placed on sale in post offices within the United States proper."

"The total quantity of surcharged stamps, except those placed on sale at the philatelic agency, will be sent to the postmaster at Honolulu, who will make distribution."

"Although the sale of the special issue of surcharged stamps will be restricted to post offices in Hawaii and the philatelic agency, the stamps will be valid for the prepayment of postage at all post offices now using ordinary United States stamps." (Postal Bulletin 14741.)

August 13, 1928: Attend as member or visitor the Annual Convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans, Raleigh Hotel, Washington, D. C., as a most cordial welcome awaits you by the Society, its Branch No. 5, and the Washington Philatelic Society.

STAMP NEWS IN BRIEF

BRITISH EMPIRE.

Australian Commonwealth.—Mr. Allan Clements tells us that in a recent speech the P.M.G. stated that it was practically certain that Air stamps would be issued for Australia.

Mr. Adrien Albert points out that the 1d green, perf. 13½ x 12½, with Ash imprint, may be distinguished from the work of the earlier printers by the paper, which is more opaque.

He adds that the 1½d red has been found with Ash imprint at the top of the sheet, instead of at the bottom. Only a few sheets are known. The same thing happened in the Mullett printing of this value, some 30 sheets being noted with imprint at top.

Canada.—Mr. W. F. Emslie kindly shows us specimens of the 1c Confederation issue, and states that in his opinion they represent three distinct thicknesses of paper: (1) The original fairly thick; (2) A thin paper with the design showing through; and (3) a paper of a thickness between the two. He believes the second is scarce.

There is certainly some difference between the specimens shown us, but nothing like that which occurred two or three years ago in the Postage Dues and one or two of the Georgian postage stamps.

Kuwait.—Mr. A. L. Greenway writes that the transfer of the local post office to the Indian Government has been indefinitely postponed. The 3a blue, Service, has gone out of issue, and the 3a orange has again been put on sale. Probably a small stock of the latter is being used up.

OTHER COUNTRIES.

Afghanistan.—Mr. F. H. Zahid tells us that a postal convention has been signed between India and Afghanistan, and that, with effect from 1st April last, the "due" system has been abolished. As this information is accompanied by a copy of an official letter which states that "Afghanistan has been made a Union country," with effect from the same date, we take it that we may understand that Afghan stamps now have franking power outside the country of issue, and not merely to Peshawar. If this is the case, we may look to see a still further increase in the interest taken in the stamps of this country.

To make up the consequent loss, the rate on foreign letters has been increased from 15 pools to 30 pools, the rate for inland letters remaining the same.

We have asked our correspondent for confirmation of our reading of the above information, which should in the meantime be treated with reserve, as we may have misunderstood the purport of his news.

Grand Lebanon.—There were two printings of the 7½pi, 15pi, and the Air Mail stamps, of the new series with bilingual overprint. In the first printing the French wording was the old "République Libanaise" in black, with the Arabic overprint added in red. In the second printing the whole overprint was done in red. The 15pi in both printings was sold out very quickly, and at the time of writing our agent has not been able to obtain supplies for us.

The new permanent pictorial series for this republic is now expected at the end of this year.

Lettland.—Mr. George H. Jaeger tells us that the forthcoming "10th Anniversary of Independence" series will include six different values, 1,000,000 copies of each being printed. There will be stamps with portraits of the late President Tschakste and of the late Foreign Minister, Mr. S. A. Meijerowitz, while the remaining four denominations will bear views of the country. The stamps are to be lithographed at the State Printing Office.—Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

VALUE OF USED STAMP ISSUES

By Alec Kaplan.

A correspondent writes and asks whether it is preferable to collect used or unused stamps. Now this question is a very wide one. In the earliest days there were enthusiasts who thought that stamps were only made for the purpose of being cancelled and put into an album. One remembers the question which was asked, as to how it was that in certain countries so many more unused stamps were issued than used ones. In those days, however, a single specimen was sufficient, either used or unused, and to collect specimens in both conditions was considered extravagant and greedy.

What Rowland Hill or the Post Office intended to do with the stamps does not concern us, because neither used or unused stamps were intended to be collected and put into albums. Nothing that possesses any real interest to render it worthy of collection has been expressly made for that purpose; neither stamps, coins, nor medals were originally made for collectors.

It has been argued that Rowland Hill intended that unused stamps should be put on letters. It is accordingly fair to reply to that, that he intended used stamps to be put into the waste-paper basket. Officially, the obliteration destroys the stamp; in fact, if a means had been invented by which a stamp could actually be destroyed without injuring the envelope or its contents, that method would undoubtedly have been adopted, and we should have had no used stamps to collect.

The official view does not concern philatelists; but to claim that a used stamp is more of a postage stamp than an unused one is equivalent to claiming that an empty bottle is more of a wine bottle than a full one—the postal essence has disappeared from the one, like the wine from the other.

At the same time these considerations do not affect the collector's side of the question. The used stamp is still a stamp to us, but it can hardly be more of a stamp or more desirable (generally speaking) than when it is unused; it has been defaced, disfigured, therefore, to a greater or less extent, and can never be quite so good as a specimen of the thing that we collect as it was when in its pristine condition. There are exceedingly few cases where an obliteration in itself adds anything whatever to the interest of a specimen. For instance, where we desire to prove that a particular variety has been actually in use, an obliterated copy, if we know that the obliteration is genuine, and was really applied at the period at which the stamp should have been in circulation (points extremely difficult to prove), is evidence of its use. Again, when it is necessary to prove the date of issue of a stamp, it is necessary to have the specimen on the original envelope with a date-stamp obliteration, to prove that it was really there at that date. But the obliteration is no improvement to the stamp, as a specimen; in either case, and such cases as these are very uncommon.

The tendency of the modern stamp collector is in the direction of displaying greater care in the selection of specimens for his collection. This view is not a new thing, as the early philatelists were all agreed on this question of condition, but it is only recently that this view has become general.

The result has been that the market value between fine copies and poor ones varies considerably. This distinguishing between good copies and inferior ones is perfectly just and sound. An unbounded faith in the superiority of unused copies is still somewhat too prevalent, and is only equalled by the perversity of those who regard an obliteration as a necessary adjunct for admission to a collection.

All things being equal the unused copy is the better specimen, but it must be remembered that a fine used stamp is much superior to a poor unused one. In fact, a fine used copy is only slightly inferior to an equally fine unused one.

A good illustration of the respective merits of these two classes is afforded by the plating of stamps. In these, numerous minute variations indicate the printings, the exact order of still undetermined. Used copies dated postmarks, are especially as they give the chronological of the plates. Mostly, however, mark hides the very spot on the which shows the plate characteris the other hand unused blocks are required to show which of rieties exist together, so that both and used are necessary for this This is so in most cases, where any real scope for philatelic rese

New Philatelic Agent Appointed

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Mr. Robert S. Regar, the Third Assistant Postmaster General, has just announced the appointment of Mr. Herbert S. Chamberlin of the District of Columbia, as Philatelic Agent to succeed Mr. Albert D. Collins.

In announcing Mr. Collins' retirement from the Philatelic Agency, Mr. Regar speaks of the high character of work and of the many friends that have been made through Mr. Collins' supervision of that important branch of the Department. It was with a great deal of regret that Mr. Regar accepted Mr. Collins' request to be assigned to other work in the Division of Stamps, on account of impaired health. As the duties of Philatelic Agent are of a very strenuous nature, the Department could not expect Mr. Collins in his present condition of health to continue to perform that work without injury to himself. While Mr. Collins will not be in intimate contact with collectors in the future, he will be with them in spirit, because his other work in the Division of Stamps will be in an advisory capacity.

The new Agent, who many collectors met at the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition, recalling him as the young man who assisted Mrs. Shaughnessy in the sale of stamps at the branch Philatelic Agency, has been employed in the Division of Stamps for the past ten years, and has served in important administrative positions, as well as having considerable experience in the handling of postage stamp paper, by reason of the fact that he has served as Chief of the Redemption Section, and previous to his appointment as Philatelic Agent, second in charge in regard to all issues of stamped paper. Mr. Chamberlin is a young man of dynamic personality, aggressive, and in the opinion of his superior officers, is entirely competent to carry on this work with the same efficiency that has been displayed by Mr. Collins.

Mr. Michael L. Eidsness, Jr., Superintendent of the Division of Stamps, in charge of the Philatelic Agency, is to be congratulated on being able to obtain the services of such a competent assistant to carry out the wants of collectors.

Mr. Howard A. Mount was appointed the first Philatelic Agent at the time of the establishment of the Agency, he in turn being succeeded by Mr. Collins, so that Mr. Chamberlin becomes the third incumbrant.

HERBERT S. CHAMBERLIN

The Agency started as an experiment, through the efforts of the then Third Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Warren Irving Glover, and Mr. Eidsness, has grown within a few years from an establishment doing a few thousand dollars worth of business, to one with receipts exceeding some of the first class post offices. This growth is due almost entirely to the efficient service performed in behalf of collectors and dealers, and to the encouragement given by those several officials having the activities of the Agency under their supervision.

Philately extends to Mr. Chamberlin membership in its ranks and wishes him every success in his new undertaking.

Benj. Franklin

—Speculation upon his Amazement at Present Postal Conditions.

(Clipping "Detroit Free Press," H. W. Boers)

It is all very well to speculate on the amazement with which Benjamin Franklin, could he come back to life, would view the changes that have taken place in this field since he became the first postmaster-general of the United States, by vote of the Continental congress, one hundred and fifty-three years ago today.

But the surprise manifested by Franklin at the outgrowth of the thirty post-offices and nine post riders or carriers, together with slow-moving schooners between coastal points, when he assumed office would probably be no greater than that of a very large share of today's public to learn that the author of Poor Richard's Almanac was just as much alive to the postal needs of the country as the best of his successors in charge of this branch of government service. Indeed, the innovations he introduced were just as remarkable as anything that has followed, when general conditions of the two periods are considered.

Franklin assumed the duties of postmaster-general as no novice. Appointed postmaster of Philadelphia in 1737, in 1753 he received a royal commission as deputy postmaster-general of the Colonies. Four years later he had placed the postoffice where it yielded the salaries of the postmasters, and when, in 1774, he was deposed by the king of England because of his political activities, a considerable net revenue was accruing to Great Britain from this source.

Franklin instituted the delivery of letters by the penny post; also the practice of advertising letters remaining in the Philadelphia office. When the Colonies decided to yield no more postal tribute to the crown, Franklin brought to the office of postmaster-general the intelligent energy characterizing everything he undertook. He established a line of posts from Maine to Georgia, with cross routes wherever he considered them desirable. He visited every postoffice in the Colonies, worked untiringly for the success of the service, and placed it on the solid foundation from which its subsequent development has been a natural outcome.

Benjamin Franklin was the father of the American postoffice, if it ever had one.

NEW STAMPS FOR GT. BRITAIN

The "Philatelic Magazine" through the "Daily Telegraph" informs us that a set of commemorative stamps is being prepared for issue in connection with the ninth Congress of the Universal Postal Union, which is to be held in London next year. Presumably the British Post Office, as host on this occasion, has been persuaded, on the ground that it has become a regular feature of these Congresses since the war, to have a special stamp issue.

CANAL ZONE AIR ENVELOPES, 1928

By Harry E. Huber.

When a new lot of 2c stamped envelopes was being manufactured at The Panama Canal Press, Mount Hope, Canal Zone, in May last, it was decided to have some of these printed with the blue, white and red horizontal stripes, on the face, similar to one of the designs approved by the U. S. Post Office Department for exclusive use in connection with air mail correspondence. This was done primarily to educate the public in the proper use of air mail envelopes, as the average person was under the impression that the mere endorsement "Via Air Mail" would insure the proper handling of the letter after its arrival in the United States. The Canal Zone Department of Posts has therefore decided to stock such items in small quantities until such time as some local firm may see fit to carry a supply of unstamped envelopes printed in the designs approved by the U. S. Post Office Department for air mail use.

For this reason the air markings were applied to the ordinary 2c stamped envelopes, sizes 6 (6½x3⅝") and 9 (9½x4⅛"), and these are sold at the regular retail value of the other stamped envelopes. The difference between the stamped value (2c) and the prevailing air letter rate in the United States (10c per half ounce), must be added in postage stamps, and oddly, by agreement with the U. S. Post Office Department these may be either Canal Zone or United States postage stamps.

In addition to the blue, white and red horizontal stripes on the face, a single lined box, 32x32mm, in the lower left corner, contains the following ins tions printed in blue "VIA—AIR M —Envelopes of this—design to be u exclusively for air—mail.—Sender's dress—must be shown on—envelope Size 6 with these air markings placed on sale May 21st, and size few days later. Ten thousand of former, and five thousand of the were manufactured.

The impressed stamp on these lopes measures 20½x28mm, and h its central feature the seal of The ama Canal, surrounded by a cir band, inscribed "Seal of the Canal Isthmus of Panama," with three stars at the bottom, all enclosed single lined frame, 15½x14½mm. shield of the seal (the two upper zontal sections of which are striped barred respectively) depicts a s vessel on a waterway between m tains, indicative of the cutting dow the barriers separating the Atlantic Pacific Oceans. On a ribbon under shield is the motto of The Panama nal, "The land divided, the world uni At the top of the stamp in two lin "Canal Zone—Postage"; before and ter "Postage" are four stars arrange a pyramid; the denomination "2 C appears at the foot. The whole is closed in a frame of swastikas (10 zontal by 13 vertical), and typogra ally printed on a faint conventional Dept. for the purpose of carrying mail from Washington to New York in an attempt to reach the Pacific Coast on the following day. This was done and is shown by the covers offered below, which were flown from Washington to Frisco and Los Angeles. They are cancelled Washington, June 11, and backstamped June 12th, no doubt the quickest time ever made from the National Capital to the Pacific Coast. June 11th was the day that Lindbergh landed in America after his epochal flights, and is the real Lindbergh Day. These covers all bear the special cachet provided by the Government.

The above make pretty cancellations when hit cleanly on the stamp. There are more of these types of course, and these are merely the ones which I have selected from many examples of similar designs. You often find our Nos. 4, 6 and 9 as they were much used. No. 8 in a glossy black is the prettiest cancel of this group.

In the ever changing phases of collecting the old 3c 1851s and 1857s are always in the van, and the Forum is bombarded with queries from all sides. Sometimes the questions are with unknown answers at present, while others are answered with prices in the Specialized U. S.

I'd say that one of every three letters to the Forum asks about this 3c stamp. The paper on which they are printed is receiving much attention. Thick, thin, wmkd., laid, wove, brittle, and all sorts of papers are asked about. The perforations on the '57s are always accepted as "15," which saves a lot of confusion such as we find today in U. S. issues. That old machine which came from England sure did its duty! Few perf. errors, and think of the millions it chewed up with little holes.

Ink. They had "good" ink in those days. While a rather uniform dull red is commonest, we have a fine range of color in the imperfs, from the orange-browns (called for brevity OBs) of 1851, through the range to the deep clarets of 1857. This gives joy to both the novice and the specialist. Then, too, the oxidations, these browns which many like to see, even tho they are not normal colors. A good grade of H_2O_2 will generally bring back the true color if properly used as a bath, and you can do that if you have ever done any amateur photography, and developed your own.

The major plate varieties are all very carefully laid out in our S. U. S. with appended values. There are some very minor items not in this list, which are of interest to the specialist.

When covers are obtainable, they are kept as "covers" nowadays. In any club you will see the gang rally round the fellow member who unwraps a package, announcing to the eager onlookers that he had the good fortune to get into the attic of that old homestead up on the hill some 4 miles beyond the old grist mill. The old folks who used to live there were all seafaring men, though they had relatives who used to write them from the battlefields during the Civil War. There was a lot of letter writing in that family. And how the stamp gang marvel at those old covers!

The sailors kept all their letters in their sea chests, and we sometimes see a cover to a port in China franked by a 3c and pair of 1c used in 1855 or thereabouts, no due marks on it. These 5c rates are rather unexplainable and cause some of the knotty problems of philately. The postmasters of the bigger cities on the coasts, as at San Francisco, New Orleans, N. Y., and Phila., and towns like Gloucester and New Bedford probably knew their rates well enough. But the P. M. at Oshkosh for instance was all at sea when he saw a letter addressed to Pernambuco. He dug out his Postal Guide same as you'd do with your S. U. S. if you found that same cover. If he couldn't find this town, he would presumably charge for the nearest town to it that he could locate, fair enough.

So we find many things that are on our minds as requiring some more study, paper, perforations, shades, plate varieties, cancellations, rates, and covers, etc., etc., in addition the many in between intricacies which frequently baffle us.

Now here is the good news!

Dr. Carroll Chase, that meticulous master of "threes," has finally compiled and revised his complete data on these 1851-57 stamps, and it is probably the greatest amount of study ever given to any one series of postage stamps. For some twenty years he has studied the stamp in minutae so to say, meaning front, back, and sideways. This entire data is now all in one volume, and will be between 350 and 400 pages as it now stands. It will be copiously illustrated.

The J. O. Moore Co., Inc., Hammondsport, N. Y., are the publishers, and are now ready to take orders and checks for the Volume, at $5.00 for the regular edition.

Dr. Chase soon leaves for foreign shores, and this book is his contribution to philately as he is not making a cent on the publication. Nothing has been held back, and it is complete to date. As our musical friend would say "and there you are."

Aside from these 3c stamps themselves, it is invaluable to the collector of all early U. S. stamps. Listen to some of the topics which are applicable to all line engraved stamps, Impressions, Territorials, Packets, Railroads, Express Companies, Overland Mail, Ocean Mail to Pacific Territorials, Campaign, Patriotic, Propaganda, Advertising, etc., etc., and all these have many added facts of historical interest in with the text.

This book is going to be a wonderful help to collectors of early U. S., and to the Forum, what a boon, for I can answer mail then by merely saying "Re your S O S, see page—C.C. on 3s."

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

Air Mail Stamp for Canada. Postmaster General of Canada has authorized an Air Mail stamp to be issued at an early date. The stamps will be used at first on the postal air routes between New York and Montreal.

*****

The new five cent Air Mail stamp made its appearance promptly on time at the Philatelic Agency in Washington. Undoubtedly by this time most readers have had an opportunity to examine the stamps themselves so that any description would be superfluous. The size is a little awkward but on the whole the stamp makes a most attractive appearance.

*****

Oneida, N. Y. slipped over a fast one on collectors by using a very nice unofficial cachet on out-going mail at the dedication of the emergency Airport on C. A. M. 20, on July 25. I am indebted to Mr. Frank W. Wright for a cover from this flight.

*****

Regarding "kicking mule" cancellation, the following received from Roy B. Nichols, postmaster at Houston, Texas, will be of interest to readers:

"I am advised that there were about 6,000 covers got the 'mule' cancellation and about 1,500 got a post mark of the 26th which the Philatelic Society will apply the 'mule' on if sent to Mr. Cheek at the Bender Hotel, Houston."

This tells its own story.

*****

Round-the-world cards carried by Mears have been received by a number of collectors who subscribed for covers from this flight. My card bears a New York postmark dated June 28, 1928, on the face and on the reverse side, two Chinese stamps postmarked Mukden and a New York backstamp dated July 22nd. It makes a nice addition to my collection.

*****

Advance notice received from Akron, Ohio, as well as newspaper clippings indicated that Lindbergh would positively fly the first trip of C. A. M. 16. While a little skeptical on anything of this nature pertaining to Lindbergh, I was somewhat disappointed to receive definite assurances July 27, that he would not make the trip.

*****

In connection with Amelia Earhart covers, collectors will be interested in learning that Miss Earhart, Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon have autographed about a dozen of the special Earhart covers of July 9. Through the courtesy of Mr. Gerhart Frantz I have received a cover with a special "Stultz" day celebration held at Middletown, Pa., July 28, and from Mr. Sinise three covers from different points visited by Stultz on July 18, namely Williamsburg, Pa., Altoona, Pa., and Tipton, Pa., the latter town having dedicated Stultz Field on that day. All of the above cancellations are not official but add greatly to the interest of any collection.

*****

"Co-operators" this week are: Philip H. Marsh, Fred Baumgartner, H. J. McNally, Frank W. Wright, H. M. Troland, Jr., Wm. J. Prinzing, Claude C. Beals, Gerhart Frantz, L. Sinise and Raymond R. Robbins.

*****

After August 1, on any new flights, be sure to stuff the envelopes to the full weight of one ounce.

*****

Newark, N. J. Airport is scheduled to open some time in August and covers sent to Mr. C. G. Fagg, Chamber of Commerce, Newark, N. J., will receive the special cancellation.

*****

Mr. Raymond R. Robbins sends through a clipping from the Denver post under date of July 24, in which W. Irving Glover is quoted as saying that an early extension of Air Mail service to Monte Vista via Trinidad, Colo., through Amarillo and Wichita Falls to Fort Worth, Texas is contemplated in the near future.

*****

A special Canadian Air Mail flight will be undertaken from Quebec City, P. Q. and Windsor, Ont., Canada on August 24, to Canadian National Exhibition Grounds at Toronto and on August 29, another flight will be made from the Exhibition Grounds at Toronto to Windsor and Quebec. Full details may be obtained by addressing the Postmaster General, Post Office Department, Ottawa, Canada, as the instructions covering the despatch are too lengthy to include in this column.

Under date of July 31, Postmaster General New, announced that commencing with the sailing of the French line steamship Ile de France from New York, August 17, Air Mail service will be started by means of an amphibian plane. Mail matter, except parcel post, will be accepted for despatch on the steamship and delivery to the French service by an amphibian plane on payment of $1.00 for each half ounce or fraction thereof, on letters and post cards. On printed matter, commercial papers and samples of merchandise the postage will be 25 cents for each two ounces or fraction. No provision has yet been made for the use of Air Mail routes for the onward transmission in and beyond France of this correspondence.

Host and Hostess.—The Con hostess, Mrs. T. W. Hall won e body's affection. She entered heart soul into all the gaieties of Con week, and danced as merrily as a the happy throng at the concert dance. Mr. T. W. Hall himself looking better than we have seen hi a long time, and though it must have a tiring week, he enjoyed every bit The capital entertainers at the danc again at the banquet, got him lau heartily and banished all thought plating and expert committees and serious matters from his mind.

In Parliament—for an hour- most cheerful and attentive host was tain Victor Cazalet, M. P., whose of 150 to tea on the Terrace at the H of Commons was, he thought, the la tea party ever given there by a bac Probably most of his guests had not entertained at the House before, a was a great treat and privilege Ca Cazalet afforded them. In those ple rooms looking out across the river, v we had tea, many distinguished ga ings have been held. The position ideal one for those agreeable small liamentary banquets, especially on a mer evening, when many of the g enjoy the cool outlook to the Th and as night draws on find anew the cination of the lights of riverside Lo

The King's Kindliness.—Ca Cazalet was in good form, too, a Congress banquet. His buoyant yo spirits captivated everyone. How "society gossips" of the newspapers v have delighted in his story of ho started to collect stamps. He was young at the time, and wrote to the to tell him he had started to collect. how happy a glimpse of the King's liness the incident gave us. "The sent me some stamps," said Cazalet I should guess that these are still am his most treasured possessions, alth he has rare specimens now. He is s ing a few at the exhibition at Olym

Junior Champion at 15.—An boyish memory was of winning, a years before the war, the Junior C pionship Cup, which Mr. Melville sented in the Junior Class at the J International Stamp Exhibition of Cazalet was 15 then, and at Eton.

In a Lovely Garden.—An pleasant function, of which all wh tended will retain the happiest mem was the garden party given by Mr. Mrs. Louis Meinertzhagen at their l home in Campden Hill, Kensingto pleasant string orchestra was discou sweet music beneath the trees, the and hostess diffused a general atmos of youthful charm, and young D Meinertzhagen and his brother had a platoon of their young friends to administering to the needs of the company. The Meinertzhagen boys as keen on stamps as their father, have a large circle of philatelists as friends.

The "Congress Cup" Paper.— W. Dorning Beckton, who is no lov prize-givings himself, gained the co award of the Congress Cup. His p was a long and serious one, and h livered it in rather too slow and labo a fashion. In journalistic parlan would have been improved with a sub-editing, but it was immeasu ahead of all the others as a serious tribution to philatelic study. the funeral oration, the so-called ng Address" at the Congress. But l to leave London before the closing ng. We found him clamouring for in the hotel lounge, paper on which ite his address for someone else to r. The address was essentially but the voice was the voice of in Oldfield. At the banquet, too, nief expected guest did not arrive; re told that the gentleman was dis-shed for holding no fewer than thir-ppointments in the Civil Service, an cy number, for one or other of the n seems to have prevented him at-g a function which was much en-by all who were there.

mmon or Garden Worms."—The rs at the banquet were numerous, or the most part not particularly nt. Captain Cazalet, as we have was in a happy vein, and Captain t-Lodge can always infuse a little ir into a speech. But the success evening was Mr. Percy de Worms' wledgment of the honour of his n to the Roll of Distinguished Phi-ts. He spoke of the long and happy ation with his brother in philately, allusion to the fact that he and ny de Worms were the first broth-be elected to the Roll, he convulsed ompany by telling them "it was the first time two very common or n Worms had ever climbed to the any tree."

e International Bourse.—There many interesting personalities at ourse, and our only regret was that uld not be in two or three places at The Congress tied us most of the and we only secured an occasional se of the Bourse. Its success, and a success beyond all anticipations, nainly due to Mr. Albert Harris, ut some excellent organising work t. Mr. Frank Godden always puts abundant energy into whatever he takes, and he proved an excellent opular President of the Bourse.

lers refuse a profit.—Mr. God-speech at the Bourse dinner was in y happy vein, and if he forgot to is tribute to the unanimous support nilatelic press gave to the Bourse, it ed him more than it worried the s present, who were glad to get on the dance. After all the expenses een paid the Bourse showed a profit his was expended on giving some t fans to the ladies. So Mr. God-ut it on record as the first time in y that the Stamp Trade refused to profit!

Jolly Evening.—The Bourse din-nd dance was altogether a very affair. Next time they have one hould really go and see how ap-able Mr. Smith and Mr. Penney, Houtzamer and Mr. Pemberton and stars of the trade firmament appear disguised in paper caps. They tell is going to be an annual affair. often enough!" was the remark of f the damsels there.—Stamp Col-s' Fortnightly.

Sevard's Twinkles

First day covers of the new 3c Business Reply Cards were not plentiful nor did our eminent First Day procreates even advertise them. As far as we learn, the American Manganese Steel Co., Chicago, Illinois, were first to prepare the cards, which bear an expiry date of January 2, 1929, which date is correct for a first day cover. We have not as yet received a 4c Business Reply Envelope, which is rather odd in that all the movies show big business men dictating letters, but never post cards. Maybe the movies are wrong.

We noted a check list of colored cancels recently on current stamps. The average collector looks with disfavor on these as being items too easily manufactured for the trade. As stated many times before, we have never seen a machine cancel in any other color ink but black, excepting the Seattle Return to Writer machine, which was in green. Colored cancels on the 2c 1927 Rotary compound perf. stamp occur 1 to 700, or comparatively our bet on the Tunney-Heeney fight.

MALONE, WISCONSIN, RAN A CONSISTENT BLUE 4TH CLASS POSTMARK FOR MANY MONTHS, BUT OF LATE THE ADMIXTURE OF BLACK INK IS SEEN. THERE ARE MANY WHO STILL BUY REPUTED BLUE-BLACK INK AND THEN BUY NEW FOUNTAIN PENS.

Sabin, Minnesota, in repairing their cancel embellished it with a double ring ceremony, which is sort of anachronistic. Try and get a guy to wear a wedding ring these days with orange blossoms on it.

Uncle Bill, Hackensack, New Jersey, one of the old time collectors of everything and anything as long as it's historically pertinent, writes that he has more 7,000 meters than the baker's dozen we mentioned some time ago. It usually takes three weeks to get this into print, and much happens in three weeks. Anyone who don't believe that can read Elinor Glyn's book.

And baker's dozens? There were times when hot rolls (Semmel) were delivered at the door each morning with a sugar bun for the babies and maybe a pretzel too if Mopsie was chained. And nowadays, plaster of paris rolls, sponge cakes, in which the yeast spores work overtime, covered with white, gushy glycerine, decorated with shredded cocoanut still on the shell. Sometimes I do believe that a thousand stamps to thumb, and teeth that fit are the world's greatest treasures.

PERMIT NO. 10, NEW YORK CITY, CAME FORTH WITH A 1C TYPE E METER SHOWING ABOVE THE INDICIA THE POSTAL AUTHORIZATION. WE HAVE ALSO SEEN THE 1½C METER CHANGED TO SHOW ONE CENT PAID IN THE TOWNMARK, THIS IS A DIRECT REVERSAL FROM THE 13 METERS ISSUED SOON AFTER APRIL 15, 1925, WHEN THE MANUFACTURERS COULD NOT SUPPLY NEW VALUES FAST ENOUGH. OLD KING SOLOMON, IN SPEAKING TO HIS WIFE NO. 435½ SAID, "THERE IS NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN."

Mr. H. M. Southgate, Chevy Chase, Md., sent us the new 5c Air Mail Stamp which is very pleasing both to the eye and the album. We congratulate the designer in enlarging the foliate ornaments as we always thought they represented America's prowess in boxing. Some fun-maker in 1922 wanted to know if they were Dempsey's mitts. As a stamp, it is a knockout.

Foreign slogans many times are matters of conjecture, yet one received at Beverly, from Muenchen reads "IM POSTAUTO VON MUENCHEN ZU DEN KOENIGSSCHLOESSERN" with the cut of a walled castle, evidently the King's Castle on top of a mountain with three Christmas trees. We infer that an automobile postal route has been established to advertise to tourists the trip from Muenchen to the Castle altho from our knowledge of German townmarks, the cancel machine is in 2 Muenchen and not on the Postauto. Now if they had advertised Muenchner beer with a collar on it, everyone would forget about the castle. We go to Hymettus for honey, to Edam for cheese, and Strasburg Sausage is as mysterious and as great a triumph of Art as the Cathedral itself. In fact, thousands prefer the sausages—a matter of taste of course. And Muenchner beer? The Koenigsschloessern claim the attention and admiration of a vast number of visitors each year. Their souls soar above beer, they see the beauty and splendor of architecture and revel in reminiscences.

We often wonder if stamp collecting isn't one of those pleasures which grow sweeter as years roll on. He hath lived most who hath most friends, and year by year we lay aside some stamp of personal amity, of individual affection. No one but we know the cordiality of our treasure, the empressement of scattered bits of pageantry contained in our albums? All like some show of passing years when cloying life disappears at the milestones of history, or recalls from irretrievable depths of the passion, love or dearth of some happy day, lost save in the memory of association. That little smear on my page of 10c 1847. Time was when our little boy, prattling over childish fears, brushed his hand carelessly over my treasures. Where today is that little boy? The big bum wouldn't mow the lawn this evening, and he's due for one good sock when he gets in this evening. One never can tell.

KANSAS PRECANCELS

By ART BLEDSOE.

Sure we have new things in Kansas. Why not? Kansas grows the best wheat in the world! That's not new? Well, look over these precancels, then.

Abilene sports a new thirteen in U-54. Is it scarce? Well, rathah. Montgomery Ward has caused Coffeyville to show up with the new 8c, perf. 10; new 9c, perf. 10 and new perf.; new 10c, perf. 10 and new perf.; and the new 17c, all in U-53. This finished the already worn out handstamp and no more precancels will show from here, until a new stamp has been received.

The White Plains has shown up, from Girard, in the Haldeman Julius type. Came out of a batch of mixture, so it should be O. K. Junction City has shown up on the old perf. 11, 30c, which should be good. Must have been still in stock. This city is also out with the Special Handling, which is used by a Chick Hatchery.

Manhattan has a new type, U-13, and has used it on nearly the entire current issue, also the Bennington and Burgoyne.

Olathe is out with the Sesqui and Ericsson. Osage City with the perf. 10 seven and new perf. 2c. Osage City has a big Hatchery.

Parsons has added the new 13c to its set in U-11, but it's hard to find.

Topeka is using a new type just like its type five, except that the O of "Topeka" is perfectly round.

Wichita has precanceled the Ericsson with its U-1. These are O. K.

The Winfield type two is used for both precancelling and postcancel and therefore cannot be told off cover.

Chanute has put out the 2c, perf. 10, 3c, perf. 11 and 15c, current in U-76. Hiawatha is a new user. A Hatchery there has used the 1c, 1½c and 2c, perf. 10 and the new 15c. Hiawatha is near the Nebraska line, in eastern Kansas.

Medicine Lodge on the western plains, has issued the new 5c and 10c perf. 10 in U-77.

Osawatomie, home of the bug house, makes our hearts glad by showing up in U-53, on the 8c, perf. 10 and the new thirteen. This town uses very poor ink. Don't soak them very long!—Precancel Gazette.

By Derek Ingram
(Stamp Collecting)

That Holiday Feeling. How eminently adapted to holiday needs is a half-filled album and a big packet of stamps was well shown in an interview given by Captain L. J. Gilbert-Lodge, the energetic Hon. Sec. of the Royal Philatelic Society, to a Press Association reporter:—"Stamp collecting," he says, "is a fine relaxation for the man who works hard with his brain, and that is probably why so many professional men take it up. Many of the society's members are solicitors, who probably have as much exacting mental work as any class of professional men. I know nothing which takes a man's mind more from his professional or business worries and his other cares as pouting over a stamp collection."

Philately, in a word, pours away your cares like water from a spout; and if it makes a lawyer pout then it is worth while!

A Market Summary of the Season. One of the many beneficial enterprises that might well be undertaken by the British Philatelic Association is the publication of a yearly review of the stamp trade, with a précis of the principal market transactions during the preceding twelve months. Meanwhile that public service has been well attempted, so far as the winter months of 1927-28 and the spring of 1928 are concerned, by Capt. Gilbert-Lodge, whose Report for the Royal Society's 1927-28 session includes a most interesting review of outstanding trade deals during that period. It is a cheering sign of the times that so much notice can be taken by a Society that bars stamp dealers from its membership, and the trade is indebted to Capt. Gilbert-Lodge for thus furthering its prestige.

Buying and Selling. The writer emphasises the fact that rare stamps of all countries are easier to sell than to buy. This applies as well as to classic to modern issues. We venture to quote the following from the London Philatelist:—"To mention certain countries, rare pieces of China and Canada have increased by 25 per cent. in the past year; West Indians are still increasing; Sydney Views seem to have come on the market in large numbers, due no doubt to the efforts of so many early collectors to plate them, and now being dispersed. I know of a Ceylon 4d, imperf. bought by one dealer for £60, sold to another dealer for £110, and sold to a dealer in Paris for over £200—all in a period of two months. I am told that to-day Continental collectors are not only better buyers, but are willing to pay higher prices for fine pieces than the average English collector. Early U. S. A. are still sought after by American collectors, but as most of these are so rapidly absorbed into the big collections, Americans are taking up other countries. A leading dealer told me that up to a year ago a very great proportion of the rare pieces went to America, where there was a ready market, but during the last year you will be glad to know that there is a tendency for them to be returned to this country for disposal."

Big Prices. Among the important recent trade transactions mentioned by Capt. Gilbert-Lodge are the sale to a Dutch collector of Mr. A. J. Warren's famous collection of Holland; Mr. R. F. A. Riesco's Chile to a South American collector; the dispersal of the Alston collection of Roumania; a collection of British Colonies in Africa, containing both Cape errors and practically all the rarities (£6,000); the collection of China proofs, essays, and drawings formed by Sir Robert Hart; one of Uruguay for £1,150; one of Oldenburg for £1,000; Tasmania for £1,100; a great many between £200 to £750, including one of Belgium for £570; a block of forty-two Uruguay, 1858, 240 red, with missing cliché, for £600; a unique block of nine mint 5s Great Britain (S.G. 134); a British Guiana 4c magenta on cover (catalogued £150) for £200; a Penny Black marginal used copy, showing No. 2 on margin (£22 10s); a collection of "Ballon Monté" for £60; the dispersal by Messrs. David Field of a fifty volume collection of a value of about £20,000; and the formation by the same firm, of a specialised twentieth-century collection for an American. Of Bushire, a Coronation set was sold for £900. Three rare Edwardians, sold twelve months ago for £600, would, we are assured, now realise over £1,400.

Classics. The Royal Society's market review also alludes to the purchase, by Mr. R. Roberts, of one of the four known copies of the 4d black triangular Cape of Good Hope, and also of a pane of the rare "Fiji" Postage Dues, from which he has been able to reconstruct most of the sheet—a fact of philatelic importance. (These Dues were printed in columns of different values, the sheet of ninety-six containing thirty-six 1d, twelve ½d, thirty-six 3d, and twelve 4d values.) We are also told of the increasing demand for stamps of all degrees of rarity, and the fact that many countries, hitherto regarded as unpopular, are now coming into favour.

Messrs. Séfi, Pemberton & Co. are pleased with a greatly increased turnover, especially noting a greater number of transactions at a four-figure value. They purchased Capt. Oldfield's famous collection of Persia, which included the unique mint strip of four of the second issue 2 shahis, one stamp being tête-bêche, also the tête-bêche used pair of the 4kr brownish-yellow, of which the only other known copy is in the Tapling collection. Mr. Séfi has sold his private collection of Kashmir and many smaller specialised collections.

Uncommonly so! On page 175 of our present volume we gave statistics for the new stamps issued for 1927, totalling 1,515. The special sorts of stamps, including surcharges, air mails, officials, postage dues, &c., come to 1,420. This leaves only ninety-five ordinary common or garden postage stamps for the whole year. A valued correspondent seeks enlightenment on this conundrum, which he finds very perplexing. What is the solution?

At Olympia. For the ever-increasing army of the well-to-do middle classes, who habitually damp down their business activities about this season prior to taking their holidays in August, the last fortnight in July is ideal to enable them, half relieved of business cares and wholly unrelieved of their holiday savings, to spare an afternoon to an exhibition which will stimulate their appreciation of antiques and at the same time give them an opportunity of investing in something on their own. It is a foregone conclusion that Olympia will be thronged with visitors during the Antiques and Works of Art Exhibition, July 19th to August 1st, the Stamp Section of which is in the charge of Mr. Fred J. Melville.

An American dealer who specialises in air mail covers recently received a letter from a collector said he was just starting out in that sting branch and that he would like ve a Pinedo, a Chamberlin ship-to- , a Hawker, and an Alcock-Brown, be in very fine condition and prop- backstamped. He thought this d give him a good start, but he was prepared to pay more than $100.00 he whole lot. That is the fun of a stamp dealer—you meet such op- tic persons! We bet this generous will pay $10.00 for a Post Office itius—if in swell condition!

These stamps were printed on paper watermarked with a posthorn to each stamp, though it is often very difficult to find. The thickness of the paper varies a good deal, the 3, 4 and 7sk even coming on a quite thin, oily appearing paper which shows the design through it. The stamps are also quite prolific in shades. The perforation is as usual 14½x13½. The 3, 4 and 7sk stamps were issued on January 1, 1872, the 1sk in dark green, and 2sk during 1873, and the 6sk on July 1, 1875, being the new "Postal Union" letter rate for Norway. At about the same time the 1sk was changed to the yellow-green shade. The 1sk shows two prominent varieties, one being a stop between the E's of EEN, and the other a stop after "skilling." The 2, 4 and 7sk are known imperforate, but are probably only printer's waste. There were remainders to the number of about half a million each of the 1sk yellow-green, 2, 4 and 7sk stamps, so that the catalogue prices of these are still quite reasonable.

The Norwegian currency was changed to conform to that of Sweden on January 1, 1877, so that new stamps in öre and kronen had to be provided for. Eight different values, ranging from 1 to 50ö, were issued on the date mentioned in the same posthorn type as the preceding issue. As 30 skilling was the equivalent of the new krone (100 öre), the domestic letter rate of 3sk became 10ö and the Postal Union rate 20ö, with others in similar proportion. P. Petersen of Kristiania was still supplying the stamps, so that their method of manufacture was similar to the preceding set. It is known, however, that the printing clichés were made in Copenhagen. The lower part of the oval band on the original die now has the word POSTFRIM. (for Postfrimaerke or "Postage Stamp") with a blank space following and then the word ÖRE. Impressions from this were taken in lead after the desired figure had been inserted by the "plug." These lead "moulds" then served to obtain electrolytic reproductions of the die in copper, ten of which were soldered together and engraved with small figures separately by hand to correspond with the large numeral. Reproductions of this block or strip were then made by electrotyping until enough were on hand to make up a printing plate of 100 with reserves for replacing those damaged in use. When received by Petersen these electrotypes were evidently backed up with type-metal and cut apart so as to be used singly in making up the "forme" for the printing plate of 100 in ten rows of ten. The paper varies in thickness as before and the same indistinct watermark is used. The perforation is 14½x13½ as usual and there is a wide range of shades. The 5, 10 and 35ö stamps occur without the usual stop after POSTFRIM. and the 3ö with a colon instead.

The need of higher values, particularly for franking letters containing money, caused the issue on October 1, 1877, of five new values, 35 and 60ö in the usual posthorn type, and 1, 1½ and 2kr in a new type showing a full-faced portrait of King Oscar of Sweden and Norway. The new type is bicolored and therefore printed at two operations, the frames being printed first and then the portrait medallion printed in from a common plate. The die for the kroner stamps was engraved by Herr Krüger of Berlin with a blank space at the bottom for the value. Electrotype plates were made in Copenhagen in the usual manner, the values being engraved separately by hand on the subsidiary "die," but so carefully has it been done that variations can scarcely be detected. The numbers printed of the kroner values were respectively 1,045,000; 1,050,000 and 1,020,000. The 35 and 60ö were not much larger, being 1,070,000 and 1,067,000 respectively. The paper, watermark and perforation of all these stamps corresponds with the previous issues.

Mr. J. Anderson has identified six varieties of numerals (rather than ten) upon sheets of the 35, 50 and 60ö stamps, and Mr. H. Dathloff describes six of the 1.50kr. Mr. Anderson also finds twelve varieties on the first two plates used of the 5ö. The other values have not been fully worked out.

In 1882 the contract for printing the stamps was given to the firm of Chr. Johnsen, who held it until 1885. His contract called for electrotyping and it is understood that he used lead moulds which would reproduce the exact size of the original die in the electrotypes. But in order to distinguish his work from that of his predecessor he altered the original steel die, which he used, by removing the lines of shading on the tube of the posthorn except just beneath the crown. The stamps manufactured from this altered die are known as the "unshaded posthorn" issues. The first began to appear early in 1883, the 3, 5, 10, 20 and 25ö being issued during that year and the 12ö not until February, 1884. All were in practically the same colors as the stamps printed by Petersen, except the 5ö which was changed from blue to green. The paper, watermark and perforation were as before, and there were numerous shades.

About August, 1883, the 20ö stamp appeared in its Postal Union color of blue instead of the previous brown. The issue of the stamp in the latter color amounted to 1,503,600. About the end of 1884 the 12ö was changed from green to brown, and as only about 200,000 had been printed in green it is easily the scarcest stamp of the issue. The printing in brown amounted to 2,800,000, but only about 400,000 of these were used, as the value was discontinued and the remainders were employed for surcharging as will be seen later.

Greece

A kingdom of Europe occupying the southern extremity of the Balkan Peninsula, and including the Ionian Islands

The Valley Forge Stamp

We are indebted to several readers for details of the new "Valley Forge" stamp, which has aroused a certain amount of criticism on the ground that it is not a proven historical fact that Washington prayed in the open air on this occasion. We must leave this to the authorities to decide; but as the only legitimate purpose of commemorative stamps is the perpetuation of national sentiment, we feel that, in some cases, adherence to a popular legend will have more effect along the desired lines than a too strict regard for historical accuracy. If a "Britain down the ages" series were to be issued, we should want to see King Arthur and his cakes, and Canute emulating Britannia, even though the pundits might insist that the former never entered a kitchen in his life and that Canute was the last man in the world to think of sitting on a damp sea shore.—Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

Notes on Identification

By G. A. Tempest.

The old question of identifying stamps which have either foreign or else no inscriptions at all has been gone into too many times to require detailed analysis in this article. Volumes and articles on it are so numerous that any junior can soon find out all he wants to know about older issues. Our business is with some of the newer issues of quite recent times, for instance, since 1920. Here the literature is lacking, and it is the purpose of the present article to endeavour to give the requisite assistance. (The list herewith is compiled from albums in which the stamps seem to have caused some difficulty.)

The stamps that are difficult to identify nowadays are much fewer than ever before, for one or two obvious reasons. First, that countries are now advancing with their methods of stamp production that the shoddy and ill-labelled stamps so common many years ago are getting fewer and further between. Second, magazines are here to help clear up difficulties.

The specialist is forever complaining that the stamps of some countries are frequently to be found in the wrong places. To some extent this is true and comparatively unavoidable with the less advanced junior. It is also true that beginners get mixed up when dealing with stamps in such (philatelic) groups as: Hejaz, Jeddah and Nejd; or Corea, China and Japan. A few clear illustrations will suffice to clear up these difficulties, coupled with a short list of the more modern stamps as we supply herewith.

Since 1920 we have had a number of new countries. Before 1920 the catalogues made no mention of Transjordania, Allenstein, Carinthia, Eupen, Malmedy, Danzig, Memel, Saar (sometimes spelt "Sarre"), Silesia, Upper Volta, Wallis and Futuna Islands (1920); Barwani, La Agueara (1921); Ascension, Ireland, Barbuda, Tchad (1922); Kuwait, British South-West Africa, Trans-caucasus (1923); Algeria, Grand Liban, Tannou-Touva (Northern Mongolia) (1924); Northern Rhodesia, Alaouites, Jubaland (1925); Andorra (1928). All these have floated into the philatelic ken of comparatively recent years, and a helpful identification table is rendered necessary:—

Algerie.—Algeria.

C.C.P. with value K or Kon.—Russia.

Chinese characters on stamps with portrait (Chang Tso Lin, etc.)—China, cf. Japanese characters.

Correspondence Urgente. — Spanish Protectorate in Morocco.

Dienstmarke (overprint).—Saar.

Eastern inscriptions. On large rectangular stamps of size not less than 3.3mm x 1.9mm, or vice-versa. No English words whatsoever.—Hejaz, cf. Nejd.

Eastern surcharges on Palestine stamps. No English words or numerals.—Transjordan.

E'ire.—Ireland.

Esperanto.—Russia.

G.E.A. overprint in black or red, signifying "German East Africa.—Tanganyika."

Homanajea.—See "Lindbergh."

Indochine.—Indo China.

Iraq Postage.—Mesopotamia.

Japanese characters.—To those who find any slight difficulty in distinguishing between Japanese and Chinese characters. On Japanese stamps the national symbol of a Chrysanthemum is invariably introduced into the design as well. When you get used to this, notice the Japanese characters only very slightly resemble Chinese, cf. Corea.

Latvija.—Latvia.

Lieutuva.—Lithuania.

Lindbergh. — Homenajea (double overprint, 1928) on Cuba.

Litwa.—Central Lithuania, cf. Lithuania.

Marr cueccs.—Spanish Protectorate in Morocco.

Nayapinon—Eaaae.—(1928) Greece.

N.F. overprinted in black on stamps of Nyasaland and Tanganyika.

Nouvelle Caledonie. — New Caledonia.

Oltra Guiba (sometimes with map).—Jubaland.

Rarotonga.—Cook Islands.

Rialtas Sealadach nak Eireann 1922. — (Irish Provisional Government, 1922). Overprinted in Irish characters on contemporary British stamps.—Ireland.

A Stamp Album

By Hill Billy.

(This feature is taken from the Seattle "Star." Hill Billy is contributing a series of daily stories and this one about stamp collecting will be of interest to our Juniors. Clipping from Kazuo Sakane, Seattle, Wash.—Ed.)

A COUPLE of weeks ago I was in town and the boy showed me his latest treasure; it was a pathetic notebook with a dozen dejected stamps pasted in it, but he was all enthusiastic with the notion of starting a stamp collection. Last time I was in I went to a stamp shop and bought a beginner's album and a packet of 500 assorted stamps and 1000 gummed hinges. Then for two evenings the boy and I had a dandy time, after we had borrowed tweezers from daughter and grandmother's reading glass.

I feel sure that the boy today knows more about geography than two years in the classroom have taught him, and I know I discovered a number of things about the new nations in Europe that I had not known. There was one stamp that showed a knight on a charger with uplifted sword and he was ready to strike down the imperial eagle, a very significant stamp; there were dozens of most interesting stories in those stamps.

While son was pasting up his album two neighborhood boys came in and each had the stamp collecting mania, but neither boy got any sympathy from dad; they had to depend on the mother for an occasional quarter. That took me back to my boyhood, and I remember what a terrific "kick" I used to get from sorting out a new packet of stamps, and how darn little understanding father had as to what it was all about.

There is no finer hobby for a boy than the collection of stamps; indeed, there are few hobbies that a man will find to have a more continuing appeal thru the years. I wish I had kept up my album, in which I pasted the last stamp in '93; it was a series of the Columbian issue. But if your boy shows an inclination to collect stamps, you buy him a 60-cent album and a few hundred stamps and occasionally spend an hour or two with him, helping him to run down some obscure stamp and get it herded into its proper spot; you will never regret the few dollars, nor the few hours; nor will your boy.

1885 Johnsen's contract terminated he production of the stamps was taken at the Central Printing Of-Kristiania, where the values 1, 2,

10, 20 and 25ö were manufactured
1893. The 12ö has been dropped, a ded, and stamps of 35ö and above not needed, as there was a suffistock of all of them on hand. The teel die that had been altered by en was used to make new plates by lectrotype process as before, but d of making moulds of lead they made of a mixture of wax and lt, and in this process there eviwas a small but appreciable age of the mould, so that the elec-e came out slightly smaller than riginal die. The fact that the s of this issue varied in size has een known and has caused all sorts eculation as to its cause, but the eason seems to be contained in the statement. The extreme variation reaches 1mm in either dimension, enough to cause a readily apparent nce in size, so that the stamps are as the "small die," or more gen-now as the "20mm" type of the orn" design.

Mr. Melville remarks, "the pro-in constructing the plates at the l Printing Office varied to an exhich it would not be easy to match other stamp-producing office during eriod, and on one issue of stamps."
rge quantities of some of the val-ere required, many plates were pre-and a study of sheets or large of stamps, where it has been le to obtain them, shows that the ing methods were employed: (a) otypes were obtained from the al die as usual, with the desired inserted in the posthorn, and 100 gether to form the printing plate.
ch of these the small figure was engraved in the blank space left

With this method one might find ariations of the small figure upon heet, and as there were two plates at once during printing there are ilities of finding 200 variations.
our electrotypes were put together block, each of the four engraved the small numerals, and then the of four used as a subsidiary die oduce like blocks for the printing 25 blocks would thus be required ere would be only four varieties of nall figures. (c) In the case of values, e.g., 2 and 5ö, it would that two such blocks of four were yed, making eight variations of the figures, and the 25 blocks in each were irregularly mixed. (d) A electrotype had the small figure ed upon it and was then used as a iary die, all the resulting electrofor the printing plate being there-like. (e) Apparently in some cases r more electrotypes were engraved the small figures and then used tely as subsidiary dies, the resultlectrotypes being put together in-minately into a plate made up of shade varieties to be found in stamps are very numerous, almost conceivable tone of some of the being represented. The paper aries much in thickness and there ariety of the posthorn watermark belongs to the paper furnished by articular firm. The perforation is sual 14½x13½, but the 5ö in the reen shade occurs perforated 13½x though very rare thus. The copies were cancelled in April, 1893.

The 10 and 20ö are also known imperforate, the 10ö in a dull carmine, one sheet of 100 of which is said to have been bought at the Kristiania postoffice in December, 1891, and cut up into pairs by a philatelist who had them mailed to various parties from the Larvik postoffice. The 20ö is in a clear blue, one sheet of one hundred having been sent to the Drammen postoffice, where ten copies were sold and the remainder of the sheet laid aside because of the bother of cutting off the stamps. A philatelist bought these on November 6, 1890, and some of them were used on letters from various towns in Norway during 1893 to 1895. The 1, 5, 10, 20 and 25ö are all found with no stop after "POSTFRIM."

As usual stocks on hand were used up before new printings were brought into use, so that although the "20mm type" printings began in 1885, the first value issued did not appear until March, 1886. This was the 10ö which was followed in February, 1887, by the 5 and 20ö and in April by the 3ö. The 25ö appeared some time in 1888. The stock of 1ö stamps with the "shaded posthorn" lasted until November, 1891, when the first of the "unshaded" stamps was issued in the "20mm type," there having been none in the "21mm type" or "large die." These stamps were in the "black-brown" shade and the issue was only 500,000 which lasted until March, 1893, when the gray shade appeared, having been printed to the number of 839,000. Two different plates were used as is shown by the fact that the black-brown stamp has the small figure without serifs while the gray stamp has it with serifs.

By a law which took effect on July 1, 1888, the rate for letters left at postoffices where there was no local delivery, that is on "drop letters," as we call them, was made 2 öre and to provide stamps for this rate the discontinued 12ö stamps were surcharged with the new value.

The total issue was 2,405,000 and they are in both the yellow-brown and bistre-brown shades. The regular 2ö stamp was prepared and made its appearance in April, 1892, in the "20mm type" or "small die" only. It also comes in two shades, red-brown and yellow-brown.

The manager of the Central Printing Office, in a letter dated December 20, 1892, had called the attention of the Postal Department to the fact that the original steel die, which had been in use since 1876, had become so worn that a re-engraving or an entirely new die would be necessary. The Department decided upon a re-engraving and entrusted the work to Trondsen, the engraver to the mint who, on March 12, 1893, returned it with the lettering all in Roman instead of Egyptian (sans-serif) capitals and some alterations in the crown. This re-engraved die was made use of by the Central Printing Office for supplies of the 1, 3, 5, 10, 20 and 50ö stamps from August, 1893, to January, 1895. Their contract with the Government closed on June 30, 1895, and the new one, dating from July 1st was with Chr. H. Knudsen's Printing Works of Kristiania, who began printing from his own plates made from the same re-engraved die in October, 1895. It is possible to distinguish between the plates made by each printer in the six values mentioned, but the differences are small. Earliest cancelled copies of the various values show the dates: 3ö October, 1893; 5ö and 20ö December, 1893; 10ö April, 1894; 50ö July, 1894; and 1ö January, 1896.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) LEXINGTON, MASS.

DO YOU REALIZE—

That in the purchasing of stamps, while pleasure may be the main consideration, there are other factors of prime importance that should not be forgotten. Argue all day and part of the night, if you will, and if you are not narrow minded, you must admit that the collecting of stamps along certain lines has proven to be a real investment. The breaking up of many of the larger United States collections in recent years has demonstrated this fact, beyond doubt. From personal knowledge I can cite numerous instances where owners received returns anywhere from 20 to 150% on expenditures made in periods covering from three to ten years, and these are not simply isolated instances.

When the wise man purchases his stocks and bonds, he usually purchases something that is well known and desirable, something that he may call up his broker and sell within a few minutes—at any time. He does not buy the stocks and bonds of some small out of the way concern, that are not listed on any exchange, and which when sold are only moved with difficulty, after a long hunt for an actual buyer.

Why not give the same consideration to the subject when buying stamps? Did anyone ever see a superb collection of United States go begging for a buyer? And at the same time, some of the finest specialized collections of many of the other countries containing real rarities are at times unsaleable, and no dealer will buy—why?—simply because there is no market for the items, unless almost given away.

There is always a demand for fine United States, especially mint items and covers, and when I say fine, I do not mean average or simply good copies, which are easily had at half catalog or less, and are always plentiful.

Of course, if you are putting but a few dollars into your collection, investment is of small importance and condition may even be forgotten, but the man who spends hundreds and thousands should not forget the fact that just as much pleasure may be had in purchasing the investment items as can be had from the general rif raf available in every stock.

The type of items mentioned above are the kind that I am buying daily. What have you to offer? Prompt cash is available for anything fine in the way of United States early mint blocks, singles and covers, as well as fine mint 20th century. I also offer to the interested collector a wonderful United States stock to pick from.

Air Mail Stamps

Since my remarks of last week relative to the issuing of the 5-cent Air Mail stamp on July 25th, I have had an opportunity of inspecting most carefully sheets from the first printing and find that four plates were used for the borders which are in red, and four plates for the blue centers. The blue plates bear Numbers 19545, 19546, 19547 and 19548, and over the seventh stamp have the word "TOP" in capitals. Over the third and eighth stamp, we find the plate numbers. The engravers initials are in the lower corners, but there are no plate numbers, except at the top. The plates for printing the blue centers, show no guide lines.

The plates for printing the red borders are similar to the blue plates in size, namely, one hundred subjects, 10x10. These plates bear Numbers 19549, 19550, 19551 and 19552. The word "TOP" appears over the fourth stamp, and the plate numbers are over the second and ninth stamps.

When the complete sheet has been printed, it is divided into post office panes of fifty with straight edge on one side. From the arrangement, it will be seen that it is possible to obtain blocks of eight showing the two plate numbers in the two colors with one word "TOP." The plates for printing the red borders have guide lines both vertically and horizontally, but it is impossible to get a center line block, due to the fact that the sheet is separated vertically, through the line. Supplies are being sent to all of the air mail stations, which I believe number just about ninety-nine, at the present time.

The first order for air mail stamps called for twenty-five million, and it is expected that these bicolored stamps will cost the post office in the neighborhood of fifty cents per thousand, although the bicolored Norse-Americans ran to eighty-three cents. Flat plate single color stamps are printed at a cost of 8.6 per thousand, whereas rotary stamps are produced at 6.5 per thousand. In view of the enormous discrepancies in costs, it can almost be predicted with certainty that a single colored stamp will in time make its appearance.

The 10-cent Lindbergh stamp will be used to pay postage on a double rate letter and the supply on hand is, no doubt, sufficiently large to take care of requirements for many months to come. As the booklets have not been selling as fast as was expected, the Department has decided not to issue the 5c air mail booklets, at the present time.

New Envelope Contract

I have had an opportunity of reading a copy of the specifications submitted to contractors calling for the furnishing of stamped envelopes for the four years beginning January first, next. Under the new contract, we will not only have blue and white envelopes, but there has been such a demand for amber, that an envelope in this color will be available after January first. At the present time, we have the extra quality envelope and the standard envelope. Under the new contract, we will have extra quality, a first quality and a second quality. The second quality will be similar to what is known as the standard envelope today, and the first quality which is something new, will be something between the extra and the second. A new size variety will appear and will be designated as No. 6. This envelope will measure 3 5/8 x 8 5/8 and is designed to take the standard dividend check used by so many corporations and which has been recommended by the Bureau of Efficiency.

The air mail envelope will be printed on white only, and in three sizes, 5, 8 and 13. The embossed stamp will be blue in color with the figure "5" the outstanding feature. In addition, there will be "U. S. Postage" and "Via Air Mail." One of the designs proposed shows two wings on one side, while a second design proposed has an air plane in flight intertwined with the lettering just mentioned. The envelopes will show the blue and red edging and the imprint when applied, will be in blue instead of in black, as is the case with the stamped envelopes today.

The contractors are instructed to change the watermark under the new contract and be prepared to start deliveries on January first, in the case of all sizes and covers.

Hawaiian Issue

The Department has ordered from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing 5,200,000 of the new 2-cent stamps overprinted "Hawaii 1778-1928," and 1,200,000 of the 5-cent. Practically the entire supply is being sent to the Islands for local use, but the Philatelic Agency will have on hand a supply to take care of local dealers and collectors. In ordering these stamps from the Agency, it is suggested that the order call for Hawaiian stamps only, as this will facilitate the furnishing of the varieties, which go on sale August 13, the first day of the Washington Convention of the S. P. A. It is not expected that a second supply will be overprinted.

In view of the fact that these stamps are surcharged the same time they are printed and on the same press, does away with the possibility of any inverted or double overprints. If there are any errors, it will be entirely in the surcharging itself, or it is possible that something may fall upon the sheet preventing some of the stamps receiving surcharges, thus giving us pairs one with and one without overprint.

Curacao.—Whitfield King & Co. send for mention the 20c grey-black, in a new design. The type carries the same portrait as in the 1923 series, but with a modified frame and having a view of Netherlands East Indies liner at the foot. The word "Cent" is at the top with figures of value in each upper corner, and name of the colony vertically at each side. The stamps are perf. 11½, engraved and beside the value mentioned above there is a 25c deep purple and a 30c green.

Estonia.—Whitfield King & Co. inform us of the appearance of a 10mk grey, Reval Exhibition stamp.

Falkland Islands.—Provisional 2½d on 2d purple. Having at last received information concerning this very scarce and short-lived provisional, Mr. B. S. H. Grant, F.R.P.S.L., kindly gives us the appended particulars:—

"Number surcharged: 1,180, or possibly 1,200.

"Surcharge was applied at South Georgia by authority of Port Stanley, and the provisionals only apply to S. Georgia.

"Cause was due to exhaustion of ½d and 2½d stamps.

"The sudden shortage took Stanley by surprise and fresh supplies were sent almost at once to S. Georgia from Stanley with instructions that upon arrival the surcharging was to stop.

"Very few copies reached Great Britain as postage is 1d and there was no shortage of that value. S. Georgia consists largely of Norwegians, and the majority of stamps went to Norway or to other foreign countries, the rate for which is 2½d."

Nothing definite has yet been arranged about the proposed pictorial stamps for this Colony, although a design has been submitted.—Stamp Collecting.

of oblong shape, similar to the 1914 issue, and the values are 1, 2 and 3 cents, all of the same type, showing three palm trees on an open stretch of land. These stamps are very nicely engraved by the American Bank Note Company. We have also seen a used copy of the 10 cents in this new set, which is of a smaller size and shows a portrait of the President. We have no doubt that a complete new set has been issued. We have also seen the 2 cents and 3 cents stamps overprinted "Official Service" in two lines, in red on the 2 cents and in black on the 3 cents.

LUXEMBOURG.—We have received two new values in the permanent design, 35 centimes lilac, 60 centimes green. We have also received a complete new set of Official stamps, overprinted horizontally with the word "Officiel," but the stamps are printed on a new paper watermarked wavy lines. The denominations are as follow:—5, 10, 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, 50, 60, 75, 90 centimes, 1 franc, 1½ francs.

MEXICO.—A new 25c Air post stamp has been issued in the same type as the 50c and printed in red and sepia. This stamp has been issued for use in the newly opened air mail route from Mexico City to the Mexican Gulf port Tampico.

ST. HELENA.—For some reason or other the rumour has been about for the past few months that the 7/6 denomination of the current issue had been withdrawn from use, and in consequence high prices have been asked for this stamp. We have received an official notification informing us that there is no intention of withdrawing the 7/6 denomination.

SIAM.—Seven values of the long expected new issue have appeared, 2, 3, 5, 10, 15, 25 and 50 satangs, higher denominations of the set will be issued as soon as the old stocks are exhausted. The stamps show a portrait of the King of Siam and have been very well engraved by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, Ltd.

SOUTH WEST AFRICA.—On each sheet of the new 4d brown rectangular stamps overprinted "S.W.A." there is one stamp with no stop after "A." These stamps are printed in sheets of 120, made up of two panes of 60, and the error occurs on the ninth stamp in the right-hand pane.

URUGUAY.—A new set of stamps has arrived from this country, of which the following are the denominations:—5 milesimos, 1, 2, 3, 5, 8, 10, 15, 20, 24, 50 centesimos, 1, 2 and 3 pesos. The denominations from 5 milesimos to 1 peso show a portrait of General Artigas; these stamps being of unusually small size, the actual design being 17mm by 15mm. The 2 and 3 pesos are of large size and bear a reproduction of the Monument to Artigas in Paysandu. The denominations up to 1 peso are printed in single colours, whilst the 2 and 3 pesos are printed in two colours. These stamps have been printed by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, Ltd., and have their imprint at the base of each stamp.

YUGO-SLAVIA.—Two provisional Postage Due stamps have been issued by surcharging the current 25 dinars rose and 50 dinars green Postage Due stamps, type D2 in our catalogue, with the numerals "10." In each sheet of 100 stamps there are eleven showing a distinct variety with long serif to the numeral "1", all the others on the sheet have a short serif. The long serif variety occurs on each stamp in the sixth vertical row and the first stamp on the seventh vertical row.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

A VOICE FROM THE PAST

(G. A. Hunt informs us that the following matter was taken from an early stamp magazine published in 1867. It will be interesting reading. Mr. Hunt considers the new 5c airmail one of the most artistic stamps the U. S. has ever issued. He calls it the "king of stamps" and says it is eminently fit to wing through the air with the king of birds, the American eagle.—W. O. W.)

From Mason's Coin and Stamp Collectors Magazine, Vol. 1, 1867.

An advertisement on back cover offers the 1851 issue U. S. complete unused for $1.35.

10d black Canada is offered for $1.00 new and 25c used.

A REMARKABLE STAMP COLLECTION

Mr. J. Faaet commenced collecting early in June last (date magazine is April, 1867), and succeeded in gathering together about (700) seven hundred different stamps uncancelled, and this month purchased the well known and valuable stamp collection of Prof. Wyman of Burlington, N. J., numbering 3,000 (three thousand). Mr. Faaet can now be termed the champion collector of the U. S.

(This man was the pioneer of Worthington, Hind and Green of today.)

In same magazine, same date: Mr. Stewart, merchant of N. Y. City, is said to possess a complete collection of uncancelled stamps of all the nations in the world. It is rumored among "stamp collectors" that this gentleman purchased his valuable collection in France for $5,000. Mr. A. C. Kline, of Philadelphia, has a collection said to be nearly complete valued at $1,000.

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS

Newfoundland.—The latest sensation in Newfoundland is the exhaustion, after only a few months' issue, of the 9c value of the new set. This stamp was issued in larger numbers than the 9c of the previous issue, which was also the subject of comment in these notes recently, and yet it only lasted about one-tenth of the time. It seems probable that only about a tenth of the number that had been used postally, of the previous issue, would have been used of this new stamp in so short a time, which means that the vast proportion of the original issue of 50,000 exist unused. This new issue was at first sold only in sets, and sales are reported to have been good, nevertheless a large number were probably bought up speculatively when it was put on sale separately.

It is rumoured it will not be reprinted, in which case I reckon its ultimate value will not be more than half that of the 1923 9c, of which many were used up and lost.

Falkland Is.—The provisional issued about the beginning of the year is still shrouded in mystery. According to a note in the last P.M., only about 1,200 were issued and these were quickly exhausted. Very few have been seen used, and it is to be presumed someone has bought up the bulk of the issue and that they are in the hands of one or more speculators.

The population of South Georgia is extremely small and largely composed of Norwegian whalers, and it is to be presumed the 2½d provisional was issued for their home letters. Owing to the great length of time that communications take with this distant outpost, especially during their winter (our summer), it will probably be some time before supplies come on the market. I should not be surprised if we have to wait until next winter for supplies, and collectors should beware of paying too high prices in the meantime.

It is some time since we have had such a small issue of a low value British Colonial, but the 1/- Bahamas (1st War) of 1918 was issued to almost the same number, viz., 1,200. This gives us a guide to what is a reasonable figure. This stamp first appeared at about 3/6, later rose to 15/-, market value, and now stands rather lower than this.

In buying a new provisional, those keen on the investment side should always endeavor to buy at much less than what may be computed as the eventual value, but there is sometimes a tendency, when a limited issue gets into the hands of speculators, for it to be offered at the full price one would expect it to realise some years after issue. The stamp that appears at ordinary rates and afterwards goes out of issue suddenly is generally the most profitable to the collector.

The first 1/- War Stamp (local) of Falkland Islands was also issued in similar restricted numbers, and 1,200 has also been given as the figure here, but because of the poor demand, owing to its similarity to the subsequent issue, and possibly to forgeries, the price has kept disappointingly low.

Malta.—I should not be surprised if the new issue of Maltese stamps, announced recently in the P.M., will arouse interest in these stamps which was beginning to wane slightly. I foresee an upward trend in prices of almost all the obsolete issues which have been distinctly lower of late, and most of which are well worth picking up at to-day's prices. The 10/- MCA is still one of the highest valued of all regular Georgians of reasonable face value, and has recently fetched more at auction than that other rarity, except the 50r script of E. Africa.

Irish.—I recently commented in these notes on the market value of the 10d Irish Thom. Since then my words have been justified, as this stamp has fallen about 30/- in value during the last few weeks. I recommend the various printings of the high value Saorstats as worthy of study. Once the long rumoured permanent issue is issued, the other will show more rapid increase. The first issue of the I.F.S. was issued in

WASHINGTON STATE PRECANCELS

By E. J. Newcomer.

The state of Washington produces more lumber and more apples, and cans more salmon than any other state in the Union. It has one-seventh of the potential electric power in the United States. It also has large areas of gray sagebrush and windblown sand, and many picturesque Indians, and at least one lively, though more or less domesticated, herd of buffaloes. Also two airmail terminals, and a few enthusiastic precancel collectors, most of whom have helped me in getting information for this article. Among them are A. A. Johnson and Benj. J. Weeks, of Tacoma, E. W. Osier of Seattle, Leo K. Couch and Mark S. Woodin, of Olympia, Ellsworth Lumley of Bellingham, Marshall Miller of Puyallup, and E. O. Roberts of Yapato, and my thanks are due to all of these gentlemen for their help. In all, about 1700 major varieties of precancels have been issued in Washington State, and these are distributed among 25 cities and towns.

Aberdeen is a lumbering and fishing center on Grays Harbor. The post office has used precancels since 1923, using a one-at-a-time handstamp the first two or three years, and a U-51 handstamp since then. The catalog listing is essentially correct, but according to one of the clerks in the Aberdeen post office, Nos. 2, 5, 14 and 57 to 59 probably do not exist. In addition to those in the catalog, he lists under Type II the 1917 issue 6c, 30c and $1, and the new issue 3c, and 20c Special. It is also stated that two copies exist of the 5c Norse in Type II. Aberdeen is one of the two Washington post offices that precanceled the black Harding imperf., Walla Walla being the other. Needless to say, this was not done as a postal necessity, and the stamps were imported for that purpose.

If you will look on an old map of Washington, you will not find Bellingham. I have a map 30 years old which shows instead the towns of New Whatcom and Fairhaven close together. In 1903, these were united and called Bellingham. The city is said to be the salmon canning center of the world, sometimes canning 100,000 salmon in a day. It is called the "City of Beautiful Sunsets," and anyone who has driven along the wonderful Chuckanut Drive at evening, with the sun setting over Puget Sound will say it is well-named.

Bellingham is one of the oldest and most consistent users of precancels in the state, and its various handstamps have been rather promiscuously used on special issues. With the advent of the electro, it is to be hoped there will be less of this in future. This post office is one of the few in the state using precancels on all parcel post the year around, hence they are commoner than those from other places with a similar population. Type I seems to have had a short life. In this type, the word "Bellingham" is similar to U-53, while "Wash." is more like U-54. Type II is much like U-76, without lines, and with "Wash." in lower case letters. The parcel post series seems to be quite scarce, and as a matter of fact I have never seen any parcel posts from Bellingham at all.

Type III is much commoner than the first two types, probably having been used much more. It was resurrected for the 3c offset, and I have a poor copy of this that evidently has seen postal use. Type IV, U-53, has had the longest life of any of them, having been first used about 1913 or 1914, and being used at least until 1926. The perf. 12's seem to be scarcer in this type than in Type III. Type V is the most recent handstamp, and this and Type IV came in about equal numbers before the electro was used. Type V is still in use for odds and ends, having been used early in 1927 to reduce the stock of 15c Airmails when the airmail rate was changed. As Bellingham uses precans on practically all parcel post, this value could not easily be disposed of except by precancelling. I have a copy of the new issue 4c showing both U-53 and U-74 on the same stamp, the U-74 being rather faint.

The electro (U-8) was first used in 1926, after all 1917 issue stamps had been disposed of. The printing is done locally, and inverts are common, normals of some values apparently not existing yet.

Benton City is not in the catalog, neither is it on very many maps, never having attained the dignity of its name. It once had promise of becoming an important railroad junction, but the railroads changed their minds, and it is now a one-street town, if such ever existed. Nevertheless, it used precancels for Christmas, 1926, and no one was more surprised than I when I ran across a few specimens, for I live within 75 miles of the place and have been through there many times. The last time, I interviewed the postmaster. Yes, he had used precancels. You see, they save a lot of time at Christmas. He had to handle everything himself and he wasn't as young as he used to be. But a fire last June burned down the P. O. and the handstamp was lost. Would he get another? He didn't know. It takes a long time and a lot of trouble to get one. And if he did, the type might be different. He did not. So hang on to your Benton City's, if you have any. The type is the new U-62. I have seen only two or three values, but the P. M. says he precancelled everything up to the 10c, also the 12c, 15c, 20c, 30c and 50c. He couldn't tell me whether they were old or new, but of those I have seen, the 12c is the old issue, and the 1½c the 10 x 10 rotary.

Centralia and Chehalis, side by side in the catalog are side by side in fact. They are the twin cities of the west, four miles apart, in a rich farming section of western Washington, with much valuable timber not far away. Twin-like they began using precancels for the Christmas rush at the same time, about three years ago, but the P. O. D. gave them different types of handstamps, probably for the same reason a mother puts a blue ribbon on one twin and a pink ribbon on the other. The Centralia handstamp has one subject on the right edge reading "Cent alia." The old 13c from Chehalis is good property, not having been artificially produced.

Colfax is in the famous wheat country of eastern Washington, where they raise more wheat to the acre than anywhere else on earth. But then, most of their land is pretty much on edge, so they can farm both sides of it. The post office used a U-6 electro apparently for about eight years, but discontinued its use some years ago, possibly because of a change in postmasters. The 2, 5, and 10 seem to be commonest. This electro was resurrected for the 1927 Christmas business, and I have seen the ½, 1, 1½, 4, 6, 7, 8 and 11, some of them rotaries and the 1½ and 4 inverts. Dayton, also in the wheat country, has used a handstamp for four years. The catalog's lengthy description of this handstamp, boiled down, is equal to U-73. The precancels are for holiday use only, and at Christmas, 1926, the old issues 8, 20 and 30 were still in use.

Ellensburg is an old timer as a town and as a user of precancels. It is in the fertile irrigated Kittitas Valley, and some recent work of the Bureau of Reclamation will increase its farming acreage. The former postmaster tells me that he printed precancels in Types I and II in his printing office, having a set-up for a sheet of 100 stamps. The two types were made at different times, the type face being the same but the lines different. These were used about 1914 to 1916. I also have the 2c and 4c perf. 10, and the 3c, 5c, 10c and 50c perf. 11 in the same printed type but with no sign of lines, which I recently got from the Kringel collection. The postmaster does n member anything about these, and be questioned whether they are ex in which the lines became depress so did not print, or are from a without lines. Probably the latte cause most of them are perf. 11, no elevens have been recorded in I or II. Type III seems to hav used temporarily within the la years. I have only the 3c offset, st in magenta ink. Type IV is an which was used for about ten Precancels have not been used duri last year or two. They were prac never used except at Christma thereafter until the stock was used

Everett, the fourth largest city state, worried along without pre until 1926, and then blossomed with two handstamps at once. formation I can get indicates th order was filled twice by mista with two different types; which g Washington specialists a lot to g at once. Fortunately, none of t series was in stock when precan began. Resello Issues Of Nicaragua

THE REVOLUTIONARY STAMPS OF 1927-1928

By JOHN L. STROUB, 686 Academy St., N. Y. City.

Last month (June, 1928) a new provisional issue, having a violet "indelible ink" surcharge in two horizontal lines with "Correos" above and "1928" below, appeared and now supersedes the "Resello 1928," in use prior to this time. A complete article can now be written on the "Revolutionary stamps of 1927-1928." The writer having been in close touch with these stamps, predicts that their future popularity with collectors will act as reminders of the event. Their unexpected ending will allow many questions, requests for information, data, etc., to be answered earlier than had been anticipated.

Nicaraguan Situation 1925-1928

No doubt, many readers have already heard or read about the "Sacasa Revolution" in magazines, newspapers, etc. (I recall the Saturday Evening Post, World's Work, Sunday editions of the N. Y. Times and N. Y. American) which carried thrilling accounts of one of the bloodiest, yet quickest revolutions of recent years. To those who may not be acquainted with this subject, I will give, as briefly as possible, a chronological review of the most important events surrounding Nicaragua from 1925 to 1928.

The start of the national disorder can be traced to August 3rd, 1925, when our country withdrew its marines from Nicaragua. Continuously for thirteen years, U. S. Marines had maintained a guard service at the American Legation in Managua, the Capital of Nicaragua.

Two months later, native politicians testing out their prestige and power, caused changes in the Ministry, Senate and Congress of the country. The resignation of Dr. Solorzano, the President of Nicaragua, followed on January 17th, 1926. The Vice President, and lawful successor, Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, a Liberal, had already been banished by a hostile Conservative Congress. General Emiliano Chamorro, the Commander in Chief of the Army, assumed executive power. The nations of the world refused to recognize him as President, due to force exerted in his obtaining this position.

These political changes started armed strife, when on May 7th, 1926, the Liberals captured Bluefields, the chief seaport on the East coast of Nicaragua. U. S. Marines, landed from the U. S. S. Cleveland, declared Bluefields a neutral zone or open port. They withdrew early in June. Other outbreaks of minor importance occurred during the summer.

The Conservative Congress elected Senator Adolfo Diaz, President of Nicaragua on November 14th, 1926, to fill the unexpired term ending December 31st, 1928. All countries of the world, except Mexico, recognized Diaz as the Constitutional President.

About this time, Dr. Sacasa, returning to Nicaragua, was elected President of Nicaragua by the Liberal party. The Liberal headquarters were established in Puerto Cabezas on the East Coast. Mexico being the only nation to recognize his Government. Long before this, Mexico had been accused of trying to start Bolshevist propaganda in Nicaragua.

With two Governments and two Presidents in one Republic, civil war started in earnest. Up to about May, 1927, large losses of life and property existed on both sides. The fast and furious fighting with the rapid advance of the Liberal armies had laid waste to many villages, towns and smaller cities. The larger city of Chinendega had been pillaged and burnt; while Managua, the Conservative seat of Government was being threatened. Within a short time, the entire country would have been destroyed.

The United States finally intervened, when on May 5th, 1927, Ex-Secretary, Henry Stimson, the personal representative of President Coolidge, delivered an ultimatum of disarmament by force of U. S. Marines, together with the supervision and holding of an honest election to be held on November 4th, 1928. A general pardon was to be offered to all Liberals laying down their arms.

General Jose Moncada, the Liberal Commander, called his aides into consultation, and a general order for all Liberal armies to disarm and disband effective May 12th, 1927, resulted. One Liberal general, Sandino, refused to disarm and is still carrying on a guerilla campaign for the cause of Liberalism. The press of the world is featuring his activities almost daily.

Reconstruction, Its Effects on Stamps

With peace, reconstruction set in after the man power of the Republic returned to its peaceful pursuits. During the short period of the "Sacasa Revolution" (November, 1926 to May, 1927), and among the war time disorders and irregularities, may be mentioned the looting of post offices and mail, stealing and washing of stamps for re-use, defrauding the Government of postal revenue, etc. Through lack of time and facilities, the regular unsurcharged "palace" issue (1914-1922) remained in continuous service throughout the Revolution. These stamps consequently franked both the domestic and foreign mails whether of Conservative or Liberal origin.

The Liberals, obliged to use "Conservative" stamps (there being no others) adopted ways of showing their hatred and also advertised their Government on them. Sympathetic cancellations, crude covers, and odd handstamps, such as "Original" etc., were the extent of their postal accomplishments. In Puerto Cabezas, at least two values, the 1 and 2 centavo received a surcharge "G. C." with crossed swords and then specially cancelled. All such passed through the mails.

The short unrecognized life of the "Sacasa" Government and its reliance on "Conservative" stamps for carrying "Liberal" mail did not offset the worldly popularity of the Palace stamps (with or without Liberal surcharges) for the universal franking of all Nicaraguan mail. These Liberal stamps, to my mind, cannot be termed as legitimate in any sense of the word. Placed in a "novelty" collection of Nicaraguan stamps, the "Sacasa" emissions would have their greatest value, or maybe in Mexico.

Resello Issues, 1927-1928

Just before the end of the Revolution, in April, 1927, the Conservative Government were taking steps to change the above postal conditions. Had the Revolution continued longer "Local issues" would no doubt have come into existence and use. We stamp collectors have something to be thankful for that a repetition of our own "Confederates" and "Russian Bolshevists" with their high prices was prevented. All wide-a-wake collectors can get these "revolutionary" stamps,—the sooner, the better.

On April 28th, 1927, President Diaz signed the following decree (a literal translation of the Spanish).

"ALL STAMPS OF ANY KIND MUST BE SURCHARGED."

The President of the Republic;

Considering;

"That it has been noticed, that telegraph, fiscal, and postal stamps are being taken off documents, covers, etc., washed and used, orders;

No. 1. That all telegraph, fiscal and postal stamps will be surcharged with RESELLO 1927.'

TWENTY—Weekly—E-6—CC

No. 2. Since the 15th of May, stamps which do not bear this surcharge will be without value.

No. 3. The Government Inspector in charge of this line is ordered to supervise the work of surcharging at the Government Printing Office and to see that the old remaining stock at the offices throughout the Republic is returned and exchanged for the ones with surcharge.

Given in Managua, at the Executive Palace,

A. DIAZ.
Minister of Finance,
F. GUZMAN.

The day of 28th of April, 1927."

Three important points should not be overlooked in this decree: — (a) all stamps must be surcharged—yet the officials, wrappers, envelopes, and post cards were exceptions, (b) the losses incurred by washing and re-use of stamps were much smaller than the seized and stolen stamps during the Revolution and (c) the demonetization of the famous "Palace" stamps, the only unsurcharged postal issue for fourteen years, and the opening up of a new period in the postal history of Nicaragua. The expression "Resello" means to re-stamp or re-value.

Philately has divided the "decreed" stamps into four separate issues; the first three formed by changes in the kind and color of ink for the surcharging; and the fourth, dated "1928" instead of "1927."

First Issue, Resello 1927 Stamps

On May 3rd, 1927, five days after the decree, Senor V. Quadro, the Supervising Inspector reported that the following quantities of the various telegraph, fiscal and postal values had been surcharged with "Resello" above and "1927" below in two horizontal lines. (I will omit from this article the telegraph and fiscal quantities.) He also reported that the stamps had been surcharged with black copying ink, with the exceptions of the 1 and 5 centavo, with red. He failed to state that part of the 3 centavo and all the 10 centavo values had actually been surcharged in blue copying ink (he evidently considered them black). Let us call this issue, for convenience the "black Resellos."

Quantities of First Issue

½ centavo,		30,000 stamps
1 "		250,000 "
1 "	R de C,	250,000 "
2 centavos,		250,000 "
3 "		13,000 "
4 "		1,200 "
5 "		50,000 "
6 "		1,500 "
10 "		30,000 "
15 "		2,400 "
20 "		2,500 "
25 "		3,000 "
50 "		2,500 "
$1 cordoba,		1,000 "

The above quantities of this issue were published in the official journal, and have since appeared in philatelic publications. The ½, 1, 2, 5, 10 centavo postage and 1 centavo R de C stamps were printed in generous quantities. The 3 centavo, a combined postal and tax value, was surcharged in reduced numbers. A shortage of 4 and 6 centavo unsurcharged Palace stamps existed at this time. The remaining higher values were surcharged sparingly to allow for the quick distribution ordered.

The hurry in the surcharging of the "black Resellos" is told best by their minor print varieties, or "errors of surcharge" and "shifts." My check list shows, to date, that all values, except the 25, 50 centavo and 1 cordoba, have at least one or more of the inverted, double, double one inverted and triple surcharges. Two settings were employed in their printing. One setting used for the 1, 2 and 5 centavo postal and 1 centavo R de C values showed one stamp in sheet of 100 stamps (No. 20) with a prominent minor sheet variety of an "inverted s in Resello." The second setting surcharged the ½, 3, 4, 6, 10, 15, 20, 25, 50 centavo and 1 cordoba values, and likewise one stamp (No. 17) showed a large "1" in 1927. The total number of these two minor varieties can be figured by dividing the above quantities by 100. Very few of these are in stamp collections. I doubt whether any collector has them all (I lack two).

Inquiries have been received by me about the variety "Resello—1927" found only on the 2 and 3 centavo values. Two complete sheets of 100 stamps each, were discovered in the general stock in Managua. I consider them trial settings and as such they should not have been stocked but destroyed. Part sheets examined by me prove this setting must have been done after the first issue and before the second printing of the "Resello 1927" stamps; on account of the absence of the "inverted s in Resello" on the 2 centavo and the "large 1 in 1927" on the 3 centavo stamps. No one accepts responsibility and their existence is denied. The "trial setting" and "errors of surcharge" of these stamps are genuine, nevertheless. The writer accepts them as minor varieties of the first issue in setting of second issue.

The "black Resellos" were distributed and exchanged for the unsurcharged stamps as per decree. Speculation, that ginger necessary to philately, started immediately on the two low faced and short surcharged values, i.e., 4 and 6 centavo. Small quantities of the whole issue, except these two values, reached this country. Such were sold at p tage over face or at "low" pr prices. Nothing was known of status, and were considered a co issue. Their present day philateli ues still have to be determined rately. My observation, irrespecti surcharged quantities, would lead valuate them in the following orde scarcest first, etc.): the 1c with surcharge instead of red (one sh 100 stamps only), 25c, $1.00, 50c, 3c (black), 20c, 15c and 3c (blue). placing of the three highest value in front is due to their usage as re stamps at this time. A shortage high fiscal values, from 25 centav 100 cordobas, existed. Such p stamps would be specially cancell else punched. Most of these three values were used on samples of c sugar, etc.

Unfounded rumors of "remain of the "black Resellos" can be p nently dispelled when the speed o issue is known:—decreed April surcharged May 3rd, distributed b May 15th, and replaced May 19th

Second Issue, Resello 1927 Stam

The short life of the "black Res was because the wrong ink (cop had been used in their printing. these stamps were washed, the surch was not effected. Special precau were needed badly at this time. A n new ink, of sticky and heavy com tion had been approved for the f surcharging. This ink was no other violet indelible and when the st were wet or tampered with, the surch became visibly effected and rendere fit for postal duty. The first issu "black Resellos" could be considere "error" issue whereby the new ink ie writer will discuss the remaining issues of the Resello stamps at the lusion of this article, and after they been listed, etc.

ie remaining documentary advice in ile, relative to the printings or de-ies of the "Resello 1927" stamps is l September 26, 1927. This, with 's unknown but of later dates in ear, support the Third and last of ear's issues. The legitimacy of the e issue is not disputed at all, but orders, quantities, and dates of de-ies of part of same make the article what incomplete at this time.

ie delivery of September 26, 1927, e mentioned, consisted only of 150,-of the 1 centavo R de C stamps sur-ged (in error) in blue copying ink. r deliveries consisted of unknown tities of the regular R de C (with-late) and R de C dated 1925 of the ntavo value and also the 5 centavo l value (replacing the sold out vio-all surcharged (in error) in black ing ink with "Resello 1927" as be-

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

August 1st certainly was a Big Day for Air Mail collectors all over the country, and if the amount of mail that accumulated on my desk the past few days is any criterion, record loads must have been carried by every route in operation. Figures are not available as yet, but I have one report where 300,000 letters, weighing over 1,000 lbs. all sent out by one company in New York on August 1st, were carried by the N. A. T., Inc.!

*****

Mr. Charles Boyer informs me that the Tulsa, Okla., cachet was secured through the efforts of The Valley Forge Philatelic Society of Norristown, Pa.

My coöperators worked hard at the job the past week and while the list of names is a long one, I feel that you all deserve individual thanks for your efforts in getting information, covers and clippings into my hands; so at the expense of getting a "call down" from the editors for using too much space, am going to put your names on the roll. If you don't find your name here it is not my fault!

J. D. Bogue, Frank C. Clark, Victor Donatelli, W. E. Marshall, Geo. W. Linn, F. O. Nelson, Dr. H. B. Hinman, C. A. Hartwig, Geo. H. Jordan, Austin L. Jones, Anna M. Schafer, J. S. In connection with the foregoing, I wish to thank a great many of you for the complimentary letters you have written about the Air Mail News Column. It is highly gratifying to learn that the column is of assistance to you in building up your collections and by your continued coöperation it will automatically reflect to your benefit.

Here is a partial list of 1st day cachets used on August 1st: Oakland, Des Moines, Lansing, Chicago, Springfield, Peoria, St. Louis, Boston, Hartford, New York, McKeesport, Pittsburgh, Galveston, San Antonio, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Moline, Buffalo, Albany, Schenectady, Syracuse and Dallas. There must be many others not yet received—all unofficial, of course.

C. A. M. 16 broke loose August 1st after a lapse of over a year and a half. The cachet used was diamond shaped and very clearly applied, the design being neat and attractive.

*****

On August 1st C. A. M. 26 also made its initial Flight from Salt Lake City to Great Falls. The cachets applied at Ogden were four in number, one official and three unofficial. The official cachet is a triangle, double lined and enclosed in a square, airplane in flight over mountains and being watched by an Indian. Between the inside and outside triangle "First Flight — Town — State." Below in square, "Air Mail—C. A. M. 26—August 1st, 1928." Helena used as a backstamp a large pictorial cachet and Boise a reproduction of the state capitol.

*****

A highly interesting article on Air Mail operations appeared in the August 5th edition of the "New York Tribune," written by Francis D. Walton. The article carries some startling facts. Two examples are—that C. A. M. 2 operated 12,231 miles flown, out of 12,232 scheduled for May, and C. A. M. 5, 32,860 miles flown on a schedule of 32,860!

*****

The New York-Montreal route will open September 1st. Here is the schedule and stopping points;—Leave New York 9 A. M., stopping at Poughkeepsie, Albany and Burlington, Vt., with arrival in Montreal at 1 P. M. Returning, leaves Montreal at 4 P. M., arriving in N. Y. at 8 P. M. Here is a fine chance to get round trip covers as well as First Trips.

*****

The National Air Races and Aeronautical Exposition to be held in Los Angeles, September 8th to 16th gives the collectors at that point an opportunity to get in some good work for a special cachet.

From Mr. W. S. Dochterman comes the word that Des Moines, Iowa, used a special Air Mail card on August 10th in the attempt to break New York's record

The Post Office at Pittsburgh, through the Superintendent of Mails, refused to handle or despatch the mail bearing the special August 1st cachet applied by the Air Mail contractor of C. A. M. No. 11, Mr. Clifford Ball. No reason for such refusal was given and we are informed by Mr. J. C. Penning that the matter will be subject to investigation. Covers that had accumulated for despatch from Pittsburgh were carried to McKeesport and cancelled there. As a result, covers cacheted "Pittsburgh" were mailed at McKeesport. To the best of our knowledge, this is the first time where a Post Office at any point on a C. A. M. has refused to coöperate with the contractor in the matter of despatching specially prepared covers, and we await the outcome with interest.

Efficiency

—Tabs Kept on 1,150 5c Air Mail First Flights Show Fine Record.

By G. A. Hunt.

With the advent of 5c air mail postage two friends of mine desired to secure a flown cover from every air mail station in the U. S. flown on Aug. 1, 1928.

Envelopes were purchased and hours were spent decorating and addressing them, next quarters and dimes were pasted on letters and sent out to 112 different Post Offices, from coast to coast, and from north to south, and where special flight cachets were used several extra covers were sent to these stations.

Some 1,150 in all were sent out from Woburn, Mass., previous to Aug. 1.

As a result on August 2, they began coming back, first the nearby stations, next the midwest and south, and then the far western, by August 5th, every one of the 1,150 sent out arrived safely back in Woburn. Not one was lost, not one was mutilated, they all arrived in perfect condition.

This shows that all the P. M.'s were right on the job, all air mail pilots on time, and the three judges of this test here in Woburn, after checking up, credit the P. O. Department 100%. In addition thanks is extended to all who cooperated in the event.

CANADA

A GRAND NEW COLLECTION

I have much pleasure in announcing that I shall have on show in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, during the A.P.S. Convention, a magnificent collection of Canadian stamps in six Oriel Albums, chiefly consisting of early issues in the choicest condition.

I propose to be in Toronto from Tuesday, August 21st, until Saturday, August 25th, and shall be very glad to see any of my readers who may visit that City for the A.P.S. Convention.

I give the following very brief details of a few of the items in this fine collection:—

1851 Pence Issues. 3d.—17 unused, and about 200 used.
6d.— 6 unused, and over 50 used.
7½d.— 7 unused, 12 used.
10d.— 7 unused, 35 used.
12d.— 1 used.

1858, Perf. 12. ½d.—7 unused, 12 used.
3d.—4 unused, 18 used.
6d.—2 unused, 7 used.

1859 Issue. This issue fills an exceptionally large album and is very strong in all varieties unused, used, rare cancellations, numeral cancellations, and in fact almost everything that the advanced collector can require including a large number of color trials and essays.

The Issues of 1868 to 1871 fill nearly two volumes and are exceedingly strong in fine unused with gum and in selected used copies with all varieties of paper, cancellations, etc.

The Small Cents Issues are fairly strong in unused but not many used copies are included. Of the later issues there are a fair sprinkling which shall be priced very low to clear them out as I am more interested in the old stamps than anything else.

After the A.P.S. Convention I shall be glad to send selections of any particular issue desired, to collectors known to me or after approved references. This is an exceptional opportunity to acquire very carefully selected stamps from a very choice collection.

Sevard's Twinkle

Mr. Empty Dome has submitted an unusual cover in that it is a go ment envelope of the ordinary v with printed instructions on the fac reverse sides. The face tells us o Sidney Short Route or Clarke's tennial Express to the Black More than that, it tells us that "in sideration of the 10 cents paid fo envelope and of which payment it session bears evidence, the unders agrees to carry it from the Unio cific Railroad at Sidney, Neb., to City and Deadwood, Dakota (and other places as his route may suppl from above places to the Union Railroad at Sidney, without addi charge. H. T. Clarke."

On the reverse is a detailed de tion of the Sidney Short Route, in ing us of The New 61 Span Bridge over the Platte, guarde United States Troops. "Owing t difficulty of getting mail through t from the Black Hills, I have had p and placed on sale at Sidney and in the Hills, Government Envelopes ilar to the old Pony Express, in all mail must be enclosed to be for ed by Clark's Letter Express to City, Deadwood, and other points. 10 cts."

Is this the old Deadwood Ex driven by Deadwood Dick of we read in our earlier days? W call with a somewhat reluctant ory the Buffalo Bill shows, the wood Express wagon circling hippodrome, and on its second horses lashed to a gallop, careeni its near wheels, the black pa wagon spitting forth resounding of murderous fire at so called red who always were repulsed. How hearts fluttered with invective an vocation that the Deadwood Ex might get thru, that the Indians be killed, that the mail might get And with rejoicings, the marks ship of the heroic riders mowed the thin ranks of the jazz si aborigines, who even in death, w hatred into our enthusiasm. there always was that funny preacher sitting on top of the w doing the wrong things, and ge tremendously scared over it all, so we had to laugh even in our exulting moods. And if you h poor seat, you could see the In get up and light cigarettes and water with a "one-arm Jake" fr horse bucket. We weren't stamp lectors then, or perhaps we'd more about the "Sidney Short R now.

EMPTY DOME PAIRS THE ABOVE WITH ONE FROM WASHINGTON, I DATED APRIL 14, 1897, WHICH BEA CANCEL "COLLECTION AND DISTRIBU WAGON, NO. 1 TRIP 3, WASHINGTON." RECALL THAT THE CANCEL WAS ON WAGON, AND ONE COULD MAIL LETTE A SLOT IN THE FORWARD PART OF WAGON. REVIEW OF THE NEW U.S. POSTAGE STAMPS

(Mason's Coin and Stamp Collectors Magazine, June, 1869, by L. W. Durbin)

Our generous "Uncle Samuel" wishing to favor his proteges with something fresh in the national way, has kindly furnished us with nine diminutive scraps of colored paper yeleped "U. S. Postage Stamps." These specimens of a new issue, so like the tiny advertising cards, of circulating libraries, local express companies and decalcomanies pictures, have already appeared in public on the right hand corners of love billets, mercantile correspondence and other important mail matter. Upon first acquaintance, these little square Government advertising appliances look odd, and the observer is at a loss to know whether the wee bits of a print, with a blue locomotive and a big 3 is a local stamp or a new advertising dodge of some enterprising R. R. corporations.

Upon better acquaintance the unequivocal fact that it is a veritable U. S. postage stamp stares him full in the face. Now that we are compelled to bid farewell to the "old issue" and sever the attachments that exist for the good old national stamps that once adorned and beautified our letter wrappers, let us become better acquainted with the little strangers and speak of them as we find them, with the hope that our prejudices may be toned down sufficiently in the future to command our respect and esteem.

One Cent Stamp

This, the lowest denomination of U. S. postage stamps, is in color a dirty yellow-brown, having a head very like our dear old Benny Franklin in respect to the bald head and flaming locks; while in the profile it resembles any other kind and good old gentleman who does not resemble Franklin. The bust is surrounded by a defective broken band, hoop or any other circular thing, whose proportions lack uniformity. The lettering "U. S. Postage" and "one cent" appear to be the work of an apprentice to the art of engraving, whose style has not been fully perfected—the letters being of unequal size. There is a piece of No. 1 court plaster fixed upon the left breast of Franklin, which interrupts the view of our departed philosopher, and gives to the head an appearance similar to that of a policeman, or fireman, as the badge with the figure "one" is in about the right place for either.

Two Cent Stamp

Now the color changes from dirty yellow-brown to a dingy dark brown, and here we have a beautiful frame work, or banner, such as carried in processions, with pictures in the field of a 2.40 horse going over a race course, well fenced in with a Dutch cavalry soldier, having his canteen or beer keg strapped in his rear. The large letters of "postage" and "two cents" are very irregular in size, and the letters T and C in lower line seem to be hurriedly executed and left unfinished. It was a happy idea of the engraver to affix the big "2" between the words "two" and "cents" as no mistake can now possibly occur in giving this stamp its proper denomination. The scroll work and lace on the upper curtain are very neat and would make a fair sign for a country carver painter, or a city dry goods store. The rail fence at the left in rear of the field is slightly inaccurate, there being but two rails between the posts. This portion of the stamp seems to have been half finished.

Three Cent Stamp

This stamp is an improvement on the two cent issue, as here the horse and rider in the field is displaced by the locomotive, and therefore it is better in regard to "time" than the previous stamp.

The color is also better, it being a "true blue" or a "marine blue," or an "ultra marine" (no doubt an error in design, as the ultra marine ought to have been a sailing vessel, and not a locomotive) either will designate its tint when not blurred in the printing. This stamp has the same faulty lettering, with an improvement in the label containing the word "postage." As the 3c stamp will be more used than others of the new series we will not give a more detailed description of its beauties until time has toned down our prejudices and caused us to forget the former 3c stamp with its good color and its portrait of the glorious and God-like Washington.

Six Cent Stamp

The six cent stamp has a well executed portrait of Washington in a dotted circle surrounded with a pattern of checkered calico, conveniently cornered at the four angles of the frame—this latter is well surrounded with labels, making it utterly impossible to mistake it for a "gum sticker" or bottle label.

Washington is bounded on the north by U. S. and Postage, on the east by "United States," on the south by "six 6 cents" and the capital is "indigo." The same objection exists against the use of this stamp as all others of the new issue TOO SMALL. Had the stamps been oblong, with same width as at present, there would have been one improvement, with room for several more.

Ten Cent Stamp

Ah! here comes the Bird of Freedom—the Eagle—mounted upon a shield, a novel design for a postage stamp, but rather common for an advertising label; something similar having been used rather extensively for that purpose by the Metropolitan Express Co. of N. Y. This stamp would be beautiful if the color were any other than orange. It would be a pleasing picture if the stars, which form a semi circle above the eagle were printed bolder, so that the observer could count the full number of 13 without seeing more stars than necessary to complete the National Emblem. A wavy label or scroll, containing the value is situated at the lower end of the stamp. An additional stroke of policy on the part of the designer is exhibited in the big 10 which is boldly printed on lower center of the shield. The "United States" on this stamp appears very small and a good sight of the retreating "states" can only be had with a magnifier.

Twelve Cent Stamp

This bright, green, distinct and handsomely designed stamp deserves appropriate praise. The steamer in the centre, is a regular Cunarder, is plowing the green white crested waves like a thing of life. The lettering is all distinct and artistically executed. Oh! that this pretty stamp were a quarter of an inch longer; we could send it over the ocean it represents with a proper patriotic pride, and feel confident it would be received by our "early relatives" o'er the seas with as much respect as the letter it ornaments.

Fifteen Cent Stamp

This stamp commences the series of the larger denominations by an improvement in size; tho so slight as scarcely to

Between Ourselves

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

A "Distinguished Philatelist" comes to Town.

It was a great pleasure to drop by chance across Mr. Charles Severn during his first and very brief visit to London. He is the most popular stamp man in the States, and edits from Chicago, the widely-circulated MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. Well over six foot, with a surprisingly soft silvery voice, with none of the strident noisiness many folks here attribute to Americans, Mr. Severn has been a leader in organised philately in the States for the greater part of his 56 years.

37 Years of "Mekeel's."

It is difficult to realise just from the public record of Charlie Severn that he is only 56. He was one of the first Americans to be inscribed upon the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists, and few active workers in philately could show anything like his record. He was contributing to MEKEEL'S from about 1891, and became editor jointly with S. B. Hopkins in June, 1898, shortly afterwards becoming sole editor in the literary sense. He has seen 1,569 numbers put to press since then, and has served the journal with credit for thirty-seven years, thirty of which have been in the capacity of editor.

London's Loss.

When Mr. Severn left Chicago for his first trip across the water a brief announcement that he was going to Europe and would be absent for a few weeks was all MEKEEL'S WEEKLY told us of his programme. He has been in France, Belgium, and Holland, and came to London all unannounced about ten days ago. It was our good fortune to be in the rooms of the London Stamp Club when he dropped in, and we found many things to talk about. No one is more familiar with the current of philatelic history in America than Mr. Severn. It was a thousand pities he did not give philatelic London the chance of meeting and getting to know the man who has been the genial centre of attraction at scores of philatelic conventions on the other side.

Continental Visitors.

During Congress week there were several prominent foreign collectors in London we should have liked to have seen at the Congress meetings. But apparently they knew nothing of the big philatelic event that was on during their visit, and our unofficial invitations came too late for them to fit in any of the functions. The most prominent of Swedish collectors, Consul F. Benziger, of Stockholm, was in London all the week attending the World's Dairy Congress which was being held at the Central Hall, Westminster. Mr. Benziger's collection of Sweden is now probably the finest extant.

The leading amateur collector in Gothenburg was also in London for a few days. He is our old friend Frederick d'Orchimont, whom we had not seen since the merry week of the Swedish Philatelic Society's celebrations at Malmo a few days before the war cloud broke over Europe in 1914.

The New Catalogues.

The new editions of the standard priced catalogues for 1929 are all in active preparation, and will be issued in the autumn. The Gibbons' work is expected in October, price unchanged, although the cost of postage may be slightly more owing to extensive additions. The new retail price for Messrs. Whitfield King and Co.'s, catalogue will be 7/-. The Yvert-Tellier Champion book will be 7/6 in England, but only the French edition will be issued. Scott's catalogue will be 8s6d.

Advance orders may be sent, with remittance, to the publishers of the S.C.F., S. H. Wright and Co., 44 Bedford Row, W.C.1, to insure delivery immediately on publication. Prices inclusive of postage are:

In Memory of Dr. Chittenden.

The Collectors Club, New York, has opened a fund to be known as the "J. B. Chittenden Memorial Fund" for the binding of books and magazines belonging to the Library, and for the purchase of such books, pamphlets and magazines as the Library may lack.

A fund of from $12,000 to $15,000 is stated to be required.

The late Dr. Chittenden was largely responsible for bringing together the great library now owned by the Club, and it is fitting that his memory should be perpetuated in association with his work in this Library.

Donations should be sent to Mr. Charles J. Phillips, chairman of the Memorial, 10 West 86th Street, New York.

"Hon. Press Secretary."

An article in the Star on July 21st discussing "Stamp Finds by Boys" is stated to be "By the Hon. Press Secretary, Royal Philatelic Society." The Society does not appear to have introduced its new honorary officer to the philatelic press.

Malta at it Again.

Our good friend and correspondent, Mr. R. Forbes-Bentley, of Malta, is at present in England on holiday, but he is in the forefront with the latest stamp news from Malta, as usual. He reports:

The quarterly Journal of the Crown Agents for the Colonies of June, 1928, has the following notice regarding Maltese stamps:—

On Order. ½d, 1d, 3d, 4d, 4½d, 6d, 1/-, 2/-, 2/6, 3/-, 5/- and 10/-. Existing issue of Postage series overprinted "Postage and Revenue."—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

P. O. D. History

—Early Developments of the Department as seen by Dr. Bernstein.

(This clipping is taken from the Detroit "Free Press." It is a communication from Dr. Edward Bernstein of the Detroit Philatelic Society, and will be of interest to our many readers. Clipping from H. W. Boers.—Ed.)

I read in yesterday's paper a reference to the first postmaster generalship of the United States in which Benjamin Franklin is mentioned as our first postmaster-general. Franklin is so intimately tied up with the early history and development of this country and the United States owes him a great deal of homage for the many other things he has done, but it will do no harm to correct a historical error which takes from him the honor of being our first postmaster-general.

It was in 1710 that the British government passed an act authorizing the British postmaster-general to "keep one chief letter office in New York and the other chief offices in each of her majesty's provinces in America." Deputy postmaster-generals were thereupon appointed from London, Benjamin Franklin receiving such an appointment in 1755, which he held until removed in 1774.

At the beginning of the struggle for independence, there were two rival postal systems—the British parliament system operated by John Foxcraft and the other by Hugh Finlay.

Benjamin Franklin was appointed by the Continental congress in 1775, and was succeeded by his son-in-law, Richard Bache on November 7, 1776; he in turn was succeeded by Ebenezer Hazard, who had been postmaster at New York in 1782.

On September 22, 1789, the United States postal system was inaugurated with Samuel Osgood of Massachusetts as our first postmaster-general and he appointed as assistant postmaster-general, Jonathan Burrel and they appointed Sebastian Baumann as first United States postmaster at New York and Robert Patten for Philadelphia. The postmaster-general was not a cabinet officer, but was under the treasury department, and Samuel Osgood made his first report to Alexander Hamilton as secretary of the treasury.

The records show that the entire receipts for the year 1789-90 were less than $235,000 and it was not till 1810 that the receipts of the whole department touched the million dollar point. We contrast this with the report of the last fiscal year when the revenue from postage reached the stupendous sum of 637 million dollars.

Detroit, alone last year, handled 10 millions. It was not Franklin either who broadened out our service. Governor Lovelace of New York did the most to extend it through Philadelphia to Maryland, Virginia, and the Carolinas.

I am an ardent philatelist and especially interested in the story of the development of our postal service and have just finished a rather lengthy review which will be published in the Journal of the American Philatelic Society, which makes me rather keen about these data.

NOTES ON FRENCH COVE

By R. D. EVERARD.

French stamps are deservedly po with a larger number of collectors in making these notes it is to be e sised that the following remark only the observations on the w own cover collection.

Covers from the 1853-60 on seem fairly plentiful, owing no doubt t large foreign trade done with B U. S. A., etc., and which were ge kept and filed away. There a seems to be a number of somewha ond-rate covers on the market first and succeeding issues, viz., s with no margins, badly creased covers stained and torn.

To begin with the first issue 50). The 10c, No. 1, is rather sca cover, seems to be a little scarce 15c, No. 2. Both these values are property on covers. The 20c black to be the commonest on cover o issue. 25c blue is also fairly comm cover. The 40c is occasionally me on cover (the writer has a fine p cover in his collection).

No. 8—The 1 franc vermilion course, a great rarity on cover. N The 1 franc carmine seems to be s than the 1 franc (1853-60), alt catalogued at much less. The 10c Scott's No. 10, is a very elusive it cover and No. 11 25c is quite scar cover.

The 1c and 5c (1853-60) are hard to find on cover; the 1c seems a little the scarcer. The 10c, 20 40c of this issue are common on in singles and pairs; strips are occ ally found, but blocks are very rare 20c and 25c are "scarce birds" on (the writer has a pair of each va cover).

The 80c 1853-60 is fairly comm cover, but is a rather nice item writer has three of this value used a 40c and a 20c of the same issue, a cover addressed to Australia). C used to Australia seem to be ra have also an 80c, 40c, 10c and 20c to a miner at Mariposa City, Calif and various others.

The higher values of the earlier would seem to be a little better pro if used on domestic covers, as they more often used on foreign covers.

The 1 franc 1853-60 is rather goo covers, but seems to be a little comm than the 1 franc value of the first I have a 1 franc, No. 21, used with of three of 10c same issue on cov New York, etc.

The 1862 and 1863-70 are comm covers, but the 4c, No. 29, is rather item. I have a number of covers o value used with others of the succe

LEEWARD ISLANDS, 1 1-2d, 1926

By HARRY E. HUBER.

By Statutory Rules and Orders No. 5 of 1926, made March 1, 1926, the rates on foreign letters, and those for the British Empire and the United States, from all the Presidencies of the Leeward Islands Federation, were reduced from 3d and 2d to 2½d and 1½d respectively. The post card rate of 1½d remained unchanged.

"Letters.

1. Within the Colony of the Leeward Islands.

For the first 2 ounces, 1d
Per two ounces thereafter, ½d

2. To the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, British Dominions or Possessions, His Majesty's Ships in Home or Foreign waters, the United States of America, the Virgin Islands of the United States, Porto Rico, Alaska, Hawaii, and the Panama Canal Zone, Egypt, and the British Post Office at Tangier.

For the first ounce, 1½d
For each additional ounce or fraction thereof, 1d

3. To all other places, including the Mandated Territories of Palestine and Iraq.

For the first ounce, 2½d
For each additional ounce or fraction thereof, 1½d

Post Cards.	Single.	Reply
1. Within the Leeward Islands,	½d	1d
2. All other places,	1½d	3d

With the restoration of the 1½d rate on letters to the British Empire, and the United States, there was a very real need for a stamp of this denomination, which although included in the Presidential series of Antigua, Dominica, Montserrat and St. Kitts-Nevis, was absent in the Leeward Islands Federal series, and in the Presidential series of the British Virgins. Accordingly, a stamp of this denomination was added to the Federal series, by an Order in Council of May 17, 1926 (No. 10 of 1926), and to the British Virgins series, by an Order in Council of October 23, 1926 (No. 23. of 1926).

Statutory Rules and Orders
1926—No. 10
Stamps

The Stamp Order, 1926, dated May 17, 1926, made by the Governor-in-Council, under the provisions of the Leeward Islands General Stamp Act, 1890 (Leeward Islands No. 3 of 1890).

At an Extraordinary meeting of the Executive Council of the Leeward Islands, held at the Council Chamber, Antigua, on Monday, the 17th May, 1926.

Whereas by an Order-in-Council dated the 3rd day of September, 1901, and published in the Leeward Islands Gazette No. 46 of the 5th September, 1901, the several values of stamps for use throughout the Colony were fixed at a ½d, 1d, 2d, 2½d, 3d, 6d, 1s, 2/6 and 5s;

And whereas by an Order-in-Council dated the 20th day of February, 1909, and published in the Leeward Islands Gazette No. 11 of the 11th March, 1909, a stamp of the value of ¼d was added to the value of stamps before mentioned;

And whereas by an Order-in-Council dated the 9th day of January, 1922, and published in the Leeward Islands Gazette No. 2 of the 12th of January, 1922, stamps of the value of 4d, 5d, 2s, 3s and 4s were added to the value of the stamps before mentioned;

And whereas it is expedient to add to these values a stamp of the value of 1½d;

Now it is hereby ordered by the Governor-in-Council under the authority of the Leeward Islands General Stamp Act, 1890, as follows:—

1. Additional stamp.—On and after the 1st day of July, 1926, there shall be in addition to the several values of stamps fixed by the hereinbefore recited Orders, a stamp of the value of one penny and the half of another penny.

2. Provision for dies.—The proper dies and other implements to be used in connection with the said new stamp be provided accordingly.

3. Short title.—This Order may be cited as the Stamp Order, 1926.

Made by the Governor-in-Council this 17th day of May, 1926.

Signed, E. D'A. TIBBITS,
Clerk of the Council."

The Crown Agents Bulletin of April-June, 1926, makes mention of the fact that the 1d violet, and 1½d red, are on order, to be printed from plate 11; and in the following issue, as having been dispatched, along with another printing of the 2d.

To produce these 1½d stamps use was made of DLR-1888, King George V, Postage & Revenue keyplate No. 11, die 2 (introduced about September, 1923), in sheets of 120, 2 panes of 60 each, separated by a narrow gutter. Multiple Crown and script CA paper was used, and the perforation is comb 14. The plate number (11) in colorless on a solid circle of color, with a narrow band surrounding it, appears in the usual positions, twice in the upper and lower margins, over and under the 2nd and 5th stamps of the left and right panes respectively.

The figures and letters of the value tablet are in color on a plain ground, within a hexagonal frame. The duty plate was provided with a marginal line, so that completed sheets have a double marginal line, the inner one belonging to the keyplate, and that on the outside, to the duty plate.

The stamps were placed on sale at St. John's, Antigua, on September 10, 1926, and in the other Presidencies of the Federation either on or about that date.

Sept. 10, 1926. King George V (DLR-1888, Postage & Revenue). Watermarked multiple Crown and script CA. Plate 11. Comb perforated 14.

1½d rose-carmine.

The postage rates on letters, post cards, parcels, etc., passing within, and to destinations beyond the Colony, as set forth in Statutory Rules and Orders No. 5 of 1926, made by the Governor-in-Council on March 1, 1926, with effect from 1st April, 1926, were slightly modified by Orders No. 21 of 1926, made October 8, 1926, effective October 11, 1926.

In these Orders the rates on post cards "to the United Kingdom and Ireland," and the other countries named in the second section under "Letters" of the Orders No. 5 of 1926, were reduced to 1d single and 2d reply; those to "all other places," remaining 1½d and 3d.

Section 8 "Short title and commencement" of Orders 21 of 1926, reads as follows:—

"These Rules may be cited as the Rates of Postage Rules, 1926, and shall come into operation on the eleventh day of October, 1926, Provided that the rate of postage on post cards authorised by paragraph 1 (2) of Schedule 'A' hereto shall come into operation on the first day of December, 1926."

Following the issue of the 1½d red, the 1d red, Roman CA watermarked, was ordered destroyed. This stamp was on sale at Antigua, and in some of the other Presidencies, concurrently, with the 1d violet, script CA.

The 1½d red of the British Virgins, in the King's head and Presidential Seal type, was placed on sale at Roadtown, Tortola, on January 24, 1927, along with the 1d violet, and a reprinting of the 2½d in blue.

WANT LISTS

Bring in your list or send it in; there are four competent stamp people here to find the stamps for you; if we have it, we'll dig, if not, we'll advise you when it shows up.

And "the stuff" is here also. Years of want list work tells—what to buy and stock.

Of course a lot of it, especially the less popular countries, is hard to find. The weekly purchase of a fair sized collection helps out here.

Latgale or Lettgallen Issue.—An issue of two stamps by Latvia in March, 1920, to celebrate the re-conquest of the territory of this name from the Bolsheviks.

Latvija (Latwija) Pasta or Latwijas Pasts.—An inscription on the stamps of Latvia or Lettland meaning "Lettish Post" or "Posts."

Lemberg Issue. — Four alleged stamps of Western Ukrainia, cataloged under Nos. 5 to 8, in use only one day, and considered by European authorities to be a bogus issue.

Liberation of Courland Issue.—Four stamps of Latvia, Nos. 64 to 67, issued in 1920, to commemorate the expulsion of the Bolsheviks from Courland, the southern province of Latvia. The design by Sarrinsch probably represents the conflict of Beowulf with the dragon, instead of St. George, as usually stated.

Staempel.—(The plural form of "stampel.") Shown on the 1863 newspaper stamps of Austria.

Stampel. — This word meaning "stamp" is found on some of the newspaper stamps of Austria.

Stamp Bourse. — The name applied to a place where postage stamps are sold or exchanged by collectors. The Paris stamp bourse is a notable example and has acquired world-wide publicity from its unique open air merchandizing of postage stamps.

Stamped Paper.—A general name that is applicable to envelopes, newspaper bands, etc., that are impressed by a postal design, also to paper used for revenue purposes, bearing a revenue printing.

Stampalia.—One of the Aegean islands which has been supplied with special stamps by the Italian government since 1913.

Stamp Booklets.—Many countries now issue their low value stamps bound up in booklet form for the convenience of people wishing to carry stamps with them. As a rule these books consist of a few sheets or leaves of six or eight stamps, separated by grease proof paper to prevent their sticking together, the whole being bound in thin card covers.

Ship-to-Shore

—Attempt by the Ile de France to Establish Air Mail Service.

The steamship Ile de France, which will attempt to establish a regular ship-to-shore air mail service over the Atlantic, sailed for New York August 8.

On the upper deck under a specially built windproof tent, the liner carried a large catapult airplane which will be hurled in the air with its burden of mail, when the ship is 24 hours sailing from New York. A similar experiment will be made on the return off the European coast and regularly thereafter when the weather permits.

On this trip, the plane will carry mail only, but subsequently it was expected that service would be offered passengers with the idea of bringing Paris within five days travel of New York.

The letters destined to be taken off the steamer by plane bore 10 francs additional postage and to those marked to continue the journey westward from New York by the American air mail another two francs was added.

Junior Dictionary

K. G. C. A.—These letters surcharged on stamps of Jugo Slavia stand for "Koruska Glasoona Cona A" and mean in English "Carinthian Plebiscite, Zone A." They were issued October 10, 1920, and were sold for three times the face value.

La Aguera.—A colony of Spain on the west coast of Africa, south of Cape Juby, and in the northern part of Rio de Oro. The inscription above is found on the stamps of Rio de Oro, issue of 1920.

La Croix Freres.—Parts of these letters found in the 1872 issue of Mexico, as watermarks, indicate the name of the firm that made the paper.

La Semeuse (The Sower).—A name applied to the design of certain French stamps, the work of M. Roty. First used in 1903.

Hinges

Stamp hinges can be divided into two groups, namely—poor ones and good ones. There was a time when it was necessary to use glue or paste of some kind to keep stamps in place in an album. Some old collections come on the market nowadays which show that the old time collector did all sorts of things to hold his stamps; nearly everything being tried but hammer and nails. Even today, some collectors use pieces of gummed paper that are cut from the flaps of envelopes. I have actually seen small pieces of adhesive surgical tape used as hinges!

When it comes to stamp hinges, made for the sole purpose of holding stamps on sheets or in an album, the best are none too good. When you pay out good money for a stamp, whether it be the penny apiece variety or several dollars per copy, treat it the way it deserves to be treated. Don't get the idea it has a pain in the back and needs an adhesive plaster as a support. Use a good quality hinge and only stick a very small portion of it to the stamp. Place the hinge close to the top of the stamp and in this way it can be easily examined after being placed in its proper space in the album.—A. C. LeDuc.

Procrastination

A few days ago I received an approval selection that had been out for 21 months. The customer said he was "sorry" to have kept it so long, but that he had been sick. Poor fellow! If most of us had been sick all that time we wouldn't be able to ever write even that much. He probably really expected his story to be believed!

Here is an actual case that came to my attention this spring. As a young man Mr. X collected stamps, but for some reason or other he lost interest in the hobby. The war came on and he enlisted for service. When the big show was over and he returned home to this country he shifted around awhile for regular work. Finally settling down to routine work his interest in stamps did not come back. The stamps had been laid away in books, boxes and envelopes, and were practically forgotten. One day this spring he happened to see an advertisement in a magazine about someone wanting to buy old stamps. That set him to thinking and he hunted thru his effects and dug up his collection and duplicates that had laid idle all this time. What was his dismay to find among his stamps, a forgotten selection of stamps on approval from a midwestern dealer. These had been lying there for nearly 20 years. He promptly mailed them to the address given on the return envelope little thinking that they would ever reach the original dealer-owner. Within a week, he received a nice long letter from the dealer thanking him for the belated return of his stamps.—A. C. LeDuc.

Georgia Peach Stamp

We have received a very interesting letter from Waldemar Wurts in which he enclosed a specimen of a ½c Georgia state revenue stamp which Mr. Wurts feels may well be called a peach stamp if not a "peach of a stamp." Each crate of peaches coming north recently has been bearing one of these stamps fixed tightly to the crate and they are removed with great difficulty. The stamp shows the seal of the state and the signature of the Commissioner of Agriculture with the words "Graded and packed in conformity with the 1927 standardization law." The stamp is printed in red. Quite recently we published for Mr. Wurts an exchange request in which the word "foreign" was omitted. He has received a number of letters which he could not answer as desired. Collectors who desire an exchange for foreign revenue, telegraph or local stamps should correspond with Mr. Wurts at 161 Williams St., East Orange, N. J.

Goliad

A small town in Texas, with a population of little more than 2,000, which is famous philatelically from the fact that in 1861 Mr. J. A. Clarke, the postmaster at that time, issued 5c and 10c stamps previous to the introduction of the general issue for the Confederate States.

We think the interesting pictured out on this 15c stamp o about 1492. The view of Columb his adherants is in the centre of a orately engraved brown frame. the stamp is too small for the pict the latter too large for the stam a postage stamp we consider the article a failure, as a pretty pict an illuminated A. B. C. book, a success.

Twenty-four Cent Stamp

This stamp is open to same obj as the last, excepting in one (the date) under the representation Declaration of Independence, whi cupies the centre of the stamp. T ture should have been named over or beneath it. It is true th 1776 is there, but what does that si Strangers, especially foreigners, stare at the group of stately Quakers, and wonder whether the enjoying a peep of Congress, or into the President's House at Wash The color of the picture is either ple, lilac or brown, we cannot de which and the octagonal view "Signing of the Declaration" is surr by a highly ornamented green lettered and figured appropriately.

Thirty Cent Stamp

This like the ten cent stamp, in has the inevitable eagle and shiel the usual admixtures of stars an found on many of our national em The eagle mounted on a shield, in vermilion, occupies the center stamp, while upon either side depe of our national flags printed in A semi circle composed of thirteen in white, ornament the blue backg thus blending the red, white an harmoniously. A large 30 is prin lower portion of shield, while the a of "Thirty Cents" in a waved line lower end of stamp, fully sets fo value as a letter carrier.

Ninety Cent Stamp

A very correct portrait of th President Lincoln, in oval frame, oc the centre of this stamp; althou beauty of the picture is greatly by the harrow like cross bars imp on the back and it is harrowing to feelings to see all that we hold d our patriotic hearts, compelled to through the prison bars so unfe impressed upon the centre of al pretty little postage stamps. No such action on Uncle Sam's par raised our ire and our backs, and not all—it has raised even the bac the stamps. Lincoln is printed in very appropriately, and surrounded handsomely labeled carmine frame, value in figures at upper corners letters at lower corners. This is a neatly arranged stamp and conclud series.

NOTE.—Tho written 59 yrs. ago Durbin notes the difference in size 15c value. How many collectors day know this? Note also his com regarding the grill on the 90c This shows that even in the old collectors were pretty keen observe what passed thru their hands.

LOOKING AROUND

By "MARQUETTE".

m inclined to doubt whether the t advance in the price of the 4d 6d Ascension, as notified by our shers, is really justified. Many judges consider the figures quoted recent supplement are on the high so it would be advisable to regard as distinctly not stamps for a des- gamble at anything like a high At the same time, the rise in has not brought any large parcels the market, so the stamps may be rter supply than I think.

Even when s are advertised by local dealers, ads are not backed by very much and some of them are trying to in England, though there is not surplus stock. I am inclined to this country a better purchase for than either Rhodesians or Irish, at t prices, though there is still scope ppreciation in all three.

roup which will, in my opinion, re- more attention in the near future it has done in the past, is that of ustralian states, New South Wales, sland, Victoria, etc. The rather me catalogue lists scare off many tors, but even during the period these countries have been regarded ead" for all but super-specialists, has been steady buying, and stocks eing depleted. There should be bargains still obtainable by those vill take the trouble to learn a little these stamps (I refer particularly middle and later issues), as I am s getting letters from Australian spondents pointing out that such uch an item is fetching three times gue at the Antipodes and that sup- are unobtainable.

Air Mail

—A Story from the "Cleveland Plain Dealing" Showing Its Progress.

(Clipping from A. F. Cants.)

The advent of air mail brought in its wake a new phase of the hobby of philately, which is simply an erudite term for stamp collecting.

Incidentally, the Postoffice Department is not averse to the new form of stamp collecting, for it increases revenue and encourages the spread of air mail.

The devotees of aerial philately are eagerly awaiting the opening within the next three months of three new mail routes, for the most highly prized air mail stamps are those with the cancellation dated on the opening date of a new route.

It has been estimated by postal authorities that collectors have sent from 50,000 to 85,000 pieces of mail on inaugural flights in order to obtain the cancelled stamps.
